Since the defeat of Bryan, Hill, Olney and Patterson have been spoken of as candidates in 1904.

Women succeed in many cases where men fail. The Daughters of the Confederacy are slowly but surely collecting the money to pay for a statue of Jefferson Davis.

Mr. Bryan takes his defeat philosophically, saying that he did all he could and gives Mr. Stevenson, Chairman public, but Mr. Winter, our consul at Annaberg, does not believe that it will amount to much. We do not think the project need be the cause of any serious apprehens a to the South. This section is likely to be the world's main reliance for its cotton supply for generations to come.

The Union These is publicative well.

The Union Times is making a well directed fight against the practice of carrying concealed weapons. There is a law in this State against carrying concealed weapons but it is not enforced. The next Larislature should take plan, proposed by the News and Couplan, proposed by the News and Con-rier, is a step in the right direction: "We are of the opinion that their sale should be practically prohibited, or, at least, made subject to as strict reguat least, made subject to as strict rega-lations as the sale of liquor, with a slowly.

of a million pensioners on the United States pension rolls. The forthcoming report will show, it is said, that the actual number at the end of the fiscal year was 993,529, including about 45,-000 names added during the year. During the same period of time a few more than 43,000 names were dropped, including about 36,000 by death and the remainder by other causes. It appears, therefore, that the roll is still a growing one, with the likelihood that the million mark will be reached, if not passed. 'The Spanish-American, Philippine and Chinese affair will add thousands to the number of government pensioners, while the veterans of the war of secession are apparently a Republican members of Congress arriving in Washington predict that this session will be a busy one. There are many matters which will keep both houses busy during the three months remaining of the present Congress. Among the subjects which will come up for discussion are the modification, or repeal of tha war taxes, the Nicaraguan canal bill, the subsidy bill, and raguan canal bill, the subsidy bill, and measures for the building of new naval vessels. It is not generally believed that there will be much legislation relative to the Philippines, Hawaii, Porto Rico or Cuba, but that these matters will be allowed to go over to the next Congress. There will probably be a large number of bills passed during the short session for the erection of new public buildings, etc.

There will meet in New Orleans Dec. 4, to continue in session until Dec. 9, the Southern Industrial Convention at the Southern Industrial Convention at the Philippines, Hawaii, Georgia, is visiting friends and relatives in this section.

the Southern Industrial Convention, at which there will be present representatives from all parts of the South.

The aim and purpose of the convention is to discuss industrial matters and the best way of bringing to the and the best way of bringing to the here. and the best way of bringing to the attention of the country and the world the resources of the South and the splendid opportunities they offer to labor and capital. The convention in New Orleans will be the third meeting that has been held. Both the previous ones have accomplished much good, and the movement has grown steadily with time. It has attracted the attention of the Northern press, which, as a matter of fact, is giving it more consideration than are the papers of the South. The New York Commercial speaks in the warmest and most cordial terms of the convention, and says of it: "Never were the South's industrial and financial interests so closely linked with those of the entire country linked with those of the entire linked with the as now-a community of interest that

Among the subjects to come under discussion are "The South and Her Development," "Export Trade of the South," "Cotton Milling," "Im-migration into the South," "Tex.ile Education," "Coal, Iron and Steel of the South," "Merchant Marine," "Oriental Trade," "The Great Phosphate Industry," "The Salt Industry of Louisiana," and "Farming Industry." Gov. Mc-Sweeney has appointed a number of delegates to represent South Carolina in this Convention, and it is hoped that all of them will attend.

Notes from Denver.

The engine of the down freight on this road (the Blue Ridge) got out of fix as they were nearing Denver on Monday afternoon. The engineer put and gives Mr. Stevenson, Chairman Jones, the orators, newspapers and everybody else directed it for doing the everybody else discredit for doing the same. He will not hear to being in the way of avowed candidates for the Senate. He will remain active in politics and grateful to friends.

before any damage was done. The train had to remain here until they could send to Anderson for another engine to tow them to the city. Just here we can see where a telephone would have been very useful and convenient, but we have not got one yet. Denver ought to be a regular station, as more passengers get on and off here.

Governor McSweeney recently sent a circular letter to the mayors and intendents of the various cities and towns in this State in reference to the enforcement of the dispensary law. Mayor Tolly, of this city, received one of the circulars, and promptly replied to it by saying that the law was strictly enforced here. Thus has been the case ever since the law was enacted, and it will continue to be, though a large majority of the citizens of the city do not endorse the law. We have a most efficient police force, and these officers do their utmost to enforce every law. Gov. McSweeney may rest assured that the law will be enforced in Anderson.

