At a negro frolic near Honea Path last Friday night Caspar Barmore, colored, was shot and killed. An inquest was held Saturday and the jury rendered a verdict that Barmore came to his death by a pistol shot wound at the hands of Charlie Mattison, another negro, who was lodged in jail yesterday afternoon.

Our friend George Gambrell, the polite and popular salesman of the well known firm of F. B. Crayton & Co., of Anderson, spent last Sunday at home in the city to the great pleasure of homefolks and his many friends. George is an up-to-date hustler, having hosts of friends who are always glad to see him.—Abbeville Press and Banner.

Every business house in the city has agreed to observe Thanksgiving Day and will close their stores and offices on Thursday, 29th inst. A petition to that effect was circulated and every firm cheerfully and willingly signed it. Everybody throughout the County should therefore bear in mind that no business will be transacted in Anderson that day either in the stores, banks or public offices.

Last Thursday afternoon Lester Duncan, a 12-year-old boy, employed in the spinning department of the Anderson cotton mill, accidentally got his right arm caught in the machinery and it was terribly mangled. No bones were broken but the muscles and tendons of the arm were torn apart and lacerated. Drs. Duckett, Townsend and Nardin dressed the wound, and they say it will be several months before the unfortunate boy can again use his arm.

The Oakman (Ala.) News, of the 9th inst., speaks as follows of a former citizen of Anderson: "We publish in this issue the card of Col. W. T. McElroy, attorney at law, Oakman, Alabama. Col. McElroy is a graduate of the South Carolina Law College, one of the best institutions in the United States. He has been engaged in the active practice of law in Ensley and Birmingham for four years. He comes to make his home with the people of Oakman and practice his profession. We bespeak for him a liberal patronage."

Rev. G. H. Waddell, Superintendent of the Epworth Orphanage at Columbia, spent last Sunday in Anderson and conducted services at the West End Methodist Church at 11 o'clock a. m. At 7:30 o'clock p. m. he delivered a most interesting address at the St. John Methodist Church on his work at the Orphanage, where 112 children are now being cared for. This institution is one that the Methodists of South Carolina are justly proud of, and the members of that denomination in this city contribute liberally to its support.

Rev. J. B. Campbell, pastor of the St. John M. E. Church, will preach his last sermon next Sunday prior to the meeting of the State Conference, which convenes next Wednesday at Chester. Mr. Campbell came here a few months ago to succeed Rev. W. W. Daniel, who was appointed President of the Columbia Female College, and is not only greatly beloved by his own congregation but is most highly esteemed by all of our people. We join his many friends in hoping that he will be returned to Anderson.

We had the pleasure of sampling in our pipe some very fine tobacco grown on the plantation of Col. R. W. Simpson at Pendleton. It had a very fine flavor and would please any smoker of a pipe. This sample only proves what we have frequently claimed, viz., that Anderson County can produce as fine tobacco as is grown in any section of the State. In some of the eastern counties the farmers are giving as much attention to tobacco as cotton, and they are meeting with big success. As a money crop it is equal if not superior to cotton, and we hope the farmers of Anderson County will give it some attention. Plant a few acres and we believe you will be more than pleased with the result.

Miss Nora Martin, second daughter of Capt. B. C. Martin, died at her home in Williamston yesterday morning about 6 o'clock. She was afflicted with that ever fatal disease, consumption, and had been an invalid for a long time, being confined to her bed for several months. Miss Martin was a bright, charming young lady, who possessed many beautiful traits of character, and was greatly beloved by her many friends. During all the weary months of her confinement her mind was clear and she maintained her cheerful disposition, and was strong in faith and hope. Since her girlhood she had been a devoted member of the Baptist Church, and while her death has left an aching void her sorely bereaved parents and sisters find consolation in the belief that their loss is her eternal gain. The remains will be interred in Williamston to-day.

There were two shooting affrays in Savannah Township last Sunday, and all the parties engaged were negroes. The first row occurred Sunday at noon on the plantation of Dr. W. A. Clinkscales, when Will Williams shot Mack Norris in the right leg, inflicting a severe wound. Robert Norris, the father of the wounded negro, went to Magistrate Rainey and swore out a warrant for the arrest of Williams. That night about 8 o'clock a party of negroes went to the house of Robert Norris, who lives on the plantation of Hon. R. P. Clinkscales, and fired 25 or 30 shots into his cabin, slightly wounding the old negro and another son, Crayton Norris. On Monday ten negroes were arrested, and, after a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Rainey, six of them were sent up to the Circuit Court for trial. Four of these gave bond and two were committed to jail.

Mrs. Adelaide Rosamond, wife of Mr. John W. Rosamond, died on Wednesday, 14th inst., at her home in Brushy Creek Township, after an illness of several weeks, aged 68 years. Mrs. Rosamond's maiden name was Oliver, and she spent her life in the section where she died. She possessed a most noble Christian character, and was greatly beloved by a wide circle of friends and relatives. She was a woman of great influence in her neighborhood, and her death has brought sadness to the homes of all of her friends, who will long cherish her memory. She was devoted to her Church, and was ever ready to minister to a sick neighbor and speak a comforting word to a distressed friend. A devoted husband and nine children survive her, and in their sore bereavement they have the sympathy of their many friends. On Thursday the funeral services were held at Pickens Chapel, near her home, and the remains were interred in the adjoining graveyard.

Mrs. Nancy L. King, relict of the late Jasper King, and mother of Policeman W. B. King, of this city, died suddenly at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. P. Vanadore, in Belton, last Thursday night at 11 o'clock, in the 61st year of her age. Mrs. King, who lived with her son in this city, went to Belton on Tuesday preceding her death to visit her daughter and assist in nursing a little granddaughter, who was seriously ill and who died on Wednesday. The deceased was in her usual good health, and the announcement of her death was a great shock to her friends and loved ones. Heart disease was the cause of her death. Mrs. King was a daughter of the late A. C. Garret, and in her girlhood her parents moved to this County from Laurens, and here she has ever since lived. She was a most excellent woman, and since her girlhood had been an exemplary member of Whitefield Baptist Church, where the funeral services were conducted last Saturday by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Allen, and the remains interred by the side of her husband in the Churchyard. She was most highly esteemed by her friends and acquaintances, who deeply regret her death. Mrs. King was the mother of ten children, six of whom survive her. May God comfort and console them in their bereavement.

W. H. Shearer, Surveyor. You will find me at Dean & Ratliff's.
