THE GALAXY for March, is an unusually interesting number. Among the articles is "A Deserted Plantation," a war-time sketch, by Mr. E. B. Seabrook, of Charleston. In Lippincott's Magazine for March, Mr. W. Gilmore Simms tells the old "Story of Chastelard," and gives it new interest. Mr. Charles Astor Bristed brings to light two Alsatian novelists, Erckmann and Chartrain, whose names have been scarcely heard of here, but whose productions have been widely read and greatly enjoyed in their English disguise.

They briefly acknowledged the compliment paid them, and the general business of the evening was resumed. The following are the officers elected to serve Union, heads the list. He has more solidity

MUNICIPAL REGULATIONS .- Our new Mayor has officially announced that the police are to be sustained and that he will be severe in his sentences in all cases of esisting their authority. The large fines imposed on Saturday were not so much for the offences committed against city regulations, but because the parties had resisted the police. Charleston is at present more orderly and quiet than Northern cities, and the small force of policemen on duty are amply sufficient to preserve this blessed state of things if their authority is sustained. General Burns has signified his intention to follow that course, and offenders had better consider their ways and act in accordance to law or they will assuredly come to grief.

The General warned inebriates that their first offence under his administration was treated with the light fine of five dollars, but if they insisted in resting their heads upon a lap of earth, or, in other words, making their beds in the street, he would organize a chain gang for their benefit. "A new broom sweeps clean," and if the Mayor is as good as his word the offenders will speedily be swept into good behavior or a prison.

A YACHT CLUB TO BE ORGANIZED .- Since the close of the war a lively interest has sprung up in the sport of yachting which has become a popular amusement with many of our citizens. During the past season a number of trials of speed have been made, and Charleston can already boast a respectable flotilla, though there is little uniformity in the size or tonnage of the vessels. It is now proposed to form a regular ciub, to be known as the "Charleston | boy from the Colored Orphan Asylum, but his Yacht Club," whose meetings will be held at early training must have been defective, as his the old Jockey Club Rooms, over Dayton's Restaurant. At it it is proposed to have but a small entrance for and subscription. Hereafter these matters can be arranged to suit the views of the members. The first meeting has been called for Thursday ev, ming, at Dayton's Restaurant. We have now the Kate, Rose, Maggie Mitchell, Eleanor and others, besides one or two pleasure yachts that a building. If the owners of these boats enter into the scheme, a fine club can be formed The rules of the New York Yacht Club, with some slight modifications, could be adopted, and the trials of speed be hereafter made on which it was held. The evening was consumed in discussing the propriety of making formal nominations at the present time, and whether the convention had the authority in its representative capacity to do so. Without arriving at any conclusion in the matter, the meeting broke up in a squabble. It is clearly the intention of the colored people, however, to be represented on the floor of Congress, in the judiciary department and legislature-wherever, indeed, there is an opportunity to enjoy honor or greenbacks.

That Cardoza, Cain, Beverly Nash, Elliot, DeLarge, Langley, or others of that ilk will remain in the back ground in the grand rush C. Righter, or his collector, Mr. Edwin S. for the spoils of office, is not in the least probable. J. J. In the Prestyterian claring that any candidate who runs on a ticket not nominated or endorsed by the convention, no matter how good a Radical he may be, will be read out of his party. If this expedient should succeed, it will give the control of the State to those who are "in the ring," and fect success. Professors Holmes and Gibbes crowd out others whose claims politically are quite as strong and legitimate as the regular interesting. Few persons are in the practice nominees. The leaders of the convention are evidently nervous about attempting the experiment of electing a black man to Congress over a white man. Speaking of Congressional offices, it is believed that if six members are electedfour from the several districts and two at large -they will be admitted by Congress.

The prominent names for United States Senators, have already appeared in THE NEWS, to wit:

J. M. Rutland, B. F. Whittemore, and Dr. A. G. Mackey. Mr. Whittemore may, however, accept a nomination for the First Congressiona District, and retire in favor of Mr. Rutland, and Mr. Whittemore. As both are good talkers, the wire pulling and wool gathering in the 1st District will be terrific.

