Legend of the Rhine-Bran New.

The castle was grand, and the lady fair,
And a knight of the good old time was there,
Where the Rhine flowed on to the sea. The knight looked up, and the lady down; His brow wore a smile, and hers a frown. But the Rhine flowed on to the sea.

Then a heart quake shivered his coat of mail, White the lady's cheeks grew a lovely pale, And the Rhine flowed on to the sea. And a sigh from under his vizor gushed, And the lady looked up and down and blushed, While the Rhine flowed on to the sea.

Then he fell on his knee;—he must needs confess;— Would she wed? She would: she whispered "yes," And still flowed the Rhine to the sea.

And the knight was brave, and the lady fair, And they lived in the grand old castle there, While the Rhine flowed on to the sea.

And there, as I learn from some books of mine, Still flows the flood of the rolling Rhine, As steadily on to the sea.

And ladies may blush, and knights tray sweet, But there it will be in a hundred year, Still flowing on to the sea.

Report of the Special Committee.

The following is the Report of the Special Committee on Retrenchment appointed by City Council referred to in our local column: The Committee of the City Council of Charles-ton to whom was referred the following preamble and resolution, adopted at a meeting of that body ton to whom was referred the including preambor and resolution, adopted at a meeting of that body held on the 14th inst., to-wit:

"Whereas, it is highly important and imperative upon Council to reduce the expenditures of the city so as they will not exceed the receipts,

"Be it Resolved, That a Special Committee of five be appointed by his Honor the Mayor to report to Council, at their earliest convenience, how and in what manner such reductions can be made"—
Beg leave respectfully to report that they have given the subject referred to them the mature deliberation which its importance suggested, and as the result of their conferences, submit the accompanying bill and recommendation. In so doing, however, the Committee deem it proper to say, in justification of the conclusions at which they have arrived, that they have been actuated by a sincere desire, not only to save the city, but to do justice to those who will be affected by their report. They fully comprehend the fact that very many of these are gentlemen of the highest character, and have suffered so seriously by the late calamitous war that a reduction of income will be of serious prejudice to themselves and families. It is, however, too patent to every one interested in the welfare of the city that the expenses of the city government must be materially reduced. They are now so large that it is impracticable to meet them and pay the interest which quarterly accrues on the city funded debt; and it is by reason of this that the securities of the city (the validity of which is indisputable) are selling at a figure which is so low as to make them available for scarcely any purpose.

If under the present system of taxation, or a system which will produce a revenue equal to that now realized, it is impossible to pay both the interest on the debt and the current expenses, it is incumbent on Counil, as your Committee believe, to curtail the expenses, so as to reduce the expenditures within the income; for our people, in their present impoverished condition, are taxed already to their utmost capacity. It is of the greatest contailly. The city is to regain its former prosperity, if at all, by the increase of its population and the revival of its trade; and to realize both population and trade, the maintenance unact of its credit and fair name is requisite. Your Committee believes, after a careful survey of the subject, that if the propositions embraced in the bill and recommendation, are adopted, the saving of the Treasury will accommend the theory of the city; in assume that no embarrassments will arase in the conduct of any department of the city; in such that no embarrassments will arase in the conduct of any department of the city; in such that no embarrassments will arase in the conduct of any department of the city; in such that the prices and cost of living are far greater than when the offices were established and the salaries fixed, your Committee bave only to say that all classes of our citizons have found it requisite to accommendast themselves the poverty of the countey. City Registrar.—We recommend that the salary be reduced to $1500 per annum.

Fire Department.—We would state, in calling your attention to this Department, that the large amount charged thereto during the past year arose from the fact that the end of the late war found this organization almost entirely without hose and other appurtenances necessary for the safety of the city. Another year this will be avoided, and at least $20,000 will be saved the city in this Department.

City Police.—Your Committee propose material r ductions in this department of the city, both as to officers and men—the present organization being entirely too costly and extensive. Formerly, owing to the peculiar police arrangements which it was necessary to maintain, police in large numbers were needed as a patrol for the streets at night, but now no reason exists for such patrol. Such a police force should be kept up at the Lower and Upper Guard Houses, as to suffice for duty in cases of riot, alarm, or emergency; and it is believed that this can be done by the retention of a much smaller number of officers and men than are now in the employ of the city. We recommend one Captain, four Lieutenants, two Orderly Sergeants, ten Sergeants, one hundred Privates, with the following salaries:

TESTIMONIAL
SHEFFIELD SCIENTIFIC SCHOOL,
ENGINEERING DEPARTMENT,
YALE COLLEGE, November 16, 1866.

