THIS BEING New Year's Day, no paper will be issued from the office of THE DAILY NEWS until Wednesday

THE OLD YEAR crept out so quietly last night, that we were not apprised of its departure, till our clock aroused is by tolling the hour of one, with a sound so sonorous and fresh, that we immediately felt a new year had set in; and while we were happy at being allowed to greet it again, some reflections came across our mind at parting with Eighteen Hundred and Sixty-Five. It met us suffering under great deprivations, induced by cruel war, and it has left peace and prospects of that plenty which always follows in her silent path. When it came, many kindred and friends were separated from each other, but have been again united before its departure, making their homes, by their presence, once more happy and pleasant. It met many enduring the dreadful fatigues and wants incident to a soldier's life, but it leaves them enjoying some comforts, and looking forward to a return of the good times they once particiand which nothing can assuage the violence of, so well as time. It was reflections like these that caused us to purpose of bringing it to the notice of our most excel-

From the serious thoughts which had been incited in our mind by the going away of the old year, we turned but knowing the energy of our firemen, we feel satisfied, pleasurably to the coming in of the new year, which had just entered upon the earliest part of its life, and, with ardent desires and heightened hopes, we looked Department all that may be necessary to benefit them forward to a greatness of our country, our State, and and our city. The firemen, we believe, under the new city, that they have never known-a unanimity and good regulations, are looked upon as a portion of the police, The indications to-day are, regardless of the mouthing of men devoid of patriotism, that all these of seven hundred dollars per year. We have always had blessings will descend upon our glorious Union before a strong belief in a paid fire department, and have this year has made its revolution; and, with this impression strongly fixed in our mind, how can we do otherwise than wish to every one, in all sincerity, "A happy

WE HAVE HAD an unusually long wet spell of weather here, the past few weeks. The sun has been very chary of his favors, and the watery element has come down on us in about every shape and form. The sky overcast with black or smone-colored clouds; the atmosphere thick with the aqueous molecules; fog, mist, drizzle, or a good hard rain, has been the order of the day, and very often of the night likewise. Everything damp and viscous in the house or store; the streets, in their preunpaved condition, one universal slush; with big some of the leading points in the water escape around highly "looped up," displaying a liberal area of balmoral, &c., &c., to the admiring gaze, are matters of course. time Mr. Durrus came in, and witnessed the amputation Old '65 seems reluctant to leave us; he is evidently in very bad temper, and pouring out his vials of wrath. if possible, to frighten his young successor.

But it won't do; the cycle is closed, and at midnight his knell was tolled.

"Ring out, wild bells, to the wild sky,
The flying cloud, the frosty light;
The year is dying in the night;
Ring out, wild bells, and let him die."

OUR CIVIL POLICY .- We congratulate the peaceful citizens of our ancient Corporation on the favorable auspices under which the new year is ushered into Charleston. The plough-share and the pruning-hook have superseded the Parrot and the Enfield; and although this is not precisely the season when people sit under their vines and fig-trees, our eyes are regaled upon him as one of the most active and energetic of our purchasing and him at one of the most active and energetic of our purchasing and him at one of the most active and energetic of our purchasing and him at one of the most active and energetic of our purchasing and him at one of the most active and energetic of our purchasing and him at one of the most active and energetic of our purchasing and him at one of the most active and energetic of our purchasing and him at one of the most active and energetic of our purchasing and him at one of the most active and energetic of our purchasing and him at one of the most active and energetic of our purchasing and him at the property under their vines and nig-trees, our eyes are regated once more with the pleasing sight of a genuine civil merchants, and his store, not only as the "emporium of faskion," but as a peculiarly pleasant establishment to police—perhaps a trifle too civil—more so, even, than police—perhaps a trifle too civil—more so, even, than London Bobbles, French jens d'armes, or KENNEDY's and it is quite refreshing to see them gathering, in interesting groups, at street corners, and philosophize on—we cannot exactly say what. We regret exceedingly that our artist has not quite recovered yet from the injuries received in a spiritual contest on St.

Nicholas day, as we are utterly unable to do any thing ideal at, as one can always feel confident, on entering it, as one can always feel confident, on entering it,

Imagine several of these gentlemen, of rather wo-begone civil costume and countenance, standing with white or blue cotton umbrellas in one hand, shielding themselves from the hostile supernal elements, and in the other holding the baton of office, the redoubtable civil police club.

the patient holds him in bod, in the harness of necessity, as it were, during the development of maturation and decline of the pulsation. He is scarcely able to move from his room, much less promenade the streets. Such are the indicible impressions and marks upon the dermisor true skin, that these vestiges are not likely to passe off for some months, even for more than a year; but it must be remembered that the discuss is not then, necessarily, communicable. The period at which small pox is most contagious is during the suppurative stage, and whilst designamation is progressing, and the scabs are falling off. In such a condition, we can scarcely imagine a patient's leaving his apartment or bis bed, except under the most singular indifference to comfort and processional neglect."

