Survey Completed.

Having completed a preliminary survey of the route of the proposed Greenville-Anderson interurban line, the surveying party returned to Greenville last night.

Clemson College Commencement.

Invitations to the seventh annual commencement at Clemson College have been received here. The following is the program:

LaFayette and the Confederate Soldier.

Editors Intelligencer: In 1824, nearly a century ago, when that knightly and chivalrous hero, LaFayette, passed through this beautiful city, spring's balmy and most radiant sunbeams had kissed into generous bloom the flowers of unity, March, and these first offerings of spring were laid by grateful hands in the carriage ways and streets, and in the dust, that the foot of that gallant son of France should tread this rare and radiant pathway of sweet perfume, and with the queenly roses there lay the lily flags of the "Fleur de Lis" of his own loved land, he won the affections of the stern-browed and iron-souled warriors of the Revolution.

Brushy Creek News.

It is very dry in this section, and farmers are in need of a good season to bring up their seed.

Letter to Russell McGukin.

Dear Sir: You naturally want to make your own and your own family's money go as far as possible. In the general interest, we tell you why fewer gallons of Devco Lead and Zinc will paint a house than mixed paints.

Death of Capt. Erskine.

Anderson County has lost another one of her oldest and most worthy citizens in the death of Capt. J. M. Erskine, which occurred at his home in this city last Thursday morning.

Denver Dots.

Mr. H. N. Garrison narrowly escaped having his house burned last Saturday a. m. His wife had been out for a couple of hours attending to her poultry and garden and when she returned the house was on fire.

A month ago every one was complaining about the wet, cool weather, but now the time has changed and the cry is "Oh how dry it is. I do wish it would rain."

Miss Mary Chapman spent last Saturday and Sunday with Miss Sue Adger and Miss McDowell at the lovely Adger home, near Pendleton.

Mr. C. H. Hays of Anderson, visited relatives here Wednesday. Rev. S. T. Blackman, pastor of the Methodist Church at McCormick, visited his brother, Mr. Marshall Blackman, and other friends here last week.

Mrs. John L. Jolly, who has been quite sick for three weeks, does not improve in the least. The friends of Lonnie Ellis regretted very much that he had the misfortune to get into a fracas with Will Solbee at Factory Hill on the 15th, in which he had to kill the man in self-defense.

Omega News.

Dust, dust, oh, how dusty. Some of our farmers are getting blue over the dry weather. Will Elrod and wife and the latter's mother, Mrs. Rebecca Richey, of near Piedmont, visited S. F. Wyatt's family the third Saturday and Sunday.

Excursion From the Mountains to Charleston, S. C.
