NEWS SUMMARY.

Pros IX. has completed his seventy-fifth year having been born May 13, 1792. He will have on supled the Pontifical throne twenty-one years of the 16th June next.

Bos.c workmen at Winchester, Va, while engaged in tearing down a building a few days since, came upon a bottle, upon which was written with a diamond, "Bottle of whiskey, buried in 1821." It is stated that Governor Buownlow is projecting a navy, in the shape of two old steamers to be iron-plated, for service on the Cumberland River, and thus cooperate with his land forces in keeping rebels from the polls.

England, although her people buy great num bers of watches, manufactures but a small pro-portion of them. Whilst her watchmakers annually manufacture 26.090 watches, she imports from witzerland alone 35,000 during the same period.

The shad "pounds" at the mouth of the Connecticut river, inclosures in which the fish were caught by the wholesale, big and little, and shipped to the New York market, were almost totally destroyed by the heavy seas of last week.

Great numbers of the restless spirits who con Great numbers of the restless spirits who com-pose the city populations in California are already rushing away to our newly acquired territory, to see what can be made there, and no doubt the poor Esquimaux will be shocked at the sample American citizens thus precipitated among them The London tailors are now sending to thi untry with their coats little glass bottles with pins attached, to hold the flowers, which would otherwise be stuck in the button hole. By the use of these bottles filled with water, of course the flowers can be kept fresh. The latest horticultural device is that of remov-ing the stones from fruit by a process of gradual reduction, by extracting the pith from shoots and grafting them on stocks and their own branches, for successive seasons. The experiment has been perfectly successful with the Malaga grape.

Goy. Mausuall, of Alinnessta, has received from the Goyerument ton thousand rations, to be dis-tributed among the destitute settlers in the frontior counties of that State. Great destitution exists among the new settlers, but they are hopeful, and with a little assistance to get in their crops, feel assured of doing well. An English company have offered to assume the whole debt of New Granada, which is set down at thirty-three millions, and pay other liabilities amounting to some additional millions, for the exclusive privilege of a transit across the lethmus by railroad or canal, or both, for a period of ninenine years. The bust of Count Bishkanck is an object of great interest at the Paris Exposition. The features are thus described; "The forehead is fine, but two great wrinkles," which signify brutal ob-stinacy, are knitted into its middle; the lips are meering and cold, and the nose is—oh, so pugna-A letter from the Commissioner of Internal Revenue states that out of the whole population of the United States, only 400,000 persons paid a tax upon incomes last year—in other words, that out of the thirty-five millions of our people, less than half a million had incomes of more than

The Atlanta New Era says: A railroad two miles in longth has been erected at Stone Mountain for the behellt of the workers in granite. It will greatly facilitate, and, of course, cheapen, the Our friend, and former city Architect, DICK BASS, Esq., planned and supervised said railway.

The Langingburg (N. Y.) clergy have a novel way of doing things. At a recent public wedding, the officialing clorgyman, after the knot had been tied, anneunced that if there were any others in the church who desired to be united in wedlock, they should stop forward, and forthwith another couple approached the altar as candidates for the matrimonial degree.

An arrangement has been made with the Engdiab and Franch railroads, with the Imperial commission, which controls the exhibition, and with persons who supply food and lodging, by which two hundred English workingmen per week may go to Paris, ijvo in a pleasant hall, spend a week in sight-sceing, and come back again, for seven dollars and a half in gold.

dollars and a half in gold.

The Pittaburg Commercial says the principal grain centres are manifesting, just now, certain significant fluctuations in prices—a sert of trombling sensation like that which precedes the final plunge of the sinking ship. The grand prospect aligs for the wheat crop—now within two months of the market—has brought out some thousands. of bushels of old wheat, and the market from this time forward is bound to decline. Rev. Jons W. BECRWITH, Rector of Trinity Burch, has declined the Sec of Georgia, to which he had been elected. His reasons for declining a high an office in the Church is that his work in this Dioceso had but begun. He remains in accordance with the wishes of the largest congrega tion in the jelty. When the announcement was made from the pulpit that he would not leave his flock, it was received with profound and doon

The Telegraph, of Gratz, states that a few days ago some person entered the residence of Marshal BENEDER and carried off the insignia of all the orders of chivalry that had been conferred on that warrior. The theft was the more remarkable as none of the other objects of value in the house were taken. The Archduke, hearing of this misfortune of his old comrade in arms, at once sent all his own "orders," and put them at Gen. Benz-DEK's disposal, unwilling, as he delicately expressed it, that the old Marshal should be for a singl instant even without the numerous tokens of his ountry's gratitude.