THE CITY PHYSICIANS—Our readers have been informed by the proceedings of the last meeting of the City Coun cil, that six physicians were elected to attend the poor of the city. The two physicians recently elected to the Shirar's Dispensary will bear their share of this labor thus giving the poor eight physicians instead of six. The City Registrar, Dr. George S. Pelzer, after ma ure deliberation with the Board of Health, has arranged the following plan of operations : Dr. F. PEYER PORCHER will have charge of the City Hospital, in Mazyck-street.

Dr. S. C. Brown takes charge of the Small Pox Hos pital, at the Schultzenplatz, and of the Alms House, in

Dr. JOSEPH YATES is assigned to the First Health Dis trict, extending from South Bay to the south side of Hasel-street, King-street being the western boundary of this district. Dr. Peter Porcher has charge of the Second Distric

THE FIREMEN.-Great alterations have lately be pated in; above all, it has softened that poignant grief made in the New York Fire Department, much to its which assails at the "taking off" of one dear to them, been informed; and we merely touch upon it for the feel regret at its departure—for we felt that, like a friend. lent fire companies, who, no doubt, will make it a point it had left our people a happier one than it had met | to avail themselves of every thing that will assist in increasing the efficiency of the department. Our information is too limited to enable us to give many details, if they have not obtained the information already, that they will immediately proceed to get from the New York mong the citizens of this Republic, that will be an and are selected carefully from among the single men of example to the rest of the world, and a prosperity and the city, and others who have been in the late war, and plenty which will make us the happiest nation in existalways ready for an plarm, each man receiving a salary thought that it tended much to make our engine companies so respectable and so energetic.

> Mr. SEARL will give two exhibitions to-day, at the Hibernian Hall, one at half-past 12 o'clock P. M., and the other at half-past 7 in the evening. The receipts from the day performance are to be handed over to the Orphan House; and as the children will be present at the Hall at that time to witness the astonishing performance of Mr. SEARL, it will be worth the price of admission to the kind hearted of our community to see their wondering eyes and joyous looks. As it will be a capital on portunity for parents to carry their little ones, we shall ACCIDENTALLY SHOT .- It pains us exceedingly to re puddles in the drains, and enterprising amphibious cord the fact that our young fellow-townsman, Mr. juveniles webfooting it in great glee. These have been FREDERICK T. DUFFUS, was wounded last night, by the accidental discharge of a pistol. Mr. Duffus held the as. That umbrellas were at a premium—shabby old pistol in his right hand, and was in the act of trying the beavers looked glossy-and that ladies' dresses were cock, when it went off, and lodged the bullet in his left hand. We happened to be in Dr. Davega's office at the of the little finger at the lower joint. The operation was performed with a skillful pelerity and neathers that reflects much credit on our esteemed friend as an experienced surgeon. The actonishing fortitude with which Mr. Duffus bore the operation (without the aid of chloreferm), not a grean or exclamation escaping him, surprised us most profoundly. We sympathize with him sincerely in the loss he has so unexpectedly and suddenly sustained.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

We not to refer our readers to the business card of Messrs. Chapeau & Heffrens, which appears in our columns to-day. It will be seen that these gentlemen have located at the old stand of A. McKensie, corner of Church and Chalmers streets, where they propose conducting a first class saddlery, harness making and fire cap manufacturing establishment in style; and, also, dealing in bits, whips, spurs, buggy rugs and trappings expensity.

The Local is desirous of doing the civil thing by the police, and presents the compliments of the season to these custodians of the corporate peace, and hopes that if he ever should find the pavement slippery, they will lend a Samaritan helping hand, and pilot him safely to No. 18 Hayne-street.

SMALL POX.—UNNECESSARY ALARM.—We very much fear that some remarks in relation to the small pox which have appeared in a late issue of our neighbor, the relation. We have come into our midst vereated a great deal of unnecess y alarm among our good citizens, if it does not tend the remarks of Charleston, contributing their proportion to the enterprise and recuscitation of our city's fallen for me away strangers who have come into our midst vereantile purposes, and whose exodus woull cerve the patronage of the community, inasmuch as they are natives of Charleston, contributing their proportion to the enterprise and recuscitation of our city's fallen to the courtesy and business qualities of Messrs. Chapcau the Courtesy and business qualities of uercantile purposes, and whose exodus would cery militate against the prosperity of our city. The blinian announces the fact that a small pox patient is walking the streets, and that a "distinguished aysician stated that this patient was at the time suffering under that condition of the disease in which it is nost contagious." Now, we dare not dispute the statement of even whilst we hope that the physician was misaken), but desire to allay the fears of our citizens by howing that they need not dread a recurrence of such a case, which is a most extraordinary one, as it very rarely happens that in such a state of the disease the patient of perhaps an equally distinguished physician; and in order, as we have said above, to allay the fears of all, we give it cerbatian of the disease the patient holds him in bad, in the harness of necessity, as it were, during the development of naturation and decline of the pulsation.
