

LOCAL MATTERS.

To Correspondents. We are continually receiving communications on political and other matters from persons who do not attach their proper names to the articles sent...

Mrs. JEFFERSON DAVIS.—We learn that Mrs. Davis arrived in this city last night, and is the guest of GEORGE A. THURMOND, Esq.

WE ARE indebted to Mr. C. F. VOTZEL, of the Central News Bureau, for copies of the Round Table, State Zeitung, Harper's Weekly, etc.

Prof. J. D. B. DEBOW.—The death of this eminent statistician occurred at Elizabeth, N. J., where he had gone to attend a dying brother, who preceded him to the grave only a few days.

TRANSMISSION.—We call attention to the advertisement of the above named society, in another column of to-day's News. There is an excellent comedy on the stocks, "Paris in Pomern," which we know will be rendered with excellent effect.

VESSEL ASHORE.—The steamer Z. B. Vance, from Santos, reports that the schooner Resolute, from Norfolk, Va., for this port, is ashore on the beach near Cape Roman. It is thought that the cargo will have to be taken out or thrown overboard in order to get the schooner off.

UNCLEY RITES.—Passing down Queen street a few days since, we saw a colored citizen handled somewhat roughly by a number of United States soldiers, convalescents at the Boper Hospital. The soldiers, we believe, were merely "running," but the gentleman from Africa liked it not.

ADDITIONAL SALE.—Messrs. JOHN G. MILNOR & Co. will sell to-day, at their rooms in Meeting street, a large assortment of wood, japanned and tinware, comprising every article necessary to a well equipped household.

UNITED STATES COURT, March 24, 1887.—Judge BRITAN presiding.—The following gentlemen, after undergoing an examination by Judge MORRIS on Admiralty and Gen. Courts on Jurisdiction of United States Courts, were admitted to practice in the Circuit and District Courts of United States for South Carolina District:—BRAWLEY, A. J. DUKER, W. D. CLANCEY, W. M. MUCKERFORS, G. C. FENNER, JR., A. F. SMITH.

PROFESSOR OF THE LECTURE.—The lecture on BRITAIN'S PIGEONS, by Rev. Dr. LOON, which was to have been delivered at St. Stephen's Church to-night, has been postponed to Thursday. It was deemed advisable to make this postponement, as the concert occurring on the same night might operate unfavorably for the lecture. The project is not abandoned, and the delay of a few days will not detract from the interest already taken in the lecture.

PERSONAL.—We learn from a private telegram received in this city that Brevet Major-General R. O. TYLER has been confirmed as Assistant Quartermaster General of the Department of the South. We are also informed that General SHERMAN will leave Washington to-day for his post in the Circuit and District Courts of United States for South Carolina District.

GOVERNMENT SALE.—A large amount of Government property will be sold to-day, at 10 A. M., at the Custom House, and will consist of a large quantity of unworkable war material, but a large portion would be very useful, if a machinist or iron-funder. There are also some hundred and fifty cavalry saddles and the same number of bridles, besides a miscellaneous assortment of army property.

THE PROSECUTOR'S OFFICE.—The articles will not be attended by those who wish to have a reasonable rate and good business secured. By reference to the advertisement full particulars can be obtained.

TRAMP IN A TROOP.—There was a good deal of talk on King street, on Friday and Saturday, about a reported "difficulty" between the police and soldiers. We visited the spot, and found it almost nothing more than a rumormongering. It seems that a man in a United States uniform was walking down King street on Friday, and, between Beaufain and Wentworth, got into a squabble with a negro, and struck him. A policeman in the vicinity came up, and endeavored to protect the negro; and the soldier persisting in his abuse, the policeman arrested him, and took him to the guard sent to a guard sent down from the prison for the Citadel.

This was all; and yet thoughtless or evil-disposed persons have magnified the affair into a row between police and soldiers. The creators of the public peace, civil and military, are working in perfect harmony, very much to the credit of both.

MAYOR'S COURT, March 4.—A junk shop keeper, who had bought a copper pump from two white boys, against the ordinance which expressly prohibits purchasing from minors or apprentices, was fined $30.

INSA GRANT, a black man, who, under the pretense of buying some grain at a store, begged a piece of meat, but, when the man was going off, was seized by his Honor, who thought enough to grant him two weeks' imprisonment.

A person who threw water from a window, but who was so unfortunate as not to furnish a passer-by with a shower bath, free of expense, was only fined $5.

A woman, with two children, who has not the means to hire a coach, and found it almost impossible to be brought up for trespassing on an individual's premises, and the said little ones were sent to the Almshouse.

SPRING GOODS.—The warmth of the spring is not the only harbinger of the approach of spring, nor are the budding trees or the great noise of the feathered songsters the only signs of the times. The fair sex, who are always the centre of attraction, have commenced to doff their winter garments and array themselves in lighter and more showy fabrics. In this chrysalis stage the question naturally arises where are these goods to be bought? For every answer there are many Miss Floras and Misses. To all who make this query, we mention to those who do not, we would say, go to No. 248 King street, and the search will be ended. Mr. Louis COZZI, the proprietor of that establishment, has every article in his line, and can supply his customers with whatever they desire. His stock of spring goods, coverings, &c., is complete, and will repay a visit. The time is now passing, and the time for shopping and no better place could be chosen than No. 248.

