Cotton closed in Liverpool, on the 23d, 134d. for Middling Uplands. Consols 91. Bonds 741. Cotton closed in New York, on the 23d, at 301 to 31 cents. Gold closed at 134]. Gen. STERLING PRICE has gone into the commission business in St. Louis. The colored Rev. G. T. Watkins, of Norfolk, has been attacking Agassiz's theories of development. At last accounts, J. P. BENJAMIN, with wig and gown, was counsel against the United States in a case in London.

The New Orleans Picayune, while cramming its mouth with strawberries, exults at the approach of blackberries, cantelopes and peaches. A Richmond paper rebukes the spirit which I eads some Southerners to threaten that they "will never go to the polls again if negroes are allowed to vote." A Pennsylvania railroad conductor recovered damages from a woman who kicked him in the mouth. She footed one BILL, and had to foot the of "Congressional Profanity," in a pious lecture to Mr. Covone, of Pennsylvania, for quoting Scripture in Congress. It charges the wise men of Albany with the same offence. We are not sure that our readers are 'aware that a war is waging in Honduras between the English and the native Indians. Col. HARLEY, in command there, reports a victory over the Indians about a month ago. A telegraphic wire has lately been established between the Corps Legislatif and the Emperor's study in the Tuileries, by means of which His Majesty receives reports of the debates while they are going on. The Russian Government is said to be seriously contemplating to introduce the Gregorian Calendar into Russia. This is strongly opposed by the Russian clergy, who declare that the introduction of the Gregorian Calendar would be equivalent to recognizing the Pope. Governor Brownlow, of Tennessee, facetiously signs himself "Moses." The Nushville Banner believes that if the original Moses had been as ugly as BROWNLW, PHARAOH'S daughter would never have lifted the little "cuss" out of the bulrushes! The town of Columbus, Ky., situated on the Mississippi River, is completely inundated, the levees above it having given way before the high water. Cairo is still dry, being protected by very high embankments. Extracts from the Chattanooga papers contain a heart-ending account of the terrible suffering in that city during its inundation. The Empress of the French is now forming collection of furniture and other articles formerly possessed by the Empress Josephine and Marie ANTOINETTE. The Crown magazines and the treasures of private individuals will contribute to the collection, which will be opened during the Universal Exhibition. The United States are to act as a court of referees in the many pending difficulties between Spain and the South American Pacific Republics; and if either of the disputants shall be dissatisfied with the decision. Russia is to act as final umpire. It is not yet known, however, for certain, whether Peru and Chili will accept Mr. Seward's offer. A Congress of the South American States is about to meet at Lima for the purpose of establishing the basis of a Union and to lay the foundations of an American code of international law. So says the call for this Congress, extended by Gen. Don TOMAS GIPBIANO MOSQUEBA; President of Colombia. The Santiago (Chili) El Indepiente, of January 12th, LUCRETIA MOTT, President of the American

Equal Rights Association, announces that the anniversary of that society is to take place in the church of the Puritans on the 9th and 10th of May. The object of this association, she says in her call, is "to secure equal rights to all American citizens, irrespective of race, color, or sex;" in other words, to give everything to every body.

The Coolie trade is flourishing in Cuba, Coolies are coming in in large numbers, ship after ship. Planters, we see by our Havana advices, appear to have the same difficulty there in obtaining advances from their factors, and factors from the banks, as is the case with us. In order to raise the "needful," planters have had to sell their sugars at considerably reduced prices. The DERBY Government has now formally asked leave to bring in the Reform Bill. On Monday evening last Mr. DISRAELI explained the chief features of the Bill, and, in support of them, introduced conions statistics. Mr. GLADSTONE declared the figures of the Government to be absurd, but deferred all debate on them to the time when the Bill shall be before the House. A partial canvass of Washington city, says the Baltimore Sun, has demonstrated the fact that the fourth and sixth wards are the only two which are at all certain for the anti-negro suffrage party. In all the other wards the colored people and their friends are apparently in the majority, and are well organized. It is said that in the first ward George T. prominent candidates for the nomination for Al-

correct opinion on the subject. The New York World says: "The carrying trade to and from this port has seldom been more remunerative than during the past three months. and the promise for the future is regarded as being very good. But this state of affairs brings no sound to our deserted ship-yards, no relief to their idle workmen and the suffering women and children dependent upon them. Radical inflation imposes burdens upon ship builders which they sels,' said a freight broker the other day, 'but we expect a number of Italian vessels soon."

