[BY REQUEST.] JOY IN SORROW.

BY GERTRUDE M. HAZARD.

We commend to our readers the exquisitely beautiful poem that follows, which we take from the Newport (R. I.) Mercury. It is not often that the highest moral truth is expressed with such pathos and felicity of illustration. Genius and piety have united to make plain to our understandings, and acceptable and dear to our hearts, the religious principle that sorrow is knowledge, and grief the teacher of the wise. It is hard to attain to this wisdom, but when attained, the darkness becomes light, and our path, however rugged and difficult, becomes smooth and straight. The darkest problems of life are solved, and we are reconciled, and more than reconciled, to trials which seem to be without reasor.

It is pleasant to know that the gifted authoress of this tender hymn, though of the State of Rhode Island by nativity and residence, is a descendant of a distinguished lady of South Carolina, a sister of Mr. Joseph Peace, the very able and accomplished senior law partner of Langdon Cheves.

Fasten your souls so high, that constantly
The smile of your immortal cheer may float
Above all floods of earthly agonies,
Purification being the joy of pain.
[E. B. Browning.

O Thou who art our Father and our Mother, We bow with reverent love unto the Power Which not in wrath, but tenderly and wisely, Has led our trembling footsteps to this hour.

With souls that thrill to the deep bliss of being As keenly as they quiver at Life's pain, And eyes that look beyond this mortal seeing, We know we call not on Thy name in vain.

We thank Thee more than for earth's fleeting pleas For all our withered hopes, for grief and sin, Which opened to our soul's pride-blinded vision A hidden well-spring of pure joy within.

We'll lift to Thee our hands, bereft of treasure, Standing 'mid broken idols, round us strewn; O, not in gifts alone, but in beravements, Thy love is fully and completely shown.

We mourn no more our fairest dreams departed, No tears fall fast above our buried youth; The spirit knows no age, kept verdant ever, By streams unfailing from Thy tount of Truth. Eyes wet by sorrow's tears have clearer vision, Hearts wounded, flee, O Healer, unto Thine, And with the sacred joy of grief, Great Spirit, We thank Thee, kneeling at the inner shrine.

That Life but shadow is of Death, the real,
Whose touch diviner breaks the bones of clay,
And forth to rapturous sounds of angel singing,
Leads the glad spirit on its homeward way.

REMOVAL OF GEN. SHERIDAN.

Correspondence Between the President and Gen. Grant.

The following correspondence between the President and Gen. Grant in relation to the removal of Gen. Sheridan is published in the New York papers of Monday:

HEADQ'ES ABMIES OF THE UNITED STATES, WASHINGTON, D. C., August 17, 1867.

His Excellency Andrew Johnson, President of the United States:

Size—I am in receipt of your order of this date, irrecting the assignment of Gan. G. H. Thomas Siz.—I am in receipt or your over of this date, directing the assignment of Gen. G. H. Thomas to the command of the Fifth Military District, Gen. Sheridan to the Department of the Missouri, and General Hancock to the Department of the Comberland; also, your note of this date (entering these instructions, saving: "Before you issue instructions), saying: "Before you issue instructions to carry into effect the enclosed order, I would be pleased to hear any suggestions you may deem necessary respecting the assignments to which the order refers."

I am pleased to avail myself of this invitation to urge expectly myself.

I am pleased to avail myself of this invitation to urge, earnestly urge—urge in the name of a patricia people who have sacrificed hundreds of thousands of loyal lives and thousands of millions of treasure to preserve the integrity and union of this country—that this order be not insisted on. It is unmistakably the expressed wish of the country that Gen. Sheridan should not be removed from his present command. This is a republic where the will of the people is the law of the land. I begint their voice may be heard.

the will of the people is the law of the land. Deg that their voice may be heard.

General Sheridan has performed his civil duties faithfully and intelligently. His removal will only be regarded as an effort to defeat the laws of Congress. It will be interpreted by the unreconstructed element in the South—those who did all they could to break up this Government by arms, and now wish to be the only element consulted as to the method of restoring order—as a triumph. It will embodden them to renewed opposition to the will of the loyal masses, beheving that they have the Executive with them.

The services of General Thomas in battling for the Union entitle him to some consideration. He has repeatedly entered his protest against being assigned to either of the five Military Districts, and especially to being assigned to relieve General Sheridan.

Sheridan.

General Hancock ought not to be removed from where he is. His department is a complicated one, which will take a new commander some time to become acquainted with.

come acquainted with.

There are military reasons, pecuniary reasons, and, above all, patrictic reasons, why this order should not be insisted on.

I beg to refer to a letter, marked private, which I wrote to the President when first consulted on the subject of the change in the War Department. It bears upon the subject of this removal, and I had hoped would have prevented it.

