Miss Caroline Shearer died at the home of her brother, Frank Shearer, in Savannah Township, last Sunday af ternoon. She had been in feeble health for several months and finally terminated in dropsy, which caused her death. The deceased was a daughter of the late Andrew Shearer and was about 61 years of age. She was a most excellent Christian woman, and was most highly esteemed by all of her friends. She had long been a devoted member of Shiloh Baptist Church. On Monday afternoon her remains were interred in the Providence Churchyard, Rev. J. R. Earle conducting the funeral services.

A correspondent of the Anderson Intelligencer makes a novel suggestion in regard to the dispensary law. He thinks the law should be enforced as it now is with the exception of the price at which the stuff is sold. He would have prices doubled and at the end of each year have the dispenser return to in the Court House at 8 o'clock. No | the wives or mothers of the purchasers one-half of the amount they paid in. When there are no dependent members the share to go to the County to enlarge the poor house, which is likely to receive the old soaks in time. The only fault we see in this plan is that the man who makes a beast of himself by drink is likely to wheedle or steal his wife's share of the profits and blow it in-Air ken Journal and Review.

> The excessive rains of Monday night and Tuesday of last week did great damage to the bridges, roads and the crops on bottom lands in various sections of this County. The bridge over Broad way creek at Carpenter's mil was damaged and the mill itself totally wrecked, the foundation having been washed away or badly damaged Among the larger bridges washed away were the bridge at Jackson's mill, Hogan's mill bridge, which was being erected, two or three on Big Beaverdam, several on Beaver and Generostee creeks, and the one over Threeand-Twenty near Slabtown, Emerson's bridge on Rocky River is damaged and unsafe to cross. Supervisor Vandiver says it will take more than $2,000 to repair the damages and rebuild the old bridges.

The Greenville News, of the 21st inst., says: "Mrs. Bessie Gresham, wife of John O. Gresham, died at her home in DeCamp street Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock. She had been sick for about ten days, but was not considered We join her many friends in wishing critically ill until Wednesday afternoon when she had a severe chill from which she never regained consciousborn. Since the death of her mother several years ago she lived t. th her aunt, Mrs. Lizzie Martin, in Anderson county. About four years ago she married Mr. Gresham, then of Simpsonville, where they resided until about four months ago, when they moved to Greenville. Since living here Mrs. Gresham made a number of friends and was well liked by all who knew her. In Simpsonville she had many very dear friends who were grieved to hear of her death. She was a devoted member of the Simpson ville Baptist Church; always .marifesting the greatest interest in the affairs of her church and denomination. Besides a devoted husband, she leaves two small children."

Chiquola Lodge, No. 32, Knights of Pythias, celebrated the eleventh anniversary of its organization in the Opera House last evening, and the occasion was most interesting and instructive to all present. Gen. Bonham, Grand Chancellor of the Grand Lodge, presided over the meeting, and most interesting and instructive addresses were delivered by Rev. J. H. Thornwell, D. D., Grand Keeper of Records and Seal, and Mr. D. C. Heyward, Past Grand Chancellor, of Walterboro. Mayor Tolly occupied a seat on the stage with the speakers, and though not a Knight, he made a short speech in response to acall from the chairman. After these public exercises were finished the members of Chiquola Lodge, with the members of Chiquola Lodge, with the distinguished guests, repaired to the Lodge hall and partook of a most delicious oyster feast. When everyone had appeased his appetite cigars were passed around and in response to calls several impromptu speeches were listened to. Among the speakers were Past Grand Chancellor Wm. Goldsmith, of Greenville, Rev. J. D. Chapman, H. H. Watkins, Esq., and others.