Germany is a large purchaser of cotton. She bought $28,000,000 worth of it direct from the United States during the first eight months of this year, besides a large amount which went to her by way of England. A movement is now on foot to attempt to supply Germany with cotton from her own colonies. The scheme has been received with great favor by the Germany public, but Mr. Winter, our consul at Annaberg, does not believe that it will

ced. The next Legislature should take up the question and see if some improvement cannot be made in the enforcement of the law. A Beautiful Reception.

On Friday afternoon last the elegant and hospital home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton A. Reed, on North Main street, was thrown open between the hours of 4 and 7 o'clock, to entertain their numerous lady friends, the occasion being the celebration of their daughter's, Mrs. R. S. Ligon's, fifteenth wedding anni-

The mellow sunshine and purple haze of the autumal afternoon was shut without, and the apartments were brilliantly illuminated with electric lights and wax candles gleaming through colored shades like bouquets of living flowers.

The guests were admitted by the gallant little page, Master Clifton Ligon, to the spacious hall which had been transformed into a bower of been transformed into a bower of beauty.

Against a background of palm plants and ferns, Mrs. E. S. Ligon received her friends, assisted by Mrs. Robert E. Ligon, Mrs. Teresa H. Strickland and Mrs. James M. Paget. These four charming ladies were handsomely gowned in rich silks and laces. They stood beneath the electric chandelier, whose lights shone through rose pink shades, casting a roseate hue over everything. Broad pink satin ribbons hung in garlands across the hall, uniting into an immense bow in the center, and from the two long streamers depended, in silver figures, the dates 1885 and 1900.

The guests were ushered into the parlor where a beautiful harmony of white and gold met their eyes. Ferns and yellow and white chrysanthemums tilled every nook and corner. Yellow silk draperies were artistically hung wherever the color scheme demanded them. The chandelier of lights glowed like great sunflowers, and beneath their radiance stood seven exquisitely dressed ladies—Mrs. J. D. Maxwell, Mrs. D. A. Leedbetter, Miss Mamie V. Brown, Miss Eilleen Mauldin, Miss Maggie Evans, Miss Mattie Brown, of Belton, and Miss Gertrude Hagood, of Easley; their duty was to arrange the guests and disperse pleasure and entertainment.

Mrs. Reed was like a sun-beam flitting from room to room, infecting everyone with her brightness and cheer.

From the parlor the guests were conducted to the long dining-hall, which was artistically decorated in crimson. Festoons of red ribbons fell from the poppy red lights above, and were caught at the four corners of the table by large bows. Ruby candles glowed within many pronged, silver candelabra, and maiden hair ferns shone between.

Great Japanese urns and vases of shone between.

Great Japanese urns and vases of rich red chrysanthemums stood amid the cut glass, rare china and silver on the buffet and table, and interspersed through all was a luscious feast of dainties.

The Misses Fannie and Louise Ligon, Cora Mauldin and Lily Strickland formed a bevy of nymph-like waitresses to serve the bountiful repass. From the dining-hall the guests were conducted into another apartment, where the sweetmeats were served.

Beneath the old-rose decorations and lights. Miss Lidie Hagood presided over the bowl of nectat, like a veritable Hebe, clad in an old-rose crepe gown.

Mrs. Julius Opertilebane, Mrs. Green, and the characteristics of the core of the c

Mrs. Julius Quattlebaum, Mrs. George Tolly and Mrs. D. Prue Sloan served the delicious cakes and other confections. From thence the guests were ushered into another rose-tinted apartment, to be met by two white clad, golden haired fairies, little Alberta
Brock and Annie Mattison, who bestowed a souvenir in commemoration of the crystal wedding, upon each guest.

Such memories stand forth as beautiful pictures in our minds, and are to be lingered over in after years. The last golden glow had faded from the West, and velted-footed night had descended to earth, before the friends reluctantly departed, leaving a sheaf of good wishes with the fair daughter of the ever gracious hostess of the mansion.

THE CASH PLAN A FAIR ONE!

THE only fair one, to my way of thinking, aside from the cash savings. Everybody gets treated alike-something impossible under the old plan. The one who paid each used to be charged same price as the one who stood me off for a month at a time, and I couldn't help mysolf. It was so unsatisfactory to customers and my-, self that I changed and everybody seems glad that I did. So am I. Same Goods same treatment, but much lower prices than usual, simply because I've no bad debts to make good.