I have always recommended the Faber Polygrade Lead Pencils as the only pencils fitted for both ornamental and mathematical drawing; but, after a thorough trial of the American Polygrade Lead Pencils, manufactured by the American Lead Pencil Company, New York, I find them superior to any pencil in use, even to the Faber or the old English Cumberland Lead Pencil, being a superior pencil for sketching, ornamental and mechanical drawing, and all the ordinary uses of a lead pencil.

These pencils are very finely graded and have a very snooth lead; even the softest pencils hold the point well; they are all that can be desired in a pencil. It gives me great pleasure to be able to assure Americans that they will no longer be compelled to depend upon Germany or any other foreign market for pencils.

SECOND—In case of a horse falling, he may be loosed from the carriage in one second, without the driver leaving his seat. It is so simple in its operation that a child can work it.

March 30 PHILADELPHIA UNIVERSITY MEDICINE AND SURGERY.

THE PHILADELPHIA UNIVERSITY OF MEDICINE AND SURGERY was organized in 1848. Chartered by the Legislature, February 26, 1863. Name changed by a legislature enactment to the Eelectic hedical College, of Philadelphia, in 1860. In 1863 it purchased the Pennsylvania Medical College, established in 1342, and the Philadelphia Medical College, which had previously been merged into the Pennsylvania Medical College. Su 1864 it purchased the Penn Medical University. The Trustees of the separate schools united, peditioned and obtained a special Act of the Legislature, consolidating these institutions and chasging their names to that of the Philadelphia University of Medicine and Surgery, March 15, 1865. All these various Acts are published in the statutes of Pennsylvania. The cost of the uniding and museum was over one hundred thousand dollars. It will be observed that the University, as now organized, is the legal representative of the four Medical Colleges that it has absorbed. It is a liberal school of medicine, confined to no dogma, nor attached to any medical cliques, but embraces in its teaching everything of value to the profession.

Sextions.—It has two full sessions each year, commence.

but embraces in its teaching everything.

Sexions.—It has two full sessions each year commencing on the let of October, and continuing until the let of January, as its first session, and from the let of January to the let of April, as its second; the two constituting one full course of lectures. It has also a summer session, commencing the let April and continuing until Angust, for the preparatory branches, such as Latin, Greek, Mathematics, Botany, Zoology, Chemistry, Anatomy Physiology, etc.

commencing the 1st April and continuing until August, for the preparatory branches, such as Latin, Greek, Mathematics, Botany, Zoology, Chemistry, Anatomy Physiology, etc.

Tickets.—Tickets to the full course of lectures $120, or $60 for each session. For the summer or preparatory course $25. Graudating tee $30. To sid young men of moderate means, the University has issued five hundred scholarships, which are sold to first-course students for $75, and to second-course students and clergymen for $50, each constituting the holder a life member, with the perpetual privileges of the lectures, and all the teachings of the school. The only additional tees are a; early dissecting and matriculating tacket, each of which is $5.

The Advantages of Scholarships.—The student holding a scholarship can enter the College at any time during the year, attend as long as he chooses, and re-enter the institution as frequently as do.ired.

It requires no previous reading or study to enter the University on scholarships, hence, all private tuition fees are saved.

Students, by holding scholarships, can prosecute other business a part of the time.

The candidate for graduation can present himself at any time, and receive his degree as soon as qualified.

In case a strucent should hold a scholarship and not be able to attend lectures, it can be transferred to another, thus preventing any loss.

Parents, guardians or friends of students wishing to purchase scholarship for them a year or more before their attendance at the University, can secure them by advancing one-half the price and paying the balance when the student enters. Physicians and benevolent men can bestow great benefit upon poor young men by presenting them a scholarship, and thus emabling them to otain an honorable profession.

The Faculty embraces seventeen eminent physicians and surgeons. The University has associated with it a large hospital clinic, where every form of medical and surgical disease is operated on and treated in the presence of the class.
