LOCAL MATTERS.

AUCTION SALES THIS DAY. CAMPBELL, KNOX & CO. will sell at 10 o'clock, at their auction house, No. 55 Hasel-street...

MEETING.—The German Democratic Club meet this evening at their hall in King-street. The Germania Bund also meets at the corner of King and Liberty streets.

PERSONAL.—The Northern papers contain a statement that ex-Governor Orr, of South Carolina, has determined to take up his residence in St. Joseph, Missouri, and to resume the practice of law in that place.

FREEMAN'S HALL.—The German Fire Company will continue a good old custom by giving a ball on the 1st proximo, at which soft eyes will look love to eyes which speak again, and the twinkling feet of the young and gay will merry trip the time away.

Tobacco Truies.—James Edwards and Jake Richardson, two small colored boys, made a raid on Messrs. H. Klatte & Co.'s store on Saturday last and abstracted several pligs of tobacco. They were seen and captured, and will account for their misdeeds to-day.

Masonic.—The Masonic fraternity are directed to a not-e which appears in another column, in which the craft are invited to attend a communication of Friendship Lodge, No. 9, held this evening, at the Masonic Hall. A lecture will be delivered by the Worshipful Master.

A Bad Beat.—In base ball, as in most other games, one side must win; but it is seldom that the odds are so great as in a game played on Saturday afternoon between the Vigilant and Pawnee Clubs, both juveniles. There were nine innings played, and the game closed with the score standing: Vigilants twenty-two; Pawnee three.

FOR GEORGETOWN.—The steamer Emille, Captain Isaac Davis, is advertised by her agents, Messrs. Sackelford & Kelly, to leave for Georgetown and Waccamaw on the 29th inst., at six o'clock. The Emille is now receiving freight, and will leave Commercial wharf at the hour mentioned above.

THEATRICAL.—Manager Templeton, the indefatigable, who with his dramatic company has been making the round of the interior towns of Georgia, opens a week's season in Columbia to-morrow night, after which, we presume, he may be expected in Charleston. The bright-eyed and versatile Alice Vane, actress, danseuse and vocalist, is still the star of the company.

A GRAVE MISTAKE.—Sampson Brown (colored), the victim of the Calhoun-street cutting scrape, and whose demise was announced in our last issue, sends us a communication from the City Hospital solemnly avowing that he is "not dead yet," and that he has no present intention of shuffling off this mortal coil. There is, therefore, no immediate need for the services of the Coroner.

A RECONSTRUCTION.—On Saturday morning while the steam dredge boat was engaged in deepening the dock of Adger's North wharf, the bucket struck a block of granite which was drawn to the surface and secured. The granite was a square weighing over a ton, and was sunk about twenty years ago when the wharves were built. A vessel laden with stone to be used in building the wharves lay alongside, and this block slipped from the tackle and went to the bottom.

THE CIRCUS.—Gies' popular Brazilian Circus was crowded on Saturday night, and though the accommodations were ample, every seat was filled with a delighted occupant. The performances of this troupe are more varied and infinitely better than those usually seen in these travelling shows. Saturday night was the last of the season, and the company will take up the line of march for Wilmington and the big Northward. There are a number of Charlestonians connected with the Circus, and we hope that they will be as successful as they deserve.

SIDEWALKS A LA HABENOSITY.—Captain A. Habenoski has been authorized by the South Carolina Railroad and the city authorities to lay an asphalt sidewalk in John and Line streets, between King and Meeting. The asphaltic composition will also be laid in Calhoun-street, from Rutledge to Lucas, and on the south of Wentworth-street, between King and Coming. In the two last instances the expense of the sidewalk will be partly borne by the owners of the houses in front of which the new pavement will be laid.

THE WANDO FERTILIZING COMPANY.—MORE IMPROVEMENTS.—On Saturday was completed the roof of a building recently erected by the Wando Fertilizing Company on Patton's wharf, north of their present works. Flags were raised, and the occasion honored by sundry libations. The new shed or storehouse will be three-stories high, with an attic. The Company have recently purchased Patton's wharf, better-known as the old Savannah Packet wharf, and design erecting a new and improved works on the grounds. The shed in question is yet but a skeleton, but to judge by the progress already made, it will soon be finished.

THE PRINTERS' CIRCULAR, for September, contains the following: "The printers of Charleston, S. C., have opened a co-operative store for supplying the retailers and families with groceries at cost prices." The "Circular" has unintentionally been led into an error in making the above announcement, some time since a meeting of the printers of this city was held to consider the propriety of establishing such a store, and resolutions were adopted appointing a committee to report upon the feasibility of the plan; but beyond that, from some unknown cause, nothing has been done.

OPENING OF THE THEATRICAL SEASON.—The Germans who are always up to the times, have anticipated Templeton. The members of the Turnverein Society will give the first theatrical entertainment of the winter season, this evening, at their hall in King-street, near Tradd. These dramatic entertainments are a peculiar and charming feature of the German Clubs, which have a large share of that power of making themselves and others happy which is enjoyed by the German people.