A company is forming in New York to introduce the cultivation of coffee on a large scale in South Florida. It is proposed to engage about 2,500 laborers. Capital $9,000,000, of which 10 per cent. only is to be collected for the first year. The company propose to turn an honest penny by every available resource, such as fisheries, sale of lumber, sale of lands to settlers, etc. The scheme is fully set forth in the New York World of the 21st, and looks exceedingly well on paper. The company, by this showing, will in 10 years net $10,362,500. The stock offered is 30,000 shares, of $300 each. 1t is to be hoped that the project will be successfully executed, as it would afford profitable employment to freed labor, and be an invaluable adjuvant to the growth of our sister State of the flowery land.

The Fenian news by the latest dispatches gives little or no encouragement to the Brotherhood. There is a perfect stagnation in the excitement that prevailed during the entire of last week, and the belief is becoming general that nothing like an insurrection was initiated in Ireland, and that whatever disturbance occurred was quickly and easily quelled. The movement in Canada is, however, attracting more general attention, and its inauguration is believed to be near at hand. The city of Montreal has been in a state of the most unwarrantable excitement for the last two or three of a number of petty States. It is well known also days. The most startling rumors were afloat, to | that in the Congress of Vienna it was the one great | the effect that the Victoria Bridge or the powder aim of the French diplomatists to prevent the magazine was to be blown up. An extraordinary establishment of a centralized power in Germany. Cabinet council was held, and it transpired that In fact, we have never doubted that the present Emmore troops had been telegraphed for to England. The gunboats on the flakes are being thoroughly equipped, and the volunteers are held in readiness for marching at a moment's notice. Tho Savannah Republican of yesterday publishes the following transaction: "Capt. W. R. HILLYER, of New York, and his two brothers, have just purchased a plantation in Camden county, in this State, containing two thousand one hundred and forty-four acres (nine hundred cleared and under fence, embracing a great variety of soil, adapted to the growth of sea island cotton, rice, corn, potatoes and vegetables of every kind), together with two hundred head of cattle, horses, mules, wagons, carts and implements, dwelling and outhouses complete, at an average cost of a little less than $18 afraid, may not be sufficiently oblivious of the per acre. The plantation on the Crooked River are | kindly relations that have for years subsisted beamong the finest in the State, and for health can- tween the "Southern whites" and their late slaves, not be excelled anywhere, supplied as most of them

CHARLESTON. MONDAY MORNING, MARCH 25, 1867.

WE PRINT, to-day, on the fourth page of this paper, the full text of the Supplementary Reconstruction Bill, as it finally passed both Houses o Congress. It will be ser i, in our telegraphic columns, that the President returned it to Congress on Saturday, stating his objections. The Bill, however, was passed over the President's veto in the Senate. by a vote of forty to seven, and in the House by one hundred and fourteen to twenty-

GENERAL SICKLES' ORDER.

We publish this morning General Orders No. 1 from Headquarters, Second Military District, by which, in virtue of his recent appointment, Major-General Signles assumes command of the States of North and South Carolina.

Local civil tribunals are permitted to take juris diction of and try offenders, excepting only such cases as may, by the order of the Commanding General, be referred to a commission or other military tribunal. Local laws and municipal regulations, not inconsistent with the Constitution and laws of the United States, the proclamations of the President, or the regulations of the Commanding General, are still of force. Existing civil officers are authorzied to continue the exercise of their proper functions.

Our ordinary courts, our municipal officers, the subordinate agencies, sheriffs, magistrates, &c., necessary for the conduct of the usual business of society, are thus preserved as they are now constituted, and there need be, and will be, no interruption in the regular current of our daily life. Men can rea and sow, plant and build, and go about their daily business, without fear of disturbance or apprehension of interference.

As regards those offences which proceed from violence and lawlessness, if the civil authority now existing fails to suppress them, the military authority is empowered to arrest and try the offenders. That, in some of the country districts, outrages have been pepetrated which both the interest and character of the State require to be suppressed, is true. But they have been exceptional cases, and have very much diminished. If they have not yet been entirely extinguished it has been owing to the sparseness of our population, the insecurity of confinement consequent upon the destruction of very many of the district jails, and the unsettled condition of popular feeling always accompanying civil war and great political change. But we hope and believe that public opinion will enforce upon the civil magistracy the necessity of an active and efficient discharge of their duties, and that no occasion will arise to deprive civil justice of the power of administering to criminals prompt and ample punishment.

