Grief tinges her joy, and in sad meditation

She hearkens, taint bloom on her cheeks,

Ra bitterly, now, of her lottier station,

He- proud-hearted kindred he speaks.

O love, if long absence and sorrow shall part us,

Involute faith will you a ear?"

Beware of the mirror, the treacherous mirror, Young lovers, young lovers, beware !

For mirrors are genuice gossips, and labor
In lustrously sociable way,
With speed telegraphic from neighbor to neighbor
All passing events to convey.
And this that beholds you will publish its tidings
Attentive no detail to spare.
Beware of the mirror, the treacherons mirror, Poor lovers, poor lovers, beware!

Already the chamber adjoining confesses
Their secret with cold unconcern.
Bevealing minutaly his lavish carceses,
Minutely her guitle return;
And one whom the me ciless image amszes
Oonfronts it with manyelling air.
Bewars of the mirror, the freacherous mirror,
Poor lovers, poor lovers, beware!

Oh, few are the secrets, however we prize them,
That long undiscovered remain;
This curious world has a charm which defies them—A spell to unravel the rakein!
The illustrater crouches when least we suspect him,
The spy, when least uneight his suare,
And alway, it seems, of life's treacherous mirrors
Too la e is the wareing—beware!

THE CHARLESTON MARKET.

FOR THE WEEK ENDING JULY 1, 1869.

THE CROPS -The planting interest throughout the South has experienced, during the week just closed, a continuation of the hot and dry weather previously prevailing, and the cotton plant, under its influence, has exhibited a steady and gratifying nevel-, and favorable crop reports have been recoment, and lavorable crop reports an imospheric itions which have been experienced for several weeks past will, if not interrupted by the course of uture evects, have a most beneficial effect in giving and boards. There is some inquiry for lumber vesthe most 'avorable cotton yield possible under the sels for the West Indies, from the same points, and present status of affairs.

The corn crop, although generally looking well, has reached that condition of its growth which will require early and refreshing showers in order to perfect the grain, and unless such timely rains are secured the yield will be seriously lessened.

The rice crop, also, in several of the rivers, stands in urgent want of a supply of fresh water, and the yield in many cares will be seriously diminished unless an early rain is secured.

Cotton Goods Market.

MANCHESTER, June 18.—The amount of business done to-day has not been large in shipping garms, in consequence of the high price demanded by spinners, though it has been of tair extent. A good deal was offering at some relaxation of prices. Op yarms were strong at ½d per pound advance on Inesday; but there was less business offering than resterday or on Wednesday. Both in twist and welt the prices required have restricted operations. In cloth as well as yarms this market has sympathized with the advance quoted for cotton and yarn; but buyers have maintained their position of inactivity, and since Iuesday the total amount of business effected has been small, and exceedingly little has been done at any advance. The prices previously ruling could in doubt be more readily obtained; but even at these rates there is to evidence of a desire to purchase. To day our market is still quieter than it was yesterday and on Wednesday, and although quotations rule 1½d to 3d per pound higher than on luesday, the advance asked is tound to limit operations, and must, therefore, be considered unattainable.
