THE MEETING-STREET ICE HOUSE. In the place of the old and unsightly building that served the purposes of an ice horse in Meeting-street, the Tudor Ice Company, of Boston, have erected a new one that adds to the appearance of the locality in which it stands. The new building has a front of thirty-nine feet, and extends two hundred and forty feet in the rear. The front reservoir for ice will con tain one thousand tous, while the rear one will hold two thousand tons. The new building has been constructed under the superv s'on of Mr. John Luiche, agent of the compary, and Mr. James M. Duryes long and favorably known in connection with the ice trade of the city. The repairs and improvements that have been made have cost about $6000.

A HANDSOME VESSEL .- The following notice which we clip from the New York Journal of Commerce, of Monday last, sparks, in flatte ing terms of a beautiful craft just constructed by Captain R. H Tucker, whom our readers who date from sometim back will remember as commanding, about 1845 the ship Alliance, which male several rapid passages from Liverpool to this port, at one time bringing later European dates. Steam was then just comme cing and ocean caples had no existence. He was a:terwards a merchant of this city, and having been left an ample competence by his father, who was a large ship owner, now spends his time in managing his property a boto and affort: "The attention of yachtmen and others is called to the yacht Atalanta now lying at Pier 17, East River. This beautiful little vessel was built at Wiscusset, Me., by Captain R H. Tucker. She is of an improved model, all hol low lines, cons ructed by Mr. Given, of Wiscasset, who modelled many of Donald McKay's famouolipper ships. She is six'y feet long, eighteen feet wide, and seven feet deep, and measures seventy i tons old measurement; is constructed entirely of white oak, coppered and copper-fastened, all iron work galvanized; not a particle of pitch, paint or putty was used in her construction. Captain Tucker, the owner, is on board, and would be pleased to show his vessel to gentlemen interested in marine architecture previous to sailing for Charleston on

THE MAYORALTY.

Application of Gilbert Pillsbury for Installation as Mayor-The Demand and

At about half-; as: ten o'clock yesterday morning, Mr. Glibert Pillsbury, accompanied by Colonel Moore, Mr. E. W. M. Mackey and Mr. T. J. Mackey, waited on Mayor Clark and formally demanded the surrender of the office of Mayor. Mr. Clark said that he would be prepared to give a formal reply at about 12 o'clock, and the claimant then said that he would await the reply at the Sheriff's office, to which place it was af orwards sent. The demand of Mr. Pillsbury and the answer of Mayor Clark are as fol-

It is distinctly stated that the validity of the elec-THE THEATHE.—Miss Annie Deland, an accress of great promise, will make her first appearance in Charleston on Monday night at the Hibernion Hall. Miss Deland was been in Augusta, but was educated in this city. We understand that the coming star has played with great success in England, where she has been for more than two years.

If is distiratly stated that the validity of the election was not properly in issue upon the proceedings before them, and that part of the alternative writ with required your admission to the offices was by instruction of the validity of the election as a prave one, made in due form and in leave the properly in issue upon the proceedings with the first part and that the validity of the election was not properly in issue upon the proceedings with the first part and that part of the alternative writ with the wind that part of the alternative writ with the properly in issue upon the proceedings well as the properly in issue upon the proceedings with properly in issue upon the proceed good faith, and until this question is judicially set-iled, I cannot, con istently with my ideas of public duty, surrender to you the office of Mayor. Res. sctiully yours, GEO W. CLARK, Mayor.

These letters explain pretty cearly the presen position of the case, and it is not pos-tole to say with certainty what will be the next step of other of the parties. It is probable, however, that the demand of Mr. Pillsbury is the proliminary step to the suing out of a writ of quo warranto, which, it issued by the court, would require the Mayor and Alheld by the Commissioners of the Markets yester- dermen to show by what authority they continued to hold office in face of the alleged fact that Gilbert Pillsbury and others had been elected in their stead. In doing this he whole question of the allegel illegality of the election would come up, and the present Mayor and Aldermen would, it is presumed, adduce all the evidence they could obtain to prove that there was not a legal election, that there was, therefore, no election, and that G. W. Clark and others legally held office until there was a legal election. If the quo warranto were issued by the circuit court, either party cou'd take an appeal from that decision to the comprehensive, neat, and sparkling papers publish | Supreme Court, whose decision would be final. > REPORTERS' CRUMBS. - A chimney was on fire in Spring-street night before last, and might have done harm had it not been promptly put out by the neighbors.