I have the honor to be, with great respect, your obedient servant.

General United States Army and Secretary of War ad interim.

EXECUTIVE MANSION,
WASHINGTON, D. C., August 19, 1867.

GENERAL—I have received your communication of the 17th inst., and thank you for the promptness with which you have submitted your views respecting the assignments directed in my order of hat date. When I stated, in my unofficial note of the 17th, that I should be pleased to hear any suggestions you might deem necessary upon the subject, it was not my intention to ask from you a formal report, but rather to invite a verbal statement of any reasons affecting the public interests which, in your opinion, would render the order inexpedient. Inasmuch, however, as you have embodied your suggestions in a written communication, it is proper that I should make some reply. You earnestly urge that the order be not insisted on, remarking that "it is unmistakably the expressed wish of the country that General Sheridan should not be removed from his present command." While I am cognizant of the efforts that have been made to retain General Sheridan in command of the Fifth Military District, I am not GERERAL-I have received your communicati command of the Fifth Military District, I am not aware that the question has ever been submitted to the people themselves for determination. It certainly would be unjust to the army to assume that, in the opinion of the nation, he alone is capable of commanding the States of Louisians capable of commanding the States of Louisians and Texas, and that, were he for any cause removed, no other General in the military service of the United States would be competent to fill his place. General Thomas, whom I have designated as his successor, is well known to the country. Having won high and honorable distriction in the field, he has since, in the execution of the responsible duties of a department commander, exhibited great ability, sound discretion and sterling patriotism. He has not failed, under the most trying circumstances to enforce the laws, to preserve peace and cr has not failed, under the most trying circumstances, to enforce the laws, to preserve peace and order, to encourage the restoration of civil authority, and to promote, as far as possible, a spirit of reconciliation. His administration of the Department of the Cumberland will certainly compare most favorably with that of Gen. Sheridan in the F.th Military District. There affairs appear to be in a disturbed condition, and a bitter spirit of antagonism seems to have resulted from General Sheridan's management. He has rendered himself exceedingly obnoxious by the manner in which he has exercised even the powers conferred by Congress, and still more so by a resort to authority not granted by law nor necessary to its faithful and efficient execution. His rule has, in fact, been one of absolute necessary to its faithful and emcent electron.

His rule has, in fact, been one of absolute tyranny, without reference to the principles of our Government or the nature of our free institutions. The state of affairs which has rejustified in the state of affairs which has rejusted the serious properties. of our Government or the nature of our free institutions. The state of affairs which has resulted from the course he has pursued has seriously interfered with a harmonious, satisfactory and speedy execution of the acts of Congress, and is alone sufficient to justify a change. His removal, therefore, cannot "be regarded as an effort to deteat the lawslof Congress "for the object is to facilitate their execution, through an officer who has never failed to obey the statutes of the land, and to exact, within his jurisdiction, a like obedience from others. It cannot "be interpreted, by the unreconstructed element in the South—those who did all they could to break up this Government by arms, and now wish to be the only element consulted as to the method of restoring order—as a triumph;" for, as intelligent men, they must know that the mere change of military commanders cannot alter the law, and that Gen. Thomas will be as much bound by its requirements as Gen. Sheridan. It cannot embolden them to renewed opposition to the will of the loyal masses, believing that they have the Executive with them;" for they are perfectly familiar with the antecedents of the President, and know that he has not obstructed the faithful execution of any Act of Congress.

No one, as you are aware, has a higher appreciation than myself of the services of General Thomas, and no one would be less inclined to assign him to a command not entirely to his wishes. Knowing him as I do, I cannot think that he will hesistate for a moment to obey any order having in the desiration of the less than the control of the less than the control of the less than the control of the law and the cannot alter the mere change of military commanders cannot al complicated one, I feel confident that, under the guidance and instructions of General Sherman, General Sheridan will soon become familiar with its necessities, and will avail himself of the opportunity afforded by the Indian troubles for the display of the energy, enterprise and daring which gave him so enviable a reputation during our recent civil struggle.

In assuming that it is the express wish of the people that General Sheridan should not be removed from his present command, you remark that "this is a Republic where the will of the people is the law of the land," and "beg that their voice may be heard." Thus is indeed a Republic, based, however, upon a written Constitution. That Constitution is the combined and expressed will of the people, and their voice is law when reflected in the manner which that in strument prescribes. While one of its provisions makes the President Commander-in-Chief of the army and navy, another requires that "he shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed." Believing that a change in the command of the Fifth Milhtary District is absolutely necessary for a faithful execution of the law. I have issued the order which is the subject of this correspondence, and in thus exercising a power that inheres in the Executive, under the Constitution, as Commander-in-Chief of the military and naval forces, I and discharging a duty required of me by the will of the pation as formerly declared in the supreme under the Constitution, as Commanderin-Chief of the military and naval forces, I am discharging a duty required of me by the will of the nation, as formerly declared in the supreme law of the land. By his oath the Executive is solemnly bound, "to the best of his ability, to preserve, protect and defend the Constitution," and although in times of great exettement it may be lost to public view, it is his duty, without regard to the consequences to himself, to hold sacred and to enforce any and all of its provisions.

