The poor of New York, from the note-book of a reporter, is about to be published. A reporter, a detective, or a thief, are the only men to do such a subject justice.

WHERLER & WILSON have been awarded the highest premium-a medal-at the Paris Exposition, for perfection of the sewing machine. This was the only gold medal awarded for this class of articles. There were eightytwo competitors for the prize.

Persons who use copying presses will be interested to know that the GOODYBAR India Rubber Glove Manufacturing Company, No. 205 Broadway, have made a new India rubber copying sheet, which is said to much more durable, useful and perfect than any other. A CORRESPONDENT of the Courrier des Etats Unis asserts that the Emperor ALEXANDER WAS

Prussis in Paris. The Emperor had on a plain street dress, and stood on the sidewalk of the boulevard of Sevastopol. The hull of the famous iron clad New Ironsides, which was burned at Philadelphia, has been purchased from the Government by a Mr. THOMPSON, of New York, who will soon, with a force of submarine workmen, have it raised from its present submerged position. Large masses of cast iron are easily broken by taking advantage of the noncompressibility of water. A hole is drilled one-third through the mass to be broken, and filled with water; a steel plug is then inserted, and the ram of a pile-driver is let fall on the plug, separating the mass into two pieces with one blow.

Provid nce. R. I., will celebrate the Fourth in the all-fashioned way with salutes, bell ringing, military parade, exhibition of the Fire Department, music, reading of the Declaration, and a regatta. One feature of the last will be a race with wash tubs propelled by means of shingles. No one can compete for the prize who is not a good swimmer. Ten /ears ago a man in Missouri bequeathed

$500 each to ten of his slaves, on condition that they should emigrate to Liberia or some country set apart for free persons. The slaves remained in Missouri, and the St. Louis County Court in that State has decided that it is "a place set apart for free persons of color," and the executor has been ordered to pay over the

The Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad is now building, at their shops in Wilmington, Delaware, fifty freight cars, with ventilators, for the purpose of carrying the exphis and Maryland. These ventilators will have the effect of keeping the fruit from spoiling in the hot weather. This is probably a larger number of cars than has ever been ordered at one time.

A Texas paper gives a curious description of the honey ant. In size it is about half way between the large and small red ants. Its color is a kind of reddish brown. The honey bag or sack is attached to the posterior part of the abdomen. It is overlaid with thin dark layers about half as large as a grain of rice, and contains a "pure clear honey of a most delicious flavor." Whether these ants have a common storehouse, like the bee, our Texas authority does not know.

The Boston Journal learns from the Amazon that three Peruvian steamers had successfully ascended the Ucayali, Pachitea and Palcasu to Majo, in Peru, 1227 miles from the embouchure of the Ucayali in the Amazon, thus demonstrating the practicability of direct commerce between the Atlantic and the interior of Peru, 8500 miles off. The cannibal Indians of the river banks were, however, troublesome, and in an engagement with them twenty-five were

The newspaper and street reports that the Dunderberg had "sprung a leak" were wholly anfounded. Seams exposed to the sun had been affected, and to render it certain before her departure that all was right, she was placed upon the dry dock. Instead of springing a leak, compariments that would have been first to feel a leak were not even damp. She was found perfectly reliable and sea-worthy, and is now taking in coals for her voyage to Cherbourg. She is in her berth adjoining Hoboken Ferry slip, where she remains until placed in the stream ready for sea. Mr. WEBB takes her to France himself, and will probably steam away on the morning of the 4th of July. The United Service Gazette says: "Captain H. F. McKillor, R. N., has gone to the United States, on three months' leave, to get some valuable patents in operation connected with the use of mineral oil as fuel for steamers. The unlimited supply of this oil in America. and the scarcity of coal, render the subject one of great importance in that country. The steamers trading between San Francisco and Japan and China will save 75 per cent. for their fuel, taking into consideration the immense saving in space which the oil gives over the coal. For long voyages, for ships of war, and for steam yachts, the oil fuel will very soon

WILLIAM WASHINGTON, Esq., died at his residence near Brentsville, Prince William County, Va., on the 21st instant, aged 74 years. He was a son of Bailer Washington, of Stafford County, Va., and brother of Colonel WIL-LIAM WASHINGTON, deceased, of the revolution, and third cousin of General GEORGE WASHING-TON, the Father of his Country. His brother. Colonel HENRY WASHINGTON, of the District of Columbia, survives. Fo was noted in early life for versatility of talents, at which time he studied medicine; afterwards entering the regular army as an officer of the war of 1812. in which he served with honor and distinction. and, at the close of the war, was honorably discharged. After the war he engaged in private pursuits. He was remarkable for the simplicity of his life, sincerity and truth being the strong traits of his character. A strangely foolish piece of petty tyranny is officially reported to have been perpetrated in the latter part of last month at Marianna. Florids. Two young ladies, one of whom was of a theroughly Union family, who had adhered to the Federal cause without flinching throughout the entire war, were summoned before a Military Court, for the alleged crime of scattering the flowers placed on a Union soldier's grave. Threatened with military arrest in case they did not respond to the sumconsisted solely of one Captain C. M. CURRENT TOPICS.

