-Admiral Tegethoff paid, before quitting the city of Mexico, all the claims on the late Emperor Maximilian, comprising those which were notoriously overcharged. -Hon. Alexander H. Stephens, of Georgia writes from Philadelphia that his physical conatitution is very feeble and that he is hardly able at times to sit up in bed. _The Mobile Advertiser suggests that Dickens' reason for not attending church here is because he is not interested in American politics. -Mrs. Lincoln's wardrobe is actually to be made a show, twenty-five cents admission, a very moderate price, indeed, as Mr. Brady announces. -The Newbern (N. C.) Herald of the 4th inst. says: "We are credibly informed that in our city at least three persons have died from starvation within the last few days." -The Round Table says: "No man, not even General Grant, can prove a successful candidate, whose opinions on the subject of negro suffrage are not explicitly avowed and definitely understood." -The Selma (Ala.) Times states that it is informed on good authority that large landholders in Greene C. anty are offering to give the use of their plantations for next year to any one that will agree to pay the taxes on

-At Toledo, Ohio, there are two rival sporting clubs, and the end of a deer's tail is accepted as proof of the hunters' capture of the animal. One of the members has recently been detected in scalping the tails of dead deers lying in the Toledo market.

-The Winchester (Va.) News understands that several wealthy gentlemen are negotiating for the purchase of a tract of land in the vicini ty of that town, with the purpose of settling upon it an Irish colony of some fifty or sixty well known jewellers, have been swindled out of jewelry worth $2146 by means of a fraudulent check imposed upon them with great ingenuity by two men. One of them, named Macdonald, has been arrested.

-The Grand Army of the Republic, in Washington, has declared for Grant, and wants a soldiers' and sailors' convention to anticipate the regular Republicans in nominating him. A Grant club, with half its officers colored, has also been formed there.

-An unbroken reilway communication now exists between New York and the base of the Rocky Mountains, a distance of over two thousand miles. A temporary railway bridge, re-Omaha, was the last link of this line constructed.

-A Washington correspondent states that General Grant quietly suggested to General Howard that he would do well to dismiss every officer of the Freedmen's Bureau who has procured his own nomination for a civil position in the South. The order has been issued.

-It is announced by a Wisconsin paper that it will hereafter be printed wholly at home. It has been its custom heretofore to have one side printed at Milwaukee, and the sheets sent to its office to receive the other impression. This curious method is much in use in England and France.

-Among the arrivals at the dead letter office recently, was a letter containing a diamond ring, valued at fifteen hundred dollars. It was sent to New York from England, but, not being inquired for, of course came to the dead letter office. Fortunately the lady subscribed her full name, and it has been returned to her.

-Dr. Ambler, of Fauquier County, Va., has been furnished with one thousand sheep by a citizen of New York, to be grazed on the Doctor's farm for a term of years, and then restored to the owner, or the like number accounted for. The parties, in the meantime, divide equally between themselves the wool and the increase of the flock. -Colfax has yet some idea of obtaining the second place on the Grant ticket. There is an objection that both are Western men, and some of the journals of that section are so modest as to suggest the impropriety of monopolizing the ticket. But Colfax is willing to be called a and July 1 respectively, receiving in pay-New Yorker, of which State he is a native, provided he can thus get on behind Grant. -A dispatch from New York announces pos itively that the Herald has been offered for sale within a day or two, and that certain partners in the Tribune Association are negotiating for the purchase. The price is understood to be $1,000,000, exclusive of the new building, but including the four new presses, which cost $400,000. This sale is not on account of the trouble with the Associated Press. but, if rumor can be believed, is caused by certain family perplexities of the senior editor, which have for some time been the subject of -The recent discovery of some old family papers in New York is likely to make some stir penalty of forfeiture of charter and the in the social circles of that city. It seems that in altering a building in a locality once more fashionable than now, some letters and other manuscripts, which had been secreted about thirty years ago, between a floor and ceiling below it, were found, and that they have fallen into the hands of persons willing to make a sinister use of them; and as the legitimacy of several individuals as well as the possession of considerable property is said to be involved in the matter, the complication has become very painful and interesting. -The Central Executive Committee of the the Constitutional Union party in Missouri has issued an address, calling a convention at Jack-tion, consultation and action. The address recites the terrible evils which have fallen upon the Southern States through the unwise legislation of Congress, describes the demoralization of industry, the destruction of civil order and the inauguration of famine. It protests against the reduction of those States to mere African provinces, where barbarous ignorance blindly rules, directed by partisan adventurers and stimulated by the worst passions of men, and where the governing population is a dead weight, unable to contribute a dollar to the public treasury. The address concludes with a reference to the recent elections, and an urgent appeal to the people of Missouri to unite in the hope of re-establishing peace, civil order and prosperity to their State under differ ent political rule.