D. T. CORBIN, very lively kettle of fish. Pillsbury is said to be too slow and phlegmatic for an active canvass, and C. C. Bowen cannot take the test oath. Therefore, unless this disability is removed, the race will lie between Epping and Chamberlain. It is, however, contemplated to make the latter the Attorney-General of the State, if he will accept the office, which is not probable while there is a ghostly chance of being elected to Congress.

In the Third Congressional District B. Odell Duncan, of Newberry, is the only name we have heard announced. If nominated he will doubtless be elected without much opposition.

In the Fourth Congressional District there is a host of aspirants, but James H. Goss, of f character about him than any of the others named, and more of this world's goods to maintain the position of representative.

The amount of button-holeing, wire-pulling, log-rolling, dinner-cating, and whiskey-drinking resorted to as means to secure the ends in view is perfectly wonderful, and these things seem to come as naturally to the political fledglings as to the full-picked gander. Buncombe stock is evidently up, and speculators are wild with excitement.

FATHER RYAN AS AN EDITOR.—We see by our Augusta (Ga.) exchanges that a new paper, to be called The Banner of the South, to be devoted to religion, literature and art, is to be published weekly, in that city, commencing on the first of March, to be edited by the Rev. A. J. Ryan, the distinguished Southern poet. Terms three dollars per annum. We believe the announcement will be welcomed throughout the South, for if one writer has endeared himself more than another to our stricken people, it is Fat Ryan. The new enterprise has our cordial good wishes for its success.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY .- This anniversary was celebrated in a very quiet manner on Saturday. Flags were raised on the public buildings, and at noon the old Revolutionary salute of thirteen guns was fired by the battery on the Citadel Green and at the forts in the harbor. At the government offices business was suspended and the occasion observed as a holiday, but the stores and banks remained open as usual. In the evening the Washington Light Infantry Charitable Association, the Washington Fire Engine Company and the South Carolina Friendly Society met and celebrated their anniversaries. The Cincinnati and other societies also met in the evening, but there were no suppers given. The tightness of the times precluded any demonstrations of this description, and the different organizations wisely determined to wait until better days should dawn, or the flush times of the past return, before they indulged in any unnecessary expense.

ARREST OF THIEVES .- Charles Wood, a colored boy, about fourteen years of age, was arrested by the detectives for stealing twentyeight dollars from James (.adsden, colored, No. 25 Spring-street. Gadsden had taken the first move was to rob his benefactor.

THE UNITED STATES MARSHAL FOR THE DIS-TRICT OF SOUTH CAROLINA .- In a former issue we published the fact that Dr. Thomas Sim, a Scotchman and ex-United States Surgeon, had been nominated by the President to supersede Mr. J. P. M. Epping, the present United States Marshal in this State. Several days have elapsed, the Senate has not acted upon the nomination, and meanwhile, we have obtained copies of certain interesting documents which sufficiently show one of the causes that have been at work to effect the proposed change, together with the counter-efforts by the friends of Mr. Epping to keep him in his present posi-

Personally appeared J. P. M. Epping, United
being duly sworn makes oath and says, that at the United States District Court at Greenville, S. C., for August term, 1867, Frank Arnim, G. R. Crump and W. B. Davidson were tried and convicted of violation of the United States Internal Revenue laws, and were sentenced by his Honor Judge Bryan, presiding, to pay flues and costs amounting to $12,400, or to pay fines and costs amounting to $12,400, or be imprisoned twelve months each. The jury having recommended the prisoners to mercy after the sentence, the defendants, through their counsel, Governor Perry, General Gary and General Esley, drew up a petition for a pardon, which was signed by the Judge and the jury. The District Attorney, at the request of the defendants' counsel, then stated in open court that although he had no direct power in the matter, he would recommend the Marshal to give the parties a little time to obtain the money, and that he would not press him (the Marshal) until January, 1868, to execute the sentence, if the parties would give good and sufficient security for their forthcoming at that time, or the payment of the fines ing at that time, or the payment of the fines and costs. This being assented to by his Honor Judge Bryan, the parties were tempora-Honor Judge Bryan, the parties were tempora-rily released by me, upon making a deposit of $400 to meet extraordinary and eventual ex-penses, such as the expenses of defendants' witnesses, their possible rearrest, or counsel fees, and upon having given notes, with good endorsers, for the fines and costs.

