A singular political complication has arisen in France. The executioner of Paris desires to sell his terrible office to "a monsieur not disagreeable to the Imperial Government."

The Cuban filibusters, numbering one hundred and twenty-four, who were captured on Gardiner's Island last week and placed in Fort Lafayette; were discharged on Friday upon parole not to violate the neutrality laws, and are dispersing to their respective homes.

The cane fibre will be transported to Fredericksburg, where there is great water power, by which the fibre will be ground, beaten up, or reduced to pulp, for the above articles.

A celebrated German minne singer, who addred birds, ordered that after his death the sparrows should be fed daily upon his tomb. If Bergh ever dies there should be a subscription taken up to give a bundle of hay to every needed horse in the vicinity of his last resting place, or some other appropriate memento. A New York evening paper gives the following description of his latest invention. It says Mr. Bergh, the President of the Society for he Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, has gone * into the transportation business. He has just had manufactured an immense truck for the conveyance from the streets of disabled animals, at a cost of $5000. The ficor of the truck slides in and out on rollers, and is so connect-ed with improved machinery that after the floor has been run out to receive the animal, two men, by working the muchinery, draw the quadruped in. Inside the truck a stretcher is orided to support the animal." This vehicle with he furnished by Mr. Bergh for the pur-

Many persons lancy that the Teutons assemble at night in their saloons to make enormous and intemperate exhibitions of their national beverage, and to make beasts of themselves." But those who understand this valuable class of our citizens, know that their atherings are not bacchaualian, but social, and that conversation and not mebriation is the object sought after the labors of the day. Those who are accustomed to the use of lager beer consume daily but little of it; perhaps not much more than habitual tea drinkers de sups of tea. A boy who had suddenly received the freedom of a candy-shop would, to doubt, for a few days cause to disappear a great number of sticks; but soon his appetite would be cloyed, and sweet things would sink to a low rank among the luxuries of app tite, and be for many days untasted. So it is with our sound headed Germans; while hours are spent in social unterhalting, perhaps not more than vome or two giasses of beer are swallowed, and the brain is teft as unbenebell as before. Whatever may be said of na ional beverages, the German brain will retain the ascendancy which is has alrealy wor.

CHARLESTON.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JULY 28, 1869.

It affords us great pleasure to publish this morning; in our advertising columns, an offer, from the Charleston Board of Trade, of TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTY DOLLARS for the best "Treatise (with statistics) upon "the past and present trade of Charlestonthe advantages to the Southeastern States of making Charleston their emporium and centre of exchange-and the measures which should be adopted for preserving "and enlarging these advantages."

The Charleston Board of Trade, though

but little over three years old, has, on re peated occasions, given proof not only of vitality, but of the full maturity of manhood. But a few weeks ago we chronicled the purchase of a fine building, to be used by them as their hall of meeting, library and reading room, and now we have the pleasare of recording another step in the right direction-the effort to gather into convenient shape-a vade mecum for referencethe facts and figures connected with the commerce of our city. It may seem strange that this should not have been done long ago. Other cities, not only New York, Philadelphis, Baltimore, Chicago and Cincinnati, but Louisville, Memphis, Nachville, Cleveland, and in fact almost every important city in the Union, annually publishes & report of the transactions of the year. This is usually done under the auspices of the Chambers of Commerce or Boards of Trade, and is the only authentic source of informstion on such subjects-and to outsiders the only source accessible. True, our daily papers have, for many years, on the first of September, given elaborate statements of the principal transactions of the year. These, however, confined themselves almost exclusively to our staple exports; 'and, besides, being published in the "market" columns of a morning paper, were not as widely read, nor so generally preserved, as would be the case with a publication brought forth under the auspices of the Board of Trade, taking a much broader scope, prepared with much more care, and issued: in pamphlet or book form.

We have occasion to know that very frequently letters of inquiry come here from abroad, both to the Mayor and to the Board of Trade, inquiring for just such information as it is designed to elicit by the above named prize treatise; and booksellers at $3 50, bound in best muslin, or hereafter, we hope, we shall not be under for $4 50 in library style. By sending the the painful necessity of answering these amount to Messrs. Walker, Evans & Cogsinquiries by stating that we have no statistics in Charleston; that it is not known how much cotton is sold here, and how much passes in transitu; how much corn, bacon, flour, hay, oats, lime, naval stores, lumber, are brought here, &c., &c., to say nothing of our shipping and jobbing trade. Again we say, we are glad that the Board of Trade has taken this matter in hand, and we doubt not that there is sufficient talent and industry among us to warrant the hope that we shall be able to present something to our sister cities, next fall, concerning the business of Charleston, of which we need not be ashamed.

The Ice Question.

