The Charleston Cotton Market.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY NEWS,
CMARLERTON, Saturday Evening, December 29, 1863.
The market continued active, and sales were generally on the basis of previous quotations, but in the latter part of the day there was a disposition in prices to harden, and in a few transactions a slight advance was obtained; but while we note the market as closing firm, we renew our previous rates. The operations of the day amounted to 403 bales, say 36 at 29; 5 at 2914; 65 at 80; 25 at 301/4; 9 at 30%; 19 at 31; 5 at 31 1/4; 87 at 31 1/4; 62 at 32; 55 at 32 1/4; 35 at 33, and 3 bales of extra staple at 40c. $ ib. Havana Market.

[Correspondence of the Journal of Commerce.]

Havana, December 22.—We have had considerable excitoment among business men, not of the greatest calibre, on account of the scarcity of our metallic buse, which in unduc quantity has been allowed to get abroad and to Spain, to our detriment; but in a few days, with return conduits, all will be quiet, and no general suspension will be necessary for rolles. One or two of the smaller bunks, Fosser's, of "Commerce," and Idias & Bossier, bave temporarily suspended payments. A crowd was all two yesterday, in the paying hours, before the Spanish back, several hundreds. All demands were met in the regular course of presentation, notes redeemed, &c., and the same will be continued until the pante subsides. Their best weekly statements justify this belief. The directors, wh advice of the government, last night decided to restrict beir specie payments to $25,000 per diem.

Sugan Market—Quotations nominal; bases No 11 and 12 at $4a4 \(\frac{1}{2} \) $100 lbs. No transactions during the week in it stocks; one contracts for new crop at heavy advances, made at $24 \(\frac{1}{2} \) find per arroba less than the current rates, at the time of delivery, in proportion to the amount of advances. Shipped during the week, honce and from Matanzas 11,440 boxes and 370 hhds, of which to ports of the United States, for New York 1200 bxs and 349 hhds; balance to European ports, save 40 hhds to Massau and 112 bxs to other ports.
