WEDNESDAY, OCT. 3, 1900.

Wars and rumors of wars remind us that the Bible has said, that this would be the condition preceding the end of the world.

In every section of the country leaders of thought and action, honest, thinking men of every class and condition are hastening to ally themselves with Bryan and Stevenson. Every day the success of Democracy grows more promising.

The Knights of Pythias Lodge at Sumter, S. C., has established a scholarship at Clemson College. This is indeed a knightly act well in keeping with the brotherly principles and charitable teachings of a noble order. These worthy sons of Sumter deserve and will receive the thanks of all who appreciate nobility of purpose.

The National Democratic Executive Committee wants only four thousand dollars from South Carolina Democrats to help elect Bryan and Stevenson. The money is wanted for legitimate purposes, such as the expenses of campaign and the distribution of campaign literature in the doubtful States. South Carolina can well afford to stand some of the expense of the campaign, and the sum asked for should be easily and promptly raised.

The war in South Africa is about ended, but the warrens from the Philippines continues to come in laden with the death lists of American soldiers. The twenty millions the "strenuous" glory seekers induced the government to give for those "peaceable" islands was but a drop in the bucket to the mighty cost that was to follow in their wake. What will be the final cost is a question that will touch the heart and pocket of the American people.

Solicitor Ansel is now on his last round as prosecuting attorney for the State in the Eighth Judicial Circuit, and the tribute paid him last week by our Grand Jury was a just and deserved one. We do not believe South Carolina ever had a more zealous, faithful or conscientious Solicitor than he, and in voluntarily retiring from the office he carries with him the confidence and good will of every law-abiding citizen. May Heaven's richest blessings be his portion throughout life.

There is a more general agitation of the race question now than ever before. The subject is constantly coming up in conventions, in churches and in legislative bodies. The question is a live one to the South. The negro is welcome to stay in the South so long as he knows his place and has the sense to keep it. The present agitation can do no harm and it may result in some good. The country might as well understand the attitude of the South toward the negro now as well as any other time. White supremacy will be maintained in the South as long as Southerners claim the section as their home.

A pleasing and well deserved recognition of the intrinsic and artistic merits of American textiles is found in the award of grand prizes and gold medals at the Paris exposition to the products of our cotton and woolen mills in competition with those of other countries. As a whole our textile exhibits stood the competitive test better than those of any other country. With one exception only, in which a silver medal was awarded, every one of these exhibits received either a grand prize or a gold medal. Viewed from any point it is the most brilliant record ever accorded to a line of textile fabrics placed on exhibition in competition with the manufactures of the world.

A concise and complete picture of the manifold oppressions of the trust system is given by Bryan in his letter of acceptance: "The consumers suffer extortion, the producer of raw material has but one purchaser and must sell at the arbitrary price fixed; the laborer has but one employer and is powerless to protest against injustice either in wages or in conditions of labor; the small stockholder is at the mercy of the speculator, while the traveling salesman contributes his salary to the overgrown profits of the trust." Every man, woman and child in the United States is banefully affected by the trusts. Every man, woman or child can be placed in one of the classes Bryan has enumerated. The class of consumer embraces them all. Some occupy a place in two of the classes.

The demand is constantly growing for shuttles. Cotton factories are increasing at a rapid rate, and it appears that the small item of shuttles is one of remarkable difficulty to procure. Why not build one of our own? South Carolina can manufacture the shuttles just as easily and just as successfully as Massachusetts. We labored long in this resourceful Southern country under the delusion that cotton factories could not be made a success. That fancy no longer exists, and the thousand and one other things that have for generations enriched the manufacturing East can be and will be manufactured in the South. We need a diversification of manufacturing enterprises, and a shuttle factory could be made a success. Little machinery and small capital will be required. The wood of this section, we are told, abounds in the best kind of material and the markets are really hungry for a more abundant supply. Why not have one in Anderson?
