Who shall tell my dows I love her?

Lo! she stands—

Reseron's own rainbow arch above her.
Palm boughs budding in her hands,
Flowers beneath her rested feet.

Thornless Eden flowers and sweet. Who shal fell my love I love her?
Such sweet song
Angel lips are chanting ever
This new saint amid their throng;
Scarcely will they change their strai
Counting human love so vain.

Who shall tell my love I love her? Who shall tell my love I love her?
Shall the breeze?
That most sweet but thriftless rover,
Does it sit the living trees?
Can my message thus thus be given?
Nay, the breeze blows under heaven. Who shall tell my love I love her?
Shall not I?
When life's fover-sleep is over.
And my soul's glad open eye,
Daris through blue and amber spac
Searching looks for her dear face?

I shall tell my love I love her
Very 2000—
Human words no more may move her,
But my spirit lips shall tune
Songs of love as ligh and sweet,
Songs of love as pure and meet,
As angels' own, her ear to greet—
I shall tell my love I love her.

Judge Underwood's Charge.

[From the Whig.]
Underwood's charge to the Grand Jury yesterday will be found in our columns this morning. We have no hesitation in saying that certain of its aluasions to this city are the most wantonly, mendacious and brutally libelous atterances that ever came from the bench of any civilized country. They sink their author beneath the fellowship of the lowest jail-birds. It is impossible to give expression to the scorn and contempt which every honorable man must feel for the depravity of a heart that can engender calumnies so vile.

heart that can engender calumnies so vile.

[From the Disputch.]

MONSTROUS CHARGE OF A JUDGE—If it was a the object of Judge Underwood to diagrace his Government and the court over which he presides, he labored in earnest yesterday to carry it out in his charge to the juty on opening his court. We publish it in our paper to-day as it comes from the United States Court. This charge, for the infamy of its aspersions of a whole community-natus. But parallel in the judicial and the sum of the world a man over got to be a judge; but he will be awarded the credits of making good use of his office to secure himself notoriety in at least one way: that of the foul and filthy calumniation of society.

[From the Times.]

Discrete Times.]

Underwood's Charge to His Grand Just.—Elsewhere in our columns will be found the "charge," yesterday delivered to his white and negro-jury by John C. Underwood, Judge of the United States District Court of Virginia. As a legal charge to a Grand Jury it is wholly beneath criticism, and challenges comment only as a display from the bench of a grovelling mafice towards the respectable people of Virginia, and a nausenting fattery of Sievens and the Racical party. As an emanation from the supreme judicial functionary in this State, it is disgraceful to his office; while, as a literary composition, it would not be creditable to the brain of a thick-skulled freedman.

Underwood, was headed 'From a Virginia Judge.' Theak God it was a stalence.' Virginia Indge.' Theak God it was a stalence.' Virginia has many things to ragret; and some to blush for, but not Underwood, was headed 'From a Virginia has many things to ragret; and some to blush for, but not Underwood. This slimy issue of deepest fifth is no more a Virginian than was Verres a Cicilian. He halls from the land which produced Benedict Arnold, 'm the last century, and Benjamin F. Butler, in the present, and yet disgraces both of these compatricts, for we mas the courage of the traitor, and the capacity of the thief.

And yet: sto boundless and bountoous is the metry of Omnipotence, that even this grovelling thing his his nice! 'The effort' is making to wean some of the gallant people of Virginia away from their magnificent history and glorious faith, and bind them to the chariot wheels of a new idol—a god whom their fathers knew not. And canning men whisper to those fainhearted ones, weary with the endless presecutions of fate, "Would to God that we had died by the hand of the Lord, in the land of Egypt, when we sat by the flesh-pots; and they set up a golden calf for worship, saying, "these be thy gods, oh! Israel."

Small marvel if, while the great and good leaders are shut out from them by a thick cloud, the faint-hearted and the longers for flesh-pote bow the knee to this new divinity, which men name Radicalism. But, forfunately, the antidote follows fast on the heels of the poison.

Let any white man in Virginia read this low, obsecue brute's viperous falsehoods, and remember that he, this Underwood, is the cub of Republicanism means herding with such a creature. If not, he cannot be a Republican. Republicanism means herding with such a creature. If not, he cannot be a Republicanism for the sample

How is This?—The District Court for Marlboro District, South Carolina, commenced its second quarterly session last week, Judge Allen presiding. There were but fow ease on the orininal docket, and only one of them was tried; the State vs. James Dodd, for receiving stolen goods. The jury, after hearing the testimony and argument on both sides, returned a verdict of not guilty. Mr. Dodd was immediately discharged, but, before leaving the village was re-arrested under a Military order for the same offence. Of course, we don't know the motives for this interference with the business of our Civil Courts by the military; but, this action of the military seems to tary; but, this action of the military seems to conflict greatly with the assurances given in all the late Orders, of General Sickles, in regard to the Civil Courts of the State.—Spartan.

Fire.—The fine new dwelling house near our town, owned by captain A. J. Daniel, was entirely consumed, about 4 o'clock, on Sunday morning latt. This was a very fine house, containing eight rooms. It was not occupied, consequently no olne to the origin of the fire has not on discovered—but it is supposed to be the work of an incendiary. We are informed that the house was insured for $2000.—Spartan.
