

There is lots of time before the national conventions for political factionists to sleep off their quarrels.

A London paper says the American soldier is not attractive in appearance. All the same, he manages to make the other fellow look much worse.

Gen. M. C. Butler is mentioned as a probable candidate for Governor next year. His many old friends throughout the State would be more than pleased to see him elected to the position.

Our young friend, James A. Hoy, Jr., has been given a position on the staff of the Columbia State. Mr. Hoy is a practical journalist, having had a thorough training under his venerable father, the editor of the Greenville Mountaineer.

The Greenville News expresses a great deal in a few words in the following paragraph: "Dispensary Constable Crawford killed a woman and is out on bail with a change of venue. Citizen Meetze killed a man suspected of being a dispensary constable and he is denied bail."

Gen. Joe Wheeler has accepted an invitation to deliver the annual oration at the Veterans' Reunion in Charleston. The grand old veteran will be warmly welcomed to South Carolina, and his presence at the reunion will lend additional interest to the occasion.

Despite the war against combinations in every branch of trade and production it is seldom a day passes without the announcement of a new trust. The rage for co-operation among manufacturers and dealers in staples apparently suffers no diminution because of the war waged by the press or by individuals.

The war department officials look upon the approaching rainy season as likely to be an important factor in determining the character of the operations in the Philippines for the next six months. The season begins in June generally and it is believed that Otis can complete the present campaign before the rainy season opens and confine operations afterwards to holding the ground already won, waiting for the dry season for another period of active operations.

The mind of the American people is now made up on the question of the army beef scandal. It has been proven that the navy inspection was effective, while the army inspection was inefficient. What action will Secretary Alger take to meet this issue? Not only has the criminal incapacity of the war department been exposed, but it exhibits the packing interest of the west in the character of those who would take advantage of the stress of war to cheat their own government and sacrifice the lives of soldiers to contribute to their money profits.

President McKinley has issued a proclamation declaring that war with Spain is at an end. Now as soon as the Filipinos recognize our supremacy, we will be at peace with all the world, and will enter the new century with a determination to spread the blessings of civil freedom and religious liberty in all the territory which came to us through the fortunes of war. War was declared on April 21, 1898, and closed on April 11, 1899—less than one year. But between those two dates we changed the world's geography very materially, and began the extension of Christian civilization on a gigantic scale to remote regions of the earth. Really, our politics laid aside, doesn't it all seem like the work of Divine Providence?

We can assure the members of the South Carolina State Press Association that a most interesting and instructive program has been arranged for the next annual meeting of the Association, which will be held this summer at Harris Litchia Springs. The sub-committee, consisting of President Aull, of the Newberry Herald and News, Mr. J. E. Norment, of the News and Courier, and Secretary Langston, who were appointed by the Executive Committee to complete the program, met in this city last Wednesday night and finished up the work. A distinguished Georgian will be invited to deliver the annual address. The Association will not take a summer trip, but will spend a week or longer at the Springs, making the session largely an experience meeting. At the Springs arrangements will be completed for a trip to Cuba later in the year. The completed program will be issued by the Secretary in the near future.

During the next few weeks the planter will "cast" his crops for the year, apportioning his land to each as his judgment may deem most profitable. It is the crucial time in the economy of the farm and, upon the wisdom displayed in this important decision depends success or failure, profit or loss to the Southern agriculturist. Conditions usually vary with each locality, and a wise policy for the lowlands might prove disastrous for the uplands and vice versa. Each planter must decide the important question for himself in sight of the environment. But while conditions differ and no rule of universal application can be devised, the disastrous fruits of over-production are common and all embracing in their reaching; there is no escape on highland or lowland from the blighting influence of four-cent cotton, and to avoid recurrence of the loss of last year in cotton growing every planter, farmer and tenant should guard carefully the limitations of his acreage given to the staple. We cannot too earnestly caution our readers against the folly of planting for a short crop under the delusion that his neighbor's reduction of acreage will secure the necessary diminution of crop and enable the large grower to reap largely of the short crop prices. No policy could more absolutely assure an even larger crop and lower prices than this. If you want a short crop it is your individual duty to plant less cotton; by no other means under the sun can it be produced. Another most important matter to be taken into account at this season is the quota of land to be given to food crops and to pasturage. Farmers living within a reasonable distance of the larger towns are beginning to realize that a good market can be found for fruits and truck of various kinds, and these products bring in cash at a time that it is found quite useful in prosecuting the work in the larger crops, while the condition to the income that the dairy and the poultry yard can be made to yield in no insignificant factor in the farm economy. These are good diminishers; but their importance is secondary when placed alongside the vital consideration of raising on the farm as far as possible all food consumed by man or beast. The poverty of the South and its condition of financial dependence upon the East is due to our folly in sending every year to the West the total cash proceeds of one cotton crop to pay for the means of making another. In casting the crop of 1899 let us provide first and foremost above all other things, land enough for food crops and forage. By limiting the cotton area and increasing that of other crops the South can overcome the disaster of 1898. By pursuing any other policy we can invite only a still more direful doom of poverty.

