NEWS SUMMARY.

Gold closed in New York on Saturday at $131. Cotton in New York closed on Saturday at 24 1/2. In Liverpool on Saturday at 2 P. M., cotton was quoted firmer; uplands 12 1/2 to 13 1/2, Orleans 12 1/2 to 13 1/2.

The Georgia Legislature has passed a bill to incorporate the "Independent Telegraph Company."

United States Marshal William G. Dickson has disappeared from Atlanta in a very mysterious manner.

The first of the public urinals contracted for by the New York Board of Health is now being erected at the corner of Eighth-street and Astor Place.

A new steam line from Stettin, Germany, to New York is projected. The capital will be raised by wealthy men in Berlin and Stettin, to the amount of a million of dollars in gold. It will be a semi-monthly line.

Captain George Bell, of Belleville, Florida, was shot on Friday week by a negro while passing a swamp through which the road led. He died immediately. It is said that the negro was indebted to him, and was removing away in the night, to effect his escape without payment. The captain had turned the wagon back, and was returning when shot. He leaves a dependent mother and sister.

A special telegram to the New York Herald, via Charleston, reports the safe landing in Cuba of a filibustering expedition which left Jacksonville, Florida, per steamer Henry Burden, near Major, and joined Céspedes. The steamer had on board five million ball cartridges and other war material, including several pieces of artillery. The expedition was composed of one hundred foreign Cubans.

The additional $400,000 of stock asked for by the Eagle and Phoenix Manufacturing Company of Columbus, Georgia, has all been taken. The stock has been taken, not only by capitalists, but in small amounts throughout the country. The purpose of the company is to erect another mill as large as the present one, in which are now running over 9000 spindles, and crowd it with machinery. The new building can be put up for much less than the present one. Before many months this immense establishment will have in operation some 20,000 spindles, consuming some twenty bales of cotton per day, and many thousand pounds of wool, and manufacturing a variety of goods.

North Carolina, through her State historian, is making an appeal to the North for aid in developing the gold mines in that region, arguing that under a system of free labor and the skill and energy of Northern mechanics the mining enterprises of the State will be revived. Mining operations were commenced in North Carolina in 1804, and until 1827 all the native gold sent to the United States Mint came from that region. Between 1804 and 1861, North Carolina furnished $9,113,994 of gold for coinage, of which $4,440,908 were sent to the Philadelphia Mint, and $4,673,086 to the mint established in 1835 at Charlotte. The whole amount produced in the interval of fifty-seven years mentioned is estimated at $12,000,000. The balance of $7,559,092 was sent to the mint; it is stated, was used by jewellers, by whom it was preferred on account of its purity and fineness. The largest single nugget ever found in any part of the world, weighing twenty-eight pounds of pure gold, was found in Cabarrus county, in 1803.

The New York Herald of Friday says: "The market for Southern securities was higher and firmer yesterday, instancing the fact that our State bonds sympathize with government bonds and not with the miscellaneous stock list. North Carolinas were subjected to further manipulation in the interest of parties supposed to be connected with the State government.
