WEDNESDAY, AUG. 5, 1903.

Andersonians open their hearts and homes to the citizen soldiers of the Third Regiment. Here's to them and all their families. May they live long and prosper.

The condition of the corn crop on July 1st according to the Government report, is the poorest ever shown, and there is a smaller acreage than for five years. While the crop of last year was the largest on record, there is a smaller reserve at the present time than for years. Those who will have to buy corn next fall and winter will no doubt pay a fancy price for it.

There will perhaps be the largest gathering of farmers at Clemson next week that has ever assembled in South Carolina for the purpose of learning improved methods of farming. Untold good has been accomplished by previous State Farmers' Institutes, and greater things are looked for this year. During the week the State Agricultural and Mechanical Society, the State Horticultural Society, the South Carolina Live Stock Association and the South Carolina Dairymen's Association will meet.

The Democrats appear to be getting busy all along the line. Those who have been prominent as leaders have reached the interviewable stage, and new ones with ideas of who's who and what's what are writing for the county and provincial newspapers. This is a good sign. It shows that the active factors in the party are not inclined to pessimism. The trend of all they are saying is that there is Democratic life in the old land yet, and if the followers of Jefferson will only get together upon a platform adjusted to the people's national needs, no more and no less, there is an even chance to win next year.

The full measure of prosperity that the South is now enjoying and the great industrial strides it is making, is attracting the attention of the whole country. The newspapers are commenting on the increase of immigration from the North, and they admit that in the future this immigration will be much larger, especially as cheap lands will soon be gone in the West. They say that the homeseeker will be compelled to choose between Canada and the South, if he wants cheap land, and many of them will prefer the South because of its mild climate, which enables two or three different crops to be raised on the same land in the same year.

To be cheerful when the world is going well with you is no great virtue. The thing is to be cheerful under disadvantageous circumstances. If one has lost money, if business prospects fail, if enemies appear triumphant, if there is sickness of self or those dear to one, then is it, indeed, a virtue to be cheerful. When poverty pinches day after day, month after month or through the years as they pass, and one has ever to deny self of every little longed-for luxury, and the puzzle of how to make one dollar do the work of two has to be solved, then the man who can still be cheerful is a hero. He is a greater hero than the soldier who faces the cannon's mouth. Such cheerfulness is the kind that we need to cultivate.

The people of York County are on the right line to secure good roads, not only for their own county but for every County in the State. At a convention recently held in Yorkville resolutions were adopted recommending legislative action in various particulars looking to the securing of better highways. Among the resolutions was one asking the legislature to have the constitution so amended as to allow townships or counties to tax themselves to build good roads. A bill to that effect was introduced at the last session but was voted down. If every County will follow York's example the law makers can be forced at the next session to adopt such a law. If the people desire to tax themselves to build good roads they should have the right to do so.

A few days ago we noticed in a northern journal that "the negro evidently does not get fair treatment in southern courts." On the contrary, from abundant observation, we are clearly convinced that the negro gets better treatment before southern than before northern courts. The judges in the south are usually men thoroughly acquainted with negro character and are disposed to make more allowance for his weaknesses and "prone-ness" to crime than are the judges of the north who look upon him as "an equal man" and attribute to him knowledge and craft of which he is, save in rare instances, incapable. Laws are ness is not a thing to be encouraged in any community, and as far as the law and authority of the State can be used it should be prevented or punished. But in the lynching round-up there is really little warrant for the northern kettle to call the southern pot black. Each section has the same problem to work out, and that is to increase respect for the law and to minimize every form of spasmodic anarchy.

Good Roads Meeting.

Editor Intelligencer: Some ten or twelve years ago you made a suggestion that the City and County of Anderson buy a rock crusher and begin the building of permanent good roads. I know, therefore, that you are not averse to good roads, and will give your influence and columns to the work.

