THE COTTON MARKET.

Strict Good Middling—7½. Good Middling—7½. Strict Middling—7½. Middling—7½.

Already those interested are looking out for Christmas presents.

J. C. C. Featherstone, Esq., is visiting his son at Laurens, S. C.

All places of business will be closed in Anderson to-morrow—Thanksgiving Day.

Capt. W. J. Kirk, of Cokesbury, spent a few days in Anderson the past week.

Next Monday is Salesday. Considerable real estate will be sold at public outcry.

Turn off your water pipes every night to keep them from freezing and bursting.

Miss Olive Brown is spending a few days in Greenville with friends and relatives.

Persons indebted to Vandiver Bros. & Major should read their notice in another column.

Everybody should go to the City Hall next Monday night to hear the famous negro musician, "Blind Tom."

Miss Rose Gordon, who has been spending awhile in the city visiting friends, has returned to her home.

R. E. Sloan and family have moved from Pendleton to Greenville, where Mr. Sloan will engage in business.

The stores at Williamston, Belton and Honea Path will be closed to-morrow to observe Thanksgiving Day.

There has been no show of Indian Summer this year. The hazy, smoky weather that puts one to sleep has been wanting.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Stewart left Anderson last Thursday for Central, S. C., where the former will engage in business.

The right sort of Thanksgiving is not blind when the collection plate passes. Remember this when you are at church to-morrow.

Deputy Clerk of Court C. E. Tribble was engaged last Monday in recording a deed made in 1857 for some land in this County.

J. B. King, of Piedmont, will sell several lots in that town at auction on December 26th. See advertisement in another column.

Thanksgiving services will be held in several of the city churches to-morrow at 10 o'clock a. m. Everybody is invited and should attend the services.

The many friends of Col. R. W. Simpson, who has been confined to his home for so long time, were more than pleased to greet him in the city yesterday.

J. C. Smith, one of Greenville's most prominent and popular citizens, has been spending a few days in the city visiting his daughter, Mrs. J. W. Quattlebaum.

Mrs. Dessie McAdams, of Atlanta, Ga., who has been spending the past two weeks in Anderson visiting her parents and other relatives, returned home yesterday.

Married, on Sunday, November 24, 1701, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Sallie Morgan, in Piedmont, by Rev. J. B. Marshall, Mr. John Bates and Miss Etta Morgan, both of Piedmont.

Rev. J. B. Campbell, pastor of the First Methodist Church, has gone to Columbia to attend the annual Conference. His many friends hope he will be returned here for another year at least.

The sweet potato crop this fall is said to be one of the best ever produced in this section. A number of our farmers have brought a lot of fine ones to the city and disposed of them readily at good prices.

To-morrow is Thanksgiving Day. While indulging in your feasts remember your poor and needy neighbors, let them share a part of your good things. The Lord will bless you for every act of benevolence.

The crops are short this year and many people will find it hard to pay their bills. However, each one should do the best they can. Creditors will be glad to get a half loaf where they cannot get a whole one.

When you are ready to come to the city to make some purchases get your copy of THE INTELLIGENCER, look carefully over the advertisements, find what you want and you won't have to bother with so much shopping.

James A. Dillingham, the efficient Deputy Sheriff of Anderson county, came up Saturday after the Comptons who had been lodged in Pickens jail charged with violation of the dispensary law.—Pickens Journal, 21st.

A number of our friends in the County have extended us invitations to come out to their homes and participate in a royal possum feast. We appreciate their kind invitations and wish it were possible for us to accept all of them.

W. F. C. Owen, a progressive young farmer of Garvin Township, brought to the city last Monday a two-horse load of canned tomatoes, which were put up at his small cannery on his plantation. He disposed of them rapidly at a fair price.

Mrs. J. E. Breazeale, Mrs. J. R. Vandiver, Mrs. J. M. Patrick, Mrs. Rufus Fant, Mrs. Wm. Laughlin and Miss Maggie Evans have gone to Sumter, S. C., to attend the annual meeting of the State Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

M. W. Coleman, of Seneca, died suddenly in Charleston last Saturday afternoon of apoplexy, aged 61 years. His remains were carried to Seneca on Sunday for interment. His many friends throughout this section will regret to hear of his death.

