TETAL OF THE PALMETTO, The new steam fire engine of the Palmette Company received its christening yesterday afternoon from the hands of the Company, and proved in every respect worth of their confidence. At her first trial the speciate ere astonished to see the stream of water sent a istance of 240 feet, and the Palmetto boys hav already visions of a silver cop floating before their eyes. Under the management of Mr. Funtono, the engineer of the Company, the new machine will prove a bold competitor for the prize, as h reports that although she is just from the hands of her makers she worked smoothly and easily.

THE CHARITY OF MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA.—Th steamship Fation, Captain Reed, of Messrs. Mon Decar & Co., and Countenar & Thennolads Dalti pecal & Co., and Countenat & Transmonate Balti-more steamship line, which arrived here at a late hour on Monday night, brought as a part of her cargo three thousand bushels of corn and ten thou-sand pounds of bacon, the larger portion being a contribution from the noble State of Maryland, and a part from Jefferson county, Virginia, sent to the destitute in the State of South Carolina. FIREMEN'S RECORDS.—We have had the pleasure of examining a Parchment Scroll of the Hope Fire Company, which has just emerged from the hands of Mr. Chas. Hickey, and is now on exhibition at his store in the bend of King street. The printing is on vellum and bears the names of the first founders of the Hope Company : SAMUEL D. CAMfounders of the hope company: Samuel L. Caarenon, Joseph A. Thouren, William L. Duval, Numa J. Blode, John J. Boiden, Peter C. Mocseau, Christopher C. Trumbo, Henry M. Normis, James V. Lamotte, David H. Devraux. The figure JAMPS W. LAMOTTE, DAVID H. DEVEKUX. The figure of Hope leaning on the anchor occupies the centre of the piece, while over it on either side are the shields, one bearing the date of the organization of the company, October 10, 1812, and the other its in orporation in December 19, 1813. The motto of the company, "ne cede malis," and their name complete the pieture; but the attention is soon learn to the frame where the citizen of a paster. complete the picture; but the attention is soon drawn to the frame where the gilding of a master hand is recognized. The top of the frame has a fine representation of a hand engine, while the lower part bears the node reel, and in the corners are fremen's hats and crossed axes, the whole being heautifully git. This Parchment is one of the most cherished archives of the Rope Company, and they had determined that, in preserving it they would also make it ornamental. A company, and any mad optermined that, in preserving it, they would also make it ornamental. A glance at Mr. Hrosey's window will at onice testify that their attempt has been successful, and they are now in the possession of an ornament to their hall that would rejoice any fireman's heart.
The Scroll was lately presented to the Hope Company by Mr. Joseph A. Thousen, one of the founders, in whose possession it had been for a number of years and was saved among some old papers.

St. Manus Chunch Fain. St. Marks Church st. Marks Chokel Fall.—St. Marks Julices, corner of Chapel and Elizabeth streets, was originally built for the congregation now worshipping at St. Lakes, but upon the completion of their church edifice corner of Charlotte and Elizabeth enuren edince corner of Charlotte and Edizabeth streets, the former building was transformed to a newly formed congregation of colored people, who clooted liev. Mr. Seannook as their Rector. There is also a select school connected with the parish. Funds being wanted for church and school, not an account continuous years. Funds being wanted for church and school, not an unusual contingency now a days in this part of the world, the Sewing Circle, composed of members of the congregation, strack upon the happy idea of instituting a Fair. They worked industricularly for many weeks, and procured Horton's building in Meeting, street, east side, between Pinckney and, Hasel street, for the purpose, and opened their Baranton. Monday evening. We visited the scene that night, but owing to a press of matter our notice could not be printed in yesterday's Nzws. The hall, although large, is not therwise well adapted for such a display; but its centra I situation, perhaps, more than counterbal ances such disadvantages.

The hall is handsomely decorated with flower and overgreens, and the tables are very tastefully arranged, covered with a profusion of articles, both useful and ornamental. We saw a large number of persons in attendance, composed of the most respectable class of our colored citizens, and also a number of white gentlemen. The Postofileo appeared to do a fine business, and the sods water fountial had its share of custom. The arrange and fountain had its share of custom. Ice cream an strawberries were in great demand. Lively little girls flitted about, very importunately interroga-ting all they met: "Wont you take a grab!" There was promonading, flirting, etc., in short w found this colored fair in all respect resemble th many white counterparts we have seen in our city We hope the members of the Sewing Circle will mecessful in their laudable efforts, and realize sum not altogether disproportionate to the paint they were at to get up the Fair. Among the attractions we must not forget a colored band of music, which performed vigorously during the entire of the evening.

MAYOR'S COURT, April 23.—Henry Taylor, youth connected with the club mentioned yester-day, who indulge in the "grab game," was arraigned and convicted, on the testin raigned and convicted, on the testimony of a lady, who stated that she was going up King street on Monday afternoon, and that seeing this loy approaching her she made way for him, so that he might take the inside, and, as he came abreast of her, he snatched her purse from her hand, con taining sixteen dollars, and ran off with it. After a long chase, with assistance, she caught the boy and got back the purse and $2. She not wishing to prosecute, the Mayor ordered Henry to be in risoned two weeks. Samuel Groghan and Robert Wickles, two color d men, who had carried a valise and contents to the house of an acquaintance, so as to create some suspicion on his mind, and to cause him to notify the police of the occurrence, were brought us and not being able to account for having it possession, they and the property were turned over to Lieutenant HENDRICKS, Chief of Detective, o search out the matter.
