VOLUME XXXVIII--NO. 25.

Williamston News.

A number of prominent Baptists of our town attended the Convention last week and report a pleasant and profitable occasion.
 Dr. S. Lander and Revs. Rogers and Cauthen are in attendance on the South Carolina annual Conference in Newberry.
 Miss Jordan has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. W. Wilson. A mayor and four wardens are to be elected on the 11th inst. to serve the next two years.
 An oyster supper at the Sadler House last Friday evening, given by the young men of the town, was quite an enjoyable occasion.
 T. B. Crymes is suffering from a severe attack of acute rheumatism.
 Capt. G. W. Sullivan, who has been tussling with the same complaint for six weeks, is still confined to his room.

Miss Maggie Garlington, a popular young lady of Williamston, has accepted the position as assistant in the Friendship School, Laurens County, and began her duties last week. She has many friends in this community, as it is near her former home, and she will doubtless find it a pleasant place to spend the winter.
 Miss Janie Sullivan, another of our bright and energetic young ladies, has been elected teacher of music in the Philadelphia School, Darlington County, and has already begun her work.
 Miss Helen H. Gaines, who graduated from the W. F. C. in 1900, has charge of the Oak Grove School. Williamston continues to turn out first-class school marms.

Rev. G. E. Sprulle will move to Pelzer in a few weeks, when he will fill the pulpit of the Second Baptist Church. We wish Mr. Sprulle much success in his new charge. The Church has increased greatly in number under his pastorate.
 Ben. Gossett, who is with the C. & W. C. R. R. at Augusta, was home a day or two recently.
 C. C. Garlington has rented his residence on Mill street to J. M. Anderson, and will move his family to Columbia the latter part of this month.

We hear it whispered softly that wedding bells will jingle in our midst before the year 1903 is numbered with the things of the past.
 Mrs. Jno. M. Lander's sister, Mrs. Montgomery, of Florida, has been visiting her at the Williamston Hotel. Mrs. Montgomery will also visit relatives at Starr.
 Mrs. Mathews, Mrs. Griffin, the Misses Griffin and Prof. W. T. Lander have been on a visit to Dr. and Mrs. F. M. Lander, at Enoree.

 Dr. B. F. Brown is carrying his hand in a sling, the result of an accident while bringing in some wood a few days ago.
 G. H. Mahon was in town a few days ago.

C. W. Stribling has perfected the invention of his single-cylinder, double-action steam engine. He says while there is no similarity between his engine and the St. John sewing machine, yet it runs equally powerful in either direction and has no additional machinery to accomplish this purpose. He proposes manufacturing his machines in any size ordered from wrought iron and steel and not a pound of cast iron or malleable cast iron will enter in their construction.

Silver Wedding.

Editors Intelligencer: One of the most brilliant social events of the season was celebrated on Saturday afternoon, December 6th, at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Armstrong in the village of Lowndesville, the occasion being the twenty-fifth anniversary of their happy union in matrimony.
 The delightful occasion was dignified by the conventional card in silver print, and at the appointed hour the home of the devoted husband and wife was filled with loving friends and relatives. Many were the regrets of absent ones who were unable to attend.
 All nature seemed in harmony with the occasion. Instead of a cold, dreary, winter's day, the hours were calm, bright and sunny, indicative of the host and hostess who so cordially received us.
 At 3 o'clock the guests were invited into the large and spacious dining room. Here, even the Epilogue was more than satisfied. The large room was elaborately decorated with ivy, palms and ferns, the color scheme, silver and white, being carried out. The long table groaned under its weight of turkey, ham, salads, celery, olives, pickles, etc., etc. After this course, beautiful women delicately gave the "finale" of delicious cakes, creams and syllabub. In the midst of such scenes, with the soft glow of the candle shedding its light upon all, no doubt many bethought themselves in the very presence of Hymen, in the midst of the first nuptials.

Many tasteful and handsome presents were given to Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong to remind them of the high esteem in which they are held and to cheer them on during the remaining milestones of life's journey.
 We wish for them, that although at the resurrection there shall be no relation of husband and wife, and no marriage shall be celebrated but the marriage of the Lamb, yet then shall be remembered how men and women passed through this state, which is a type of that; and from this sacramental union all holy pairs shall pass to the spiritual and eternal, where love shall be their portion, and joy shall crown their heads, and they shall be in the bosom of Jesus, and in the heart of God, to eternal ages. A Guest.