Last Sunday night near Salem, in Oconee County, a Mrs. Powell was killed at her home by a mob. After her house had been almost demolished, she was shot in the breast and died immediately. Three men were arrested and other arrests are likely to follow.

Mr. J. A. Brock attended the annual meeting of the stockholders of the C. & W. C. R. in Charleston last week, and was re-elected a member of the Board of Directors. The reports of the officials of the road shows it to be in a healthy condition in every respect.

Prof. W. H. Hicks, Anderson County's weather prophet, will move into Oconee County next week and settle near Fair Play, where he will continue his avocation of farming. We commend the Professor to the good people of that section as an upright and worthy man.

Mrs. W. M. Sherard, who was carried to a sanitarium in Charleston for medical treatment, about ten days ago, and who was seriously ill for a few days after her arrival there, is now greatly improved, and her many friends here hope she will soon be able to return home.

The First and Central Presbyterian congregations will hold a union Thanksgiving service in the First Church to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock. The friends of both congregations are cordially invited to attend. The collection will be for the Thornwell Orphanage.

On Thursday, 14th inst., the barn of Mr. J. G. Payne who lives in the suburbs of Piedmont, was consumed by fire, entailing a considerable loss of corn and fodder, also seventy bushels of wheat and damaging ten bales of cotton. There was no insurance on the barn or its contents.

We are glad to say that some of our delinquent subscribers have kindly come in and paid up their subscription. There are others who have not done so, but we have not lost faith in them. If you are one of the number won't you come or send us the money soon? We need it to pay the other fellow.

Mrs. Eliza Brooks died yesterday afternoon at the home of one of her sons in Williamston Township. She was the widow of the late Daniel Brooks and was about 80 years of age. She was an estimable woman and had long been a member of the Methodist Church. Six sons and two daughters survive her.

The recent announcement that hog-killing weather and a hard winter is "up to" us pretty soon has induced Messrs. Dean & Ratliffe to put in a special line of winter shoes, which they tell about in their new advertisement this week in such a convincing manner that all wise buyers will consult them before shoeing their families.

Capt. F. G. Capers, memorial trustee for South Carolina for the memorial fund for the erection of a monument to the late President McKinley, has appointed the following gentlemen to receive subscriptions in Anderson County: E. F. Cochran, C. E. Harper and B. F. Russell, who will receive any contribution you desire to make.

Josh Ashley announces himself a candidate for the State Senate, and says that he will be on the warpath until the last precinct is heard from. He will probably be opposed by J. W. Quattlebaum, Esq., a member of the Anderson bar, a good man and a "Straightout" Democrat. Josh is a McLaurenite of the first water.—Rock Hill Herald.

James Hamilton, a colored inmate of the County Home, died there last Wednesday night, aged about 78 years. In the days of slavery he belonged to the Maxwell family at Pendleton, and was an expert carpenter by trade. Preceding the civil war he worked for several contractors in this city, and was highly esteemed by his many old white friends.

Pallie Amy, a bright and interesting little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Strickland, died at her home in Hall Township on the 9th inst., after an illness of about two weeks with scarlet fever. She was five years, four months and eleven days old. The little body was laid to rest at Bethany Church, Rev. N. G. Wright conducting the funeral services.

A gentleman advertised a house to rent in two issues of THE INTELLIGENCER recently and had seven applicants for it. Another one advertised a farm for sale and sold it. When you want to reach the people the columns of THE INTELLIGENCER will do it, for it has the largest circulation of any paper in the State outside of Charleston and Columbia.

The Anderson Library Association has arranged for the famous negro pianist, Blind Tom, to visit this city and give an entertainment in the City Hall next Monday evening, Dec. 2nd, for the benefit of the Association. Blind Tom is no stranger in Anderson, having visited here before, and always has attracted a large audience. Go out and hear him next Monday night and you will get the worth of your money. Tickets are now on sale at the Orr-Gray Drug Store.

Lum Daniels, a former Anderson boy, who is now living at Boston, Mass., has been spending a few weeks at Pelzer visiting the family of his father, F. A. Daniels, whom he had not seen in seventeen years. He spent last Thursday in Anderson and gave us a pleasant call. His old friends were delighted to meet him. This was his first visit to this city in more than twenty years, and he says there were very few places in or around here that looked familiar to him.