A meeting of peach-growers was held

Dover, Delaware, 23d instant, to arrange for the transportation of fruit to market his season, by the different railroad lines. It is gratifying to know that the opinion expressed by gentla from all parts of the State, as well as from the Eastern Shore of daryland, was, that the crop would be an abundant one, failures being confined to some few localities. The name or of healtets t be shipped by rallroad was variously estimated from a million to a million and a half. About New York trees are covered with young fruit that have borne little or nothing for several years. Good ac-counts also come from the West.

The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun, writing on the 29th, says that an energetic effort is made by the impechment party, and Mr. Sunnan and others, to bring a sufficient number of members of Congress here in July to form a quorum of both houses. Mr. Summan says he only remains here himself to help make up that quo-rum, and, if possible, pass a law to give suffrage rum, and, it possible, pass a law to give and in to the negroes in the Northern States and in the Territories. Thirty-three letters to members were sent off yesterday by the impeachment party, urging them to come on, and a large number have been written too by Mr. Summer, who urges them

The Norfolk Bay Look tells us of the arrival in the "city by the sea" of a "big baby" from 'big Richmond, whose dimensions are very large, Raya the Bay Book: "It is an route for Barnum's Museum, per steamship Saratoga; is only four yours and a half old, and weighs two hundred counts, that is a hunger by the same of the s pounds; (that's a whopper!) measures forty-eight inches around the breast, and has an arm as large inches around the breast, and has an arm as large as a man's thigh. (Why a man's thigh, Mr. Day Book!). It was in charge of its mother, who is a widow (no wonder the father died), and came from big Richmond, and is decidedly a big representative of that big city. He is too fat to walk, and was lying in a help on the cabin floor, indulging in the tuxury of strawberries." How many quarte did it requires to satisfy the monator? Richmond never require to satisfy the monster? Richmond never produces anything that is small.

The Tensas (La.) Gazelle, of the 25th uit. says:
"The planters back from the river are now all busy scraping cutton, and most of them have excellent stands. On several places there is corn up, and looking healthy. Most of the plantations close to the river are not so fortunate where it is low had swampy. The water is still on those place, and the river too high to admit the low and swampy. The water is still on those places, and the river too high to admit the water running through the different breaks in the leves along our front." The House (La.) Cyric Guard of the same date, says: "We have the pleasure of recording the continual and recorded failing of the waters in this parish. We hope, inasmuch as it is yet quite early in the season, that our planters will not lose as much as was expected. Many persons believe that good corn and rice can be made on the land that has been overflowed this season.

RRENT TOPICS.

The Gov. Evne trial in England, and the Reconstruction Acts in the United States, of late have attracted considerable attraction to the subject of martial, as contrasted with civil law. The West sinster Review for April, 1867, repeats the follow ing anecdote, found in Sir WALTER Scorr's "Life of the Duke of York," and it may not of the Buss of Area, each if for no other reason than to show what queer notions those old fogies had about civil liberty. At the table of the Commander-in-Chief a young officer entered into dispute with Lt. Col. —, upon the point to which military obedience ought to be carried. The young goutleman was at the time of life when soldiers are apt to carry the rense of military duty to enthusiasm. "If the Commander-in-Chief," said the young officer, "should command me to do a thing which I know to be civilly illogal, I should a thing which I knew to see evenly inegas, I should not scruple to obey him, and should consider my-self as relieved from all responsibility by the order of my military superior." "So would not I," re-plied the gallant and intelligent officer, who main-tained the opposite side of the question. "I would rather prefer the risk of being shot for disobe dience than of being hanged for transgressing th laws, and violating the liberties of my country. "You have answered like yourself," said his Roya Highness, whose attention had been attracted by the vivacity of the debate; "and the officer would deserve to be both shot and hung who would act otherwise. I trust that all British officers would be unwilling to execute an illegal order, as I trust the Commander-in-Chief is incapable of issuing