When the time of payment came, the parties produced a full and unconditional pardon from the President, although a partial pardon had only been recommended by the Judge and only been recommended by the Judge and jury.

A rule has subsequently been sued out against me and the defendants by the District Attorney, for the informer's share, holding that the President's pardon cannot, under the circumstances, relieve them from the same, and I have employed the Hon. C. H. Sunonton in my behalf, and the Hon. W. D. Porter has appeared for the defendants.

DANIEL HORLBECK,

The statement of the Marshal, relative to what was said by me in court at the time of the passing of the sentence in the case above referred to, is substantially correct. I said I U. S. District Attorney So. Ca.

The foregoing statement of Marshal Epping having been carefully read by me, so far as my recollection serves, I find it to me entirely faithful and correct.

GEO, S. BRYAN. U. S. Judge District South Car It will be inferred from the above that an effort was made by outside parties to show that Mr. Epping had improperly received the $400. The deposition and endorsements are of course a clear refutation of the charge. The following letters are from Governor Orr and Judge Bryan, and explain themselves: (COPY.) made to remove J. P. M. Epping from the posi-tion of United States Marshal for South Carolina.

I beg to say that Mr. E. has discharged his duties with great promptness and fidelity since his appointment. So far as I know, or have heard, he has given satisfaction to the court, and to the great majority of the members of the bar in this State in the performance of the duries of this office, and his removal, in view of these facts, would be unjust to him as a public officer.

CHARLESTON, S. C., January 25, 1868.

Dear Sir: It has come to my knowledge that there is a movement on foot to have Mr. J. P.

M. Epping removed from his office as Marshal of this district. From my sense of the value of this officer to the country, I could not be passive without dereliction of duty. For I should think it very difficult to procure a substitute, who would equal him in zeal, knowledge, officiency and devotion to the varied duties of his office. I regard Mr. Epping as a man of remarkable energy. I know him to be perfectly faithful. The machine he has to manage is now a very complicated one, requiring indefatigable industry, vigilance, a clear head, experience, large knowledge of the processes of the law and book-keeping; without these elements of character and acquisition, his branch of the service would fall into disorder and confusion. I will say, in the general, looking simply to the public service, and the intelligent, faithful, thorough administration of the duties of his office, that I take great comfort in having an officer upon whem I can so porfectly rely as chiefly responsible for the faithful and efficient administration of the faithful and efficient administration of the pustice of the country in this State. I feel it to be my duty to make this declaration.

I have the honor to remain, dear sir,
With the highest consideration,

With the highest consideration, Your very obedient servant,
Your very obedient servant,

Tradewell & Melton for defendants, The jury, which had been charged with this case since Tuesday. 11th, returned into court with the following verdict: We find that the detendant has not gone more than three hundred and fifty yards beyond the site of the present jail of Richland District. On the fifth and six counts, not guilty. The jury also stated that the defendant has gone beyond the site of Richland District jail as it was in 1828, but not beyond the limits of the district; but this was left to the discretion of the Judge. An appeal was taken by Messrs. Wilkinson & Gilchrist.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS AND COMMON PLEAS, HON. F. J. Moses Presiding .- The jury returned a verdict of five hundred dollars damages for the plaintiff in the case of Bernard Leddy vs. the City Railway Company. Leddy's claim was for five thousand dollars. The facts of the case are briefly as follows: Conductor Cohen's car was coming up Meeting-street, and when near the old theatre the horses came in contact with Dr. Jervey's buggy, which was crossing the track. The car horses were forced backwards so as to detach the swingle tree from its hook. This alarmed them and they dashed off, still keeping the track, and, when near the Pavilion Hotel, struck the arm of the windlass over the drain man-hole, which inflicted the injuries complained of by the plaintiff. The old saying that "corporations have no souls" doubtless had its full weight in governing the action of the jury. The company, we learn, will not appeal, but will abide by the verdict rendered.