Official Proclamation of Peace.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The final exchange of ratifications of the treaty of peace between the United States and Spain occurred at 3:34 p. m.

After the ceremony connected with the exchange, President McKinley issued the following proclamation: "Whereas, a treaty of peace between the United States of America and her majesty, the Queen Regent of Spain, in the name of her august son, Don Alfonso XIII, was concluded and signed by their respective plenipotentiaries at Paris on the tenth day of December, 1898, the original of which is in the Spanish language, and word for word as follows:

(Here full text of treaty is included.) And, whereas, the said convention has been duly ratified on both parts and the ratifications of the two governments were exchanged in the city of Washington, on the eleventh day of April, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine;

Now, therefore, be it known that I, William McKinley, President of the United States of America, have caused the said convention to be made public, to the end that the same and every article and clause thereof may be observed and fulfilled with good faith by the United States and the citizens thereof. In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. Done at the city of Washington, this eleventh day of April, in the year of our Lord, one thousand, eight hundred and ninety-nine, and of the independence of the United States, the one hundred and twenty-third. (Signed) WILLIAM MCKINLEY. By the President: JOHN HAY, Secretary of State.

Buried in a Well.

CATELVILLE, GA., April 14.—John Willis, a negro working on Dr. McGowan's place, at Euharle, twelve miles out, fell into an old well on the place last Thursday night and was not rescued until Monday afternoon.

The well is forty feet deep and is in an old field. Willis was walking across the field Thursday night and it being dark he fell headlong into the well. He was considerably shocked but not badly hurt. He had no way to get out and yelled himself hoarse.

After he had been in the well four days he heard some plowmen and called to them. They heard him and he was rescued almost starved to death.

Hampton and His Cavalry in '64.

RICHMOND, VA., April 14.—"Hampton and his Cavalry in '64," by Edward J. Wells, of South Carolina, will be issued in a few days by the B. F. Johnson Publishing Company, of Richmond. This is the only biography of Gen. Hampton ever published. Mr. Wells, the author, followed Hampton through the stirring scenes he so graphically depicts in this work, and the book bids fair to be one of the most popular historical works of recent years. It is sold exclusively by subscription.

—Dr. R. Menger, of San Antonio, Cal., was recently presented the head and rattles of a great snake killed by a friend about eighteen miles from his city, and when the doctor prepared the head for mounting he found that it was supplied with four fangs, two full-grown and two others near them in the front region of the upper jaw. The fact of the snake having four fangs is interesting, says the Scientific American. In all rattlesnakes there are, besides the poison fangs, rudimentary fangs which upon the loss of the old fangs, develop and supply their place. In this case, however, the development has been abnormal, and the second pair of fangs have developed before any loss of the old fangs has been sustained.

A Narrow Escape.

Thankful words written by Mrs. Ada E. Hart, of Groton, S. D.: "Was taken with a bad cold and settled on my lungs, cough, in and finally terminated in Consumption. Four Doctors gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth I would meet my ancestors above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles. It has cured me, and thank God I am saved and now a well and healthy woman." Trial bottles free at Hill-Or Drug Co's Drug Store. Regular size 50c, and $1.00. Guaranteed or price refunded.

Hollands Store. Mr. Robt. McGnkin is quite ill with pneumonia. We are sorry to say his recovery is doubtful. With this exception our neighborhood is in fair health. Our farmers are pushing things with a vim. Some of us were lamenting on account of the wet weather a few days ago. Now our tune is changed and we are grumbling about the ground being so hard. Verily, this is a world of dissatisfaction. Cotton is being planted this week by nearly all of our farmers. Very little corn has been planted yet, but everything favorable, in a few days there will be a large amount put in the ground. Wheat is looking well. Oats were thinned out so badly by the cold weather that we fear they will not amount to much. We have some fruit. The crop will not be large, but if no disaster befalls it we will have enough. The few warm days gave us the fishing fever, but business being so pressing we were compelled to put it off. Two negroes had a difficulty on Mr. John Pruitt's place some days ago, in which one of them cut the other's throat with a knife, inflicting a serious wound. Dr. Witherspoon came to his relief and stitched his neck together after the loss of a good deal of blood. He is doing well and will pull through all right. We learn that Rev. Mr. Copeland will preach at Shiloh some time in the near future. We will give the time and hour later on. BRUCE.

Mr. Bartholomew Bowen died on the 11th inst. Mr. Bowen lived near Anteville, in Abbeville County, and leaves a wife and several children to mourn his death.

Mrs. Amie Norris has been sick for the last week, but we hope she will soon recover.

One of our young boys started out to see the girls since Christmas. He goes once a month, and last fourth Sunday night he thought she was mad, and asked if he was coming too often. My friend, go twice a month, and you will come out at the big end or the horn.

The members of First Creek Church elected two new deacons last fourth Saturday—Mr. W. R. Crowther and Mr. S. J. Fisher—who will be ordained next Sunday, 23rd inst.

