The increased sales in all of our many Departments, especially Fine Dress Goods and Millinery, show that the people know how to appreciate good, solid values given in return for their money.

Our buyers are now in the Northern markets, where they will use their usual good judgment in selecting the latest styles and best goods suitable for this section. We buy our goods in large lots, thereby securing the best discounts, which enables us to guarantee to meet any competition. We also have a—

We are glad to see that our old friend, Citizen Josh Ashley, is re-elected to the Legislature from Anderson. Joshua is not beautiful and not painfully good, but he has a level head and an aggressive disposition and can not be bought, fooled or bulldozed. May he enjoy a long legislative life.—Greenville News, Sept. 4.

While out gunning last Friday evening, Master Earnest Watkins, the 14-year-old son of Mr. John C. Watkins, accidentally shot himself in his foot, inflicting a painful but not serious wound. Fortunately no bones were shattered and he is doing finely and will soon be walking about again.

A big private barbeque at Hopewell Spring, near Mr. A. T. Newell's, was enjoyed last Thursday by about 75 or 100 guests. Our old friend, Joe B. McGee, was chef, than whom there is none better in the County. Two kine, five sheep, one kid and one goat were spit and broiled to perfection and great dishes of hash were prepared. A regiment might have feasted bountifully with some to spare. Addresses were made by Jas. M. Sullivan, Gen. Bonham, Geo. E. Prince, J. L. Tribble, J. K. Hood, John Pruitt, L. H. Seel and others, their subject being unity. At the close three hearty cheers were given the chef.

The following is a clipping from the Way of Faith descriptive of the first General Council of the Fire Baptised Holiness Association, which recently met in this city: "The congregations were large and the order perfect. I have never seen it better. We had 'music and dancing,' shouts and screams of victory, hot thunderbolts and slant lightning, billows of white fire and devil-shaking dynamite. We used Bro. Stevens' 'Blood and Fire Songs,' the first edition of which has just been issued. It is the song book of the Fire Baptised Holiness Movement." It needs enlarging and improving, and there ought to be a music edition. But this we hope to have by another year."

Mrs. D. A. Leadbetter and infant narrowly escaped being killed by lightning last Thursday at 2 o'clock. The chimney on the east side of her residence was struck and completely demolished. It was a double chimney, serving two rooms. Mrs. Leadbetter was sitting in one of the rooms with her infant when the chimney was demolished, but, fortunately, the electric current followed the flues into the opposite room, turned upward and neither

Mrs. Leadbetter nor the babe received the slightest shock. Lamp shades in the dining room were broken and the track of the current through the house is plainly visible, but beyond this, the wrecked chimney and the lamp shades, the damage is slight.

The Patrick Military Institute will open its scholastic year on the 14th instant, and the indications are that the number of pupils this year will probably be nearly double the number last year. This is one of the best schools in the State. Col. Patrick is a graduate of the Citadel at Charleston and a born educator. Capt. Patrick, his son, was educated for a teacher from his infancy, and the others of the faculty have been selected with the view to sustaining the high reputation this school has made. Hundreds of young men have gone out from this institute into the various vocations of life, and are sustaining with credit to themselves and to their alma mater, not only their learning, but the high principles of integrity instilled into them while students.

On Sunday morning last death again entered our midst and plucked one of the most promising among the bright, lovely children of our city, Master Ned Sloan, the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Sloan. Ned was only nine years old, but he had made for himself a reputation. He was the embodiment of innocence, purity and brightness. His pure soul beaming through his eyes was a rebuke to sin, and men said of him that he was too good for this life, with all of its contaminating influences. His death is a severe blow, particularly to the mother who is quite ill, but God took him and God knoweth best. His death was the result of malarial fever, which he suffered only a short time. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. N. H. Summerell at the home at four o'clock Monday afternoon, after which the remains were interred at Silver Brook Cemetery.

The Opera House will commence the season of 1898-99 by giving our people one of the best repertoire companies on the road, and the management is to be congratulated on having secured the Peruchi-Beldeni Co. for opening attraction, and we trust the people who love good shows will show their appreciation by their presence. The Peruchi-Beldeni Co., who are familiar to our people, need no introduction from us, for they were here last season, and well do we remember how the theatre goers were pleased with the clever comedians, and especially the dancing of the "Carleton sisters," which has never been excelled and seldom equaled. The company is much stronger this season, having increased their number of actors and actresses to 22 people, including the "Wallace sisters," who the press of Georgia says are great. This company will be here a week, commencing Sept. 19th, and should be greeted by large and appreciative audiences each night.

Mrs. Elizabeth Keys, wife of J. Crawford Keys, of Blackville, S. C., died in Walhalla last Saturday morning at 5 o'clock. Mrs. Keys was about 40 years old and the eldest daughter of Colonel R. A. Thompson, of Walhalla, and she and her children, three boys and a little daughter, were on their usual summer visit to the father and grandfather, having left Blackville two weeks ago. For some days before being confined to her bed, Mrs. Keys had complained of headache and loss of appetite, but it was thought that the change of air would soon correct the seemingly slight indisposition. On the 25th of last month, however, her illness developed into malarial fever, and she gradually sank until death came as above stated. The husband, little dreaming of the serious illness of the wife, was summoned and reached her bedside only a few days before she lost consciousness. The remains were interred in the Walhalla Cemetery beside the grave of the eldest child, little Helen. This is a sad death. None of the children are grown and the youngest is only 3-years-old. The deepest sympathies of the many relatives and friends in Anderson go out to the family in this, their greatest bereavement.

This Begins another Season.

WITH an unbounded energy and indomitable will we enter upon another season with success assured. Our Mr. R. F. Hall is now in the Northern markets searching the best manufacturers for value. This, of course, means a benefit to the trading public.

CLOTHING!

Our Hobby, Our Pride!

What's nicer than a well-dressed man? Take a three or four-button round cut Sack, in the latest weaves and fabrics—"that's style." Nothing wrong with a double-breast, square cut Sack. That's style and business combined. The three and four-button Cutaway Frocks, in the latest effects in Worsted and Trecoats. That's dressy. Do you know we take a back seat for no one in showing the above styles? Prices—why, of course, we guarantee them as low as first-class Goods can be sold.

Now, the "little tots" come in for their share. Mothers, don't forget them. We sell the Mrs. JANE HOPKINS' CHILDREN'S CLOTHING—that's enough. Double Seat, Double Knee, Patent Base Bands, two Hip Pockets. Guaranteed not to rip. What a blessing!

GENTS' FURNISHINGS.

We have given this line more than special attention this season. We are up to all the styles and fads that the fashionable young man requires and the trading public demands. An inspection will please us.

OUR SHOE DEPARTMENT.

Well, we are up to the standard and above. Prices about one-third less than competitors. Seeing is believing. Drop in and we will gladly make a display which will be pleasing to you and satisfactory to us.