—Six Mormon elders are making a thorough canvass of Spartanburg seeking converts to their faith.

—The four cotton mills of Marlboro County have been merged under one control with a million dollars apital.

—Baylis Russell, of Greenville, raised a second crop of oats this fall. Volunteers came up after harvest and headed out.

—A negro has been arrested in Knoxville, Tenn., for the murder of the sheriff of Union county in this State 15 years ago.

—A most drastic ordinance against fireworks has been passed in Wall-halla. There will be no celebration of Christmas there this year.

—Joe Robinson, a colored boy of Chester county, was instantly killed while out hunting. His gun went off while he was blowing in the muzzle.

—Gus Arnold, a white farmer of Greenwood county, shot and killed a negro while returning from hunting. The negro was drunk and attacked him.

—J. L. Carson, of Greenville, sued the Southern road for $15,000 damages received when he was in the employment of the road. The jury gave him $6,500.

—Soloman Carlisle, a negro, was shot through the head and instantly killed by a colored woman in York county. The woman claims that it was accidental.

—G. Hugh Salesbee, an old gentleman of Spartanburg county, drove in front of a passenger train and was killed instantly, as the train was making fast time. His grandson, a small boy, jumped and escaped.

—A negro at Jonesville on Thursday night stole a mule from one man, a wagon from another and a bale of cotton from a third and carried it to Spartanburg. There he became frightened and ran off and left the property.

—The famous goat case in the York county court resulted in a mistrial for the second time. S. P. Mitchell is suing the Woodmen of the World for damages received at the hands of a head of the goat while the brethren were initiating him.

—F. A. Stewart, of Spartanburg County, reports that a tenant on his farm raised 145 bushels of corn on an acre and half of land this year. About three-fifths of it was upland, the balance bottom. He took no special pains with it, as he was not trying for a special crop.

—Nathan Stewart a negro near Glendale, made a will and left all his property to his friend, John Smith, with whom he lived the last year. In his sickness Smith took good care of him. Stewart had no family. He owned 50 acres of land worth $1500 and had money in the bank.

—There are several candidates announced for code commissioner, the place made vacant by the appointment of assistant attorney general. Lawyers from all parts of the State are announcing themselves for the place and endeavoring to secure the support of their delegates. The position pays $400 a year for ten years.

—A correspondent of The State, writing of the court at Edgefield, says: "The docket seems to be a wild mass of cases, small and great, against the Southern railroad. All babies, white and black and yellow, of either sex, are born now-a-days predestined to sue the Southern railroad. It seems about amount to a horrible and irrepressible mania."

—A freight wreck occurred on the Spartanburg and Asheville division of the Southern railway, near Campbell, last Thursday morning. While the southbound freight train was crossing the trestle over Morrow creek, the rails spread and the entire train, with the exception of the engine and caboose, left the track and was precipitated to the creek below. Eight cars were demolished, but fortunately no one was injured.

—The incoming Secretary of State, J. T. Gantt, has been working for some time upon a plan for securing to be hung in the State capitol portraits of all the governors of South Carolina from colonial days down to the present time. In the meantime he has been trying to locate as far as possible the whereabouts of existing portraits. His idea is to have all such given over to the custody of the State and falling in that to have copies made, getting the legislature to make an appropriation therefor. He believes that recent governors and their friends will give their portraits if requested for this purpose.

—Quite a sad accident occurred at Cashville on Wednesday afternoon about three o'clock, in which three of J. P. Roach's little girls were blown up; one killed and two seriously injured. Last Fall Mr. Roach was riding the mail between Cashville and Woodruff. On one of his trips he found a railroad torpedo lying in the road. Not knowing what it was he picked it up and carried it home, where it has been lying around the yard for over a year now. His little girls, while playing in the yard Wednesday afternoon, picked it up and determined to open it. They placed it upon a rock and began beating it with another rock when it exploded with the above result.

—Harvey Logan, the Montana train robber, was given ten sentences at Knoxville, Tenn., last Friday. The sentences cover a period of 130 years and he will be sent to the prison at Columbus, Ohio.

GENERAL NEWS.