The wheat crops is looking very promising in this section. Oats are not doing so well. Messrs. J. A. and J. M. Alewine have put up a mail box at their dwelling.

The farmers have been planting corn and will be ready to plant cotton seed in a few days if the weather is fit. There is a lot of talk about the Veterans' Reunion. We hope that all of the old veterans will get to go and have a jolly time.

Mr. W. R. McAdams and daughter, Miss Marie, spent last Saturday night and Sunday in the Fork section. RED BIRD.

The County Teacher's Association.

On the 1st day of the present month a goodly number of the teachers of the County held a meeting in the Graded School building and effected the organization of a County Teachers' Association, and the Secretary was instructed to ask the County papers to publish an account of the meeting, but on account of a misunderstanding, for which the Secretary holds no one blamable but himself, the report of the meeting failed to reach both of the County papers. We trust, however, that the teachers of the County who were not present at the organization will even at this late day read of the organization with interest and will favor the Association with their presence at the next meeting, which will be on the 1st Saturday of May, at 12 o'clock, in the County Court House. The organization was effected by electing Mr. R. E. Nicholson, County Supt., President; Prof. A. G. Holmes, of Pendleton, Vice President; and W. B. West, of Belton, Secretary; Executive Committee, Superintendent Thom. C. Walton, Chairman, Miss Margie Major and Miss May Russell.

Prof. Walton added much to the interest of the meeting by giving a short but pointed and highly instructive talk on the work and position of teachers, and the great good to be derived from a monthly meeting of teachers in an association. We wish every teacher in the County could have heard these remarks. We believe they would have returned to their work much encouraged and better fitted for doing acceptably the noble work in which they are engaged. Teachers, let us not despise our occupation; the world is more and more realizing that we are important factors in the civilization and Christianizing of mankind, and will some day give to the poor, hard-worked and wearied teacher his dues. We expect more from the world and the world is expecting more from us; we should not fail to seize every opportunity for improvement. Let us then come together once a month and ask our fellow-teachers, those and only those who can and do sympathize with us, to help us solve some of the many perplexing problems which we meet in our daily work. This is essentially a day of organization. No one in any profession can afford to do without the experience and wisdom of those who are engaged in the same kind of work. So, fellow-teachers, meet with us, and help to make the Anderson County Teachers' Association a power for good to those whose duty it is to train the youth, the future citizen of the county. W. B. WEST, Secretary.

A SPEECH WORTH READING.
FELLOW-CITIZENS, LADIES, GENTLEMEN AND CHILDREN: It affords us no little pleasure to be with you this evening, because we have been pouring our tale of woe in your kind ears for ten long, weary years, and you have never turned a deaf ear to our supplications. Our experience has proven that a straight, honest statement of a proposition is all you ask, but it is what you must have. Our efforts always being on this line, we are brought more closely together, and when we have asked you for bread, or its equivalent, we have not been given a stone, nor have we delivered you pebbles instead of grain. And now to draw the cord which binds "thee to me" more tightly we have contracted to fool away about one thousand dollars worth of Shoes—a great sacrifice compared with regular prices. With this in view, we have secured the sample lines made up by two of the largest and best Manufacturers in this country. If a factory makes only one pair of good Shoes in a whole year we believe they would be the sample pair. Does it strike you that way? Now, remember, these goods came only one pair of a kind, and if that pair fits you—you have a bargain for the asking. Now, would you be doing yourself justice to pass them by. None so blind who do not wish to see. We put one of these sample lines on sale last Thursday, and you should have witnessed the sport. The second line we will offer beginning to-day, and we want to see you fellows in at the rat-killing. To illustrate the value of the bargains we actually offer in these goods it is enough to tell you what some of our competitors are doing to try to head-off the rush. Some two or three of them have gotten out their old stock of odd sizes and ancient styles, threw away the boxes, and spread the Shoes out on counters and tables like ours, and would have you believe they are selling samples, too. Some folks always ready to try to do like us. It is always easy to buy samples, but the opportunity to buy samples, made expressly for sample purposes by the manufacturers themselves, and consequently the very best they can make, does not come often, nor to many people at all. Listen what some of our customers are saying about us. A lady bought sixteen pairs, and told her husband that she was about to pass our door when, she reckons, the Lord directed her to come in. Another lady, seeing a lot that was carried home by a friend to select from, nabbed one fine pair, and came right on to our Store and got two more pairs. Two gentlemen met on the street, stopped and planted their shapely, well-dressed understandings on the sidewalk for inspection, and were about to advise each other to attend our exhibition and get shod, when each discovered that the other had already been to see us and was all healed. One little girl insisted on keeping her feet on the seat at Sunday School "because," she said, "I must take care of these Shoes; they are the best I ever had. Mama bought them at the 10c. Store." A happy old fellow that never saw such values before says: "I can wear Shoes even in the Summer-time now." We also have a pretty line of 50c. Shirts which we will sell you at 25c. each. Don't be too slow and miss the pie—others are grabbing, and why not you. Special prices to Merchants everywhere in our Wholesale Department. Yours always truly,
