ANDERSON, S. C.

Local News.

WEDNESDAY, AUG. 7, 1901.

Mr. Rutledge Osborne and family have gone to Cashier's Valley to spend a few weeks.

Mr. W. D. Simpson and family left this morning for Highlands, N. C., to spend a few weeks.

Good rains have fallen very generally over the county, and crops have improved wonderfully.

Mrs. J. L. Tribble and family have returned from a visit of several days to the mountains of North Carolina.

The Anderson base ball team left Sunday for a two weeks playing at Darlington, Marion, Florence and other towns.

Married, August 4th, by J. Reid Garrison, Notary Public, Mr. O. C. Gillespie to Miss Annie Moseley, both of Millville.

Last Friday evening the Fats and Leans played a game of ball at the park, which resulted in a score of 10 to 19, in favor of the Fats.

We have received a copy of the Times, printed at Belton, S. C. It is edited by R. W. Nash, and presents a creditable appearance. May it live long and prosper.

We are requested to give notice that the protracted meeting at Neal's Creek church has been postponed to Saturday night before the third Sunday in August.

Col. and Mrs. J. N. Brown, who have been spending a few weeks in the mountains, have returned home. Their daughter, Miss Varina, will remain a while longer.

John Crider, an escaped convict from the Anderson County Chain Gang, was captured in Elbert County, Ga., one day last week and turned over to the County Supervisor.

Our venerable friend, Mr. O. H. P. Fant, celebrated his 80th birthday last Thursday at the home of his son, Rev. H. B. Fant. Although quite feeble, he is enjoying good health.

The concert given last Friday night for the benefit of St. Joseph's Catholic Church was greeted by a pretty fair audience and the recitations and specialties were highly enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Saylor, of Martin Township, lost their little infant, Pearl, last Thursday. She was buried at Mt. Bethel, the services being conducted by Rev. N. G. Wright.

B. O. Evans & Co.'s advertisement came in too late to get in this week's paper. We notice that they are giving a reduction of 25 per cent on all clothing. Look out for it next week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Norris left for the mountains this morning by private conveyance. They will stay about three weeks and visit Highlands and their summer home at Horse Cove.

Vivian Scott, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Scott, died with diphtheria and scarlet fever Monday at 1 o'clock. The interment took place at Mt. Pisgah yesterday at 11 o'clock.

Rev. R. H. Burris, of Newsome, Va., is on a visit to relatives and friends in this County. Mr. Burris is a successful preacher in his adopted home, being pastor of four churches.

Rev. V. I. Masters and family, Beech Island, S. C., are on a visit to the up-country. Mr. and Mrs. Masters have many friends and relatives in this section who are always glad to meet them.

Mr. W. C. Garrett, of Pelzer, dropped in to see us Monday. He is 87 years old and says he is prospering in this world's goods and feels secure in the hope that he will fare well in the next world.

Rev. Mr. Copeland has been conducting a protracted meeting at Hopewell for some days and, as a result, at least thirty-five additions to the church have been made. The meeting closed Monday night.

Hall Bros. have moved to their new quarters and are offering some special inducements in prices. See new advertisement. These young gentlemen deserve a great deal of credit for their push and energy and are destined to do well.

A protracted meeting was begun at Mountain Creek Sunday morning. There was no preaching Sunday night, due to the fact that Rev. Mr. Copeland, the pastor, was closing a meeting at Hopewell, where his efforts had been greatly blessed.

Helen Earle, the little five-year-old daughter of Mrs. J. B. Cooley, of Holland's Store, died last Thursday night of scarlet fever. The remains were buried Friday in the Presbyterian Cemetery, Rev. S. J. Cartledge conducting the funeral services.

Mr. W. Beattie Gossett, a former resident of our city but now of Quincy, Fla., gave us a call last Wednesday. He is on his way to the northern markets to buy goods for the large house he represents. Mr. Gossett has many friends in Anderson who are always glad to greet him.

Indications point to the fact that we will some day, soon we hope, have a new union depot, but nothing definite can be heard. Some preliminary surveys were made Monday last by Mr. Percy Lumley, chief engineer of the Southern road for this State but he would make no statements as to when and where the building would be erected.