As committeeman from Brushy Creek Township of the Anderson County Good Roads Association, I have decided to call a good roads meeting in connection with a picnic at Mountain Springs on Saturday, August 8th, beginning at 10 o'clock a. m. The following gentlemen are cordially invited to attend and deliver addresses on the subjects opposite their names:

The good roads of the United States and how built.—Hon. A. C. Latimer. Can we expect aid from the State Government?—Gov. D. C. Heyward. Can we expect aid from the National Government in building good roads?—Hon. Wyatt Aiken.

What will the County do towards building good roads?—Supervisor J. N. Vandiver and H. F. Cely.

What will our neighbors do to help us in this work?—Capt. G. W. Sullivan, Williamston; T. M. King, Hope-well; T. T. Wakefield, Garvin.

What will the preachers do to aid good roads?—Rev. D. W. Hiott and Rev. D. I. Spearman.

What will the press do to aid in building good roads?—A. M. Carpenter, Daily Mail; C. C. Langston, Anderson Intelligencer; Maj. D. F. Bradley, Easley Progress.

What will we do ourselves?—W. S. Murphy, R. I. Elrod, J. M. Long, W. C. Scott, Dr. W. A. Tripp.

The use of crushed rock in building permanent good roads.—E. F. Allgood and W. A. Cason.

Grade the roads around the hills.—Dr. J. O. Rosamond and W. C. Pickens.

How can we raise the money to build good roads and have the money judiciously expended, or go on with the present system?—Dr. K. F. Smith, Easley.

Mountain Springs is five miles west from Piedmont, where there is plenty of water and shade. This is going to be a big picnic and speaking. Come and listen to the speaking on this most important subject. Bring along some dinner, too. If the speakers can't come let them write short articles on the subjects to which their names appear and mail to me.

J. O. Pickens, R. F. D. No. 5, Easley, S. C.

Denver Dots.

After three weeks of extremely hot, dry weather we have had good rains and everything is revived.

The protracted meeting at Welcomed Sunday with two accessions to the Church. Rev. H. M. Allen preached some impressive sermons, which was listened to with appreciation.

Miss Turner, of Greenwood, is the guest of Mr. J. W. Rothrock's family. Rev. O. M. Martin and family returned home today after several days visit to the hospitable family of Dr. J. G. Duckworth at Lebanon.

Miss Binnie Duckworth took the train here Monday p. m. for Anderson to join a house party at Judge W. F. Cox's.

Prof. W. E. Chapman was the guest of W. D. Garrison's family recently. He has again been elected principal of the Denver High School. He is very popular as a gentleman and a teacher. Miss Maude O'Neal has been elected assistant, but has not yet signified her acceptance.

W. J. Garrison and son, H. N., visited relatives in Greenville last week. Miss Canada Vandiver, of Tallulah Falls, is visiting the family of her uncle, J. W. Lee.

Mr. Gunnels, of Honea Path, with his children, are guests of D. E. Ellis' family.

John McQueen's mother and brother, of Gainesville, Ga., have returned home after a pleasant visit with him and family.

Treasurer J. C. C. Miller, of Franklin, Ga., with his wife and two children, are visiting Mrs. A. E. Brown and family.

Miss May Bramlett, of the Lebanon section, came in on train last week from a visit of several weeks to friends in Atlanta and Athens. She attended the summer school at Athens while there.

Mrs. Emma Major and little daughter, Pattie, returned to their home in Pickens last Wednesday after a visit of some length to relatives here and at Anderson.

Miss Essie Rochester and Mr. John McClelland were married July 15th by Rev. J. E. Beard. The Keowee Courier was mistaken in the name of the happy groom. Mr. Sam McClelland is only the brother and brother-in-law in this case. No doubt but his many friends hope that he may soon be happy likewise.

Miss Lillian Russell, of Williamston, left for Anderson last week, after a pleasant visit to relatives here.

By authority of Postoffice Department Denver is to receive mail four times daily instead of twice as heretofore. This will increase our mail facilities and greatly accommodate the patron of our office.

J. Reid Garrison is very busy putting up a large gluing outfit, preparing to handle the coming cotton crop, which now promises to be very good.

People are coming from far and near to attend Gala Week and are anticipating a pleasant time. Incognita.
