DEBATE IN THE BRITISH HOUSE OF COMMONS-THE CASE OF THE MATOR OF CORE.THE UNITED STATES IN CHANCERY,

LONDON, May 5 .- In the House of Commons Sullivan, the Attorney-General for Ireland, moved for leave to bring in a bill to disable the present Mayor of Cork from acting as a magistrate. He gave a history of the disloyal conduct of the Mayor up to its culmination in the late inflammatory speech at the dinner recently given in Cork to Warren and Castello, and said, after much consideration the government had come to the conclusion that the present step was advisable. Several members disapproved the course of the government as a stretch of constitutional power, an ordinary action of law being open to it for a remedy. Sir John Gray, the member for Kilkenny, and Maguire, the member for Cork, urged the necessity of giving the Mayor full opportunity for meeting , the charges made against him. They complained that the action of the government was based only on the newspaper reports. Disraeli deprecated as imprudent the release of Fenian prisoners. If the action for seditions language had been taken earlier the presen step would not have become necessary. He would not oppose the introduction of the bill, but urged the House to consider well the step proposed, and the constitutional questions in-loses and the Militia—The Personnel of the State Government-A Power Behind the Throne, &c.

COLUMBIA, S. C., May 6, 1869 .- It is the opinion here that Adjutant-General Moses will only get negroes to form his militia; for as regards the whites, "that occupation's gone," and all now have "conscientions scruples." H. Sparnick has gone travelling on the fat mecome of his sincoure: the Superintendent of Education. J. K. Jillson, gets his $2500 for probably dreaming about the place he has in prospective to satisfy the freedmen's "whines about a-going to Cawidge;" and we are more than willing that General Moses should shut up shop, and d away with "the big plumes and spirit-stirr drum." The muster days in the olden time, with plenty of mean whiskey and broken noses, were bad enough, but the disastrous consequences that will result if this militia system is carried out will be tremendous.

The Treasury Department costs $2600 more than it did under the old regime. Treasurer Parker's clerks fortunately understand his duties. Cardozo, Secretary of State, though colored, is the most intelligent, best qualified and most popular of all the State officers. He is well thought of by every one here, irrespective of party.

But little is being done in the Executive Department since Governor Scott has left, yet his absence matters but little, as "the stay behind the throne"—old John Heart—has always done the brain, as well as the manual work of the concern-writes all messages, documents of importance, &c., and the old Revnard uses Scott as a mere cat's-paw; and it is conclusive to us that the latter is no Governor at all, from this plain reasoning : Scott must either be Governor de facto and de jure, or one or the ernor de jure, and since Heart is Governor de facto, the Ohioan is left out in the cold. Report says he is worth $300,000 and sought the gubernatorial chair only from ambitious motives. Query : Is Scott's ambition ill-directed?

S. L. Hoge, T. J. Robertson and A. S. Wallace are here, and Assistant Adjutant-General Eliott (colored) attracts attention by dashing through the streets in his double buggy at a break-neck trot.

THE SCHUETZENFEST.

LAST DAY OF THE GREAT FESTIVAL. Distribution of the Prizes and Crowning of the King.

The fact that yesterday would be the concluding day of the Schuetzenfest, drew together the largest crowd that has ever been een at the Platz. The trains, omnibuses, private and public vehicles were tasked to the utmost to convey the immense number of visitors. These were not confined to the Teutonic element. All nationalities and all classes flocked to the gay scene to enjoy the occasion, and witness or participate in its joys and amusements. The city was deserted; many stores were closed, and avenues of trade were as still and quiet as on Sunday.

THE MORNING Was spent in various pastimes; the Sængerbund and the Teutonia societies sang; the Turners, adult and juvenile, contorted themselves into indescribable shapes; the music of the band and the harps filled the air with delightful sounds, and even the quivering leaves on the overarching branches were inclined to put on airs. About midday the grounds began to fill up rapidly. Every effort was made to cause the last day to be an epoch in the history of the Charleston Schuetzen. Sugar eating, pilk feeding, each racing, greasy pole climbing, mill walking, and sliding on the waterfall caused dense masses to congregate wherever these sports were in process. The greasy poll was successfully climbed by a white boy, who cleaned the hoop of its prizes as he did last

The very best spirit prevailed, and all seemed to enjoy themselves. It would be unwise even to guess at the amount of lager consumed. Kegs and barrels were emptied and replaced, and these again ran dry. Yet, to the honor of the Schutzen be it said, there was not one riotons person on the ground. So much for lager, with our good Germans to drink it. No inpleasant incident jarred the harmonies of the day. The participants were all too good humored to get vexed with anybody. In the matter of courtesy, the German hosts were masters of the situation, and dispensed their heartfelt hospitality in a free and whole-souled

The shooting ceased at four o'clock, and a brass howitzer made the fact known in stentotones. The committee immediately set to work making out the prize list. It was complated by half-past 5 o'clock, when there was a general assembling around the tribune, where the Sæpgerbund and the Teutonia and their visiting friends sang a parting song as a prelude to the GENERAL DISTRIBUTION OF PRIZES. Captain Melchers then introduced Professo H. D. Meier, saying that he had enough to do without making the speech of the occasion.