CHARLESTON.

THURSDAY MORNING, JANUARY 9, 1868.

An Eye to Business."

Real estate is low in the South, and, according to the New York "Herald," now is the time for the gentle swains of New England to secure farms which will rapidly rise in value and win for them a bouncing profit. The "Herald" says that war of races cannot destroy these farms which are "going" at fifty cents an acre; and that prosperity will certainly return to the South within two years. "In such investments there is no risk, for landed property is certain to increase in value on the admission of the States, even on a negro basis." The "Herald" evidently remembers the advice of SAM WELLER always to "keep an eye to business;" but it is unreasonably sanguine when it assumes that Northern capitalists will risk their money in the fields that, in two seasons, have ruined so many Southerners. When the negro question is settled and reconstruction is over, lands will still be cheap, and then the "Herald" may keep an eye to business with some hope of success. But while war is brooding and peace seems far off, the young and industrious New Englander will be deaf to the voice of even the unapproachable Bennett.

The Pacific Kaliraad.

This railroad has been entrusted to two companies, and the undertaking will be completed more rapidly than was at first expected.

The Union Pacific Railroad, building the eastern half, have pushed their track to the slopes of the Rocky Mountain ranges, having built about five hundred miles in less than two years. The Central Pacific Railroad, on the western end, have carried their track across California and over the Sierra Nevada into the Salt Lake Basin. This is included in one hundred and fifty miles, but it is more than equivalent to all that has been done on the eastern section The crossing is made at an elevation of seven thousand feet, and in a few days trains may pass from the wharves of Sacramento to the mines of Nevada.

Already the Pacific Railroad is a financial success. On the western half the business with the best roads in the country, and so profitable as to be almost incredible. Traffic will increase as the lines are laid, and no estimate can well be formed of the immense business which will pour over the road as upon as it is completed from ocean posed for the solution of the financial enigma, that few persons have any clear idea of the merits or peculiarities of each particular scheme; and, as the discussion of our monetary prospects is likely to occupy a large share of the attention of Congress during the present session, it will be useful cently rected across the Missouri river at to give a synopsis of the most important propositions which have come under our bservation.

THE HON. R. J. WALKER proposes: The issue of a foreign loan for $250,000,000 at six per cent., payable at the foreign capitals at fixed rates of exchange; a constant reduction of the debt by small but increasing annual instalments until the whole is paid; a resumption of specie payments upon the completion of the foreign loan; a reduction in the national expenditures, exclusive of interest, to not exceeding $100,-000,000 a year, so as to admit of a decrease in taxation; a consequent revision of the tariff so as to go back to the system of 1846, an abolition of all excise duties but those on malt and spirituous liquors, wines and tobacco, an additional tax upon the national banks of one half of their net profits above seven per cent.; a permission to all persons or corporations to establish banks of which the reserves should be specie and not legal

SENATOR MORRILL, of Vermont, proposes To pay, on and after July 4, 1869, in coin all legal tender notes presented for payment: to sell all coin in the Treasury exceeding $75,000,000,-after paying interes falling due on January 1 and July 1 in each venr,-within thirty days after January ment therefor United States, national bank or compound interest notes, or three percent. certificates; to require all national banks having on hand les: than twenty per cent. in specie of their respective capitals, hereafter and until July 1, 1869, to keep and hold in coin all interest received by them on United States bonds deposited by them with the Treasurer of the United States, and that all banks shall redeem in coin on demand, on and after July 4, 1869, all their currency of the denomination of five dollars and under, and in coin or legal tenders all notes of higher denominations, under authorization of new national banks with an equal amount of capital to be located in such States as have less than their true proportion of the whole amount authorized by