Any other course would lead to the destruction of the Republic; for the Constitution once abolished, there would be no Congress for the exercise of legislative powers, no Executive to see that the laws are faithfully executed, no judiciary to afford to the citizen protection for life, limb and property. Usurpasion would inevitably follow, and a despotism be fixed upon the people in violation of their combined and expressed will.

In conclusion, I fail to perceive any "military,"
"pecuniary" or "patriotic reasons" why this order should not be carried into effect. You will remember that in the first instance I did not consider General Sheridan the most suitable officer for the command of the Fifth Military District. Time has strengthened my convictions upon this point, and has led me to the conclusion that patriotic considerations demand that he should be superseded by an officer who, while he will faithfully execute the law, will at the same time give more general satisfaction to the whole people, white and black, North and South,

I am, General, very respectfully yours,

NEW OR LEANS, August 24.—Corron—The demand to-day has been quite restricted, being confined to a few parties whose aggregate business footed up barely 150 bales, intended principally for the completion of previously unexecuted orders. Owing to the reduced stock the offering supply was necessarily light; and as factors, who exposed their lists, steadily adhered to previous requirements, there was little inducement for buyers to come forward, since their orders were predicated on figures %alc & b below holders' views. THE UNDERSIGNED, MEMBERS OF THE FIRM OF A KRAUSHAAR & OO., are practical Plano makers and as such have had a large experience in connection with some of the best Establishments in this country and Europe. Their I hands are made not merely for them, but by them, as dunder their immediate personal supervision, and they allow no instruments to leave their factory and hass into the hands of their patrons, unless tops have a power, evenness, firmness and roundness of tone, an elasticity of touch—without which no instrument ought to be satisfactory to the public—as well a that durability in construction, which enables it to remain in the and to withstand sudden changes of temperature and exposure to extreme nest and cold, which are sometimes unavoidable.

They will at all times be happy to see the profession and the public at their Wavercolms, and invite comparison between their own Planos and those of any other manufactory.

LIVER COMPLAINT AND DYSPEPSIA.

It is estimated that seven-tenths of all adult aliments proceed from a deceased and torpid liver. The biliary secretions of the liver overflowing into the stomach poison the entire system and exhibit the above symptoms. After long research, we are able to present the most remarkable cure for these horrid nightmare diseases, the world has ever produced. Within one year over six hundred and forty thousand persons have taken the Plankatton Byffers, and not an instance of complaint has come to our knowledge!

It is a most effectual tonic and agreeable stimulan suited to all conditions of life.

The reports that it relies upon mineral substances for its scrive properties, are wholly faise. For the satisfaction of the public, and that patients may consulted the physicians, we append a list of its components.

CALIMALA BARE.—Colobrated for over two hundred years in the treatment of Fever and Ague, Dyspepsia, Weakness, etc. It was introduced into Enrope by the Countess, wife of the Vicercy of Peru, in 1640, and afterwards sold by the Jesuits for the common price of its own weight in silver, under the name of Jesuit's Powder, and was finally made public by Louis XVI, King of France. Humbold makes especial reference to its febrituge qualities during his South American travels.

CARGABULLE BARE—For distribuse, colic and diseases of the stomach and bowels.

DARDELION.—For inflammation of the loins and dropical affections.

CHAMMILE FLOWERS—For enfeebled digestion.

CHAMMILE FLOWERS—For enfeebled digestion.

LAVENDER FLOWERS—Aromatic, stimulant and tonio—highly invigorating in nervous debility.

WINTERGREEN—For scrotule, rhoumatism, etc. WINTERGREEK—For scrottlis, rheumatism, etc.
ANIER—An aromatic carminative; creating fiesh, muscle and milk; much used by mothers nursing.
Also, clove-buds, orange, carraway, coriander, anakecot, etc.

I consider Chickering & Sons' Pianes superior to any in the world.

They are unrivalled for their singing qualities and for the harmonious roundness of their tone. There is a perfect homogeneity throughout all the registers. The upper notes are remarkable for a cleanness and purity which I do not find in any other instrument, while the base is distinguished for power without harshness, and for a magnificent sonority.