MR. THADDEUS STRVENS has been sick since the adjournment of Congress, and has been ordered by his physician to avoid excitement, and study the things which tend to quietness. He has, howover, broken over the medical decree, and been delivered of a letter, which shows that he is doing as well as could be expected. He has been in labor with his policy of confiscation, and now writes ar urgent letter in favor of that scheme tatives. He says that the people of Pennsylvania and other States who were plundered by rebel in-vaders, should be compensated out of the estates of such mon as AIREN, DAVIS, ORB, HAMPTON, and a thousand others, who are still rich. He furthe wonders that Congress has kept quiet for two ses ions, and not enforced confiscation. Of his politi cal associates who are perambulating the South he says: "A few Republican meteors, always er ratic in their course, are flitting through, and exploding in the Republican atmosphere. tract sufficient public attention to enable the assure the amiable rebols that they need foar no confiscation; that nobody of any note in the North is in favor of imposing such punishment for the sake of remuneration or of justice." Mr. STRYKHS had hardly a follower in the last Congress, when he made his confiscation speech and his moribund utterance now will be treated as a sick man's eresting account of the Tredegar Works : "Among the vast operations at the Tredegar Works as up to their full capacity, and give employment to a very large number of mechanics and laborers. The Tredegar mill is confined to the manufacture of merchant iron of all descriptions, cut nails, rail road spikes, and other fastonings. The Armory mill is devoted excurring to the which a very large amount is now being made for several of our Southern roads. In both mills there are in the aggregate over four hundred hands employ ed, and of these there is a large proportion ne groes. Of this latter class we were glad to hear a good account under the excellent and judicious management of the proprietors they are working well and contentedly, an example which it, would be for the interest of the colored men throughout the State to follow. Brown's Island, at the with shanties, used during the war as a laboratory is now rented by the Tredegar Company, and by them sub-let to 'mechanics' and laborars' employed in the foundry." " "

Wonn is now being pushed forward vigoronaly upon the Florida Rallroad, and present indications are that the entire line will be in operation in the ourse of a few weeks' time. The beautiful and costly iron draw bridge over Amelia River is no ly finished, and the track between this place and the bridge (a distance of about three miles) is roady for the rails, which have been laid about a quarter of a mile at this end. Last Thursday the steamer John Milealf, from Hilton Head, brought down a load of rails; and we believe there is now enough iron on hand to complete the road and necessary turn-outs. On Saturday last some twen-ty-five white laborers came down from Charleston to work on the track, and more are coming. Th company has contracted with Col. M. W. Downia, of Minnesota, for the crection of very extensive docks at the termination of the track in the hardions stereliouse. Work is constantly kept up along the whole line in ballasting and getting the powerful engines were put on the trains make their time with great regularity. On the whole, our railroad prospects are excellent. So says the Fernandina Courier.

THE PALL of MAXIMILIAN is an event that has been likely to occur at any time since the depar-ture of the French troops from Mexico, and would have been Brought about months ago but for the vant of ability in the leaders of the Liberal ar No one here or in Europe can have looked forward to any other result than the failure of the Empire when the support of France had been withdraw MAXIMILIAN, had he consulted his own personal safety, would certainly have fled the country with the army whose bayonete alone for two years up-held his authority, but he preferred, as a Hapsburg, the doubtful chances of a contest with the Liberais, to the ignoble expedient of running away. He has fallen, and, we learn, has paid the ponalty of his rashness with his life! We may hope, however, that the statement relating to his declution body, that the statement relating to his execution is untrue. Cruelly in the hour of success will be but a bad beginning for the new regime in the Moxican Republic, which, let us trust, may re-catablish tranquility and prosperity in that beautiful

THE VOLLOWING from the Herald of the 20th is significant: . "We see that General Shemman has renounced his trip to the Holy Land, his presence on the frontier being deemed necessary by the Government. However unfortunate this may be for his piety, it is good for his political interests. When he is nominated next year for Vice-President it is just as well that he should be on hand. The Radicals talk of nominating BEN WADE or Dick Busterd for the position; but we rather think that General Grant would prefer his Lies-tenant-General's filling it. The military hierarchy in the Government will then be complete." By this it would appear that the people of the North have become reconciled to the fact that hiberty is dead, and the Constitution buried, and that henceforth the heritage of Washington, Franklin, Adams, Jeyfenson, and Hamilton is to be administered by West Point.

THE ENGLISH papers fear that this year will wit-ness the dire shadow of last year's commercial colipse. There is in England' a perfect dearth of oclipse. There is in England a perfect dearth of credit, which is already painfully and pinchingly felt, and much of it is ascribed to the insolvency of the railroads upon which many families have depended for small incomes in the shape of dividends. Money that was borrowed when money was easy to obtain, has now to be repaid when it is all but impossible to berrow, and many families of moderate means are easting their hundred a year into an alves from which not a particle of the credit of the control of the con year into an abyse from which not a particle of it can ever return; and there is no help for R; while pride, the dread of losing caste, and the dread of losing situations provent many a struggling man from taking a step which would put an end to a lifelong burden. Ir is sam that a party of Northern capitalists numbering perhaps forty, will visit flavaniah in the early part of Soptember, for the purpose of making a prospecting tour through Southern and Southwestern Georgia. It is stated that they represent $20,000,000 worth of capital, a considerable amount of which will be invested in improved and unimproved lands on and near the route of the At-lantic and Gulf Rahrodd, if they can be purchased on reasonable terms. The ulterior object contem-plated by these capitalists is the settlement of a colony of Northern farmers, who are to cultivate the lands as tenants for a specified term of years, when they will become proprietors.

