RACES .- There will be a trotting match and a single mile dash on the Race Course to-morrow afternoon. The horses entered, have tried their mettle in previous races, and there is some sport anticipated. Pools have been made at 'Dayton's restaurant, and all interested can obtain full particulars by applying at that place to-day.

CITY IMPROVEMENTS .- By reference to our advertising columns, it will be seen that a number of municipal orders have been issued, which regulate the investigation of fires, require fences to be placed around vacant lots, &c.; platforms are to be put in front of every carriage way, obstructions to be removed from the streets and sidewalks, and general reforms are to be instituted, which, if carried out, will make Charleston a model city. Mayor Cogswell has already visited a greater portion of the city, and is determined to have the sanitary regulations strictly enforced. His plans will be developed at a future day.

FORT SUMTER.-This battered fortress that stood the shock of war for nearly four years is now the great popular point of interest in our harbor. Scarcely a day passes without a visit from parties of Northern tourists, whose principal desire is to see the ruined walls and to secure some bit of iron or other memento of the siege. The yacht Eleanor makes the passage at stated hours each day, and is seldom without a full complement of passengers. These visitors come prepared to see everything. They are armed with opera glasses and carry baskets to contain the relies that they may collect. No Southern tour is considered complete unless the world renowned Sumter is inspected. Fortunately for Charleston, the tourists are usually wealthy, and scatter more or less greenbacks along their route.

CITY COUNCIL-SPECIAL MEETING, March 9. 1868 .- Present-General W. W. Burns, and Aldermen Ravenel, Gerdts, Small, O'Neill, Willis, Steinmeyer, Olney, Oakes, Honour, Marshall, Enston, Whilden, Cosgrove, Butler, Courtenay

General Burns read the following order: HEADQUARTERS SECOND MILITARY DISTRICT, CHARLESTON, S. C., March 7, 1868. [Special Orders No. 58 .- Extract Paragraph VL]

At his own request, and in view of his assignment to other duties, Brevet Brigadier-General W. W. Burns willbe relieved by Brevet Col. Milton Cogswell, Major of the 8th United States Infantry, as provisional Mayor of the City of Charleston. By command of Brevet Major-General Ed.

R. S. Canby.
LOUIS V. CAZIARC, A. D. C.,

Acting Assistant Adjutant-General.

After reading the order, he addressed Council as follows:

Gentiemen: It is perhaps due to you and the eitizens of Charleston to say that this change was contemplated when I accepted the appointment, time being given for Colonel Cogswell to arrange his business. It was thought better not to make it public lest the support and countenance necessary to success would not flow towards a temporary appointment. I freely accord to every gentleman in this Council, and indeed to every citizen with whom I have had intercourse, and even to those who are strangers to me, my testimony for prompt and full confidence, without which success would not have been reached. I sincerely recommend the same cordial support for my suc-

marks, took his seat: Gentlemen: In taking my seat I shall try to do my duty as Mayor of the City of Charles-ton, and while in that position should wish you to consider me a Charlestonian and to the manor born.

Alderman Marshall offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

MAYOR'S COURT .- The court-room yesterday tion, elbowed each other vigorously, the position near the railing. At 9 o'clock the years ago she separated from her husband, simply conducted the new mayor to his seat and retired. Colonel Cogswell immediately entered on the duties of his position, and from the severity of the fines imposed, it is fair to presume that he intends offenders to feel the errors of the law.

The first cases presented were two that had been greatly beloved by those who knew her in private life. Her devotion to her profession dividual assaulted a female who called londly for the police. The knights of the star responded promptly, but their authority was Clubs, however, proved to be trumps, and the pair were forced to throw up their hands and surrender. The Mayor considered the attack unjustifiable, and said the police authority must be upheld. The first offender was fined $50, and the second; who voluntarily joined in the fray, will have to pay $100 for his impetuosity.

A keeper of a sailor's boarding house in Queen-street, whose guests indulged in a few liberties, was fined $20.

Two darkies whose saccharine tastes led them to trespass on Kerr's wharf and sound the depths of some molasses hogsheads were arrested by the vigilant police. The case was clear, and though they protested their innocence and almost swore that sugar made them sick, the sentence was passed, $10 or ten days, where sugar is unknown.

A colored matron whose bell had been repeatedly pulled at the dead of night grew wrathy and emptied her slop jar on her adversaries' heads. They staid not to exclaim with a youth in a similar fix, "thou rain-est in this bosom," but fled incontinently. A policeman who saw the waterfall arrested the prime actor, and she was charged $5 for the performance.

Four publicans who neglected their religious duties and sold liquor on Sunday acknowledged the corn and paid the penalty-$20 fine-with

One of the chiffoniers was accused of trespassing, but proved his innocence and was re- taken, they were unanimously adopted. All leased to resume his rag picking. A duskey Ethiop, whose conscience was signed the roll of the association, and the

EXAMINATION AT THE CHARLESTON COLLEGE. The graduating class of this institution assembled yesterday morning in the President's room, and underwent a close and searching examination on the course of studies which they have hitherto pursued. The questions propounded embraced a very wide scope, and the answers of the young men generally gave evidence of good judgment as well as hard study. There were but few prepared to enter college at the close of the war, though the number of students has largely increased during the past year. The present graduating class, owing to the circumstance mentioned, consists of but two members, Mr. Edwin Parker Frost and Mr. W. St. Julian Jervey. > PUBLIC MEETING AT WALTERBORO' .- A meeting of the people of Colleton District took place at the courthouse in Walterboro' on Monday last, to express, in accordance with Governor Perry's suggestion, their sympathy with President Johnson and the Democratic party in the pending struggle for constitutional liberty. John D. Warren, Esq., was called to preside, and F. G. Behre chosen as Secretary. The Hon. Carlos Tracy introduced the following

A small colored boy who rejoiced in the name of Seabrook Mills was brought before the Mayor, by his father, to be corrected. He stated that he was incorrigible, and his parents could do nothing with him. To his surprise he was told to slope and do his own whipping.

Another bright colored specimen, of a botancal turn of mind, was found trespassing in a gentleman's yard. His excuse was that he was hunting for a few japonicas. The Mayor thought miner ology was better suited to his taste, and sent him to crack stones for ten days.
