TUESDAY MORNING, JANUARY 1, 1867. OUR NEW FORM.

THE CHARLESTON DAILY NEWS bids its readers this morning a happy New Year, and loes so in a new dress. Heretofore we appeared in royal quarte, now in imperial folio. Upon the first enlargement of THE NEWS WE determined upon an eight-page sheet, being the form most generally in use in all large cities, both in Europe and on this Continent this subject has not changed; but the reading public of this city, always having been accustomed to four-page sheets, seemed unwilling to surrender their preference for the old custom. We thus had continual solicitations for such a change from our patrons. The advertisers all wished to have their announcements on the outside half of the paper. None wanted to be "stuck away" on the inside. To obviate this difficulty we have at last yielded to a general desire of our friends and have entered Tur News on a new four-page race, for which we would bespeak the same regard and patronage, our old octavo friend so largely en-joyed. The Old "News," in retiring (with its enerable friend, 1866), tenders its most polite and heartfelt acknowledgments to a very large circle of readers, friends and well-wishers, and hoping that it has not been here in vain respectfully solicits their continued countenance for its new-born bigger brother-the large four-page sheet, commencing with this, the first day of the year 1867.

NEW YEAR.

Another grain of sand has fallen from the hour-glass. Another station on the highway of life has been reached by the weary pilgrim. Another unit of life is gone, and death is by one year nearer to all of us. It is a time for thoughtfor solemn reflection. Have we progressed during the past three hundred and sixty-five Are we wiser or better! Has the days? growth of years brought soothing to the troubled spirit? Have we learned to calm our passions, and to open our hearts and hands to the promptings of heaven-born charity? These are meditations and interrogatories naturally suggested by the season, and happy those of our readers whose conscience will answer them golden dawn?" Where are we now? Have we progressed since last we heard the annual watchman's cry? We then were under military rule. Our rulers since have become civil, but still we enjoy a military guardianship. Our A. Myras was appointed to the pastoral charge of representatives were knocking at the door of Congress then; we now have concluded to Havana, Cuba, report a monotary exists, from the want of specie, which has been exported or hoarded. The Bank of Bossier has suspended payment and closed its doors; also the Bank of Almacines de Regla (known as Fesser's), Bank del day. The National Executive has remained as the Samb discount of the Sam true to the South (i. e. true to the fundamental law of the land), and now another buckler will be held up for our defence in the declarations of the highest judicial tribunal in the country. We may reasonably, therefore, hope that the day of deliverance is nearer, by twelve months to-day, than it was January 1, 1866. We have nothing to boast of, and cannot flatter ourselves with any great degree of prosperity. The crops were short; the people are poor--many of them suffering for the necessaries of life. Our debts are great-our resources few, and taxes heavy, almost beyond endurance. We wish we could give a thankful for, and at a solemn season like the present it becometh all of us to humble ourselves before the great Searcher of hearts, and return thanks to the Giver of all good for His grace and manifold mercies toward us.

A happy New Year we wish to all our readers; and may it be our privilege to address them many times more, and theirs to read, for long years to come, our annual lucubrations.
