— The election held in Greenville on the question of a $20,000 bond issue, for the improvement of the city school facilities, resulted in 371 voting for the issue, with only 34 against it.

— A negro woman tried to hang herself with a rope made from her clothing, in a cell at Charleston police headquarters last week. She was caught in the act by an officer in his night rounds.

— The 12-year-old son of F. J. Holwick, of Spartanburg, came dangerously near losing his life by coming in contact with a wire of the Bell Telephone Co. made live by contact with an electric light wire. The boy was frightfully burned in a number of places but was finally restored to consciousness.

— The Charleston board of the civil service commission announces an additional examination to be held July 22 and 23 for the position of teacher in the Philippines, at a salary of $1,200 and further promotions. Medical attendance is furnished by the government and a vacation of thirty days is allowed.

— J. Leslie Andrew, president of the Durst-Andrews Company, of Greenville, while overseeing the loading of some freight, by accident was knocked out of the car, and both of his jaw bones broken. He became paralyzed, as a result of the injury, and subsequently he died. The deceased gentleman was 35 years of age, and was a leading citizen of his community.

— Costless witnesses are not allowed to testify in the Marlboro county court. There was a case in which there were many witnesses from the cotton mills. They came in their shirt sleeves. Judge Gage told them that would not do. Their coats were a mile and a half away at their homes. But some how the crowd furnished one coat and it was changed around so that the whole crowd used it.

— A Miss Truesdale, who lives in the mill section of Camden and was about 24 years of age, was drowned in the factory pond Friday evening. She went in bathing with her two sisters at "Nettles' Cove," and it is supposed that she stepped off into a deep place, lost her footing, and not knowing how to swim, was drowned. About an hour and a half elapsed after the fatal accident had occurred before the body was recovered.

— Abraham Anorum, a negro living near Springtown, Bamberg county, is in jail charged with beating his 14-year-old daughter to death. About a week ago, it is said, Anorum beat the girl in a brutal manner, breaking her arm and covering her body with wounds. Several days later he sent for a physician, claiming that his daughter was suffering from female troubles. The girl died on last Thursday from the effects of the beating.

— H. G. Box, convicted of manslaughter in Hampton county, and recently refused a new trial by the supreme court, went to Columbia as soon as he heard that his trial was refused, and sought admittance to the Penitentiary. Admittance at first was refused him because he brought no commitment papers but the authorities consented to keep him until he should get his commitment papers. He was out on bond and left for the Penitentiary without notifying his county authorities.

— Under the terms of the will of W. V. Gill, recently admitted to probate, the Epworth orphanage of Columbia is left his entire real estate, after the death of the widow, Mrs. Gill, she being given a life estate therein; with the further provision that, in the event the Epworth orphanage refuses the devise then the real estate shall go to the Methodist Church. This real estate is very valuable, as it is reported that the annual rents therefrom received have footed up $8,000 to $10,000.

— The physicians of Walhalla and Oconee County are on a strike. Recently the board of county commissioners decided that $3 would be sufficient to pay physicians to make a lunacy examination. The doctors think that said amount is not sufficient. A prospective inmate for the hospital for the insane is now in jail there and has not yet been sent to Columbia for the reason that no one can be made to make the necessary examination. Doubtless some adjustment will be made in a short time.

LYNCHING IN ORANGBURG.

Terrible Murder Followed by a Lynching.

Norway, June 29.—One of the most horrible murders was committed here tonight that has ever been known in this county.

John T. Phillips, white, was sitting down eating supper with his family when some unknown party shot through the window hitting him in the back of the head and shooting out his brains. The shot also hit two of his children, a small girl about 9 years old and a little boy about 11.

Phillips was a highly respected white man of this town. It is presumed that the assassination followed as a matter of revenge. Evans was caught Monday and lodged in the lock-up. Late Tuesday night an infuriated crowd of citizens of Norway and its vicinity broke open the doors of the guard house, took the murderer out and hanged him to a near-by tree. The mob then dispersed. Today all is quiet in the town.

Lynched by Outraged Citizens.

Orangeburg, July 2.—Your correspondent had a conversation to-day with a party from Norway and learned some of the particulars of the lynching at that town on Tuesday night. It seems that there was little doubt of the guilt of the Evans brothers and there is proof that the plot to kill old Mr. Phillips was concocted a day or two in advance, and that it was known to several of the other negroes of that section. The first substantial clew to the guilt of the Evanses came from negroes, and their well-known disposition to talk resulted in the cat being let out of the bag. One of the Evans boys remarked after the shooting to another negro, who, no doubt, knew of the plot: "I got him." This remark passed from one to another among the negroes and reached the white people. Several negroes were made to tell what they knew of the matter and even Charles Evans, when caught did not deny being implicated in the affair. He admitted that he was present, but alleged that his brother, James Evans, did the shooting. There seems to be little doubt among the people of Norway that there were two persons present were Charles Evans and the younger brother, James Evans. It is a question of doubt as to which of them actually shot the gun. It is said that an old muzzle-loading musket was used for the bloody deed and that the shot was fired through the window glass in the south wall of the house at the time. It is probable that the men were standing very close to the window at the time the shot was fired. Charles Evans was caught with little trouble, as the posse acted very promptly upon receipt of information, but the brother so far has made good his escape. It is thought that he is in Robert Swamp, which is very close to the home of the Evanses and not far from Norway. There is nothing in the report that he came to Orangeburg and surrendered to the sheriff. It is probable that in the event James is found in the neighborhood of Norway he will meet the same fate as Charles, but it is said that should this party get in the hands of the officers there will be no efforts used to take him by force.—Special to the News and Courier.

Militia Called Out.

Columbia, July 4.—Tonight about 10:30 Gen. Frost received a telegram from J. L. Glover, Intendant of Norway, in which he said: "Better send troops at once; trouble expected before morning." Many of the members of the three military companies were at Hyatt Park, and Gen. Frost got them together as quickly as possible. He secured Capt. Lewis W. Haskell and in a short time had a company of fifty men from the three companies who came to the city, and were at once prepared to go. A special on the Seaboard road was sent about midnight and the troops left under command of Capt. Haskell.

There was much dissatisfaction among the military men left behind because they could not go, but fifty men were thought sufficient to ask for military aid.—Special to the News and Courier.

Columbia, July 6.—Col. Patrick, who accompanied the Columbia Company to Norway Sunday morning, made a report today to the adjutant general. He says that he found no immediate danger of an uprising, but thought the sending of the troops there had a good effect as there was considerable feeling among the negroes because of the lynching of Evans. Mr. Phillips, on account of whom the lynching occurred, died yesterday.

Dynamiters at Work.

Colorado Springs, July 4.—An attempt was made late last night to blow up the Colorado Springs Electric Plant by dynamite. One hundred and fifty sticks of dynamite were put against the building and fuse lighted. The explosion of one stick distributed the other all around, saving the building and lives of seventeen employees. All windows on the north side broken. Fires started but were quickly put out. General Manager Tripp has offered $5,000 reward for the arrest of the dynamiters.

—The number of opium smokers in the United States is estimated at 1,000,000.
