

THE DAILY NEWS.

Latest Circulation.—THE DAILY NEWS BEING THE NEWSPAPER OFFICIALLY RECOGNIZED AS HAVING THE LARGEST CIRCULATION IN THE CITY OF CHARLESTON. PUBLISHES THE LIST OF LETTERS REMAINING IN THE POSTOFFICE AT THE END OF EACH WEEK, ACCORDING TO THE PROVISIONS OF THE NEW POSTOFFICE LAW.

LOCAL MATTERS.

LETTERS AND NOTES. BRUNS and BRUNS will sell at 11 o'clock, at the old postoffice, several dwellings and lots of land. T. M. CATER will sell at three-quarters past 9 o'clock at a store, Brown's wheat, butter, lard, &c. LAUREY & ALEXANDER will sell at 10 o'clock, on Central wharf, 60 bushels of potatoes.

MEETINGS THIS DAY.

Hydrotherapic Lodge, at 8 P. M. Howard Lodge, at 8 P. M. St. Andrew's Society, at 8 P. M. Home-Steak Building, and Loan Association, at 8 P. M. Young America Fire Company, at 8 P. M.

JOB PRINTING AT THE NEWS OFFICE.—FOR THE accommodation of our friends and the public, we have just established, in connection with our business, a Job Printing Office, where we are now prepared to execute all kinds of job printing with accuracy, neatness and dispatch.

THE DAILY NEWS PAPER CURRENT AND COMMEMORATIVE CIRCULAR will be ready for delivery at nine o'clock to-morrow morning. Business houses wishing to subscribe for a specified number of copies containing the names of their subscribers, should send their orders to our counting room to-day.

THEATRE.—The number of delays in opening the theatre have been disappointing to all concerned. The failure of Mr. Templeton's troupe to perform last night was occasioned by the general sickness of the actresses, the result of a storm at sea, which they experienced on their voyage from New York. They had a rehearsal yesterday afternoon, however, and Mr. Templeton announces that they will perform this evening.

THEOPHILIC FREE LUNCH.—The gentlemanly and obliging managers and operators of the Western Union Telegraph Company will accept the thanks of THE NEWS for their invitation to the collation to be given by them at eleven o'clock to-day to their friends and the patrons of the line, to celebrate their removal into the new office.

EARLY VEGETABLES.—The season for shipping vegetables to the North has begun, and if our farmers have been wise and have planned largely for the Northern market, they will present a handsome amount of money during the next two or three months. The first shipment of green peas raised in the vicinity of Charleston was made yesterday by Mr. William Hunt, on the steamer Charleston for New York. We are informed that this is the first shipment of the kind made in March for many years.

THE SOUTH CAROLINA INSTITUTE.—The Board of Directors of the South Carolina Institute meet this evening, at 7 o'clock, at No. 23 Broad-street, and we learn, to consider a proposal to build a hall, by a number of business men and gentlemen, on the lot where the old theatre stood, on Meeting-street, and which is owned by the Institute. Such a hall, as it is presumed will be erected from this movement, will not only be an ornament to that part of the city, but for ornamental and other public exhibitions, has become a necessity to our community. It will, if undertaken, be managed by gentlemen of honor, position and experience.

APPLETON'S JOURNAL.—We have received the first number of this new weekly journal, which is intended to be devoted to popular current literature, the great interests of society, of popular science and art. In the first number we have the opening chapters of Victor Hugo's new romance, L'homme qui rit, and several articles upon special subjects. The journal is published weekly at $4 per annum, by D. Appleton & Co., New York, and it we may judge by the modesty of the promises, the tastefulness of its appearance and the high position of the firm whose name it bears, Appleton's Journal will take a front place in the ranks of periodical literature.

EXAMINATION OF THE HIGH SCHOOL.—The interesting exercises of the High School examination were concluded yesterday by the examina-tion of Mr. V. C. Tibble's department. The scholars showed high efficiency, the result of the intelligent and well directed instructions of this excellent teacher. Mr. Feuz examined the French class, and diversified the entertainment by several interesting and humorous addresses in that language.

CHARLESTON REFLECTIONS ENTERTAINMENT.—The Promenade Concert and Gift Entertainment of the Charleston Business Society, inaugurated for the purpose of supplying the charity fund of the Society's orphanage, was opened yesterday at the White Carolina Hall, Meeting-street. The hall was beautifully decorated with evergreens and white flowers. The grand gift table arrests the visitors as they enter the door, and is laden with many rare and pretty articles. The refreshment table, to the left, is full of the good things of this life, and presents a tempting appearance. The Entertainment discourses delightful music, and enables the ladies and gentlemen gathered to thread the may dance to their heart's content.

CLUBS AND STAYS.—The following were the cases disposed of yesterday at the Market: A white child named Mary, aged six years, in the market, was delivered to its mother, Mrs. Meiner. Casper and Lyons, for being under the influence of liquor in the street. Fined $10. There was a fight in Broad street, near St. Michael's Church, yesterday, between Augustus Deas and Joseph Givens, colored. Givens was cut in the head with a brick, and finally both parties were arrested.