AT EPERNEY, not far east of Paris, writes correspondent, we are at the entrepot of the Champagnes made in France. The town has a foundation of limestone, in which immense vaults are excavated for the storage of wines. Some of these are so large that a regiment of cavalry have ridden through. Five hundred years ago these wines were cheap, but to such perfection had culture brought them that for more than two hundred years they have been most valuable, and every thing which it takes art to produce, must always be dear. And when one takes into account that many of the choicest wines are raised on one single small vineyard, and the choicest products drank in France, the immense sale of what goes under valuable names in our country, reminds one of the sale of relics by the Romish priests, provoking a computation as to the number of original fingers and toes a saint naturally possessed. The immense amount of labor and care bestowed in the process of champagnemaking is hardly conceivable; every possible circumstance, even to the shape and size, and quality, of glass of the bottles in the last process, affecting its quality. present, incognito, at the arrival of the King of It is sometimes passed nearly two hundred times through the laborer's hands before it is ready for market. Taking not only this fact into account, but that of loss by breakage of the bottles during the process of the last fermentation, and their value is more accountsble. Ordinarily the makers lose from six to eight per cent., but it is possible sometimes that they may lose even more than thirty per cent. And so capricious is the change that is constantly taking place in these wines from beginning to end that no skill can avert them. Sometimes it must be forced to effervesce while it is possible that it may defy all efforts to that purpose. It is possible of two stacks of bottles in the same cellar, side by side, nearly all of one may burst while the other remains undisturbed. At such times the workmen who attend must enter with wire masks over their faces to prevent injury from the bursting bottles. Some of these champagne cellars contain

> The London Daily News thinks all the nations of the world are in love with France, and says: France is a great enchantress. Her charms and her seductions make her the Cleopatra of nations. Her language, her wit, her taste, her intellect, her sentiment, her cynicism, her self-assertion-all that is so exquisitely symmetrical, luminous, and penetrating in her finely tempered genius, make all civilized society her lover and her slave. But loved as the mistress, not as the wife. There the world rushed with an irresistible ardor of admiration to her feet-when to be a Erench ry or brigandage; and in fact their citizen was to be a lawgiver to humanity. But these were moments when she was not the Cleopatra, but the Sybil. At the cost of what long and dreary periods of lessitude, and self-abandonment, and loss of dignity and self-remoments of freedom! and during these inter; vals, renowned it is true for gigantic feats of arms, and a prodigious splendor of luxury, and the storm and indignation of an inand monumental constructions, who among the admirers of France would willingly have exchanged the immunities of a guest for the honors of a citizen or a subject. THERE WERE four hundred and fifty Catholic Archbishops and Bishops, and about thirty heinous conduct has added Austria and thousand priests in Rome on Thursday. The Pope held a public consistory, at which he delivered an allocution on the situation of the Church and warned its "enemies" of its immense earthly power. The American prelates were treated with marked attention by the Holy Father, who granted them an audience, at which he referred publicly to the great progress, if he is desirous to terminate the amicable religious and civil, of the United States. The American Bishops presented the Pope with two hundred thousand dollars in gold, and an elegant model of the yacht Henrietta, made of silver, which contained fifty thousand dollars in geld coin stowed away below. The Pope lifted the model from the case saying, "Non e'vapore," ("it is not a steamer!"), which was translated by some as "it is not all vapor" which comes from America. His Holiness had only "pleasant words," he said, for all Americans. Archbishop PURCELL, of Cincinnati, has been assigned a place on the Pope's right hand at the St. Peter's Day celebration. The Pope ex-

THE NEW YORK Herald confesses that there the gold-reom touching the action of Congress ensign on the gangway. The Mexicans on impeachment, reconstruction, and the finances. That paper essays to dismiss the fears of these persons, but awkwardly mixes up with its arguments to show that there will be no disturbance by the action of Congress, the remark that "the property of this country is subjected to a forced levy of five hundred millions of dollars exclusive of State and municipal taxes. Twenty years of such taxation would be equal to the whole of the property of the country at the present time." This is not calculated very much to allay the excitement of the bulls and bears. It is with reference to this enormous taxation that the Democratic party in Maine demands that a third of the property of the country-the national bondsnow exempt from taxation, shall bear a part of the burthen on account of the public debt. Whether the Congress about to assemble meets