Saturday being the last day of the term, the time was occupied in motions and matters of course. During the present term a large amount of legal business has been transacted. and many cases that have been on the dockets for years were either heard or stricken off by (Mrs. Watkins) is an every-day New York consent.

MAYOR'S COURT, SATURDAY, February 22. A few impetuous individuals anticipated Washington's Birthday, and began the celebration the night before. They were brought to the guardhouse rather demoralized by frequent libations in honor of the Father of his Country. The morning light brought them to their senses, and they were soon introduced to the Rhadamanthus who now controls the municipal reins. One of the drunkists deposited a V and left speedily, but his compatriot was forced to appear, and was informed that the streets of Charleston were not lodging places for drunken men, and if the offence was continued a chain gang would be established for their benefit. The Bachanalian departed, promising to sin no more.

Molly Cross is a female who delights in the ways of wickedness, and is an old practitioner at the bar. Molly was found sleeping without a blanket on the cold, cold ground, but the city Samaritans took her in, and she was caged and cared for until morning. The Mayor warned her of the evil consequences of a repetition of the offence, and with many protestations that she would "never do the likes of it again," she was permitted to bow herself out. A resident of the upper wards whose cowa had ventured to nibble the street flora, and were captured by the police, made a determined sortie and succeeded in rescuing the bovines from their custody. She was charged $5 for resisting the police, and notwithstanding her protests was forced to pay over the amount. The amateur fightist refused to go, and indulged in a style of bilingsate, that was not appreciated, and he was constrained to accept an invitation to visi; the guardhouse. General Burns examined the case carefully and fined the warrior $15 for resisting the polico.

PERSONAL.-Count Guy de Berlamont and Messrs. Morris Aubent and Georgius Nagelmackers, tourists from Belgium, are now on a visit to this city, to examine the points of historical interest. They are staying at the Mills House.

GENERAL D. E. SICKLES .- It is currently reported, on the authority of letters received in Charleston, that General Sickles is making strenuous efforts to induce Congress to replace him in his old position as commandant of this military district. He is now stumping the State of New Hampshire in behalf of the Republicans, and making "fair weather" with the people, and at any moment it may be expected that, having been a "martyr" to the policy of President Johnson, he will be sent back, not only as a justification to himself, but as a rebuke to the Chief Magistrate. P. S .- Since writing the above we learn that

Gen. S. has retired from the New Hampshire canvass on account of a lack of promptness on the part of the Republican State Committee in crossing his palm with the "sinews of war." THE HIDDEN HAND .- The theatre, on Saturday evening, was filled with a goodly audience, drawn thither by the announcement that one of Mrs. Southworth's famous New York Ledger stories, boiled down for dramatic representation, would be performed for the five hundredand-oneth time, with Mr. and Mrs. Watkins as the especial stars of the night. It is superfluous to say that the play was a success. Whatever these artists have under taken, during their brief stay in Charlestion. has afforded pleasure to the attendant public and, although contending with the drawbacks incident to a small stage and hastily improvised theatrical machinery, their ability and versatility have won for them whole brigades of friends, and an admiring row of reporters for a skirmish line. The "Hidden Hand" is one of your Bowery

Theatre 'hi, hi," sort of plays, which, at one moment, makes the exstatic tears crop outlike the perspiration on an ice-pitcher, and the next starts a cacchination that runs through the whole gamut of sound, from the incipient "te-he-he" to the full-born, sonorous "ha-ha ha." The plot of the drama is this: Capitola newsboy-one of those little gamins of the big city, who are ragged as a paper mill, and so sharp that they will skin a customer in three minutes, and so nicely, too, that he will never miss his hide until he comes to change his flannels. "Old Hurricane" is the nick-name of "Warfield" (Mr. Clifford), an old-time Virginia planter, who, accompanied by his servant 'Wool" (Mr. Watkins), is in search of a long lost little girl, who is an heiress. "Wool" is like his master, a type of "ole Virginny," and, it being his first trip to the Metropolis, he gets as proud as a mulatto in a colored congregation. All sorts of difficulties afflict him, and he finally brings up in the calaboose.

