STATE NEWS.

—Oconee county jail has not a single prisoner, a very singular condition.

—A negro porter fell from a window in the Spartan Inn, Spartanburg, and was killed.

—The town of Heath Springs in Lancaster county was almost burned up Wednesday night.

—Mrs. Maggie Stanford, matron of the Thorwell orphanage, Clinton, died on Sunday, 19th inst.

—A negro in the Camden jail freed himself with a spoon by picking the mortar from between the bricks.

—The contract for Aiken's new tourist hotel has been let. The structure will cost something like $300,000.

—A negro hot supper near Charleston the other night resulted in the death of one and the injury of nine.

—The Columbia State states that out of 700 miles of road in Richland county there are only 20 miles that need working.

—Mrs. Lee Bogan was killed at Cowpens, Spartanburg county, by being thrown from a wagon that the mules had run away with.

—Judge Dantler, at Laurens, on Wednesday granted bail to Jno. H. Wham, the slayer of Fayette Ramage, in the sum of $4,000.

—Mary Nance and Maria Adams, both colored, fought in Abbeville on Wednesday night and the former was shot and killed by the latter.

—Lessea & Wells, well known cotton factors of Charleston, have filed a petition in bankruptcy giving their liabilities at $86,063.77 and their assets at $3,787.78.

—In a fight between two negroes at Spartanburg Hub Flaek struck Dock Jones on the head with something that dazed him. Jones walked to his home and next afternoon about 5 o'clock he died.

—Columbia detectives on Wednesday recovered a diamond ring worth $175 belonging to Mrs. Jas. H. McIntosh, which disappeared from her home in April. A servant in the house had stolen it.

—A negro man at Georgetown committed suicide last week by jumping off the dock into the river. The dock was crowded with people at the time. The negro appeared to be either intoxicated or insane.

—A Spartanburg jury gave Mrs. Davis a verdict of $1,000 damages against J. D. Collins, a merchant. Mrs. Davis bought goods from him and they had a fuss about the settlement and he struck her.

—The Greenville News says that District Attorney John G. Cavers has been instructed by Attorney-General Knox to probe the conditions in South Carolina and ascertain if there are any peonage cases in this State.

—Secretary Lore of the State Agricultural and Mechanical Society is sending out the premium lists for the Fair for 1903. A number of additions have been made and a special supplemental poultry premium list is enclosed this year, showing that the Society is pushing that branch of the Fair.

—The State board of health has decided to make an appeal to the managers of cotton mills to exclude from their mills all persons who have not been properly vaccinated. The board declared that a small percentage of the mill operatives have been vaccinated, and that the law cannot be enforced without the co-operation of the mill managers.

—As the result of a runaway which occurred last Thursday night at 9:30 o'clock 4 miles from the city of Greenville, Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Shumate were thrown from their buggy, and Mrs. Shumate was instantly killed. Mr. Shumate sustained only slight injuries about the face and on the hands. Mr. Shumate is a merchant and one of Greenville's wealthiest citizens.

—In Columbia last week Judge Gary handed down a decision in the case of Brookshire vs. the Farmers Alliance exchange, directing that a receiver be appointed for the fund now in the treasury, which amounts to about $17,000. The directors of the alliance, it will be recalled, had decided that that amount of money now on deposit in the Palmetto Bank should be distributed among the various alliances of the organization.

—Gon Jones, a 13-year-old negro boy, was roasted alive at Hanna's brick yard, three miles from the city of Spartanburg, by being buried alive under a mass of hot brick and mortar which fell from the kiln. The boy had lain down in a depression in the ground near the kiln and was sleeping when a portion of the kiln gave way and fell upon him, completely burying him. Help was immediately summoned and the boy dug out from under the hot ashes, but he died a few hours after being rescued.

—The Governor has refused to grant the petition for the pardon of Fannie Carson, of Spartanburg, the only white woman in the penitentiary. Fannie Carson is serving a life sentence for the murder of her husband in Spartanburg several years ago, under circumstances peculiarly brutal and revolting. The jury brought in a verdict of guilty with a recommendation to mercy and she was given a life sentence. Two efforts were made to get Governor McSwain to pardon, but in both instances they failed and Governor Heyward's refusal today ends the case for the present.

GENERAL NEWS.

—Bank deposits have increased 25 per cent in 10 years.

—A negro mob lynched a negro tramp in Florida for assaulting a negro woman.

—The United States uses nearly a third more coffee than the rest of the world put together.

—About $100,000,000 worth of candy and confectionery are manufactured and sold in this country each year.

—Ten deaths from lockjaw have resulted in Cleveland, Ohio, since July 4th as a result of accidents with toy pistols.

—Dora Wright, colored, was hanged at South McAlester, I. T., on Friday for murder—beating a seven-year-old child to death.

—The executive office of the United States calls for only $112,000 a year, while England gives the royal family $4,000,000.

—The twelve-year-old son of J. D. Stevens, of Augusta, died of lockjaw, the result of a slight wound in the foot with a splinter.

—The first bale of new cotton from Zapata county, Texas, was sold on the New York cotton exchange on Tuesday, 21st inst., for 26 1/2 cents.

