THE Business and Publication Office of THE DAILY NEWS has been removed to the large and commodious building No. 149 EAST BAY.

NEWS SUMMARY.

Gold closed in New York yesterday at 42 1/2. Cotton was dull and unchanged, with sales of 500 bales at 14 3/4.

In Liverpool, cotton was reported at noon quiet and steady; sales 10,000 bales. Prince Alfred is sweet on Miss Schneider.

Napoleon has stopped his copy of the London Times. The hides of the unfortunate dogs drowned at the pond in New York reappear in gloves.

Miss Kellogg won't go to Paris after all. Her terms are too high for the manager. The Latin word for woman is mulier.

No wonder that the female sex is so obstinate. It is proposed to run Mr. J. B. Young, of the Tribune, for Mayor of New York. Paris is lighted by thirty-three thousand gas lamps.

Forty thousand and fifty-nine street lamps. Julesburg, Colorado, which had five thousand inhabitants last fall, has fifty now. A French doctor has discovered that alum is largely used in making claret.

The highest peak in Colorado is Mount Lincoln, seventeen thousand feet high. Over three hundred Swedes have settled in Rockford, Illinois, since the first of April.

The cheapest paper in the United States is the Eclectic. The weekly News. Four months, one dollar. New counterfeit fifty cent currency has made its appearance, and is well executed.

The new city register of Chicago contains over 100,000 names, and a population of 300,000 is claimed for the city. At the annual sale of Kentucky horses at Woodburn, fifty-four head of yearlings brought $1,275, an average of more than $405 each.

Woolen coverings have been sent at Newport this season than ever before, and some of them as high as $400 for the season. They have a street railroad in Warsaw, Ind., though the town has but three thousand inhabitants.

Garfield is suffering so severely from a rheumatic attack that he is compelled to go on crutches. A young man in a Western town, it is said, has been fined ten dollars for kissing a young man against his will.

Recent excavations at Pompeii have brought to light two fresco portraits in a fine state of preservation. Brooklyn has a swimming academy where the water is twice filtered, and "champion" lake is the resort.

Paris papers chronicle over the fact that William Secombe $1500 for singing at a concert, while Paul pockets only the bagatelle of $1000. There is a great scarcity of buffalo and antelope on the plains this season. Badgers, rabbits and prairie dogs are the only game to be seen.

The mere catalogue of scientific serials published in Europe in the present century is one thousand four hundred, filling sixty-two printed pages. All the magazines elect in Shelby County, Miss., are negroes, and not one of them can read or write. But Radicalism makes them "all white."

The principal increase in the emigration from Great Britain, during the past year, occurs in the members classed as gentlemen, professional men and governesses. Said one New York newsboy to another: "Say, Sammy, would you do if you were with 'I' I would buy—buy—well, one hundred penny ice-creams."

The leading female rider of Yankee Robinette's circus attempted suicide at Freeport, Me., last week, because she was disgusted with the profession, and the proprietors refused to release her from her engagement. Launch, the missing North Carolina Congressman, has come to light. It seems that he has been in Washington several weeks, but an attack of rheumatism prevented him from taking his seat in Congress.

A party of rowdies stopped a street car near Broadway-street, New York, on Wednesday night, and attempted to set fire to the dresses of the ladies who were present in force returning from a picnic. Two policemen appeared and the ruffians fled. September next will be remarkable for the three Congresses to be held in Europe. First is the Workingmen's International, which is to open at Brussels on the first of that month; then in the middle of the month that of Peace, at Bern; and finally the Students' Congress at Yegre or Malines.

Jules-Lefevre had a painting representing a nude female figure in the Paris Academy exhibition, and it took the first prize. One story is that the Menken posed for it, and that young Dumas has bought it for $5000 as a present to his father. Another account is that the face is the portrait of a beautiful woman that returned the portrait from some freak of fancy. In this way the artist took his revenge and made the lady disagreeably immortal.

Theodore used to drink like the proverbial fish, and his peculiar vanity was "raki," a pleasant liqueur in a hot climate. After one of his "big drinks," he heard some prisoners loudly complaining that others had been set free, while they were detained. "You wretches, do make a noise and disturb me," said the King, and ordered them off for instant execution. A few hours later he was praying that those wretches might not be counted up against him, as he had perpetrated them under the influence of evil spirits.