The Methodist Episcopal Church, South, is a witness for the Bible as the only and sufficient rule of faith and practice. Her entire history is an assertion of this fact. Her existence has just this meaning. The Bible is the infallible standard of morals, as it is the exclusive rule of faith. Against every system of philanthropy that affects a higher spirit of beneficence than that taught in the Scriptures, our Church inflexibly replies: The Bible is true; the social morality of the Bible is pure; to protend anything better is arrogant impicty.

present and voting, the motion fails.

The great social and political struggle a resent in progress throughout the Southern States, involving the most vital interests that can be brought to the attention of a civilized ommunity, to our friends at the North; is bu a gigantic experiment, watched in every part f that vast domain with the utmost anxiety, The interest manifested in our suffering, our rotests, our losses, or our future fortunes will he best understood if we compare it with the degree of concern or sympathy elicited by the of the experimenting physiologist, in the absorbed mind and callous heart of the scientific rute. The goose, the rabbit, or the horse, as the case may be, the enthusiastic student of the science of life imagines were originally put on this globe for the express purpose of being dissected, and becoming beatified as choice "preparations," in due time to be put under s case in the Museum. Remonstrance from Mr. Bangn is tronted with an uncourte ous "bosh.". The great end of a rabbit is to be flaved alive-that is clear.

So with our political doctors. The South is bound down on a dissecting table. The knife, not always very sharp, nor invariably wielded

by a skilful manipulator, is thrust into our very vitals. How the victim fares during these experimental operations, who cares? Our doctors would not be guilty of such "unprofessional" conduct as to heed groans and cries. The result, always held stendily in view, is the next election. Will the Radicals carry the riots and bloodshed, stagnation of business and starvation, a general prostration of every branch of industry, and demoralization of a numerous laboring class is the proximate result of such experiment, these are mere incidental trifles, which must not deter the projectors from the plan they have chalked out. That suffraga has been conferred upon the freedmen for the express purpose of recovering his vote in the approaching Presidential election will scarcely be disputed. In fact the great leaders of the party, in their papers and from the stump, avow this in the most unblushing manner. The address of the National Republican Committee to the freedmen, referred to in our ditorial columns a few days ago, points out what "the nation" has done for the negro, and now calls on him to do something for "the nation" in return, vis: Voto the Radical ticket. Our Northern friends should conduc their electioneering campaign with a little more regard for decency, and propriety, and not take an unfair advantage of the unlettered freedmen, by addressing what purports to be argument to him, which they would not venture to present to an audience, fairly emancipated from the spelling book. Let us not have livers weights and measures. Why address one set of reasons to the black man and an other to the white man, as all the Radical itinerants are doing every day in their crusades through the South? If the negro is equal with the white man, (and we hope none of our Radical brethren will act in contravention of the Civil Rights Bill, and call this fact in question), then why make a distinction? Is the black mind different from the white, requiring a species of ebony legic? We should prefer, henceforth, all appeals and addresses to he made to "the people," not to freedmen, to negroes, or to any other class. Our interiment of the other. There is great speculation and counting of noses going on at present in the great Northern country. We daily see schemes, schedules and programmes for the approaching battle. Who will vote for whom, that is the great question. As an "example" of this new species of political arithmetic, we subjoin the following statistics" from the New York Evening Post for the benefit of the curious in such matters:

As political matters are just now imixed up," and there are indications that neveral States are in an oscillating condition, the sub-joined table; giving a list of the States and a guess at their political complexion in the next liouse of Representatives, and in the electoral college at the next Presidential election, may not be without interest. The unorganised States and Connectiout are conceded to the Democrats in the list I enclose:

Governor Brownlow takes a leading part in advo-cating his own re-election—personally and in the press; and he certainly does enough of virulence and blackguardism for, the whole party. He be-gins an address to the public by denouncing "that prince of swindlers, hars and secondrols, John Baxter," and goes on to speak of the "gang of lick-spittles" who revolve around him. He then asks a long string of questions of the most insult-ing kind, concerning the mother, wife, sisters, brothers and other relatives of his opponent—in-sunuting against them every crime known to the decalogue or the criminal law.
