New Orleans Market.

New Orleans Market. New ORLEANS, September 8.—In consequence of the infavorable tenor of the dispatches from Liverpool, published in the morning papers, the market opened with very little inquiry, and continued duil and droop-ing throughout the day. Factors evinced increased de-sire to sell, while buyers, on their part, were reluctant to operate even as what may appear to be cheap rates, preferring to await the effect of later news. Under these is the total the total the effect of later news. Under these preferring to await the effect of later news. Under these erring to await use effect of later news. Under these umstances, the day's transactions were restricted to bales, taken by one broker, at prices indicating a ber tendency to easier rates. In view of the Hmiled iness done, we repeat our quotations of last evening Nlows: Ordinary 24 to 26; Good Ordinary 28 to 29; r Middling 31 to 32c, and Middling 34 to 35.
