SUDDEN DEATH.—Yesterday morning a young lady, Miss Maggie R. Lee, died very suddenly at her place of abode, near the corner of Judith and Elizabeth-streets. She attended church the day before, was in perfect health, and retired with her sister at the usual hour. Yesterday morning, her sister on waking, found her companion, as she supposed, sleeping soundly, and then made no attempt to arouse her, but in doing so a short time after, was horrified to find that she was dead.

NOT A BAST.—Sunday night one of the colored policemen reported to the police barracks that he discovered the body of a white infant in Spring-street. He went back and struck a light over the spot and stood guard all night in order to keep the body undisturbed until the Coroner could see it. Daylight came, and much to the disgust of the "colored star" he found that he had been watching a bundle of tripe.

HOOK ARRIVAL JULY 5.—Parvian Hotel.—S. Brothers, Collectors; J. K. Daxley, H. L. Macab, Fayetteville, N. C.; J. D. Powell, J. F. Bookman, South Carolina; C. H. Wright, Beaufort, S. C. Charleston Hotel.—A. W. Rhodes, Kingsville, Tenn.; G. Burroughs, U. S. A.; W. W. Brown, Montgomery, Ala.; J. W. Anderson, Savannah; W. D. Palmer, J. A. Galston, Mason; F. Sewell, Ohio; J. Scholmacker, Philadelphia; W. W. Haines, Atlanta.

SPENDING TOO MUCH MONEY.—Yesterday, a man in the employ of the proprietor of the American Hotel was arrested by Officers Coates and Quinn, on the charge of appropriating other people's money to his own use. He came to this country about nine months ago, and was immediately employed at the above-mentioned place. His wages up to this time amounted to $140, but he had spent $280 in clothing, has $75 in bank, and had $39 in his pocket when arrested.

THE FOURTH.—Not celebrated by the citizens generally, and but for the closed stores, free display of bunting by the ships and from the public buildings, there was very little to mark the Ninety-third Anniversary of American Independence. Hook and Ladder Company, No. 1, had a pleasant excursion on the steamer Relief, and a large number of citizens availed themselves of the opportunity to sail around the harbor on the steamer Emalie, St. Helena and the Diatlor. The Cincinnati Society had a pleasant dinner. To the citizens generally, however, the day passed as of old.

CAUTION.—Alderman T. J. Mackey's opinion on the Battery, yesterday, will be published in pamphlet form. Nine cases of drunkenness were disposed of by the Mayor yesterday. The offenders were let off easily in consideration of the fact that it was the "Fourth."

Alderman T. J. Mackey, on being told that it was somewhat strange that he and the Mayor should ride together, remarked that it couldn't be helped, as there was but the one carriage provided for them. It is somewhat remarkable that in the speech of Alderman Mackey to the negroes, yesterday, there was not one allusion to Republicanism. The drunken soldier, who disturbed the Trinity Church congregation on Sunday morning last, was fined $5 by the Mayor yesterday. Two women had a set-to on Pitt-street, Sunday afternoon, and one, Betsy McBride, was badly beaten over the head. Her assailant was sent to jail for ten days, by the Mayor, yesterday.

The negro women and men who live in a little wooden shanty on King just above Broad-street, are much complained of by the people living in the vicinity. The installation of officers of the Jefferson Lodge, I. O. O. F., will take place at Odd Fellows' Hall, at 8 o'clock to-night. The members and ladies are invited to attend. "Fair Play," a correspondent, informs us that Wm. N. Taft, who is a candidate for the position of Captain of the Third Rhode Island Battery, as was reported by was only a corporal in the United States army. A soldier was badly beaten by three negroes yesterday. The negroes were arrested. The British and Prussian consuls yesterday displayed the flags of their respective nations.

"THE DAY WE CELEBRATE"

PARADE OF COLORED SOLDIERS, LOTAL LEAGUE, BENEVOLENT SOCIETIES AND FIREMEN—THE LEADERS OF THE COURAGEOUS FACTIONS RIDE TOGETHER—THEY HAVE A FALLING OUT.

"Rev." Wm. H. Brown Thanks God that the Colored People have the Whites Down in the Dust and their Feet upon their necks—Alderman Mackey's speech, &c., &c.

"The day we celebrate" is over, and if Imperialism or anything else will prevent another, this Local sincerely hopes that we may have at least a modicum of the prevention.

For months back the colored people have been making preparations to celebrate the ninety-third Anniversary of American Independence, which culminated yesterday in what they would call a grand demonstration. But really it was not on a large scale as any of the celebrations they have inflicted upon themselves since the "Day of Jubilee" came.