Mr. W. T. McGregor has bought the restaurant interest of Mr. Roark, who will soon return to Atlanta, and asks that his friends will continue their former liberal patronage. Mrs. McGregor is in charge, which guarantees that every thing in the culinary department will be up-to-date and they will be glad to serve the ladies as well as the gentlemen.

Mr. Davis Pressley, age 24, son of Rev. W. L. Pressley, died at his father's home at Due West Monday last from consumption. He gave great promise of a bright business career and his death is very much lamented. It will be remembered by many that he was with the Bank of Anderson several months preparatory to taking a position as cashier of the Bank of Due West.

We are requested to announce that on Friday, August 9th, Hickory Camp, No. 104, Woodmen of the World, of Fair Play, will picnic at the Reeder's Ford, between Fair Play and Oakway. Everybody is cordially invited, including neighboring camps, to come with well-filled baskets. Senator John L. McLaurin has promised to deliver an address. There will also be speeches by prominent Woodmen. The band from Lenoir, Ga., will render music for the occasion.

L. P. Smith will run an excursion train from Greenwood to Asheville on Tuesday, Aug. 13. He can arrange to handle passengers from Anderson provided he can give a guarantee of 40 people from Anderson. If you want to take this delightful trip give him your name not later than Saturday, Aug. 10. The train will leave Anderson on Tuesday, 13th, at 9.35 a. m. Leave Asheville returning on Wednesday, Aug. 14th, at 6 p. m., arriving back at Anderson at about 12 o'clock.

Mr. H. S. Badger, traveling inspector of the Southern Car Service Association, was in the city Monday night and a part of yesterday. He occupies a very responsible position which he has held for many years, and his present position in the railway service stamps him as the man who looks after the matter of demerage which so much concerns our merchants. He states that the collection per month, in this line, is much greater than would be thought by our people generally, or our merchants either.

Our people have been instructed and delighted by the sermons and lectures of Rev. H. K. Shimon, a native Persian. He preached at the Central Presbyterian Church Sunday morning and at the First Baptist Church Sunday night and delivered a lecture at the City Hall last night, illustrating by stereopticon views much of the habits and customs of his native people. For three years Mr. Shimon has been studying at the Columbia Theological Seminary preparing himself for the Christian ministry. His studies are finished and he will shortly return to Persia to preach to his people.

We regret to chronicle the death of Mr. Luther S. Bigby, age 38, which occurred at Williamston last Saturday morning. He leaves a wife and four children. He was fully identified with the business interests of Pelzer, successful to a remarkable degree for one of his age, kind, considerate, just and honorable. To a remarkable degree he had the confidence and hearts of the people, constantly bestowing favors and acts of kindness. All of his large circle of acquaintances will miss him, and they join the family in the great bereavement which falls upon them in the loss of so kind and affectionate husband and father.

Mr. W. A. Bowen, aged 40, living near Townville, died at sunrise Sunday morning last and was buried Monday at Townville, Rev. R. J. Williams conducting the funeral. She was just recovering from an attack of bilious fever, and this, with other complications—heart failure and the like—is supposed to have hastened death. She leaves a husband and five children, who have the sympathy of the entire community. With her parents, the late John Pitts, she moved to Townville just prior to the civil war. Her noble Christian character was exemplified in her life and in her suffering, and the Baptist Church of Townville, of which she was a member, loses one of their purest and most consistent members.

Tuesday at Lamar, this county, a woman was the successful bidder on a contract to erect a bridge across a stream at Lima known as the Lima bridge. This is perhaps the first time in the history of the county that a bridge contract has been let to a member of the female sex. Mrs. Hattie Goodwin was the successful bidder, having bid against a number of other contestants. The price bid was $225. Mrs. Goodwin is a thorough business woman and is thoroughly capable to handle the contract. She, of course, will have men under employ to superintend the work. It is said that the work of building the bridge will begin in a very short time.—Greenville News, Aug. 7.

