Nagging Collectors.

That vicious habit of nagging collectors who present bills for settlement is much more prevalent in the business world than is generally supposed. There are some unfortunate individuals who seem to be incapable of paying a bill without indulging in some sneering and offensive remark, not always direct at the collector personally. but nevertheless offensive because intendalways the evidence of ill-breeding, or low-breeding, or of inherently depraved nature. Some very good men are often guilty of it, led into it by thoughtlessness and the force of example, but oftener betrayed into it by irritability over some other matter that has vexed them. This latter cause is evidence of a deplorable infirmity of character, and no man should engage in buisiness who has not self-control enough to deal with every question on its own merits, and not to vent his spleen on one person to gratify his resentment against another. Such men will never succeed in business, men will never succeed in business, and do not deserve to succeed, and their efforts will only bring them an antepast of hell upon this earth with a fruition of it perhaps hereafter.

"Collectors are a very important part of the complicated mechanism of business. They are generally young men who are making their debut upon the stage of life. They have come the stage of life. They have come into the business world from a social atmosphere of refinement and courtesy, and are naturally shocked and sometimes perverted by exhibitions of bearishness where they should find gentility and manliness. Their intuitions are as quick as their sensibilities, and may cost you many a good turn before you go over to the great majority.

"Now there is another thing that should be remembered in this connec-The man that pays the collector's bill is the man that has received the favor. According to any proper rule of business ethics, or common justice, he should have carried the money himself or sent it to his creditor. But when the creditor sends a polite and when the creditor sends a polite and well-dressed young man to collect the bill, especially after he has previously delivered the goods at the debtors' door, it would seem to be a matter of the highest obligation on the debtor's part to put his heel firmly on whatever of the yaller dog that may be tugging at his nature, and to treat the young gentleman who is doing him the favor to bring his account to him with marked consideration and respect. It is good policy, present and prospective, to do fancied, and if you must make an exhibition of yourself, go and see the boss, and have it out with him. Maybe he is the same sort of fellow you are, and then it will be Greek meet Greek. hibition of yourself, go and see the boss, and have it out with him. Maybe he is the same sort of fellow you are, and then it will be Greck meet Greek. But remember that the collector is a gentleman, and deserves consideration as such."—Petersburg (Va.) Index.

On the Right Line.

EDITOR INTELLIGENCER: It has been said that farmers know their business, and so far as ploughing and hocing is concerned they may, but is that all, or is that sufficient? The man with one ounce of brain would say no. It seems that the farmers have gone wild, and nothing can turn them. Poor fools. work, starve and sweat the Spring and Summer months through to land in the penitentiary or chaingang for debt when Fall comes. I believe if this state of affairs continues the poor house will have to be greatly enlarged. the penitentiary will overflow, and those who are fortunate enough to escape will have good roads to travel. know of industrious men who were east into prison last fall for debt. know of men who will not make the rent they promised this year. Now, what are they going to do? I don't know, unless they leave their wives and children and go and serve out what their term will be in the chaingang to be ready to start another crop when Spring comes. They say it is the cotton famine, and I think so my self, but what caused the famine, drought? No: it is the very worst famine that has ever befell the human race-ignorance, and why are we such race—ighorance, and why are we such a cools? If cotton was the only plant we could raise we would have ground to be excused, but where are our grounds? I hear men talk about the buyer and the manufacturer, and say sharp things when they had no right to. If anybody were to offer us a fortune we would be fools for not taking it. We hold out a fortune for them and say sharp things because they take it. Now, dear friends, why not have 10 cents for our cotton? Those buyers and manufac-turers are not thieves and liars, who mean nothing but to cheat, as many of the light-headed farmers think. They see the fortune and have nothing to do but pick it up. Now let us think about what we are doing. East of the Mississippi the dry weather is general, and west of it there have been floods. Now why sell your cotton for 5 cents when we did not get but 24 cents per pound we would be in a real good fix. Yours truly, IRA L. FREEMAN.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co. Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonial. Address.

Tribute of Respect.

At a regular communication of Hiram Lodge, No. 68, A. F. M., held Sept. 4, 1899, the following committee report was received and unanimously adopted To the Worhipful Master. Wardens, and members of Hiram Lodge, No. 68, year

Brethren: Your committee appointed death of R. W. Bro. Thomas F. Hill submit the following:

In the prime of life he was cut down; at the floodtide of manhood he was taken. Yes, when his usefulness in the various spheres of life was becoming more and more apparent, the Grand Artificer laid upon him his unerring hand and bade him cease his labors; and on a peaceful Sabbath, the 9th day of July. 1809, in the 43rd year of his life, the Gaffney, formerly of this neighborhood, have been visiting the former's sister, took its eternal flight to that "undiscovered country from whose bourne no traveler ever returns. Bro. Hill had been a member of Hiram Lodge since May 11th, 1888, a period of eleven years, during which time he had tilled most of the offices of the Lodge and had served the Lodge thrice as Worshipful Master. In 1895 he was appointed District Deputy Grand Master of the 1st Masonic District of South Carolina, comprising the counties of Pickens, Oconee. Abbeville and Anderson. Again in 1897, when the Masonic territory was re-districted, he was appointed District Deputy Grand Master for the 7th Masonic District of South Carolina, embracing only the county of Anderson, which position he held at thetime of his death.

Now, while we bow with humble submission to the will of the Great Architect of the Universe, we mourn the loss of so good a man as our deceased brother; and, though not permitted here to enumerate his excellent traits, we deem it fitting to pay this last tribute to his memory; therefore be it

Lodge has lost one of its most useful members; Masonry one of its chief supports; the church one of its most earnest advocates: the community at large a friend, and the State and County a valuable citizen.

Resolved, That we hereby pay tribute to his high character, his integrity, his devotion to duty, his love for Masonry; and above all, his strict adherence to its virtue and morality.

Resolved, That his noble life is enshrined in our memories and that we will ever cherish it with reverence and affection, that a blank page in our min-ute book be dedicated to him, that the secretary be instructed to spread these resolutions upon record and to transmit a copy to the secretary of the Grand Lodge and to the family of the deceased, and also to furnish a copy to each of the county papers for publication.

SOME OF THE SYMPTOMS OF ASTHMA-Extreme difficulty of breathing, which is worse at certain seasons of the year and at particular periods of the day, being generally worse at night. The difficulty of breathing is increased by violent emotions, damp atmosphere, excess of any kind, strong exercise, running or ascending a flight of stairs. It is also more laborious in a horizontal position, and hence more distress is felt at night when in bed. The warmth of the bed also has a strong influence on the disease. The patient seeks relief by sitting upright in bed or bending the body forward and endeavoring to expand the chest mechanically by every possible means. In SPASMODIC ASTHMA the nerves are deeply implicated, their action seem defective in the respiratory organs. In both cases the difficulty is increased by physical or mental excitement, and may endanger life if precautions are neglected. Attacks of Spasmodic Asthma generally occur during the first sleep, soon after midnight, when sleep is most sound, or early in the morning. The patient suddenly awakes with a sense of suffocation, tightness of the chest and difficulty of breathing. The respiration is wheezing and laborious, the shoulders are raised and every effort made to enlarge the chest. The pulse is quick, weak and irregular, the lower extremities are cold. WHEN COUGH and EXPECTORATION come on or can be brought on, the patient is relieved. The spasm may continue half an hour or more, or even three or four hours, unless you use WILHITE'S ASTHMA CURE.
