The Big Brogon Cotton Mills.

The erection of the big Brogon Cotton Mills is progressing much more rapidly than would be supposed when the continued bad weather is taken into consideration.

The main mill building is 1,023 feet long, averaging 163 feet wide, divided up as follows: Spinning room, to contain 25,000 spindles, 1,023 feet long by 130 feet wide; weave room or shed, 474 feet long by 265 feet wide; to contain 864 Draper and Whiten looms.

The adjacent building for the main building are first, a picker room, 150 feet by 125 feet, two stories; second, an engine house, 73 feet long by 52 feet wide; third, a boiler house, 137 feet long by 50 feet wide.

For the purpose of fire protection for the mills proper and to furnish water for dyeing purposes, a standpipe will be erected with a capacity of 24,000 gallons.

When this mill is completed and the machinery put in motion, it will present a wonderfully beautiful picture of the industry of man.

The third and final report to the census office of the number of bales of cotton ginned from the crop grown in 1902 is now being made up.

There are several private or plantation ginners that have been listed. The owners of such should be notified, and let me know as we want every bale of cotton ginned.

Special Census Agent. Anderson, Feb. 20.

The survivors of the Palmetto Rifleman, the first Company to leave Anderson for the war in 1861, are trying to get up the pictures of all of their old comrades.

All were from Anderson except the last two, who originated from Pickens County and were killed in 1863.

Rock Mills Items.

The wind storm of last week blew the top off a barn on W. J. Freeman's place and carried it for two or three hundred yards.

Our young friend, C. D. Jones, son of Capt. S. A. Jones, has enlisted in the U. S. Army at Philadelphia, Penn., for four years.

Miss Emma Brooks, of Anderson, visited home folks Saturday night.

MONEY TO LOAN—A few thousand dollars to lend on land for clients.

WAGONS—We have a large stock on hand that we want to dispose of at way-down prices.

Paving the Streets.

Editor Intelligencer: The article, "Some of the City's Finances," which appeared in your issue of the 18th inst., causes me to direct this communication,

As a citizen it is a duty one owes to himself and the community in which he is living to stand as a sentinel on the tower watching the approach of danger in order to sound the alarm when proper to do so, and after the warning has been given, other forces must be brought into play and do their part.

This I propose to do in the spirit of loyalty to my town, in the feeling of brotherly love for my fellow man, and with the best of intentions for the future welfare of the community in which I am living.

Publicity on all matters pertaining to the welfare and expansion of a community is the only means by which great undertakings can be carried out.

To remain silent for fear that someone's feelings will be wounded is antiquated and harmful to a community that is aiming to develop its possibilities.

Let our City Council or street department make public their plans without fear of meeting with opposition.

Martin Luther, to whom the world is indebted to-day for the stride Christianity has made, said: "Do what is right and fear no man."

Therefore, it would, in my humble opinion, be wisdom to discuss this matter thoroughly and fight the battle on open lines.