Capitola is also arrested on suspicion of stealing the planter's trunk, and likewise gets into the Recorder's Court. There old Hurricane hears the boy tell his story-how he is not a boy but a girl, born in Virginia, brought to New York by her old "mauma," who returns to Virginia to find some trace of the family. The old mauma dies, but, before shuffling off the coil, has an interview with old Hurricane waich puts him on the track. The story is told with a pathos that starts a copious sprinkle of brine in the audience, and the planter takes Capitols to his bosom. They hug industriously and the curtain goes down forever on the "hero of Rag Capitola is carried to Warfield's home; appears in the next scene as his ward, and looks like the emanation of a moon-lit cloud. She has the stubborness of a young mule, and old Hurricane gets into a regular cale with her every fifteen minutes; blows lik a porpoise, roars, funes, damares the furniture, and most "busts his biler" with wrath. The house PAINTS FOR FARMERS AND screams with laughter, and fat men get the stomach ache trying to hold in.

THE GRAFTON MINERAL PAINT COMPANY are now manufacturing the best, cheapest and most durable Paint in use; two coats, well put on, mixed with pure Linneed Oil, will last 10 or 15 years; it is of a light brown or beautiful chocolate color, and can be changed to green, lead, stone, drab, olive or creem, to suit the taste of the consumer. It is valuable for Houses, Barns, Fences, Carriage and Car-malers, Palls and Woodenware, Agricultural Implements, Canal Boats, Vessels and Ship's Bottoms, Canves, Metal and Shingle Roofs (it being fire and water proof), Floor Oil Cloths (one manufacturer having used 5000 bbls. the past year), and, as a paint for any purpose, is unsurpassed for body, durability, elasticity and adhesiveness. Price 86 per bbl. of 300 bbs, which will supply a farmer for years to come. Varranted in all cases as above. Send for a circular which gives full particulars. None genuine unless bran-led in a trade mark Grafton Mineral Paint.

HOLMES & CALDER, Agents,
December 13 fmw8m Meeting-street. Curious episodes of old Virginia life follow. Lenoir, the uncle of Capitola and murderer of her father, finds out her whereabouts and hires Black Donald, an outlaw, to abduct and murder his neice. Black Donald enters her chamber at midnight; but woman's wit foils the villain, and when he attempts to seize her, she touches a spring on the floor and he goes screewhere down bolow. So does the curtain. onald turns up in prison, and the day before his execution Capitols helps him out. Then al e takes refuge in an insane asylum during a rain storm, and there finds her mother confined as a lunatic; aids her mother to escape; and just at the critical time when something awful is to be done, when the audience holds their breath in expectation of a frightful denouement, in rush old Hurricane, Wool et id omne genus, rescue the heroine and knock the catast ophe in the head. Lenoir shoots himself, and his imaginary brains lie in horrible confusion all over the carpet in the next room. Capitola gets engaged to be married to a man after her own heart; old Hurricane goes off in We make especial note of this single perecstacies, and Wool behaves himself like overy other oh-be-joyful nigger should under the circumstances. So onds the play. formance because it is a fair type of the rational amusement which the Templetons are | BROWN'S TWISTED SHOVEL. striving just now to give to our people, and for which they deserve to be supported. They have as good, if not a better stock company than can be found in the majority of theatres out of the large cities, and are untiring in their efforts to please. Thus far we are glad to say that the engagement of Mr. and Mrs. Watkins | to all who have used them. has proven profitable and attractive, and their audience have gone away more than satisfied that in Charleston "some things can be done as well as others."