How far the Legislature can exercise its functions, if, as this order clearly indicates, "the its power of modification and abrogation is vested in the commanding General, it is hardly worth while to inquire, for there is scarcely a conceivable necessity for the assembling of that body until after the Convention shall have been held and a new Legislature elected.

Our plain policy is to pass as quietly as possible through the intermediate stages of political life which are to restore us to our Constitutional condition. Gen. Sickles expresses his desire to preserve tranquility and order by means and agencies most congenial to the people. In this we believe him sincere and think that he can with contidence appeal to his administration of the military command for the two last years in proof of that sin-

He solicits the cordial co-operation of the people and of the authorities, and this we are sure he will have.

This order places before our people, not harshly but very distinctly, the fact that from to-day we are under a Military Government. The Commanding General possesses over a brave, a sensitive and a suffering people, a more absolute authority than is wielded by any but one of the monarchs of Europe. We believe that he feels the solemn reponsibility of his position, and that he_wishes to use his great power wisely and generously—that it is his honorable ambition to carry us peacefully and safely through such a crisis as an old and civilized society has scarcely ever been forced to pass. With our aid honestly given as it has been frankly asked, we believe he will achieve his purpose. And when better days shall have come, we trust that he will be able to look back, not only upon good and wise intentions, but upon lasting and happy results. And for ourselves, fet us do our duty like wise and resolute men. It is not an easy nor a pleasant duty, but we ought not to forget that however pure our purpose and unselfiish our sacrifice, we have brought this misery upon the land we love. And if God has taught us that we are not to serve the State in the way we thought best, let'us in a spirit of equal sacrific serve it as he permits. Yesterday for the first time after a long and sad silence the old bells of St. Michael rang out their McGlue, white, and John P. Cook, colored, are the well remembered chimes, and there was not a native heart that did not throb in unison. Many a dermen. It is yet too early, however, to form any manly lip quivered, many a gentle eye filled, for who could forget how often they had pealed in exultation with our hopes, or tolled in sympathy with the brave and good who perished in the bitter struggle. And as those sounds of peace floated away from the old spire into the Sabbath air and vibrated over the blue waters, dallying with the folds of the great banner that shadows our fortunes, whispering softly over the green mounds of abandoned batteries where those we loved fought for us even unto death, and dying away in the far cannot carry. There is a great scarcity of ves- off woods of distant islands, where friend and enemy lie mouldering together, did they not in-

And ancient forms of parcy strife," and is not the noblest tribute to that cause and the wisest experience of that strife the manly resolution to grapple boldly with the future.

FRENCH FOREIGN POLICY.

Messrs. Thiers and Jules Favre are among the most brilliant orators of European parliaments, and generally in their attacks upon the policy of the government have the sympathy of public opinion throughout the world. But if they object as a cable dispatch reports them to have done in the Legislative body—to the unity of Italy and of of France to see both countries as weak as possible, they profess a doctrine which is offensive to all true Liberals, and much more illiberal than any principle of foreign policy the French Government has ever professed.

So says the New York Tribune; but in this it is not correct; for it were easy to show that such in reality has been the hereditary policy of France. M. THIERS has been uniformly consistent in his views, always having held that the interests of France require a division of Germany. One of the first acts of the first NAPOLEON, after mounting the imperial throne, was the dissolution of the old German Empire, and the constitution, in its stead, peror of the French holds the same views, but owing to circumstances, was not able to carry them out, and prevent the results of last summer in Bohe

The Germans understand this fully, and are on their guard. The reorganization of the French army even is in no way calculated to quiet their apprehensions on this point.

IT IS announced that HENRY WILSON, NATHANIEL P. BANKS, and other Radical orators, are about to "stump the South," nominally to persuade the Southern people that it is their policy to acquiesce in, and adopt, the latest reconstruction plan, but really to reach the ears of the negroes, who, they are the newly enfranchised blacks. We shall be glad, are with pure soft water in great abundance. Great | however, to welcome these gentlemen to our credit is due to those who are taking the lead in | midst, for their presence here may at last effectuthis mode of reconstructing the South. We wel- ally expose and contradict the oft repeated slander come them to our State, and hope success will at- that it is unsafe for a Northern man to travel through the South.
