KEROSENE EXPLOSION. Day before yesteray, a lady in this city placed a kerosene lamp before her on a centre table, and when in the set of turning the screw to decrease the light, a terrible explosion ensued, throwing the oil in every direction. Fortunately she sprang out of the way in time to cave herself from the flame, which devoured everything within its

Major Engelpard was a gallant and distinguished officer in the Confederate army, and is now working manfully to restore to his native State the political purity and material prosperity of which she has been robbed by the shiftless adventurers who for the time control

THE BLAST NEW WHEAR .- The Baltimore Sun, of Monday, says: "A small lot of South Carolina ne proced wheat, the first of the new crop, raised by George W. Melton, Esq.; of Chester S. C., was offered on 'Change on Saturday morning by Mr. J. G. Middleton, and purchased by Mr. Samuel Duer at $2 25 per bushel. The grain was small, but is represented as being in elegant condition. The wheat crop of South Carolina is said to be very fine."

REPORTERS' CHUMBS .- Frequent accidents from kerosene are inducing many persons to ndon the use of this explosive oil. A planter says that the rains of the past two days, though light, have had a beneficial effect on cotton. The preliminaries for the first divorce case in this city will be arranged to-day by Magistrate Mackey. The suit is brought by a colored woman against her husband, also colored. The anti-Pillsburyites laugh at the idea of their having had any trap set to catch Mr. Pillsbury's "pets." A NovaL Question .- Yesterday the question was raised in the United States Court, in the peremptory challenging of two jurors in civil cases, as existing under the State law of 1840. was applicable to jury trials in the United States Courts. The question was raised by the plaintiff's attorney, and argued by the ings in the vicinity of Broad and Meeting Hen. Thomas Y. Simons and the Hon. C. SLEIGHT OF HARD .- On Monday, a box containing valuables and money, amounting to coffers are not in a condition to have this work $5000, was mysteriously stolen from the office done at present, and, besides, there are other of Messrs. W. P. Dowling & Co., Boyce & Co.'s streets that sadly need paving, and should rewhatf, without any one knowing of its absence ceive attention first. For instance, King-street, until one of the partners was called to the detective office to identify the prekage. "Bull city is transacted. The judges, jurymen, law-Bead," a notorious colored thief, not long out of the penitentiary, was apprehended on the noise for swhile longer, and if the sawdust will street with the box in his possession, and not being able to account for it was arrested by the detective. The thief had watched his chance, and while the attention of the occupants of the office was engaged, he successfully played his game of "sleight of hand."

SUSPENSION OF THE ZEITUNG. - With much regret we notice in the asue of the Charlestoner Zeitung, for the 14th mat., a paragragh, of which the following is a translation:

which the following is a translation:

Sad News.—We regret to be compelled to annuance to our readers to-day that the Charlestoner Zeitung cannot appear again for some time, as the "responsible" editor and preprietor of the same, Professor Herman D. Meier, is not to be found anywhere. If any of our subscribers should not receive this number of the Zeitung, it will be because Prof. Herman D. Meier did not furnish the requisite amount of paper.

We are compelled to ask Prof. Meier, in this for further instructions, and we are compelled to ask frot. the pen of Mr. Beyer, the indefatigable assistant editor of the Zeitung, who has but recently become connected with that journal.

THE ATTEMPTED MEETING OF THE

In consequence of a lack of a quorum the regular meeting of the City Council was not held last night. Eight o clock is the time appointed for the meetings, and at that hour Aldermen E. W. M. Mackey, T. J. Mackey, D. Barrow, J. F. Greene, Thorne, L. F. Wall, E. P. Wall and Hampton, the last four colored, were assembled around the board. The four colored men clustered together in the centre of the board, and were entertained in conversation by Aldermen E. W. M. Mackey. Alderman T. J. Mackey amused himself by writing on a large sheet of paper, what afterward was ascertained, to be a ticket for city officers. This paper he passed back and forth to his white and colered friends, explaining to them where the joke lay, doing so until each and every one "saw" it. Thus the time passed. The fifteen minutes allowed by the ordinance to elapse before the meeting can expire by default, dragged clowly by, but the Mayor came not. In five minutes more he did, however, and cailed the meeting

The clerk called the roll, and those above mentioned, eight in number, answered. The Mayor. There being no quorum present, I'll hear a motion to adjourn. Alderman Barrow. I move that the Board djourn until Tuesday night next. The Mayor. I'll hear a motion to adjourn. E. P. Wall (colored.) I move we adjourn, ubject to the call of the Mayor. Alderman Barrow. My motion was seconded. The Mayor. I am not entertaining motions

o adjourn to a fixed time. Alderman Greene. I seconded his (Barrow's) motion, Alderman Barrow. I do not see how you can entertain one motion to adjourn and not another. He then read a rule from Jefferson's Manual regarding the adjournment of meetings to a given time, and claimed that the rule ap. plied in this case. The Mayor. That rule only governs legislative bodies, and not this Council. The only motion I can entertain is one to adjourn. As there is no motion to that effect I now adjourn chamber, when Alderman T. J. Mackey jumped to his seat and said, in a sarcastic tone: I regret that you have left the chair so abruptly, as I have a ticket for city officers to present, made up from your known personal friends. This announcement occasioned a great deal of amusement, and a large number of persons, who are known to have "an eye to office" and 'hopes," gathered around him to look over the paper which the Alderman freely displayed. Conspicuous among this crowd, was the nankeen-colored office-hunter DeLarge, who vociferously requested a copy for the African Missionary.

