POLITICAL SUMMARY.

THE NEW YORK CONVENTION. The New York correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger writes under date of June 6: There must be, after all, something in that movement to make Chief Justice Chase the Democratic candidate for the Presidency. Among the straws showing how the wind blows straws now for the first time visible— may be mentioned the almost unanimous adop-tion of resolutions to that effect by the Constition of resolutions to that effect by the Consti-tutional Union General Committee, at their meeting last evening; the expression of a simi-lar character by the Brooklyn Eagle (always a staunch Democratic journal), and the marked leaning in the same direction of recent edito-rial feelers in the Albany Argus. The Pendle-ton men acknowledge that there is some hing going on that does not look right, but thus far they are puzzled to "get the hang of it."

going on that does not look right, but thus far they are puzzled to "get the hang of it."
The city hotels are anticipating a rich harvest from the coming crowd. The New England delegations are negotiating with the Astor House as their headquartes. The Southern delegates will quarter at the New York and Southern hotels farther up Broadway. The Pendleton delegation expect to occupy the Metropolitan. Governor Seymour's friends, with those of General Hancock, will quarter at the St Nicholas.

St. Nicholas.

The Committee of Arrangements, it may be added, have engaged the Academy of Music (adjoining Tammany Hall), together with the circus building on the other side of the street, at the corner of Irving Place and Fifteenth-street, for the purpose of holding a series of great public meetings nightly, while the Convention is in session. THE NEGOTIATIONS BETWEEN MR. CHASE AND

THE DEMOGRATIC PARTY-IMPERATIVE CONDI-TIONS OF THE CHIEF JUSTICE.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Times writes under date of the 6th inst. York Times writes under date of the 6th inst.:

The speculation upon the terms of capitulation between Chief Justice Chase and the Democratic party still continues, but from all that has thus far transpired, it is very difficult to determine the actual status of the negotiations. Perhaps either the party of the first part, or Hoxatio Scymour, S. L. M. Barlow and Dan. Yoorhees, of the party of the second part, could give the details, if they were so disposed but they do not seem disposed. However, your correspondent has become satisfied within the last few days of certain imperative conditions, which enter into the terms proposed by the party of the first part, and which, when thoroughly understood by the second party, are altogether likely to defeat the surrender. I will add that these facts come so direct that are altogether likely to defeat the surrender. I will add that these facts come so direct that they may be implicitly relied upon.

First, then, the Chief Justice insists upon making his own platform. He will not be a candidate upon any other. He says he can change his party, perhaps, but not his principles. Hence if the Democratic nomination is accompanied with an exposition of principles. accompanied with an exposition of principles at variance with his well known views on suffrage, finance and reconstruction, he cannot accept it. His position, in brief, I understand to be this: Reconstruction must be accepted present the dar cople.

Could the discrete be reconciled? Would the Executive Committee, speaking for its wing of the Democracy, take the back track on so grave an issue, or agree to say nothing about it? Either course was a consimmation devotily wished for. It was the concession sought as the basis of compromise, and the primal dement of harmony between the two Conventions.

The committees met. On the one part was Gen. Hampton, Col. J. P. Thomas, J. D. Pope, F. W. McMaster and Major S. P. Hamilton. On the other was Hon. James B. Campbell, Gen. F. W. McMaster and Major S. P. Hamilton. On the other was Hon. James B. Campbell, Gen. M. W. Gary, Messrs. Henry McIver, Mortimer Glover, F. J. Pelzer, A. A. Gilbert and Jno.

ers. He would restore the Southern States to their positions in the Union at the earliest possible time, and give them once more the sovereign control of their own affairs, subject only to the changes of condition wrought by the war. He thinks the Democratic party are bound to be defeated, unless they accept the results of the war in good faith, which includes reconstruction of course, and cease fighting over settled isspes.

Now, if any one supposes the Democratic party will surrender on such terms, they can have little faith in its record or its honesty. It pever was a party of excediency.

never was a party of expediency.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON AND THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINEES.

The Washington correspondent of the Louisville Journal writes:

ified suffrage was thrown to the colored man; There is a good deal of fear expressed less the President will not support the nominee of the Lamocratic party. But I am able to give you some positive information on this head. In conversation with an Indiana politician, who called at the White House yesterday to congratulate its occupant upon his acquittal, the subject came up. The Indianian suggested that the Democrats are a little afraid of the President. the privilege were pointed out, and the baneful influence of such an issue, introduced into the national canvass, especially by South Carolina, was dwelt upon at length and with force. It was urged that delegates should be permitted lutions or instructions; and that wisdom dictated the propriety of withdrawing from public

"Do they mean Schofield?"

"Do they mean Schofield?"
"Yes, that's one thing."
"How could I do any better? I had to take what I could get. The Senate would not confirm any one else."
"But they say you are not in sympathy with the Democratic party."
"I don't know what you call in sympathy. I certainly have done what I could against the Radicals. I was born and raised a Democrat, and consider myself as good a one at this moment as I ever was in my life."
"Do vou mean to support, if I may be allowmen were affiliating freely with the party, and ment as I ever was in my life."

"Do you mean to support, if I may be allowed to ask, the New York nominee?"
"I can't do anything else. I've nowhere else to go. If I did not I could not do otherwise. The Democrats are too suspicious of me. They are too exacting. They don't do me justice. If they'll go on and do right they may always be easy about Andy Johnson. frage should be one of the cardinal features of

CHIEF JUSTICE CHASE ON THE SITUATION. The following confidential letter from Chief Justice Chase to a personal friend distinctly marks the present position and sentiments of Mr. Chase on important political questions:

Mr. Chase on important political questions:

Washington, May 25, 1868.

