A special telegram to the New York Herald, states that the Congressional excursionists, es-corted by several of the citizens of Memphis, departed on the regular train on the Mississippi and Tennessee Railroad, and on arriving at Canton were met by General P. T. BEAUBEGARD, President of the New Orleans and Jackson Railroad. The General declared that he was in favor of a conslavery. In saying this he believed he express the sentiments of the fighting men of the South.

The impression made by the General was most favorable on all the members of the party.

A telegram from St. Paul, Minnesota, gives the particulars of a horrible tragedy at New Ulm. On Christmas day two men, named Campezil and Liscons, had come in from a trapping expedition, and during an altercation in a saloon, one of them stabbed a resident of New Ulm, named Jonx SPIRMER, severing a main artery, and causing his death. The sheriff arrested Liscomb and Campbell, and while on their way to jail handcuffed, they were set upon by a mob, besten with stones and sticks of cord wood, and finally taken from the sheriff and hung. Even whilst hanging, the mob ent and hacked their bodies in a shocking manner.

The bodies were still hanging and frozen stiff next morning. CAMPBELL and LISCOMB served in Co.

7, Second Minnesota Regiment, and were men of cood character and respectably connected. In Calcutta the usual fate has attended all efforts to bring about the harmonious co-operation of the authorities with the public committee. The latter has very wisely come to the conclusion, after useless correspondence with Sir C. BEADON and Mr. A. EDEN, to follow its own way of relief, unfettered by the conditions imposed by mon who have so la-mentably failed in their duty, and seem to be aroused, only when it is too late, by the severe cen-sures of mylic conlic opinion in England as well as in India. ### CHARLESTON.

THURSDAY MORNING, JANUARY 3, 1867. THE REVOLUTION IN CRETE

A little over thirty years ago the independ ence of the Kingdom of Greece was established, after several years of severe fighting, charac terized by cruel and barbarous ferecity on the one side, and the most heroic self-sacrifice on the other. The result was not brought about until after the armed and active mediation of the Great Powers of Europe. Turkey had to be first thoroughly lumiliated before she acknowledged this severance of the classic territory from her domain. The Kingdom of success as an experiment of the constitutional have been retarded in progress and prosperit by domestic brawls and monthly changes of a Christian people is more secure of life and justice when ruled by sovereigns of their own I poid for the recovery for information that may lead to the recovery) of TWO HOUSE'S stolen from the stable of JAMES M. It is for this reason we think it a pity that the Great Powers did not do their work thoroughly when they were engaged in it in the ence from Turkish rule, but it did not suit the liplomacy of the day to sever this Island from the Sublime Porte; and its people were once more handed down by their Christian brethren of the West, to the tender mercies of the Turk. They here this yoke, as best they could, fo thirty years longer, without any serious opposition to the constituted authority. A few months ago, however, the flame, so long smoth ered, broke out afresh,-the whole island is in insurrection, and the full strength of the Turkish power is brought to bear against it. We hear of an army of fifty thousand men in the field, and a formidable navy engaged in blockading the Cretan ports. Greece, and the re maining Greek and semi-Greek provinces of "The mortality report submitted yesterday to the Board of Health shows that our weekly slaughter in hearty symmetry with Cross Religious are in hearty sympathy with Crete. There has been much suffering, nevertheless, among the people there, as these supplies are both inadequate and irregular. involved in the quarrel. Much stress is laid by some of the correspondents on the brutal conduct of the Turkish commanders and the troops under them, against the people of Crete; but we deem it unnecessa ry to dwell on this point; it is sufficient to say that this conduct is now just what it always was under similar circumstances.

The Central Cretan Committee at Athens have sent a petition to the United States for help. This country will doubtless give them considerable moral support, and perhaps much also in voluntary contributions from individual solidated Government, as the war had settled the citizens, but we do not think that the United gestion of State rights, and that if it was in his States Government will do ought to become power he would not restore the institution of mixed up with this the most "entangled" of all ed European "alliances."

Some interesting dispatches will be found in our telegraphic columns this morning, relative to this new Greek revolution.

A New Game.—Some ingenious person has invented a new game, which contains all the best features of billiards, parlor croquet and ten-pins, and is purely a purely game. It furnishes halfingle enough to be casily understood by the former, while its problems provoke the mental activity of the latter. The apparatus comprises a board some thrusteen contained the mental activity of the latter. The apparatus comprises a board some thrusteen contained with black walnut—the maliets of obony, the pins and balls of ivory, the wells of maple, and the centre piece and redectors faced with India rubber, to facilitate the rebound of the balls. The object of the game is that each player, in turn, shall place his ball on any point on the circle, and striking it with either face of the mallet's head, endeavor to cause it to touch the contre piece; succeeding in which, he continues to play according to the rules. This game is called "Martelle."

We take this from a Northern paper, and have no doubt that the game is really one, but after the war had closed, and Charleston been taken possession of by the United States troops, and Gen. HATCH put in command of the city, the game of Martelle was played to such an immoral extent that we don't think it will ever become popular here. The Memphis Post of the 26th ult., says : "This forenoon was occupied by the Congressional ex-cursionists in receiving our citizens. Among other incidents, Gen.