THE RETURN OF AN OLD CHARLESTON YACHT.—There arrived at this place from New York on Saturday last the steamer Charleston, Capt. Thos. Payne, Jr. This vessel was constructed by Mr. James Poyas on South Bay, some years previous to 1840, for Capt. John Bonnell, who used her in government service during the Florida war. She was afterwards owned for some years by Capt. James Copes and Messrs. J. & A. Magee, who had her in the Georgetown rice and passenger trade, and was continued in the same employment as the property of Messrs. R. C. & Isaac Davis, and she belonged to these gentlemen when the war began. She was captured in trying to run the blockade, we believe, at Wilmington, (N. C.), and after remaining North for several years she has become the property of Capt. Thos. Payne, Jr., who will use her for towing and general transportation purposes. She has always been extremely fortunate.

WHAT A WETTING.—"A LITTLE WATER CLEANS UP THIS DEED."—It did not rain Saturday night, it poured. The skylights of the clouds were opened, the pluz loosed, and the water works put in motion with a forty-ocean power. The large canvas of the circus on the Cliffland Green was densely crowded, and the audience were entranced with the performance, when their joy was suddenly changed to mourning by an unexpected waterfall which did not improve their head-gear. The tent offered but a slight resistance to the solid torrent, and the demonstrations that were made by the drenched, bedraggled mass, though not in the bills, were as amusing as the legitimate performance. One spot remained—an ark of refuge—the dressing-room. This "star" chamber was comparatively dry, and regardless of ceremony, it was at once tenanted. The protection thus afforded was, however, but partial, and until the rain ceased the audience were miserably uncomfortable. It was very funny, but the sight-seers did not see the point.

BASE BALL.—The deciding game between the Eclipse and Carolina Clubs was played on Saturday, 26th inst., on the Carolina grounds, Broad and Tradd streets; but again, owing to darkness coming too soon upon the players, the game resulted in a draw, one, four innings only being played.

We are compelled here to add that the game was much delayed by the umpire not keeping the pitchers of either Club to the rules by calling balls upon them, which would have decided the game, established the long contested superiority between the respective Clubs, and given, we are sure, entire satisfaction to all parties concerned.

The Eclipse, winning the toss, sent the Carolina to the bat. First Inning.—Moroso led off for the Carolina, and with a low grounder between the second and third base made his first, stole round to third, and came home on Houston's ball. McNelly followed Houston, and put a high fly to Kronan, which he failed to take; he crept round to third, but was stopped on home base by Meyer. O'Neill, on a low grounder to left field, secured a home run, the only one made during the game. Fuzer was the next victim, being stopped at first by Kronan. McGary, Edgerton, Follin, Schacto and Moroso each secured runs. Houston next took the bat, but was unfortunate on a foul fly, which was neatly taken by Lynch.

Meyer opened for the Eclipse, and, on a fine ball to centre field, made his third, and subsequently came home on Nuccet's strike. Sturken was stopped at first by Schacto. Simmons followed, and put a fine ball to Stonston in left field, which he took care of in his usual style. The Eclipse, by some fine batting, added nine more runs to their score before closing the inning. Hayes, the next unfortunate, being stopped on third base by Moroso. The game at end of first inning standing 11 to 8 in favor of Eclipse.

Second Inning.—McNelly opening put a fine ball to Simmons in right field, which he failed to hold, and came home on a passed ball. McGary, Edgerton, Follin and Schacto each scored; O'Neill and Moroso being victims to Kronan at first base and Huger struck out—5 runs for Carolina. Krost took up the bat and made his first and run, Kronan fell a victim to McGary at first do, Nugent, Meyer and Lynch scored, the other victim being Bolger, struck out; the inning closing 14 to 13 in favor of Eclipse.

Third Inning.—The Carolina retired in this inning with a cypher. Houston again falling a victim to Lynch on a foul fly, McNelly put a red hot ball to Kronan at first, which was nicely held, and O'Neill was retired on a foul bound to Lynch. The Carolina endeavored to return the compliment on going to the field, but their opponents Ed'psed their expectations by making one run. Striken scoring that, Simmons being taken on the fly by O'Neill, Krost on a fly to Schacto, and Kronan a victim to McGary at first base. Inning closing fifteen to thirteen in favor of Eclipse.