The artificial production of ice has long been an experiment with which every tyro in soience is familiar; but it is only of late that the process has been so simplified and utilized as to render it, especially in warm latitudes, an important and profitable branch of manufacturing enterprise. A recent invention by a Jerseyman, which distills fresh and pure water from the ocean brine, and then in a few minutes converts the distilled water into solid blocks of crystal ice, is attracting much attention just now throughout the country. By a modification of the same plan, fruits, meats and vegetables can be preserved in their purity and freshness for an almost indefinite period. Artificial ice, manufactured by this process, is now sold in large quantities in New Orleans, and the system is coming into general use; but more particularly for the preservation of Texan beeves and their shipment to New York and other Northern cities. The hold of a vessel can be readily converted into a mammoth refrigerator, so that tons upon tons of perishable produce can be safely carried on long voyages; and the same principle can be successfully applied to the smallest refrigerator, and be made available for the convenience of the most limited household. The apparatus, which is exceedingly simple, admits of the production of any temperature desired, even as low as one degree below zero. It has been found, however, that thirty-five degrees, three above the freezing point, suffices to prevent the decomposition of meat, and that is the temperature used in demand for the new North Carolinas which licking style of Dr. Ticknor, of Georgia. Narch 12

Our Fields and Forests

RESOURCES OF THE SOUTHERN FIELDS AND FOR-ESTS, MEDICAL ECONOMICAL AND AGRICULTURAL; being also a Medical Botany of the Southern States, with Practical Information on the Useful Properties of the Trees, Plants and Shrubs, by Francis Peyre Porcher, M. D. Charleston: Walker, Evans & Cog:well,

We are glad that Dr. Porcher has met sufficient encouragement to warrant him in issuing

a second edition of his very valuable work.

The book was written and published during the late war, by direction of the Surgeon-General; and what with a small edition originally printed, and the general destruction by the war of every species of book, the work had already become rare, and much sought after.

We are pleased, therefore, now to see our old friend reappear, and dressed by those famed literary tailors, whose names appear at the foot of the title page, not in the dingy "Confederate Gray" of the first edition, but in splen did paper, typography and binding. A book like this is a great desideratum here at this time. The war, from necessity, threw our people largely upon their own resources. and long forgotten "domestic remedics" and swamp doctors' yarbs were again brought from their obsoure recesses, and even received a patronizing pat on the back from the great dons of the Faculty. So with valuable dye stuffs, seeds, grains and material for fine textile fabrics. Dr. Porcher, in this book, points out and describes, both for the learned and inlearned reader, no less than five hundred ubstauces, possessing every variety of useful quality, all to be found within the limits of the outhern States, and for all of which, be it remembered, there is a ready market. Here, then, are vast undeveloped resources, and likely to remain undeveloped, at least in a great measure, for the want of intelligent guidance. Not long since the writer endeavor ed to procure a book that should contain di rections for the unlearned, how to gather and prepare such of these indigenous roots, herbs leaves, barks, seeds, &c., as are sought for in the markets of the world; but after considerable inquiry he found that there is no book extant that gives such information. Dr. Por-cher's book contains this information, with minute directions where to find, and when to gather the articles described. It is, perhaps,

too expensive for many who would like to nos-sees such a work. Still, we can confidently say that it is the very best treatise on this subject to be had in the United States. Some of our feaders in the interior may be surprised to learn that herbe, weeds, and other such "trash," that they have seen "run to seed" all their lives, should have a marketable value. Such, however, is the case. From a catalogue before us of articles, advertised for by Dr. Wm. Armstrong & Co., Bnanic Drug Commission Merchants, No. 9 North Front street. Philadelphia, we will mention the fol lowing, for which there is nearly always a ready sale: Blackberry root, bark of blackberry root, black snake root, blood root, blue flag, boneset, butterfly root, button snake root, calamus root, catoip, cherry bark, cranesbill, cotton root, bark of the cotton root, dandelion root, yellow dock root, elecampane root, elder flowers, elm bark, (slippery) foxglove, ginseng, go'den seal, horehound, hydrangia, jessamine root, (yellow) lad es' slipper, larkspur seed, liverwort, mandrake root, marjoram, (sweet) male fern, pinkroot, pipsissews, parsley 100t and seeds, pennyroyal, peppermint, pleurisy root, horsemint, poke root, poppy heads and flowers, prickly ash bank and berries, poplar bark, queen's delight, quince leaves, raspberry lcaves, red oak bark, rosemary leaves, sage, sassafras bark, pith and oil, coullcap, snake root, Solomon's seal, spearmint, spikenard, sumac berries, sunflower seeds, sweet bazil, tanzy, tho napple leaves and seeds, thyme, watermelon seeds, white oak bark, wild ginger, wild turnip, wild vam, wintergreen, wormseed and

Some of these, perhaps, may not belong to this latitude, but these are more than counterbalanced by others found here and not enumerated in the foregoing list.

So rapidly is this important and wonderful invention coming into use, especially in the Southwest, that it would not be surprising if, in the course of a few years, the shipment of New England ice to the Southern States should have become a thing of the past.
