Anderson is about the liveliest cotton market in the State and the best town in which to buy goods. Some of our merchants are advertising with us and we hope our readers will give them a portion of their trade. On a bill of goods you can save money and pay expenses of the trip. Think over this matter, for this fall a dollar will have to be stretched farther than ever before.

One of the train hands, a Mr. Underwood, was knocked from one of the freight cars Wednesday afternoon as the freight train was going down to the mill yard. It seems that there was a slack phone wire across the track which struck the gentleman across the breast and in an attempt to save himself from a fall he grabbed the wire with both hands; in this way he received a considerable electric shock. After the train was gone from under him the wire broke, allowing him to fall between the rails on his back. His wounds are not thought to be serious.—Piedmont Herald.

On this train the round trip fare will be $2.20.

Mr. J. W. Hummell, one of Anderson's most clever and expert blacksmiths, can certainly be put down as the champion pumpkin producer of this section if not of the whole State. Last spring he planted a few fine pumpkin seeds in his garden, and gave special attention to one of the vines, which finally covered a space of ground 20x30 feet. Last Monday he harvested his crop and from this one vine he secured fifty-two pumpkins, which weighed in the aggregate 975 pounds. The largest weighed 45 pounds and the smallest 6 pounds. As we believe, he has the largest yield we have ever heard of from one vine. Who can beat it?

The Greenville Mountaineer, of the 15th inst. says: "Miss May Whitmore and the Rev. E. Hawkins, of Whitesville, were married Monday at noon at the home of the bride's father, Hon. J. M. George C. Leonard. Among the guests were several members of the South Carolina Conference, including the Rev. H. B. Browne and the Rev. S. B. Harper. The bride and groom left the next day for Starr, Anderson County, where Mr. Shuler is stationed in charge of a circuit."

To-day is "Lafayette Memorial Day," and it is being observed by appropriate exercises in the schools and colleges throughout the United States. The pupils will contribute their notes in aid of the monument to be erected in Paris by the people of the United States in honor of the departed hero, who aided in making possible the advantages and the liberties we now enjoy. The Cadets of the P. M. I. have arranged an interesting program for the occasion, and the exercises will take place in the chapel to-night, beginning at 8 o'clock. A small admission fee of 10 cents will be charged. Go out and hear the cadets. You will enjoy the exercises and be contributing to a worthy cause.

Mr. William R. Roberts, superintendent of the Anderson Cotton Mills, aged about fifty-two years died of apoplexy last Friday afternoon. He was seized with the attack Wednesday afternoon while attending the funeral services of Miss Nettie Smith at the 2nd Baptist Church and while the congregation was at prayer. Those sitting behind him saw him suddenly sink and went to his assistance. He was borne tenderly to his home and every thing possible done for him, but he failed to rally and died at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. The funeral services were conducted at the West End Methodist Church Saturday afternoon by Rev. S. B. Harper, assisted by Rev. W. R. Richardson, and the remains were interred at Silver Brook Cemetery with Masonic rites. Mr. Roberts was a faithful Christian and officer in the church, a devoted husband and father, a good citizen and an excellent mill man. A wife and six children survive him and they have the sympathies of the entire community in their great bereavement.

Holland's Store Items.

Our farmers are very blue over the low price of cotton, but getting out of the business is like turning loose an electric wire, "somewhat difficult." We hope the problem will be satisfactorily solved.

Cotton-picking is progressing slowly. Hands are scarce and the weather unpropitious at times, which has made it a little hard on us.

We have had a few light frosts, but it being dry the effects are invisible.

In the death of Miss Lucy Clinkscales, a brief account of which was given in the INTELLIGENCER last week, cast a gloom of sorrow over our community. She was a young lady possessing all the graces that mark the ultimatum of true womanhood, gentle, loving, kind and true. After weeks of suffering, from which her form was emaciated, the brittle thread was snapped and her spirit soared beyond the stars. The sorrowing parents and family have the heartfelt sympathy of a host of friends, but best of all they have the comforting assurance that at some sweet day they can meet her on that shore, where sickness, sorrow, pain nor death are felt and feared no more.

The health of our neighborhood is fairly good. The church at Shiloh met on Saturday, the 8th inst., and elected Rev. H. M. Allen pastor for the coming year. BURKE.