Fourth Inning.—The Carolina, by some fine batting in this inning, added eight runs to their score, the unfortunate being Huger and McGary struck out, and Houston again on a foul fly to Lynch. The fine fielding of the Carolina in this inning kept their opponents' score down; the only run made was by Lynch. Kronan put a fly to Schacto, which was cared for; Meyer on a foul bound to Edgerton, the finest catch of the game, and Nugent likewise on a foul bound to Edgerton. The game stood 21 to 16 in favor of the Carolina. The fifth inning was not played, the umpire calling the game soon after its commencement, it being too dark. The game was well contested, and the batting and fielding of both Clubs was very good. The only regret is that it remains as before, undecided. With all due deference to the umpire, we think it was delayed by his two great leniency in not calling balls on both pitchers and strikers. Both Clubs were anxious for a termination of this contest, as the ball season was fast drawing to a close, and the knights of the bat and ball would soon have more profitable employment to occupy their time. The score is as follows:

THE OCTOBER ELECTIONS are exciting a good deal of attention. The States to vote, upon which the chief interest centres, are Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana. In Indiana the Governor and other State officers are to be elected, together with members of Congress. In Pennsylvania two State officers, members of Congress and the Legislature. In Ohio members of Congress and several State officers. No Governor is to be chosen in Pennsylvania or Ohio. The elections take place on the 13th of October, on which day, we believe, Iowa, also votes. The contest is warm and earnest in these States, and the result will be looked for with great interest.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT.—The Greenville Mountaineer, of Thursday last, says: This court adjourned late on Saturday last, after seven weeks of unremitting labor. There were an immense number of cases of violation of the internal Revenue laws tried, though no one of them was of sufficient importance to arrest special attention. The uncertain condition of our State Courts has driven every case into the United States Court, which can be brought within its jurisdiction, and this has tended to crowd the docket and, of course, retard business. On the Equity side of the court there were some important cases, presenting many points of great interest to the profession and involving very considerable sums of money. Judge Bryan is still in town and we regret to learn that his strength has been so much overtaxed as to have left him in quite a feeble condition.

SUCCESSFUL COTTON CULTURE.—The Macon (Ga) Telegraph, of the 26th inst., gives the following notice of a most extraordinary yield of cotton on a small farm. The wonderful results thus obtained would indicate that the farming system is the true plan to raise cotton: We were shown yesterday afternoon, at the warehouse of Woolfolk, Walker & Co., samples from thirteen bales of cotton, sent yesterday by Mrs. C. M. Irwin, of Lee county, which was the prettiest lot of cotton we have seen this season. Mrs. Irwin has a little cotton patch of only twenty-one acres, and from it she has ready picked thirteen bales, and will get, probably, six more. But for the unfavorable season, and the fact that the caterpillar got into her little patch about three weeks ago, she would have raised at least twenty-five bales on her twenty-one acres. This is not the first time we have had the pleasure of alluding to this lady's superior agricultural accomplishments. She has thus far best anything in the State, and we claim the honor, in political parlance, of pronouncing her the "banner" woman of Georgia.

THE AZTEC CLUB.—AN INTERESTING REUNION. Major-General Robert Patterson, of Pennsylvania, who at one time commanded the Palmetto Regiment in Mexico, writes from Philadelphia, September 23, to a friend in this city as follows:

I send you by this mail an "Age" newspaper containing reference to the dinner of the Aztec Club. Will you do me the favor to have it republished in the next issue of the republication my good wishes to my friends in Carolina, and especially the Palmetto Regiment, who served under me in Mexico, to say that the officers of the old army do not remember their former comrades who may have changed to take the other side in the late unfortunate war.

The article referred to is as follows: The officers of our army when they occupied the Mexican capital in 1847-8, formed an association which they called the Aztec Club. It has since the close of the Mexican war, held an annual meeting, where old comrades in arms could renew the ties of friendship and common service. On the 13th inst., the Club met in the City of New York, and after the transaction of formal business, adjourned to Philadelphia, on the invitation of its senior member, Major General Robert Patterson. At his house, the Club were hospitably entertained, celebrating very agreeably the day, which was the anniversary of the taking of the City of Mexico. Several of the most distinguished officers of the army were present, and it was an interesting and profitable meeting that it was attended by some of the members who had cast their lot with the "Lost Cause." They were cordially received by their former comrades, and their intercourse, like that of B-sacras with Lee, shows that the truly brave are as truly magnanimous. The inveterate hostility which the Radical politicians affect is discredited to themselves; the more so as it is for the most part, insincere. They are sounding their war trumpet now the enemy has laid down his arms, while the real fighting men of the conflict are consigning all its animosities to oblivion. To judge the Radicals by what they profess they are worse than savages; for even the Indian "buries the hatchet" when the war is over, and smokes the pipe of peace with his former enemy. Yet, while the Radicals try to stir up the old war feeling, to make political capital, we observe they welcome, with perfect cordiality, any old Confederate who, like Gen. Longstreet, agrees to electioneering for the Radical ticket. This conduct indicates how factitious and artificial the animosity is between the two sections of our country. It never appears as a reality, and is only assumed for political effect. The meeting of the Aztec Club has a very harmonious reunion, and they seemed to agree that their entertainment at Gen. Patterson's far surpassed what they enjoyed when, in the pride of the day, they revolved in the Halls of the Montezuma.