PERSONAL.—Among the numerous visitors from the South now passing through Charleston, there is now a certain number of a warmer welcome at the hands of our citizens than Dr. J. S. Thomas, of Brooklyn, N. Y., who, accompanied by his wife and daughter, arrived in the Manhattan on Tuesday night, and is now staying at the Charleston Hotel. Dr. Thomas is a member of one of the oldest and best families in the Empire State, where he held the position of president of the State Board of Education. Being a gentleman of means, his name is largely devoted to the good of others, and every variety of distress. A leading spirit of his sympathy and liberality, and his efforts for the benefit of his liberality and influence. Last summer he collected one sent to the destitute of our city a considerable sum of money, besides some thirty cases of clothing. We trust now that he has come among us, that he will have no cause to regret his visit to a community to which he has shown himself so true a friend.

Plantation Bitters. WHAT BRICK BAKERY DID WRITE AND WHAT HE DID NOT WRITE. Eight o'clock he is not here yet! How dreary this little room seems, and I am so lonesome! Ten o'clock. How I wish he would come! It is so lonely here with the children asleep! Once he would stay with me, but now, alas! Twelve o'clock, and I am so tired, I cannot sleep! My heart aches and grows sad. I am growing old, perhaps. May my face be not as fair as once, but my heart is as warm, though it is often sad.

ONE O'CLOCK. What charms can be found in that soiled-corn room, by that dusty table, cutting and dealing those dainty cards, filling himself with poison, tainting his breath, staining his mind, undermining his constitution, planting seeds of disease, squandering his money, clouded with smoke, tired with excitement, "Is he happier? Is he alive? Is he in our midst? Oh! I am so tired, do come home.

PLANTATION BITTERS. This delicious cordial and fine tonic is now hailed by thousands as the great health-giver and restorer. Resolve to buy a bottle, and don't sleep on it. Be wise in time. Sold by all druggists.

PLANTATION BITTERS. Are always pure, reliable. They are strengthening and invigorating, and are exhausted Nature's great restorer. As an agreeable and pleasant tonic and appetizer, they cannot be excelled.

PLANTATION BITTERS. I wanted to hand several "bricks" down to posterity, and was told by father that with a New England girl for a wife, I could raise more children, grow more honest, and more sane, and more healthy, than any other sort of woman in this happy country so-called.

AND HE HAD A FEMALE CHILD, Whose name was He's Brightwater, and who was twenty-nine years old; who wore red stockings, red garters, metal tipped shoes, green spectacles, and the prettiest red hair the world ever saw on her face. He had a true New England gal, chewed wads of pipe gum, and sweetened her breath with onions. Hexa wasn't so much handsome as a doll as to make the old fellow, but she was intelligent; in fact, his intelligence was her best hold; but one; she was great on making baby garments, and had her trunk full, packed away, that she might be ready as willing when the evil hour drew nigh, as she trusted it would from time to time.

IF THE LADIES BUT KNEW What thousands of them are constantly relating to us, we candidly believe one half of the weakness, prostration and distress experienced by them would vanish.

AND HERE VALTER, IS A YOUNG MAN, Just like you and us, my boy. He has his wife, some children, and is a good man. He has a knowledge of the world, acquired by mixing with its people, he has ambition and the same end in view to honor, fame and distinction, as had Franklin, Fulton, Morse, and a host of others. He is naturally an art, but, Valter, a boy, he has his own little petty under the great grand turning of the beautiful corners of the world, his mother so loved to kiss. These, my boy, tell a sad tale of early shipwreck, of disease, of premature death, of neglected and squandered gifts.

PLANTATION BITTERS. I wanted to hand several "bricks" down to posterity, and was told by father that with a New England girl for a wife, I could raise more children, grow more honest, and more sane, and more healthy, than any other sort of woman in this happy country so-called.

AND HERE VALTER, IS A YOUNG MAN, Just like you and us, my boy. He has his wife, some children, and is a good man. He has a knowledge of the world, acquired by mixing with its people, he has ambition and the same end in view to honor, fame and distinction, as had Franklin, Fulton, Morse, and a host of others. He is naturally an art, but, Valter, a boy, he has his own little petty under the great grand turning of the beautiful corners of the world, his mother so loved to kiss. These, my boy, tell a sad tale of early shipwreck, of disease, of premature death, of neglected and squandered gifts.

PLANTATION BITTERS. I wanted to hand several "bricks" down to posterity, and was told by father that with a New England girl for a wife, I could raise more children, grow more honest, and more sane, and more healthy, than any other sort of woman in this happy country so-called.

PLANTATION BITTERS. Are always pure, reliable. They are strengthening and invigorating, and are exhausted Nature's great restorer. As an agreeable and pleasant tonic and appetizer, they cannot be excelled.