The Mexican authorities are carrying matters with a pretty hard hand, if we may believe the story of a correspondent of the New York Herald. He says that the daughter of an American gentleman recently fell in love with an obscure Mexican official, who is represented to be ignorant, and without the means of supporting a wife. These circumstances, together with the extreme youth of the girl (sixteen years), seemed to justify the father in sending up the intimacy. The Mexican made a demand for the surrender of the young lady, which was peremptorily refused. He then invoked the aid of the government, and accompanied by a file of soldiers he returned to the house and forcibly took away from the father his only daughter. The ill-assorted marriage was performed, and the parent is left without redress or remedy. Such is Mexican justice.

A very interesting letter from Alaska is published in the New York Tribune. The report which had gained general credence that the troops stationed at Sitka were suffering from sickness, and the want of ordinary comforts is denied, and it is asserted that the general health and temper of the American troops and settlers are good. Sitka possesses a beautiful harbor, but a dangerous one, owing to the large number of little islets and rocks, between which pass narrow channels, any of them with sufficient water to float a ship, but hardly sea room enough to be safe. The town itself is situated on a point of land jutting out into the bay, from the base of the mountains, probably containing about a thousand acres, and from the character of the soil appears to have been made by the washings of the ocean. On the point is a large lake of fresh water, in front of which, along the edge of the bay, are about one hundred and fifty log houses, scattered about promiscuously. There is but one street, and that extends through the whole length of the town, and is continued for about a mile to Indian river, a little mountain stream emptying in the bay at this point. This is the only road on the island; beyond this, and in fact, on all sides of the island, the thicket is impenetrable. The American colonists seem to be having a good time. The correspondent says: "We have parties, hops and bats to our hearts' content."

Canby detailed an officer to inquire into the facts, and this officer, after a full investigation, made his report, upon which General Canby based an order declaring that the Democratic candidates were duly elected. When the House of Representatives organized, an attempt was made to exclude the delegation in the face of their certificates given them by General Canby; but they were allowed to take their seats. The protests in the case were referred to a committee, which committee reported, in substance, that they had rather wash their hands of the whole business, and leave the House to decide whether the affidavits filed by the contestants should be received as sufficient evidence. This report was made the special order for Friday, and was then the subject of a long and bitter debate. The point at issue was, whether simple affidavits should be taken as sufficient evidence in the contested elections. DeLorge and Whipper, two of the most influential colored representatives, argued that it would cost too much to take personal evidence, and this was the general feeling. Mr. Moore, one of the representatives whose seats are contested, then gave a history of the elections and the affidavits of the defeated candidates. It was shown that the affidavits were, of course, ex parte in character; that they were given by persons who knew nothing of the laws of evidence, and sworn to before persons who were neither notaries public nor magistrates; that the managers in one precinct swore to a circumstance which was alleged to have taken place twenty-five miles away from that precinct; that the managers of the precinct at which fraud had been alleged had sworn that their account was correct and that no fraud had been committed; and that the affidavits of the defeated Radicals undertook to convict of false swearing every manager and registrar of elections in Anderson district, as well as one hundred and sixty-three citizens of character and respectability. Mr. Moore said: "Can you lead yourselves to the perpetration of this enormity? Justice forbids it. You cannot—you dare not do it, unless you dare do anything." At this moment one of the representatives cried out: "Damn you! I'll show you mightily 'soon.'" In conclusion, Mr. Moore asked for permission to send for persons and papers, or that a commission be appointed to go to Anderson and take evidence.

What was the result? The Committee on Privileges and Elections were, on motion of Whipper, ordered to decide the case on the affidavits submitted. This is equivalent to declaring that the Democratic representatives shall be ousted. The secret motive is said to be to declare, when the Democrats are expelled, that the election for United States senator, in which they took part, was illegal, and that consequently Mr. Sawyer was not properly elected. This might give Mackey another chance. Under any circumstances, however, it is gratifying to see that our carpet-bag Legislature imitates so well its big brother in Washington, and it is earnestly hoped that the colored men will not stop their purging until there is neither Democrat nor white man left in the whole General Assembly. The carnival is now at its height, but the bell will soon toll that bids these mummeries cease.

We call the attention of our readers to the notice of a public meeting to be held at the Citadel Square Baptist Church this evening. The purpose of the meeting commends it to the favorable regards of an enlightened public. It contemplates the continued operation of one of the colleges in this State—and in such a form as involves a material lowering of the cost of tuition. Just at the present crisis, when so much uncertainty attends the probable action of those who are legislating for South Carolina, it is particularly important that every seminary of learning free from the risk of legislative interference, and the commingling of pupils of different races, should be kept in vigorous operation.