GRAND CONCERT.—The programme of the concert published in to-day's paper promises a rich treat to all lovers of music, and though the names of the performers are not published, yet they all are names of high repute, and whoever they undertake to do is done. The concert will be both vocal and instrumental, and the overtures by the orchestra and the piano solo will not be inferior to the rest of the performance.

In the present degree of amusement a concert like that proposed to-night is a god-send, and will be appreciated by the community as a relief from the monotony that has been attending the season. The object of the entertainment being to raise funds for the purchase of an organ for St. Paul's Church, the projectors determined to make music the means of collecting the needed sum, and the pieces selected for the performance are from the first composers. The choir of St. Paul's will, no doubt, succeed in their great task, as they have offered to the public a musical bill for years, and have seldom enjoyed, and their appreciation of the compliment will, we trust, go far toward completing the organ fund.

MURDER OF GEORGE C. HERWARD, Esq.—A private dispatch from Savannah, on Saturday, says that a man named "the murderer" of the above named citizen, who was a merchant of this city, and only recently removed to Bluffton, with the object of giving personal attention to his large rice planting interest at New River Bridge, St. Peter's Parish, in this State, a few miles from Savannah.

"Murdered by negroes," is all that we know of this terrible calamity to family and friends. He was a fine, energetic man, and his death has been a sudden and serious shock to the community.

It is but a few weeks since he left this city, full of life and vigor, and now he lies in a coffin, a victim of the hands of avaricious negroes.

It is a sad and a terrible case, and one that should excite the sympathy of all true-hearted citizens.

It is a sad and a terrible case, and one that should excite the sympathy of all true-hearted citizens.

It is a sad and a terrible case, and one that should excite the sympathy of all true-hearted citizens.

It is a sad and a terrible case, and one that should excite the sympathy of all true-hearted citizens.

It is a sad and a terrible case, and one that should excite the sympathy of all true-hearted citizens.

It is a sad and a terrible case, and one that should excite the sympathy of all true-hearted citizens.

It is a sad and a terrible case, and one that should excite the sympathy of all true-hearted citizens.

It is a sad and a terrible case, and one that should excite the sympathy of all true-hearted citizens.

It is a sad and a terrible case, and one that should excite the sympathy of all true-hearted citizens.

It is a sad and a terrible case, and one that should excite the sympathy of all true-hearted citizens.

It is a sad and a terrible case, and one that should excite the sympathy of all true-hearted citizens.

It is a sad and a terrible case, and one that should excite the sympathy of all true-hearted citizens.

It is a sad and a terrible case, and one that should excite the sympathy of all true-hearted citizens.

It is a sad and a terrible case, and one that should excite the sympathy of all true-hearted citizens.

It is a sad and a terrible case, and one that should excite the sympathy of all true-hearted citizens.

It is a sad and a terrible case, and one that should excite the sympathy of all true-hearted citizens.

It is a sad and a terrible case, and one that should excite the sympathy of all true-hearted citizens.

It is a sad and a terrible case, and one that should excite the sympathy of all true-hearted citizens.

It is a sad and a terrible case, and one that should excite the sympathy of all true-hearted citizens.

By the 'red hand' of war—by years of laborious attention. His death has been a sudden and serious shock to the community. The object of the entertainment being to raise funds for the purchase of an organ for St. Paul's Church, the projectors determined to make music the means of collecting the needed sum, and the pieces selected for the performance are from the first composers.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

This visit will supply a want long felt in our community, and will satisfy those who have hungered and thirsted for a sight of a genuine theatrical performance. The Watkins' Troupe are not mountebanks, but have gained considerable credit wherever they have played. They are well known in New Orleans, and have recently been performing at crowded houses in that city. The troupe is composed of fifteen actors, among whom Mr. J. and Mrs. WATKINS, both eminent professionals. We congratulate the community on their prospects for enjoyment, and hope that it may be the first step toward the erection of a permanent theatre.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

MISCELLANEOUS.

NOTICE TO THE INHABITANTS AND PLANTERS OF THE LOWER SEABOARD OF THE STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA. THE SUBSCRIBERS WOULD RESPECTFULLY INQUIRE OF THE PROPRIETORS OF THE SEABOARD OF THE STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA, whether they have any plans to build and erect of dwelling houses, or other buildings, and if so, to what extent, and what materials they intend to use.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a herculean task, yet he is confident of success, and if his plans do not fail, proposes to open early next week.

THEATRICAL.—We have received the pleasing information that Charleston is at length to be lifted out of the slough of despond, and the city enlivened by the visit of a genuine corps of Theatians. The Watkins' Troupe, who have been performing with great success in different cities, have turned their eyes Charlestonwards, and have sent Mr. C. J. TERRY, the stage manager, to spy out the land. This gentleman is now in this city, and has been engaged in preparing the scenes and other paraphernalia requisite to transform the Eberlian Hall into a theatre. Although this appears to be a her