—The Kansas wheat crop is so large that a car famine exists. It is stated that the railroads do not own enough cars to handle the crop.

—A tornado killed five persons and injured a score of others at Streator, Ill. The same tornado killed four persons at Mendota, Ill.

—The First Baptist church, Wilmington, N. O., has resolved to discipline any of its members that may sign petitions for liquor license.

—The Georgia legislature killed the bill providing that convicts be required to work on the roads of the county in which they were sentenced.

—Twenty clerks of the New York Central railroad have been arrested for robbing freight cars. The populations amount to many thousand dollars.

—One hundred and fifty American teachers were at work in the schools of Porto Rico last year and are just now returning for their summer vacation.

—A negro man in Beaumont, Texas, in endeavoring to kill his wife, shot a policeman who attempted to arrest him. The man was promptly lynched.

—Gen. Cassius M. Clay died at his home in Lexington, Ky., on Wednesday at the age of 83. Gen. Clay was minister to Russia under Lincoln's administration.

—The troops have finally been withdrawn from Richmond and it is estimated that it has cost the State $50,000 to maintain peace during the street car strike.

—Notwithstanding the fact that polygamy is prohibited, the supreme court of Utah has ruled that a man is legally obligated to support his plural wives and educate his children by such unions.

—Jim Gordon, who killed his brother and ran off with his widow, was lynched by a mob at Basin, Wyoming. In taking the men from jail the mob shot and killed Deputy Sheriff Pierce.

—The rioting in Chicago is assuming more serious proportions. The mayor has issued a proclamation urging the people to keep away from the trouble and calling on the rioters to cease their work.

—Citizens of Tioga, Pa., have erected a monument to the memory of John Schaffer, a railroad watchman, who was killed recently while attempting to save the life of a woman who was crossing the Reading tracks.

—Mrs. Harriet Lane Johnston, who died recently, left $100,000 to her will for a monument to be erected at Mercersburg, Pa., to the memory of her uncle, James Buchanan, during whose administration as president she was mistress of the White House.

—A sensation was created at Bloomington, Ill., by the arrest of Maude Jordire, seventeen years old, charged with the murder of her two-year-old sister Mabel. The baby was found hidden in some bushes near the Jordine home, most horribly mutilated.

—Gov. Jeff Davis and Supreme Court Judge Davis are making a joint canvass of Arkansas for the office of governor. They became involved in a heated controversy at Hampton on Monday night and came to blows, but no damage was done and they made friends.

—The defalcation of a confidential clerk in one of Buffalo's wealthiest law firms has been unearthed. The amount of the defalcation now aggregates about $300,000. None of the money was squandered, but was invested by the clerk in legitimate business enterprises in the name of "an Eastern capitalist."

—It is reported that W. W. Harby, the Philadelphia treasurer, has found gold and silver which was buried on Warsaw island, off Georgian Bay, during the civil war by a Confederate blockade runner to escape capture by a federal ship. The treasure amounts to several thousand dollars.

—A nest of young rabbits was plucked up in Kansas, and a little girl took them home, but after getting tired of her pets she decided to feed them to the old family cat that has a number of kittens. Instead of the cat eating them as was expected, she is raising them. The cat seems to think as much of the rabbits as she does of her own kittens.

Prohibition in Texas.

Dallas, Texas, July 21.—A tidal wave of liquor prohibition is sweeping over Texas. One hundred and thirty counties have voted total prohibition and fifty-nine others have partial prohibition—that is, the country precincts are prohibition, and in the larger towns only, like Dallas and Fort Worth, is the sale of liquor permitted. This leaves only fifty-seven counties in which liquor is sold unrestricted by any sub-divisional lines. Most of these are the sparsely settled border and panhandle counties. Fully four-fifths of the population of the State is living under the jurisdiction of the local option law.
Half a dozen more large counties are to hold elections within the next thirty days. It looks as if most of them will go for prohibition. The Prohibitionists within the Democratic party are organizing a campaign to elect a Prohibition majority in the Legislature to be chosen next year, in order that an absolute prohibition amendment to the State Constitution may be submitted to a vote of the people of the State in a special election in 1905.

Governor Lanham is a strong Prohibitionist and is being looked to to help the movement along.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Postmaster C. J. Thompson, of Defiance, Ohio, says a special despatch from Toledo, was horsewhipped last Wednesday morning by Cora Prater, a colored girl. Thompson offered no resistance, but secured the names of all the witnesses to the affair. The cause for the whipping is a supposed grievance which the girl had in regard to her mail, one of her letters having been confiscated by the department. The Prater girl is the only colored person who ever graduated from the Defiance High School.

G. O. Olemens, of Topeka, Kan., a smart lawyer, secured the acquittal of a jurist last week, although the evidence against him was conclusive. Mr. Olemens ignored the testimony and in his speech to the jury related how his client did heroic work during the flood, risking his life one hundred times to rescue drowning women and children in North Topeka. When he finished the jurors were in tears and agreed quickly that such a noble soul could never have sold liquor contrary to the statutes made and provided in Kansas.