The Mayor, who had only turned to look at Alderman Mackey when he addressed him, had, by this time, left the chamber. Alderman Barrow. I move that Alderman

L. F. Wall take the chair and adjourn the Board properly. Wall, colored, arising, and with an unnatural dignity, said: I decline. Alderman Barrow, 1 mean Alderman E. P.

Wall. E. P. Wall, colored. I enjoy a good joke, but I will not be made a clown of in such a farce as is being enacted here. [Laughter.]

Alderman T. J. Mackey. It is not necessary that any Alderman should take the chair. I move that the Council adjourn, to meet on Tuesday night next.

He then put the motion, which was carried. Council then adjourned.

The ticket which Alderman Mackey wished to introduce is as follows: For City Inspector—Captain Joseph H. Jenks, late Cashier Freedmen's Savings Bank. For City Attorney—Hon. D. T. Corbin, United States Attorney.

For City Treasurer—Hon. D. T. Corbin, State

Senator. For City Registrar—Hon. D. T. Corbin, Lieutenant-Governor.

> INTERESTING EXERCISES OF THE SUNDAY SCHOOL OF THE CITADEL SQUARE BAPTIST CHURCE.-On Sunday last the anniversary of the Sunday-school of the Citadel Square Baptist Church was celebrated in that Church, and the exercises were of a most interesting character. The reports upon the condition of the school showed that there are at present four officers, twenty-three male and female teachers, one hundred and forty six male, and one hundred and forty-nine female scholars. During the past year one female teacher and one female scholar were removed by death; one officer, one female teacher, one male and three female > scholars united themselves with the Church. The "Infant class" of this school has eightytwo members, but only one-fourth of the number were present, the epidemic (measles) keeping the remainder away. A prize was given to each member of this class, and about forty prizes were distributed among the more advanced scholars.

The exercises were conducted in the following order: Singing, "Marching Along;" prayer ly felt, and we have a striking exemplification by the pastor; singing, "A Land Without of the truth that "in the midst of life we are a Storm;" reading of Scripture; singing, in death." Our deceased friend was possessed "We'll Try to be L'ke Jesus;" address by the of many of the good qualities which should pastor; Superintendent's report; singing, "The characterize the man—upright and strictly Better Land;" distribution of prizes; singing, honest in all his dealings with his fellows, "Singing and Praising;" benediction.

THE STATE COURT-IN THE GENERAL SES-SIONS-HON. R. B. CARPENTER, PRESIDING .-The case of the State vs. Gabriel Levy, indictment for murder, was up for trial. The cirsumstances, as developed by the evidence, are briefly these: On the 25th of September, 1868, the prisoner and deceased were at work upon the plantation of Dr. Burker on Cooper River, about fourteen miles from the city. A dispute occurred be tween the prisoner and one Robin Steward, which was afterwards interfered in by the deceased. After daring the prisoner to come out on the bank, the deceased assaulted him. The prisoner did not return the assault at first, but upon its being continued, picked up a paddle in an adjoining cance and hit the deceased upon the head; that before being separated, the prisoner and deceased resumed the work, and that on the next day Richard Nesbitt died. After the examination of the testimony, John A. Moroso, Esq., opened for the defence He contended that even if the death resulted from the blows as alleged, the circumstances of the case deprived it of its criminal nature, and made it a case of homicide se defendendo—that the prisoner inflicted the blow under the impression that he was about to receive great bodily harm, and only after having retreated. He demanded a verdict of acquittal for the Attorney-General Chamberlain then addressed the jury in reply. He contended that the right of self-defence was undenied, but that it should be only exercised in a reasonable manner, and that the infliction of the blow was the promptings of malice, and that the jury were bound to convict of murder or manslaughter.

G. H. Sass, Esq., closed the argument in be half of the defence. He contended, first, that there was an absence of malice necessary to make it murder; second, that it was not in evidence that the death resulted from the blow, and that, even admitting that, under all the circumstances, it was a case of justifiable hom-

His Honor the Judge charged the jury that under the evidence they were bound to return a verdict of murder or manslaughter.

The jury after an absence of some hours, returned a verdict of "Guilty of manslaughter." The State vs. Harriet Maxwell-Indictment for larceny; R. S. Tharin, Esq., for the defence. "Guilty."