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, the leading journal of the West, suggests: A repeal of the act authorizing the monthly cancelment of $4,000,000 of legal tenders; a conversion at will of greenbacks into ten-forty bonds; a conversion at will, at par, of any class of bonds into greenbacks; an authorization to purchase five-twenties at their market price son on the 15th instant for thorough organiza- and to issue ten-forties in the place of greenbacks offered for exchange, also to give on demand ten-forties in exchange for fivetwenties; to apply the surplus revenue each month to the purchase of ten-forty bonds at the market price; to tax the national banks 24 per cent. per annum in gold to be deducted from the interest on the bonds deposited by them for the redemption of their notes, banks which refuse to pay the tax to be made to surrender their circulation, the same to be given to new banks in States which have not their pro rata of banking capital.

MR. VAN BUREN proposes : To forbid any contraction or inflation and the sale of gold; to suspend the payment of gold interest on the debt for two years, paying seven and three-tenths in paper instead of six per cent, in coin and six and a quarter in paper instead of five in coin; to allow one half of all duties at the customhouse to be paid in greenbacks or national bank notes at par. This, it is claimed, would leave a clear income of $60,000,000 to $90,000,000 in gold. or a reserve at the end of two years of from $200,000,000 to $260,000,000, with which the redemption of the legal tenders could be maintained. THE FINANCE COMMITTEE OF THE SENATE, through its chairman, Mr. SHERMAN, proposes: To authorize the issue of new bonds payable, interest and principal, in coin, having forty years to run, but redeemable at pleasure after ten years, and bearing interest at six per cent., to an amount sufficient to take up and cover all existing securities of the United States; to exempt these new bonds from all taxation, in consideration of which the Treasurer of the United States to reserve one-sixth of the interest which shall form a special fund, one-half to be distributed among the States according to their population, and the remainder to be applied to the payment of the national debt; to appropriate yearly the amount necessary for the payment of the interest and maturing debt, and one-half of the before-mentioned tax, to the reduction of the public debt; to authorize the exchange of five-twenty bonds, at option, after five years from their date, for the new consolidated bonds; to authorize the conversion of legal tenders into bonds, to authorize the holders of five-twenties to demand their redemption in legal tenders unless the whole amount of United States notes then outstanding shall be equal to $400,000,000; to authorize the issue of new bonds payable in coin in Frankfort or London at a fixed exchange, bearing interest at four-and-ahalf per cent., running forty years and releemable after twenty years, to an amount not exceeding $500,000,000 to be exchanged for five-twenties or sold at par.

SENATOR HENDERSON, of Missouri, as a substitute for the foregoing, proposes: To consolidate the national debt in a long loan at 31 per cent., payable in gold, and exempt from all taxation; to require that all national banks, now having bonds filed with the Treasu' secure circulation, shall substitute for them the new bonds or have their circulation withdrawn; to prohibit the giving of more than seventy-five per cent. of hands deposited to any bank as circula-tion; to make banking as tree as any other business; to provide for the gradual with drawal of greenbacks so as to enable the banks to supply themselves with coin preparatory to the resumption of specie payments; to constitute a financial board to determine the mode, manner and time of withdrawing the greenbacks, and with power, in case of great commercial distress or panic to supply the banks, on deposit of bonds as collaterals, with legal tenders to an amount not exceeding fifty millions; to remove internal taxes from all articles of manufacture except tobacco and whiskey; to continue the income and stamp taxes, license taxes, the tax on railroad and steamboat receipts and some others, and in a large measure, to abandon the present expensive system of tax collection. These are the principal financial plans now before the country, and their perusal will enable an understanding of any modified or new scheme that may be discussed and carried. Upon the disposition to be made of the national debt will mainly depend the coming Presidential election, and repudiation or non-repudiation, expansion or contraction, will be as important elements in the contest as the troubled question of Southern reconstruction.