—The Standard Oil company has advanced its prices on kerosene fifty per cent within the past year.

—Three masked men entered a bank in Montana, held up the cashier, took $2,000 in money, and then left.

—A portrait of President Lincoln will be placed in the Mississippi hall of fame along that of President Davis.

—Millard Lee, who murdered Miss May Suttles because she rejected him, will be hanged in Atlanta, Ga., the 23rd of this month.

—The truckers of Colorado realized over $200,000 on cantaloupes this year. Their season runs from August 1 to October 1.

—Four large organizations of railway employes have decided to demand from 10 to 20 per cent. increase of pay on Western systems.

—Cholera is increasing in Manila at the rate of thirty new cases daily, notwithstanding efforts of the government to stamp out the disease.

—James Rochelle Tyler, a grandson of President Tyler, died last Wednesday at the Confederate soldiers' home in Richmond, Va., aged 64 years.

—Thos. B. Read, ex-Speaker of the House of Representatives, after suffering several days with appendicitis, died in Washington last Saturday night.

—Alfred E. Buck, United States minister to Japan, died suddenly while hunting in that country. He was for many years the Republican leader in Georgia.

—A portrait of Judge John W. Regan, the surviving member of J-f-ferson Davis' cabinet, is to be placed in the Confederate Museum of History at Richmond, Va.

—Septimus Winner, author of the "Mocking Bird," "What is Home Without a Mother," and many other popular songs, died at his home in Baltimore on Tuesday, 2nd inst., aged 76 years.

—A Washington correspondent tells of a woman who is now claiming her fourth pension. She married four war veterans and as each died she came in for the widow's pension. This is her fourth claim.

—American capitalists have bought 4,000 square miles of Mexican land on the border of the United States for a cattle ranch, which will be the largest in the world. The initial expenditure was $21,000,000.

—The Georgia Legislature appropriated $20,000 for the department of agriculture; $85,000 for pensions for disabled soldiers; $38,500 for indigent soldiers; $90,000 for indigent widows of soldiers; $12,500 for soldiers' home.

—War ships are very expensive toys. The cruiser Philadelphia, built in 1888, has been condemned because it would require more than half her value to repair her. In her short existence, a large part of which has been spent in the repair shop, she has cost about $2,000,000.

—The names of twenty Chinamen stand on the membership roll of the First Congregational Church, Chicago, as the result of the work of the teachers in the Chinese Sunday School held in that church. Five members of this school have gone as missionaries to their own countrymen.

—As a result of a popular vote in Mississippi the portraits of the following ten natives of the State will adorn the walls of the new capitol: Jefferson Davis, L. Q. C. Lamar, E. C. Walthall, James George, S. S. Prentiss, J. M. Stone, George Poindexter, William Sharkey, George Foots and J. L. Power.

—America gave the world tobacco and though its use has extended throughout civilization it is still produced and used more largely in this country than anywhere else. During the last fiscal year no less than 6,870,000,000 cigars were manufactured in the United States, or about 83 per capita for our entire population.

—Certain kinds of North Carolina timber is valuable. J. A. Martin near Burnsville, Yadon county, sold his first cut of a curly wild cherry tree for $1,000. Before he knew the value of the tree he sawed up the second cut for which he received $400. A company is shipping hundreds of walnut and poplar logs from Mooresville to Glasgow, Scotland.

—Dora Meek, out in Missouri, had a quarrel with her sweetheart fifty-six days ago and immediately fell into a somnolent trance. The doctors can do nothing with her. Restoratives have been used without effect and finally ammonia was administered to arouse her, but the fumes made her cough and there were indications of suffocation. She eats a little each day, but does that instinctively.

—Frank Bennett, of Altoona, Pa., wagers a keg of beer with a boarding house keeper that he would go into the woods and get a rabbit within two hours. He went on the search, failed to get a cotton tail, but on his way back, killed a cat and skinned it. It was served to the boarders, who declared it was the sweetest rabbit that they ever ate. Bennett got the beer.

—At Cullman, Ala., Charlie King, aged 16, shot his father dead while the latter was making an attempt to strike his mother with a buggy whip. The elder King came home drunk, and not finding things as he thought they should be he gave his wife a sound whipping, when the son appeared with a double barreled shotgun and emptied both barrels into his father's head, causing instant death.