My Dear Sir: You are right in believing that I "shall never abandon the great principles, for the success of which I have given my entire life." I adhere to my "old creed of equal rights," without one jot or tittle of abatement. I shall be glad if the new professors of that creed adhere to it as faithfully.

I am amazed by the torrent of invectives by which I am drenched. Almost everything alleged as fact is falsehood out of the whole cloth. Where an allegation has a little fact in it the fact is so perverted and travestied that ibecomes a falsehood. I know no motive for all this except disappointment that impeachment has not thus far proved a success, coupled with a belief that i have done something to prevent its being a success. I have not been a partisan a belief that I have not something to pretent its being a success. I have not been a partisan of impeachment certainly; but I have not been a partisan on the other side. As presiding of-ficer over the trial my conscience testifies that I have been strictly impartial; and I am sure that any one who reads the report will say so. Individually I have my convictions and opinions, but I have very seldom given utterance to them. Indeed, I do not think that the case, in any of its aspects, has been the subject of conversation between myself and more than four or five senators, and then only casually and briefly. No senator will say that I have sought to influence him.

The real ground of denunciation is that I

The real ground of denunciation is that I have not been a partisan of conviction; and this denunciation I am willing to bear. They may denounce and abuse me and read me out of the party if they choose. I follow my old lights ret the next. happy by being selected as delegates to the lights, not the new. What the developments of the future may ender of the opposite wing, was taken possessioff of, and, by a grand rhetorical coup de main, made the head and front of this June offending. Diplomacy and good management could not go further.

The impression which largely prevails among the delegates is that Chase has the inside track in the presidential race; but the nomination of Hancock would undoubtedly carry joy to the hearts of the people. Whoever may be nominated will, it is believed, unite the white

Among other subjects yet to be opened for discussion is the Radical difference in the material interests of the West and East. The South, as a section, is too weak to make a further sectional fight. It must join one of the two great sections. The war will be of capital against numbers. The West will represent the latter. It will demand legislation favorable to opening the West and the East India trade, by way of the Illinois and the Mississippi. The East will not like this. The West will wish to escape the duties imposed on its foreign consumption. It will insist, perhaps, that the Eastern bondholders shall accept exactly the same currency in payhaps, that the Eastern bondholders shall accept exactly the same currency in payment of the Federal bonds that was paid in for the purchase of the bonds. When the numbers of the West are arrayed on these and similar questions, it is not impossible that the principles of numerical rule which have been affirmed in all our latter legislation may be applied to senatorial representatives. Why indeed should the Federal Senate be organized on the basis of an extinct statehood? Why appined to senatorial representatives. Thy should not the Federal Senate be organized on the basis of an extinct statehood? Why should not the Federal Senate, as the State Senates, be based on an enlarged ratio of numbers? If each constituency of 100,000 is entitled to a member of Congress, why should not each constituency of 500,000 be represented by a senator? This would appear a simple and a just rule, especially under the new dispensation. We need not perhaps anticipate such sectional troubles, but they seem inevitable. The South having been extinguished as an equal and independent section, finds itself more in accord with the West, and will file in under its banner. The gratuitous intolerance and prolonged persecutions of the East cannot be forgotten, and upon a collision, even upon a comparison of interests between that and the Westorn sections, there-can be no doubt as to the action of the South.

Some years since it was deemed necessary for the protection of the public against the importation of spurious roots and drugs, for Congress to pass a law establishing an Inspector of Drugs in every port of entry in the United States. But this wise precaution does not prevent the importation of spurious roots, leaves and medicinal herbs. Nearly one-half of the Sarsaparillas, Pareira Brava, Peruvian Bark, &c., brought into this country and Europe are spurious, and when prepared for medicinal purposes are, in fact, useless, and fails to produce the beneficial results that the chemist and physician expect to realize. That no such objection may exist, and that the public may depend on securing the true roots in the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Dr. Radway has adopted the plan of gathering the several roots, &c., used in his medicines, under the direct supervision o trusty and intelligent agents.

This is an enterprise never before attempted, and it is one long needed. The loose manner in which vegetable barks, roots, leaves, gums, and other mediinal substances are gathered by ignorant natives, half savages, Hottentots, &c., and the cupidity o these rascals of substituting spurious for the true, in selling these roots, &c., to traders, causes many mistakes, and often disappoints physicians in prescribing a root possessing known properties in not fulfilling their expectations. Hence the wisdom and liberality of Dr. Radway in adopting a plan that will secure the true and genuine ve getable substances, fresh from their native soil, cultivated in gardens and attended with care. In Brazil he obtains pareira brava; Jamaica, W. I., arsaparillian; India, E. I., hemedesmus indicus Persia, the Persian oil is expressed from the amyg dale nut; Japan, the three newly discovered roots are grown under contract by a distinguished horticulturist and the only country where these roots are grown. These Japanese roots are held in high estination by the Nobles, Kaimes and distinguished savans, as purifying agents, also in the cure of dyrpepsia, indigestion, jaundice and liver complaints, and are used as tea, after dinner beverages, and as tonic drinks, diet, mixed in wine, &c.; also, possess the most astonishing virtues over skin diseases and impurities of the blood. RADWAY'S SARSAPARIL-LIAN RESOLVENT is, therefore, the most perfect remedy in the world. No wonder the sarsaparillas of the shops are such poor, weak washes compared with DR. RADWAY'S SARSAPARICLIAN. THE ROOT ITSELF differs from all sersaparilla roots ever seen in this country. Those wishing a pure, perfect remedy to cleanse the blood and system from all impurities, try DR. RADWAY'S SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLV-