As to whether advertising pays or not has always been an open question with old-time, forty-years-ago business men, but we have a story to tell this week which should go far to settle the question in the affirmative, every word of which is true, and we give names, postoffice, &c., in order that there may be no doubt as to the facts stated. For several years Mr. J. A. Rutledge, of Cartersville, Tishomingo Co., Miss., has been a reader of THE INTELLIGENCER, and of course could not help reading the advertisements. A few weeks ago the Sullivan Hardware Co. of this city occupied their space with a description of the Josh Berry fourteen-finger grain cradle, and Mr. Rutledge made up his mind immediately that he must have said cradle, and as it could not be procured in that section he sent Sullivan Hardware Co. the order, and the cradle is now on its way to Mississippi. There is another thing connected with this cradle which is remarkable, and that is the freight on it from Anderson to Iuka, Miss., one hundred and fifteen miles this side of Memphis, Tenn., was only twenty-five cents, over the Southern Railroad. We would advise our Mississippi friends in want of agricultural implements to send their orders to Anderson.

A dispatch from St. Augustine, Fla., dated Aug. 2nd gives the following account of the hanging of the two negroes who killed Mr. Julius Eskew of this County last May: "A large crowd assembled at the jail yard this morning to witness the execution of James Kirby and Robert Lee, who were condemned to die for the murder of Julius Eskew last May. Lee was found guilty of being an accessory in the crime, but when he was on the gallows to-day he protested that he was innocent. The trap was sprung at ten minutes after 10 o'clock and Kirby's neck was broken by the fall, while Lee struggled for life for about 15 minutes and died from strangulation. The men dangled from the ends of the rope for 20 minutes before their bodies were cut down. The best of order prevailed."

We came near having a case of suicide in our quiet town Tuesday, but all ended well. The party was colored, the doctor was prompt, his medicines efficient and soon everything was alright. The patient was Frank Marshall, who up to two weeks ago was identified with the restaurant of Mr. "Big" King as cook. He was discharged and for some time had been laying around, the restaurant begging to be restored to his job. Tuesday he bought an ounce bottle of laudanum from the Evans Pharmacy. He went to Mr. King's restaurant and, after drinking half of it, asked Mr. W. G. Kay, the manager for Mr. King, what was a proper dose and received the reply that 20 drops was a good dose, he remarked that he had taken about all of it, and went back in the woodshed and went to sleep. Dr. Harris was at once summoned and administered emetics and at last accounts the unfortunate negro was doing well.

"It always makes us sad to see a child deceive its parents, and it is no uncommon sight. No good comes of such deception, but often it means disaster for the boy or girl who is guilty of it. If a son or daughter is willing to deceive those who love them best it shows little respect for the parents and an evil tendency in one's heart. Parents are frequently made the laughing stock of a community through the deceit practiced by their own child. Everybody knows of the son or daughter's double dealing except those who have the best right to know. Many children think it is smart and sharp thus to deceive. Its the smartness of satan and nothing but evil will likely come of it. The child that deceives his parents is in a dangerous way. Encouraged by his past success at deception he will be apt to try bolder methods until he is at last covered with shame. Deceiving the parents is often the first step in the downward course. With the parent's eyes blinded they allow themselves to go on unchecked. Gratiplied at what they regard as their shrewdness they give themselves free rein and stop at nothing short of public disgrace. The child that deceives its parents is in a bad way."

Supplementary to what this paper had to say of the parade and elegant display of the fire department of our city, it might not be amiss to state that the local man of the INTELLIGENCER has, in a round-about way, picked up the facts that the department does not enjoy that unanimity which is necessary to characterize the most efficient work. There was never a time in the history of this city when the Fire Department was in more magnificent trim as to apparatus—in this particular everything is complete, and there were, perhaps, never a finer body of intelligent fire fighters, but there is a rumbling of discord in their ranks which is calculated to disturb the security of our people, and especially our fire insurance payers, feel in this direction. The volunteers in this branch of our city government are, he it understood, strictly volunteers, save the little pittance paid the chief, and though ready to serve the people and will never show the white feather in any case of emergency, they have a grievance. They are not of one mind, design and determination, all so necessary to harmonious and efficient service. There is something wrong, and that something appears to be a want of satisfactory fire ordinances. The companies, and especially the chief, should be given larger powers. The Council is dealing with men and not children, and these men are performing work from a sense of duty and not for pay. These matters should be looked into. There may be some old matters in hands of Council now, coming as suggestions from these men, that should be taken up and passed upon. They are entitled to the highest consideration, and don't let us forget that this is no longer a small town.