But Mexican pride, or ignowoman's rights have met in full force at Albany. Time that might be better employed has been wasted listening to the platitudes of Mrs. E. Capy Stanton and other members of the muscular sisterhood. Surely we have had enough of this. The members of the Convention could not well refuse the fair orators a feel far from friendly toward Los Amerihearing. In doing so they have done enough; and the public will be glad to see that the Suffrage Committee have dismissed the petitioners with as much grace as possible. Let the members of the Convention give themselves to their proper work. MEXICO AND MAXIMILIAN. A telegraphic dispatch printed in our issue of vesterday, announces, in what appears to be a reliable, if not official form, the death of MAXIMILIAN. He was tried by court martial, condemned, and executed on the 19th ult.; and, by a refinement of cruelty, his body was refused both to the American and Austrian naval commanders, who asked for it. And so ends the empire of Mexico! But this is only the beginning of the end. The judicial murder of MAXIMILIAN is the first act of what will prove a bloody tragedy, the denouement of which will consist in the entire annihilation of Mexico, as a separate and inlependent country, people or nationality. Ten years ago England, Spain and France combined were on the point of makng war on Mexico, in order to enforce the payment of moneys due their respective subjects. These claims are still unsettled, and to them have been added quantities of Imperial Mexican scrip, now in the hands of mournful French capitalists. The Mexicans, intoxicated with victory, are now more insolent than ever, and boldly boast that no power can hereafter compel them to pay their debts; openly disavowing sense of moral obligation. This is not independence—this is outlawentire conduct during the last few years, to go no further back, and especially in the war which has just terminated, has been that of brigands and outlaws rather than of a civilized people, recognizing the sanctity of laws, oaths and obligations. They are hostes humani generis, censed world will ere long break over them, and, in the emphatic language of holes in the mountains, there to perish

To her old enemics, Spain, France and England, the Republic of Mexico by her Belgium, and in fact every civilized nation on earth. Even the United States, unless we are greatly mistaken, is beginning to blush for her protege, adopted because of circumstances and the Monroe Doctrine. Mr. SEWARD will not want for grievances, relations now subsisting with the Republic of Mexico, and assume a hostile attitude. The SANTA ANNA difficulty is a most flagrant violation of the law of nations, worse than the Trent affair, to which Mr. SEWARD had to back down, much against his will. If the facts of the case have been correctly reported, and we have no reason to doubt it, they are of a remarkably aggravating character. SANTA ANNA was a prisoner on board an American ship, the Virginia, and was forcibly removed pressed his wish to call a Council of the therefrom by a Mexican gunboat at Sisal, against his own protest and that of the American commander. "The Captain," is much anxiety among the money-dealers of the dispatch says, "spread the American trod on the flag." Here is one of the greatest insults ever offered to the national

When Commodore INGRAHAM gave his rotection to the Hungarian exile Koszta, who had not a whit more claims to it than SANTA ANNA, (indeed not as much), the people of the United States applauded the act, and were prepared to support it at all hazards. It cannot be that a few years of internal feud and party strife should have so deadened our chivalry, and the jealousy with which we have always guarded our national honor, that we can pass an affront like this unavenged. That the so-called Liberals in Mexico, this issue or not, sooner or later it must be of whom the half-breed JUAREZ is the head, could not have succeeded without the support of the United States, to us and to the rest of the world is a self-evident rant conceit will not permit them to see this or acknowledge it. Their own prowess, they flatter themselves, has expelled the foreign invader. This is their boast in the "Liberal" newspapers, and they canos del Norte. A quarrel is inevitable, and the sooner it comes, the better, we believe for the interests both of this country and of Mexico. Such a war of course can States. Such a war we believe, would heal up and cicatrize wounds and sores of long standing. Engaged against a common enemy abroad, there would be every motive, nay an imperious necessity, for union and harmony at home. Here we have the enemy and the quarrel ready made to hand. All that is necessary is simply to go ahead and "pitch in." We are waiting

OPINIONS OF THE PEOPLE

Mesers. Little & Marshall:

Mesers. Little & Marshall:

GENTLEMEN: I used, during the past season, one of "Ingorsoll's Portable Cotton Presses," purchased of you last September. I have sleways been prejudiced in favor of the "Screw Press," and nothing but dire necessity induced me to try any other. I take pleasure, however, in adding my testimony in favor of its entire adaptation to the wants of a cotton plantation. It has surpassed my most sanguine expectations. I have packed with but two hands, yet I prefer four—two at each lever. My bales all weighed over 500 lbs. The first lot I sent to market averaged 562 lbs. My impression is that 500 lbs. is about the capacity of the Press, and a greater number of pounds subject the follow-block to too much risk, unless the sides of the cotton box was increased. It would add greatly to the value of the Press if the cotton box was ten inches longer. In haste, I am, very respectfully, Your obedient servant, &c., B. W. LAWTON.

P. S. I took my Press down and carried it some four miles to pack the crop of a neighbor, who falled to have a "Screw" built; he was so much pleased that he has determined to abandon the "Screw" and purchase "Ingersoll's Press."

B. W. L.

OFFICE OF KING'S MOUNTAIN RAILBOAD COMPANY, YORKVILLE, S. C., April 15, 1867.

GENTLEMEN: I have just received your letter of February 14th—upon my return to this place, after an absence of two months—and this reply may be too late for your "Descriptive Circular of Ingersoll's Cotton Press."

The Press I used in packing my cotton last year worked admirably, packing, with case from 500 to 525 lbs. With good active hands to work it, I am satisfied that from eighteen to twenty bales might readily be packed in a day.

Respectfully, &c., yours,
To LITTLE & MARSHALL, Charleston, S. C.
