BY CLINKSCALES & LANGSTON.

ANDERSON, S. C., WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1899.

VOLUME XXXV--NO. 18.

About Eighteen Months Ago . . .

We started our Spot Cash Business. We decided we could save our trade money by selling for Spot Cash, as we would be enabled to sell goods cheaper than any Credit Store. We have dispensed with the services of a book-keeper, and have no bad debts on our books. We have no losses. How well we have succeeded we let you decide. Notice the number of bundles that come from B. O. EVANS & CO., and the well pleased customers whose trade we have. We save you money every time you make a purchase here, and you are standing in your own light if you don't come in and see if what we say isn't true. To show you we have great confidence in our Goods and Prices, and that we will treat you straight, we give you—

YOUR MONEY BACK IF YOU WANT IT!

Men's Hats.

Don't wear that old Hat when you know you can get a good Fedora here—one that is Union-made and not out of a job lot—for a collar. You had better make up your mind to come here at once. Our Fall Hats are all in, and we want you to inspect the most complete line in Anderson.

Hats from 25c. to $3.00.

Shoes.

We handle only a One Price Shoe—all styles, one quality, one price, and that is $3.50.

The next time you want a pair of Shoes come in and see ours. Notice the way it is made, how far the leather is turned over on the inside of the uppers, the daintiness of the stitches, the graceful shape, the way the back seam is covered, and in Tan Shoes the soft brown colors.

Compare all these things, not only with other $3.50 Shoes, but with Shoes at a dollar more.

Then buy the Shoe you think is best worth your money.

BOYS' KNEE PANT SUITS.

One lot Double Breasted Suits—ages 8 to 14 years—extra well made. A good bargain at . . . $1 00

One lot Double Breasted Suits—ages 8 to 16 years—strictly all wool, double seat and knees. The Credit Store's leader at $3.00. EVANS' price . . . $2 50

One lot Vestee Suits in mixed Cheviots—ages 3 to 8 years—an extra value, for . . . $1 50

A complete line of Knee Pants for Boys at 25c, 50c, 75c and $1.00.

Single and Double Breasted SACK SUITS.

In Plain Goods, Blue Serge, Blue or Black Clay Worsted, and Blue or Black Herring Bone Cheviot are the correct things, though a few Fancy Worsteds will be worn. We have these Suits at $5.00, $7.50, $10.00, $12.50, $15.00, and on up to $20.00 if you wish.

THE REVELATIONS OF OUZTS.

Sixth and Last Chapter of the Dispensary Exposure.

Ex-bookkeeper Ouzts' book of dispensary revelations concludes with the recapitulation he gives below. Mr. Ouzts winds up by calling on the governor to do something which he has no more power to insist on with than Mr. Ouzts himself, so the lawyers say. Mr. Ouzts stops to catch his breath after he has so extensively "blowed off his mouth," but he says he has much ammunition left for shelling the enemy if they leave the trenches and try to return his preliminary shelling. Here is his conclusion:

A good hunter never gets out of ammunition. In time of war it is not wise to shoot all your bullets, even at an enemy on the run. I do not intend to give the dispensary conspirators a chance to work the persecution dodge on the public and try to obtain the public sympathy, diverting public attention from the serious charges I have made. I have said enough for the present and will suspend my revelations. I have plenty more ammunition. In fact, I have not fired my heaviest guns. There is much more I can say which would prove as interesting as what I have already said. But I have made serious charges against the dispensary conspirators and have furnished proof of it up to them and I can wait on them; if they remain silent they plead guilty; if they answer I will further prove what I have already charged and put some new burdens on their shoulders. I am ready for them; first come, first served.