Notwithstanding the great demand for mules they sold at auction yesterday at moderate prices. There was a large crowd around the City Hall yesterday, during Mr. Pillsbury's visit to Mayor Clark. One hundred and nineteen bogshead, of new crop Cuea molasses have been sold in this city at from 50 to 52 cents per gallon. Mr. Walter Cade has introduced the Northern style of having coal and wood cellars under the pavement. This may be seen at the new crockery store

The Eina Steam Fire Engine Company is pulting in new flues. The tidal drains are being overhauled and cleaned.

They need it badly. A wiseac a by the name of Boston, from the "rural regions," introduced a bill in the special session of the General Assembly, to perpetuate the per diem and mileage of the members. Rich!

Furniture, crockery and household appliances have been bringing high prices at auction of late. The courthouse is being touched up.

Office-hunters are already "on the rampage," expecting a Municipal change. L. F. Wall, W. S Lance and J. W. Gregg, who were not confirmed by the senate as assessors for Charleston County, had previously given notice that they could not serve. In publishing yesterday the names of the ve try-men of St. Mary's Church, we omitted those of Mr. Charles Kanapaux and Mr. 3. St. Amand The South Carolina Railroad Company call attor-

THEATRE.-Last evening the sensational frama held sway. Under the Gas I taht being repro duced by the Gilbert troupe, through the interce sion of some of our legal friends, who were desirous of again hearing Harrison's inimitable speech, as Splint r, the pettiforging lawyer of the Tomba

Court. He created roars of laughter, and his conception of the character was very fine. The pier scene was as good as could be expected on such a stage; but the defects were fally made up by the ex cellent manner in which the duct was rendered by two jut for members of the company. The milroad scene, the crowning feature of the piece, was perfect. To-night Ticket-of-Leave-Man, a beautiful five act drama, will be presented. The piece is one worth while going to see. The performance will conclude with the roaring force, Dodging for a Wife.

Remember that on Saturday evening Mr. Gilbert receives a testimonial benefit from the firemen, and that a splendid gold meda', valued at $100, will be awarded the company disposing of the largest number of tickets.

Miss Annie Deland is announced for Monday oveting. She is said to be very beauth al, and to posess the finest wardrobe of any lady on the American

THE ADGED BUILDING OUR FUTURE THEA-TRE -We learn tout Mr. J. Chalwier, a Northern capitalist, planting on Wadmalaw Island, who recently purchased at a very low price the spacious structure at the corner of King and Market streets, known as the Adg r building, intends to convert it into a theatre, opera house and lyceum. On Kingstreet there will be found stores, which will be rented out; the second story will be the theatre and opera room, and the third floor the lecture cooms. There is also to be a restaurant in the building, somewhat after the style of the famous Delmonico's at N. w York.

Mr. Chadwick, we learn, has sent to New York for plans of the most modernly built theatres and opera houses, so as to make the proposed chang a as suc

There is no question that this is a great enterprise, and, if carried ou', it will certainly add to the attractions and interest of our city, now so sadly in need of a large and commodious theatre, such as the proposed plan should supply. It is intended to spend $30,000 or $40,000 in making the necessary architectural change, and this will only make the whole building cost Mr. Chalwick about $75,000, one-half of the original cost of the property. During the war it passed into the hands of Mr. Ernest Hart for $225,-000 to currency, when gold was worth six for one. Earnestly do we hope Mr. Chadwick will carry out his idea. It will profit him and profit Charleston.
