WEDNESDAY, APRIL 5, 1899.

The indications are that this year will break the record for killings in this State. One or more happen every week in the various counties.

The people all over the State show commendable interest in the success of the annual reunion of the Confederate Veterans to be held in Charleston next month.

The medal fund for Lieut. Victor Blue is close up to $200. No doubt now remains that the brave soldier will receive from the women of Carolina a worthy testimonial.

Now that the members of the Cuban assembly have discovered that they must quit their foolishness or be frozen out of a divvy in that $3,000,000, they are going to shut up shop.

. The war wouldn't last another minute if the Filipinos would allow themselves to be overtaken. Uncle Sam's boys can scarcely get in yeiling distance before the poor wretches take to their heels.

Gen. Wade Hampton recently celebrated his 81st birthday. The chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy in Columbia celebrated the occasion with floral offerings and an eloquent tribute to the grand old hero, who, we hope, will be spared to celebrate many more anniversaries.

According to an exchange the Fiftyfifth Congress, recently ended, had certain good points about it, as little as one might think such to be the case. The records show that there were considerably more than 18,000 bills introduced during the two sessions. Out of this number 1,450 alone became laws. The legislative body which passes only one out of thirteen bills submitted to it cannot be wholly bad.

Augusta, Ga., will erect a monument to her late mayor, Hon. Patrick Walsh. The idea is to erect a bronze statue on some one of Augusta's many beautiful squares. Not only will Augusta do her part, but the entire South will be invited to assist in commemorating the name of the man who, standing with name of the man who, standing with Henry W. Grady, was foremost in the fight for the recognition of the South's possibilities and the furtherance of Southern development. Southern development.

ever interesting contemporary, the Abbeville Press and Banner, Editor Wilson celebrated the fortieth anniversary of his connection with that paper. Here's our congratulations, Brother Wilson, and may you live to celebrate your centennial anniversary. You have acted your part well in the great drama of life, and now if you would forsake the ranks of the dispensaryites and bachelordom your declining years would be years of joy and happiness.

One of the things that cause men to lose respect for the courts of so-called justice in this country, is simply this: If a poor man is charged with a crime he is almost invariably convicted and speedily punished to the full extent of the law. But ah ! what a difference if the accused is rich or has rich relatives or friends who come to their aid. In such cases convictions are very rare, and if convicted, the judge, the attorneys and most of the jury at once sign a petition for a pardon. Our laws are all right, but they are not properly and honestly-enforced.

Another big cotton mill in Anderson is now an assured fact if our people will only do their duty. Mr. J. J. Fretwell, who is taking the lead in this matter, is continually adding subscrip-tions to the capital stock, but there is room for many more subscriptions, and our people should rally to the aid of the enterprise. In short, our people cannot afford to miss this opportunity Hembree, but he was known by that name, as he was an adopted child of Mr. Wm. Hembree, who lives near White Plains Church. Grover was just cannot afford to miss this opportunity of securing another mill. If we had sufficient spindles to consume every bale or cotton brought to this market every man in Anderson County, of was in his fifteenth year. His remains every vocation, would be benefited. There are few landowners in ten miles due to rest in the Beaverdam Cemetery on the Sunday following his death at 1 o'clock p. m., after very im-pressive and appropriate funeral servi-ces, conducted by Rev. D. I. Spearman, his text being taken from the fourth of the city who cannot take at least one or more shares in this new mill, and we sincerely hope they, will do so. The rising tide of textile prosperity has set in, and Anderson must keep in line. Let us all pull together at once in this enterprise, and in a short time the work of crecting the necessary buildings will be under way. In another column a live, progressive citizen publishes a timely article on this line, and we suggest that you read and study it.

We have always contended that the trust is the legitimate offspring of protective tariffs, and we have further suggested that the only effective method of dealing with such combinations is in absolute free trade. Laws for their control or suppression are almost sure to prove ineffective. But with free trade, the trust is almost an impossibility. Now comes the St. Paul Pioneer Press, a Republican paper, and says it is the duty of the Republican party to repeal every protective duty under the shelter of which its beneficiaries have organized a trust or combination of any sort. The Chicago Times-Herald, another Republican paper, gives its endorsement to this suggestion. "Most certainly," says the Times-Herald, "it should be the duty of Congress, in both have a majority, to abolish or suspend writing than it has been for some time. the protective duty on the products of | neighborhood next summer.