Early yesterday morning the celebrators were aroused to their duties by the chimas of St. Michael's. About six o'clock the volunteer companies commenced to parade, and continued to do so until half-past eight o'clock, much to the admiration of the young girls, but to the disgust of the dames, who had stand with refreshments, and wanted them to stop and invest.

THE MARCH. About half-past nine, the African Blues, Lincoln Light Infantry, Lincoln Republican Guards, DeLaney Guards, Masons, Loyal League, St. Peter's Benevolent Society, about a hundred colored and four white citizens were gotten into line at the corner of Calhoun and Meeting streets. At twenty minutes past nine the line moved down Meeting to Calhoun, down Calhoun to King, down King to Wentworth, through Wentworth to Meeting, down Meeting to Queen, through Queen to East Bay, down East Bay to the Battery, in the following order: L. I. Wolf, with cocked hat, sword, yellow topped boots, and an extraordinary amount of self-importance; a drum corps; four companies of soldiers, variously uniformed, and armed with flint locks, smooth and rifle bore guns; a Masonic society; the Loyal League; the St. Peter's Benevolent Society, and about one hundred colored citizens, all on foot. The four white men who started with the line did not remain long; two bolted at the Charleston Hotel and the other two at the corner of Queen and Meeting streets. The fact that they are unknown to me prevented the appearance of their names in this connection; no one knew them. Marshal Wolf had several assistants, all colored and all mounted; among them was Joe Greene.

OCCUPANTS OF THE CARRIAGES. Just in rear of the drum corps were three carriages, the first of which had four horses. In this were Mayor Pillsbury, Alderman T. J. Mackey and E. W. M. Mackey, and A. J. Ransier, colored. The second carriage was occupied by F. C. Miller, County Commissioner; "Bo." W. H. Brown, colored; Arthur Mackey, and Magistrate J. G. Mackey. The third by Magistrate Bunch, Geo. A. Richmond and two others unknown.

AT THE BATTERY The line was marched into the enclosure and the ranks opened, through which the marshal and aides and the occupants of the carriages passed to the platform which had been erected about the centre of the grounds. After which there was a general breaking of ranks, and the large mass of men, women and children thronged around the platform, which was an ordinary structure covered with United States flags. On it we noticed Mayor Pillsbury, Alderman T. J. and E. W. M. Mackey, Greene, Barrow, and E. P. Wall, colored, Major Willoughby, F. C. Miller, Arthur Mackey, Magistrates J. G. Mackey, Bunch, DeLaney, colored, Misaw, Wood, Oliver, E. P. Wall, J. M. Adams, W. R. Mitchell, John Morris, L. F. Wall, J. D. Robinson, Peter Ashe, Thos. Holmes, colored, Secrotaries, W. J. Ballentine, J. T. Milligan, C. W. Graves, whites; H. Maxwell, H. N. Grant, Wm. H. Birney, B. R. Arsons, John Vanderpool, J. B. Mashington, H. G. Thomas, J. B. Plummeau, J. P. Howard, colored.

THE OFFICERS OF THE MEETING Were announced from the stand by Magistrate Misaw, shortly after the arrival of the procession. They are as follows: President, A. J. Ransier, colored; Vice-Presidents, E. W. M. Mackey, D. H. Chamberlain, F. C. Miller, Bobt. James, David Barrow, J. T. Mackey, A. C. Richmond, J. B. Dennis, W. N. Taft, A. M. Mackey, James Greene, B. C. Harris, whites; H. M. Misaw, B. C. DeLaney, Bobt. Howard, Wm. Oliver, E. P. Wall, J. M. Adams, W. R. Mitchell, John Morris, L. F. Wall, J. D. Robinson, Peter Ashe, Thos. Holmes, colored. Secrotaries, W. J. Ballentine, J. T. Milligan, C. W. Graves, whites; H. Maxwell, H. N. Grant, Wm. H. Birney, B. R. Arsons, John Vanderpool, J. B. Mashington, H. G. Thomas, J. B. Plummeau, J. P. Howard, colored.

THE EXERCISES Were commenced with prayer by "Rev." W. H. Brown, colored, who was introduced by the president. Brown, during his prayer, said that he thanked God who had made the colored people free after two hundred and fifty years of bondage, and had placed them in triumph over the white men; that the "colored people now had the white men down in the dust and their feet upon their necks."

St. Dickerson, colored, was introduced immediately after the prayer, and in a bungling manner read the Declaration of Independence. When he came to the clause, "all men being born free and equal," he read it with great emphasis, the drums rolled and the reader waited for applause, which was not given.

