The happy couple thus united were the youngest sons of two old historic families, one being the great-granddaughter of Gen. Robert Anderson, and the other the great-grandson of Gen. Andrew Pickens, of revolutionary memory. Luther Southern, 15 years old, of Chick Springs Township, and Mitchell Aiken, a 17-year-old factory operative of Piedmont, were arrested at their homes Thursday afternoon by Railroad Detective G. W. Bishop for placing an obstruction on the C. & G. track which derailed a train near Piedmont last Sunday. Southern confessed his guilt but Aiken denied all knowledge of the crime. The boys were given a preliminary hearing on Friday at Piedmont before Magistrate J. C. Mitchell. T. K. Earle, of this city, was there to represent the Southern Railroad.

When questioned as to the motive which prompted him to place an iron spike on the track, young Southern said that his object was, "to wreck the train, but 'to see the cars mash the spike flat." He said that Aiken, the other defendant, suggested the idea to him, assuring him that he (Aiken) had often placed obstructions on the track and no one had ever been the wiser. Aiken, however, stoutly denied that he had anything to do with the affair. Magistrate Mitchell sent the case up to Court and released the defendants on a justified bond of $500 each. The parents of both boys are respectable people.—Greenville News, 21st inst.

The Confederate Veterans had a reunion at Saluda C. H., on the 14th inst., and one of the invited speakers was Gen. M. L. Bonham, of this city. The Saluda Advocate, in giving an account of the occasion, says: "It is useless to try to give any synopsis of General Bonham's speech. All Saluda knows the Bonhams and knows that eloquence cannot be put in cold type. General Bonham is a true son of the old stock. With a resonant voice and pleasing address he immediately captured the crowd. He spoke feelingly of his relations to the Saluda people whose soil he had left twenty-six years ago. His tribute to the old Confederate soldier and the principles for which they fought was pathetic, beautiful, logical. He said these principles were as true today as they have ever been and that the Supreme Court had four times since the war upheld the doctrine of State rights. Gen. Bonham asked the Chairman to call him down if he spoke too long saying that his wife doubted his sanity when it came to the subject of the Confederate soldier. The cheer which he received showed that the crowd was as insane as the speaker on the same subject and could not tire of such a subject handled by such a speaker."

A Narrow Escape.

Thankful words were written by Mrs. Ada E. Hays, of Groton, S. D.: "Was taken with a bad cold which settled on my lungs; cough set in and finally terminated in Consumption. Four Doctors gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up for lost. My dear friend, I could not say 'with my friends on my bed' and meet my absent neighbors. My husband was a broken down Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I gave it a trial took in all eight bottles. It has cured me and thank God I am no longer a soldier and heal the same way. Trial bottles free at Hill-Top Drug Co's. Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.00. Guaranteed or price refunded."