Professor Meier delivered an eloquent address in German, speaking of the festival and the glory of the occasion, and the success that had attended it from beginning to end. He continued for some time in his usually impagsioned strain, passing in review the main and incidental features of the festival, not forgetting handsome allusions to the visiting Schuot zon. He was frequently and loudly applauded. Filling the Schuetzen horn, which can hold the King. He then addressed the masses in English, and said he regretted he could not speak that language as fluently as he would like, and give expression to the sentiments that filled his heart. He thanked the people of Charleston for the generous support they had given the testival. They had sustained it in a manner that would never be forgotten. banner to him was the banner of "free labor." Professor Meier then announced the prizes as follows:

PARSIVE MEMBERS OF THE CLUB. J. H. Happold, one piano cover; R. S. Bruns two boxes cigars. The latter gentleman was loudly called on for a speech. After much entreaty and loud calls from the crowd he yielded, and remarked, that he wished to thank them in behalf of the American people for the Fest, and regretted that he could not speak to them in the language of the vaterland. He hoped that the club would on the next festival contain hundreds of natives as members. Professor Meier's remarks, he said, were worthy of the great German nation of which he was a Bergmann, President of the Teutonia Society, received the Lindstedt prize, a pair of horns presented to the Teutonia and Smogerbund Societies for singing. He said that as long as the societies existed they would come and sing at the festival. He offered three cheers. and closed with a musical hurrah, in which many joined. D. W. Goetjen, the body, which made him king. As he ascended the tribune, Professor Meier called for three cheers for "our king," but only a "Schuetzen King." The king was accompanied to the tribune by his queen, Miss M. Sahlmann, and her maids of honor: Miss C. Cordes and Miss M. Muller. Ex-President Spengler, of the Washington corps, addressed the new king, and said it gave him great pleasure, as a stranger, to present the diamond studded insig .ia, (to be worn for one year,) a present from Mr. George A. Wiliams, of New York; also, the gold hunting case watch, from the Jersey Schuetzen Corps. The king said he could not make a speech but Professor Meier would return his thanks, which he did in a very appropriate and handsome manner. The Schuetzen parti-colored sash with the raised gold thread script letters, "Schuetzen Konig, 1869," was placed across the king's breast, after which he placed the floral crown on the head of his queen. Captain Melchers called for "three cheers," which were given for the queen with a will, and a "tiger." The Schuetsen horn was then filled with Rhine wine, and the king "whet his whistle" and handed it to those near him, who drained it to the bottom.

Captain Stone, a visitor, returned his thanks for the attention that had been shown him as an officer of the United States Navy. THE BALLOON ASCENSION.

During the day a large belison was sent up, and was followed by the eyes of thousands until it was lost to sight.

When the shades of night fell, the booths and grounds were illuminated with innumera ble Chinese linterns, hung in the trees and amidst the flags, giving a soft light to the scene. Later there was a display of fireworks. and not until near midnight did the merry making cease.

Charleston has known. There was not one blot on the record from firetto last, not our hitch in the arrangements. The committee covered themselves with glory, and the Schnetzen know that this year they have had "Volksfest" indeed, in which all people bined and with which all were pleased. And if we may so single out one feature as the crowning merit of the whole, it is that a lally was as safe at the Schne'zen Platz as in he own parlor, and would have found, at need, in every Schuetzen a protector as in every German The Fest of 1869 is over. Hurrah for the German Schuetzen !!!

LET US PROFECT OURSELVES ._ The physical structure of the strongest human being is vulnerable everywhere. Our bodies are endowed by nature with a certain negative power, which protects them, to some estent, from unwholesome influences; but this protection is imperfect, and cannot be safely relied on in unbealthy regions. ger. Therefore, it is wisdom, it is prudence, it is common sense to provide against such contingencies, by taking an ANTIDOTE IN ADVANCE; in other words, by fortifying the system with HOSTETTER'S STO-MACH BITTERS-the most complete protective against all the epidemic and endemic muladi s that has ever been administered in any country. As a remedy for Dyspepsia, there is no mericine that will compare with it. Whoever suffers the pangs of indignstion, anywhere on the face of the earth where HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS can be pro cured, does so vo'untarily; for, as sure'y as truth exists, this invalu ble TONIO and ALTERATIVE would restore his disordered atomach to a Lealthy condition. To the nervous it is also especially recommen led, and in cases of confirmed constipation is also affords speedy and permanent relief. In all cases of fever and ague the BITTERS is more potent than any amount of quinine, while the most dangerous cases of biliou; fever yield to its wonderful properties Those who have tried the medicine will never use another, for any of the ailments which the HOSTET: ER BITTERS professes to subdue. To those who have not made the experiment we cordially re-omment an early appli cation to the BITTERS whenever they are stricker by disease of the digestive organs.