Now, let me briefly review what I have said at length, so as to impress the salient features upon the public mind, for the public can remedy the evils and abuses I have pointed out. I have charged that there is a conspiracy to get control of the dispensary as a political and money-making machine. The conspirators are bound together by self interest. Their plans and purposes can be judged by their performances. They play for high stakes and are not at all scrupulous as to their methods. Their only excuse for dismissing me was obtained by doctoring the minutes of the board. This is a small matter for such honorable gentlemen. The surreptitious addition of a few words to a resolution was nothing to men who would resort to blackmail to manufacture evidence to suit their purposes. It is but a short step from the lies I have convicted two members of the board of telling me to perjury. They solemnly promised me a hearing. The other member of this well-assorted triad said he did not know how he would vote on my case until after I had a hearing, and he took precious good care not to let me have a hearing. Pshaw, any sensible man who has kept up with the matter knows that before the board met the majority faction had fully determined to depose Commissioner Douthit and myself by hook or crook. We were not puppets who would bow down to them; neither would we turn blind eyes to their questionable proceedings and violations of the law with whose administration they were charged, therefore we must be gotten rid of. I have shown I was guiltless of any wrong, and that Mr. Douthit was never given any chance to defend himself.

I ask the public to contrast our treatment with that accorded Webb, Black, Bryant and Young by the majority faction. Had we been guilty of any of the things they were guilty of, how quickly they would have been used as the basis of our removal instead of the trumped-up charges to which they finally resort.

Webb drinks on the premises, violating a special order of the board placarded throughout the building. Black keeps his company in disregard of that rule, and gets drunk and disorderly. But they are henchmen of the majority faction, and rules of the board do not apply to such. They are privileged to violate the board's rules and even to help themselves to the State's property, as I have shown Vance and Bryant did. Haselden said Bryant was a thief and a scoundrel, and boasted that he could put him in the penitentiary. If he had any such power over me or Douthit, would he not have used it? Why this leniency to Bryant? Ah, Bryant is Robinson's friend and Robinson's son-in-law, and Robinson to the point of not voting with him. But he begged both; he made Robinson believe it necessary for him to vote as Haselden directed to save Bryant's scalp, and he made Bryant believe he could not escape the yawning gates of the penitentiary unless he swore against Douthit and myself and made it "hot as he could" for us.

I have not only charged Black with drunkenness, but I have proved his utter incompetence beyond the shadow of a doubt. He made scores of errors which would have cost the State or the dispensary heavily had they not been discovered. All of his errors may not have been caught. Had I made one hundred of his errors, what would the majority of the board have done to me? But Black works in with them, he is one of them, and so they do not care how incompetent he is nor how much his mistakes may rob the State or the dispensary. Black's pull is shown by the fact that though Douthit fine and again reported him to Miles for drunkenness, Miles did not check his drinking, much less suspend him. The partiality they show their henchmen is further instanced by the way Elmore Young's ignorance and incompetence for the position of receiving clerk are overlooked. But he is Miles' nephew, and therefore privileged to do as he pleases. And when he pleases to worry and annoy men working in the dispensary, throwing water on them and padding them, they must smile and look pleased at receiving such marks of attention from the nephew of the chairman, otherwise the chairman may do as he did to one who objected to such plesantries, whom he vilely cursed and whose heart he threatened to cut out.

But favoritism to dispensary employees and officers who today it is not the whole extent of the majority faction's favoritism. Favoritism in the placing of orders for whiskey has been proven and is subject to a much worse construction than the favoritism to employees and overlooking their incompetence and violations of the board's orders. I have shown how various whiskey houses succeeded in getting orders by employing local strikers, who knew nothing about the whiskey business but who had a pull with the majority faction. I have shown how valuable those pulls were by the size of the orders they obtained. I have shown how especially fortunate was each house which got one of Haselden's plentiful supply of consins as its striker. I have also shown that when one of Haselden's consins ceased to represent a house, it was whiskey seemed to deteriorate in his judgment for he ceased advocating orders for it and it likewise ceased to get orders.

As further evidence of the conspiracy I have cited the action of the majority faction in removing, without giving any reason, dispensers Lynch and Bookman and the Richland county board of control. It simply further evidences the determination of the majority faction to control the dispensary "from a to izzard" and fill all places with their partisans, which will enable them to wield its full power in politics and also manipulate the sales of liquor to the advantage of firms represented by relatives or henchmen of the majority faction.