At the conclusion of the reading, and about half-past eleven o'clock, Alderman T. J. Mackey, the orator of the day, was introduced. The speaker commenced by saying that however remote be the period of history which narrates the performance of brilliant achievements, the record calls it again into life and action. The record of deeds of renown finds a generous welcome in the human heart. The distant mingles with the present, and we kindle on the altar of the past the flame which is to light us to greatness in the future. If such be the effect of remote narration, springing from mere historic interest, how much more deep and positive should be the result of such concerns events in which our own rights and liberties were founded—or triumphs which our ancestors achieved and bequeathed to the inestimable benefits to us.

The speaker then gave a running sketch of the incidents connected with the Revolutionary war, commencing with the repulse of Sir Hyde Parker's fleet by the runners of Fort Moultrie. During this sketch he read the following excerpt from a letter written by General Greene to Alexander Hamilton, regarding affairs in South Carolina during the Revolutionary war: "There is nothing but murder and devastation in every quarter. There is no such thing as national character. The inhabitants are numerous, but they would rather be formidable abroad than at home. But there is a great spirit of enterprise among the black people, and those that come out as volunteers are not a little formidable to the enemy."—[Italics ours.—REDACTED.]

He concluded as follows: "Fellow-citizens: The record of the events that we celebrate to-day, viewed in the light of the present, carries with it thoughts of cheering congratulation and instructive admonition. "Happy are we that we are citizens of a free and great republic, whose flag is the symbol of power upon every sea, and of dignity and honor in every land! "Let us remember that the true glory and greatness of our country, and the only solid foundation upon which its prosperity can rest, are the virtue and intelligence of the people. The achievement of liberty is easier than its preservation; the one may result from the weakness of your enemy, the other must depend solely upon your own moral strength. Let us remember, above all, that the path of duty is the only path of honor. "As the shepherds of Arabia, when the storm threatens, seek shelter beneath the palm, let us amid foreign war, or domestic treason, cling close to the flag of the Union, and let it be to us as were the moving symbols of his God to the Israelite of old. A pillow of cloud by day and of fire by night. "A few years ago there was to be seen in the City of Paris a veteran soldier of the wars of the great Napoleon. In speaking of the two hundred battles through which he had borne the eagles of France victorious, he described the last great battle in which went down forever the fabled fortunes of his mighty chief, and he exclaimed with exultant voice and beaming eye, 'I fired the last gun at Waterloo! "Thus, fellow-citizens, if American liberty is ever to disappear from this continent; if the great charter of American rights, the constitution, is to fall, let the future historian write of the loyal freemen of South Carolina, that they fired the last gun in defence of the American Union, and that that Union, like the day we celebrate, be immortal!"

There was very little attention paid to the oration, the assemblage collecting into small groups and discussing in a loud tone every and every subject that was presented. Some twenty or more of the males coiled up under the stand and went to sleep. The oration was not of the kind to suit the tastes of the colored people; there was no praise of them, no appeal to their passions, no harangue about social equality and their fitness for office. CLOSE OF THE EXERCISES. There appeared to be no disposition on the part of the colored people to listen to more speeches, and those present who were "cocked and primed" did not go off; but the audience did, without any regard to order or respect to those who had earnestly labored to get up the celebration. On and around the Battery there could not have been less than eight or nine thousand colored people, one twentieth part of whom were engaged in selling refreshments, occupying every available foot of ground on and about the grounds. Some of the dealers put up and occupied their stands on Saturday.

THE LEADERS HAVE A FALLING OUT. As soon as the audience dispersed, the Mayor and Alderman T. J. Mackey, with others, resumed their seats in the carriages and drove rapidly up the street. As the carriage containing the rival leaders was passing the Circular Church, a wheel broke and the occupants were thrown into the street, but sustained no damage.

PARADE OF THE FIREMEN. In the afternoon the colored fire companies paraded through the principal streets, conducting themselves in a very orderly manner, and presenting quite an attractive appearance. They marched in the following order: Axe Company, No. 1, of Savannah; Ashley Company, Comet, parading one hundred and ten men, with their engine and hose reel; Promptitude Company, Niagara Company, United Company, and Prudence Company. This parade wound up the exercises of the day with the colored people, who appeared to enjoy themselves.

ROSDALIS. A special from Washington to the New York Herald states that Dr. A. G. Mackey is there endeavoring to get himself reinstated as collector of this port, claiming that his successor, Mr. Clark, is a Democrat, and that he was removed without just cause. If Mr. Clark is a Democrat, he is a queer kind of one. We are indebted to him for colored policemen, and his violent speech at a Radical meeting on the Battery is not forgotten by our people. To give even the devil his due is our rule, and we must state that Mr. Clark is a Radical.