Mr. John Thompson, of Hopewell Township, brought a wagon load of very fine turnips to the city last Thursday and sold them at a good price. The same day Mr. David J. Green, of Garvin Township, brought a load of corn here and had no trouble in selling it at 75 cents a bushel. Both these gentlemen are live, progressive farmers, and make their living at home.

It is said that our clever friend, Henry A. Williams, who has been in the employ of the Southern Railway for many years, and is now stationed in North Carolina, will succeed P. I. Welles as Superintendent of the Savannah division, the latter having been promoted to the Washington division. Mr. Williams' many friends in this section will be more than pleased to hear of his promotion.

O. Geisberg, a well known and active citizen of Anderson, has come here to organize another lodge. He represents the Order of American Patriots recently launched at Anderson with the expressed intention of suppressing anarchy. The personnel of the first lodge at Anderson will recommend it to the people of this State. Other organizers are at work in the upper part of the State.—Spartanburg Journal.

A few days ago a little fellow went limping and grunting to his home about dark. An inventory of his anatomy showed about an inch of skin off one heel, one ankle sorely bruised and battered, the side of his head and face knocked out of shape and several black spots on one side about the ribs. His mother remonstrated and threatened to keep him at home until he got well. The little fellow said: "Why, ma, den't you want a boy to have any fun?"

Governor McSweeney has appointed delegates to attend the Good Roads Convention, which is to be held in Greenville about the middle of December. The delegates from this Congressional District are as follows: J. N. Nichols, Due West; J. N. Vandiver, Anderson; S. M. Pool, Westminster; D. D. Stevens, Pickens; Jno. M. Schumpert, Newberry; J. M. Majors, Greenwood; D. A. P. Jordan, Greenwood; J. M. Sullivan, Anderson; W. J. Stribling, Oconee, and G. F. Tolly, Anderson.

James Tucker and his brother-in-law, Ollie Clump, of the Little River section, were arrested last Monday on a warrant sworn out by a Mr. Knight, charging them with burning a barn on lands owned by Tucker but leased and occupied by Knight. A feud had existed for some time between Tucker and Knight. It is said that Clump has confessed to the burning, saying that he carried two gallons of oil and Tucker a quantity of torch pine, which was used to burn the building.—Honea Path Chronicle.

At a meeting of the Electric City Chapter, No. 8, Eastern Star, in the Masonic Temple last Friday evening, the following officers were elected to serve the ensuing year: Worthy Matron, Mrs. Elizabeth Bleckley; Worthy Patron, J. C. Watkins; Associate Matron, Mrs. T. L. Alston; Treasurer, Mrs. Ella Laughlin; Secretary, Mrs. Ellen Coffee; Conductress, Miss M. Geisberg; Associate Conductress, Mrs. Maude Beaty; Chaplain, Mrs. T. A. Archer; Marshal, Miss Emily Divver; Sentinel, J. J. Dodd. The officers to be appointed will be announced at the next regular meeting of the Chapter.

The Rock Hill correspondent of the Columbia State, under date of the 22nd inst., says: "Mr. W. C. Whitner, of the Catawba Power Co., has just completed and moved into his fine residence in Oakland avenue. It is the finest residence in the city, one of the finest and the handsomest in the up-country and is a fine specimen of pure colonial architecture combined with all modern conveniences. This pleasant home was 'warmed' last evening by the 'annual meeting' of the Woman's Club union. There were a number of invited guests in addition to the members of the clubs forming the union. A delicious luncheon was served."

The dwelling house of J. Feaster Brown, formerly of this city, now living in Augusta, Ga., was burned last Friday morning. The Augusta Chronicle, in speaking of the fire, says: "At 3:30 o'clock the danger was all passed for neighboring houses, the destruction of Mr. Brown's residence was complete, and the aroused villagers began returning to their own homes. The origin of the fire is not known and the sleeping family were awakened by the falling of burning embers in the garret upon the ceiling over their heads. The house was occupied by Mr. J. F. Brown, the cotton buyer, and his wife, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Herrick. Mr. Brown was not at home, and the others escaped from the burning house without injury. The house was a valuable one, being finished inside with polished hard woods, and was worth from $12,000 to $14,000. There was about $2,000 worth of furniture, a large part of which was burned or damaged in moving it out of the house. Mr. Herrick said he knew there was insurance, but in Mr. Brown's absence the amount could not be ascertained."