I have shown in the State dispensary how a cot is not measured with the same lat as lumber, and in its incompetence and violations of rules are exposed in henchmen of the majority faction, while Douthit and I are removed, without a hearing, on trumped-up charges. Lynch, Bookman and the Richland board are removed without a hearing, and I have made against them. But Dispenser Brown, of Cheraw, was found short in his accounts. He admitted that he had sold liquor on credit and not collected for it.

Selling liquor on credit is a direct violation of the dispensary law itself and is a crime under the law. The chairman of the Chesterfield board of control wrote here that Brown was a good fellow and he wanted him reinstated and given time to pay up his shortage, which the board graciously did. Is there a reason for making such a difference in the treatment of the two boards? If so, what is it? In one case, a dispenser violating the law under which he holds office, and from which he gets his living, and in the other the dispensary has never been accused of violating anything.

Possibly fellow feeling made the majority faction wondrous kind to the Chesterfield dispenser, for I have shown that Haselden bought liquor on credit at the State dispensary, thus violating the dispensary law himself. He disregards the dispensary law and violates it, but he has no money for the alleged infraction of a doubtful rule of the board, which is not of near so much authority as the law creating the board. He not only bought on credit, but he and Miles bought at the price to dispensers and not to consumers, where by the county and town they share of the profit of the transactions.

I have cited another instance of Haselden's disregard of the rules of the board. When Dickson resigned the position of superintendent, it was a month before his successor was elected. The board ordered Haselden and Vance to do the work of the superintendent during that time, and they even gave him extra pay a week after Bryant took charge. He helped pass the order about the superintendent's work, but that he did not keep him from voting. The State lost $30 on his account.

No wonder Haselden did not vote to punish Webb for losing the State $112 by giving a beer dispensary authority to run on after the board had ordered him to close up.

I have charged that a former commissioner gave away State property at the dispensary, but was not disciplined by the board.

I have charged that Haselden made his term as chairman profitable by a charging per diem for days he was constructively at work in Columbia, but really attending to his business at home, according to his statement of his plans to the treasurer of Greenville county.

I have made various other charges against the strikers and ex-officers of the dispensary, but who at present are not charged with its management, which last I particularly wish to attend to.

Coriune Items.

News is rather scarce at this writing; however, I will attempt to give you a few dots.

The young people of this community had the pleasure of attending a birthday party given by Miss Jessie Thompson on the afternoon of the 17th. The guests spent the time very pleasantly in chatting with each other and listening to sweet strains of music until supper was announced, when we all repaired to the dining room and did justice to the many good things before us. After supper we again assembled in the parlor to listen to sweet music on the violin by that expert violinist, Mr. David Silverman, of Anderson. The hours flew so rapidly that we could scarcely realize that the hour of departure had arrived. We are indebted to Miss Jessie for such a pleasant entertainment. But we must not forget to say that she was the recipient of many handsome presents.

Miss Sallie Schrimp has returned from an extended visit to relatives in Cincinnati, Ohio, which she says she highly enjoyed.

Miss Ella Webb is spending a few days with the Misses Jackson, of your city.

We listened to one of those very impressive sermons delivered by Rev. H. C. Fennel, last Sabbath a. m. at V. rennes Church, and also listened to another in the afternoon delivered by Rev. J. N. H. Summerell at Flat Rock Church. JUANITA.

A COUGH

Is a Little Thing when it Begins!

THE longer you put it off the harder it is to cure. The longer it lasts the more serious it becomes. Let it run on and there's no telling what the end will be. The worst case of Consumption was a little Cold once.

TAR MINT

Will stop any Cough when it first begins. It will stop most Coughs after they get bad. But the best way is to take it at the first sign of a Cold. It ought to be right at your elbow all the time.

Tar Mint

Is the BEST REMEDY for COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. Don't buy any other kind.
