NEW YORK FASHIONS.

Early Fall Styles in Dresses, Suits, &c.

The new styles for dresses, suits, wraps and children's clothing are very pretty, and everything is profusely trimmed. Velvet guipure lace, tulle lace and fringe will be much used for trimming. When the skirt has a flounce of the material, the overskirt is often trimmed with wide fringe.

Gay plaids will be worn in wraps, draped on the back as burnous, and one corner thrown over the left shoulder.

A novel way of arranging a square shawl is to take a few plaits in the back, the same in front; the corners then simulate the front and back of a basque skirt, and the shawl hangs loosely over the shoulder in the form of a mantle.

Long abasils—the plaids—are folded to simulate a mantle or coat. A few folds are laid, and fastened at the back of the neck, and brought down to the belt, from which the shawl falls loosely. In front are folds also—just how this is done cannot well be described, but a shawl draped in this manner is graceful.

An evening dress of blue is very handsome, trimmed with black tulle lace and black velvet with white edge. The bodies is a Lady Washington waist, medium high on the back, and open in front to within four inches of the belt, with wide lace falling around the neck, and narrow velvet leading it. Sleeves are plain, with a wide, pointed velvet cuff. The belt is of velvet, edged with white, and has bows and ends of black and white. The skirt has one wide flounce put on in fan-shaped plaits, with a black velvet star between each, upon the plain space at the top. The overskirt has the front plain, sloping up to the side and joining the back one-fourth of a yard from the belt. The back is in two parts; the upper one has a fall of lace, and there is wide lace around the entire overskirt, headed by velvet with white edge; bows of this ribbon are set on the side where the front and back join.

A purple dress with long trained skirt has one flounce around the bottom; an overskirt bound with white satin, and trimmed at intervals with clusters of purple leaves, bound with white satin. The waist and sleeves are trimmed to correspond, and there are white satin buttons in front.

Suits.

Suits will be much worn, and there is even a rumor that Dame Fashion thinks of ruling them out; for winter they will be wadded, or a warm vest can be worn under the basque.

An elegant suit has one wide flounce around the bottom. There are two narrower flounces, set one above the other, to represent two skirts, and at the back is a short puffed skirt of a basque. Sleeves are plain, with cuffs of velvet; and there is a cap that falls over the shoulders and back, composed of three ruffles.

A very neat, pretty way of making an overskirt to go with a black silk suit for early fall wear, or may be worn for evening, is to make the basque open to within one-fourth of a yard from the belt; the edges are trimmed with wide tulle lace, and joined by a velvet bow; the front is composed of tulle lace, set together over silk of some contrasting color, as brown, pink or blue; roses are made of this lace and silk to ornament the side.

A morning wrapper has a wide flounce only on the back breadth, that extends to the neck in Watteau style; the front breadth is trimmed in form of a rounded apron, and the side ones are in points; the trimming is composed of three rows of velvet, one wide between two narrow, and this extends up the seams from the trimming around the bottom to the belt; the waist is french style with revers and collar described by Jock of velvet.

The pretty sailor jacket will be very fashionable this fall, with revers and a sailor collar. Children's suits are made much in the style of those of larger growth, going or circular form. The materials most used are in gay colors, plaids or stripes.

RELIGIOUS.—The Right Rev. Bishop Gibbons, of Wilmington, N. C., is on a visit to our city, and will preach on to-morrow (Sunday) in the Cathedral Chapel, at the hour of half-past ten o'clock. The pews will be open to the public.

SALE OF STEAMBOAT PROPERTY.—A part of the steamboat property owned by the late Captain John Ferguson has, we are informed, been sold at private sale. Among them we learn the steamship Pilot Boy to Messrs. J. D. Aiken & Co. for $19,600, the steamer Planter to several parties for $14,000, and the steamer Relief for $3000. These vessels will be engaged as heretofore, in facilitating the commerce of this port.

SEIZURE OF THE E. W. IRON WORKS.—We learn from the Augusta Constitutionalist that the Etowah Iron Works, better known as Cooper's Iron Works, have recently been seized by the United States Government, as the property of the Confederate States, at the instance of the Commissioner at Washington, under the 12th section of the act of 1838 and the amendatory acts of Congress. The Etowah property comprises some fifteen thousand acres of land.

THE BIG CYCLONE AND THE SHIPPING AGENT.—In a conversation held yesterday with Captain Frabee, of the brig Cyclone, he stated that he had no charge whatever to bring against the shipping agent, Mr. J. Johnson. He was well assured that the shipping agent had no intention of swindling him, and he regretted that such a construction might have been put upon the article in yesterday's News, entitled "charged with swindling." He also stated that the third man who was shipped made no attempt to escape.

Mr. Johnson called upon us yesterday, and gave us a full statement of the affair, which clearly showed that he was blameless in the matter. He showed us the following certificate from Captain Frabee: "I hereby certify that I have had a full and clear understanding with Mr. Johnson, the shipping agent, and exhorted him from all association to do me an injustice."

NEW SEA ISLAND COTTON.—The Savannah News of Thursday, September 2, says: "Messrs. L. J. Guinart & Co. yesterday received one bale of sea island cotton of the new crop, from the plantation of Samuel Swindle, in Liberty County. The bale weighed three hundred and thirty pounds, and was of fine staple. This, we believe, is the third bale of the new crop received here."

INCOMES OF PROFESSIONAL MEN.—Under the following clause of an ordinance "to raise supplies for the year 1869 and for other purposes," the professional men of the city, physicians, lawyers and dentists, returned their gross incomes to the City Assessor: "Three dollars on every hundred dollars of gross income and all gross profits derived from the pursuits of any faculty, profession, occupation or employment, or from the exercise of any office, whether in the profession of the law, the profits derived from the costs of suits, counsel fees or other sources of professional incomes, and also from the practice of dentistry, &c."

That Census. CHARLESTON, S. C., SEPTEMBER 3, 1869. TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS.

In your issue of this morning you state that you "are prepared to prove that there has been great carelessness on the part of the census-takers in not calling upon all the citizens and getting their names. You further state that, upon inquiry, the facts elicited by you are as follows, viz: 'Of four persons in the editorial rooms of THE NEWS, two had been called upon.' 'Of four persons in the business office, none had been called upon.' 'Of two in the job office, one had been called upon.' 'Of eleven in the composing room, only five had been called upon.' 'Three colored waiters at a table at the Charleston Hotel were asked if they had been called upon by the census-takers, and asserted that they had not been.' 'Several merchants along the Bay have stated that they knew nothing whatever about the census being taken until they saw the returns published.' 'At a meeting Wednesday night, of seven persons asked only one had been called upon.' 'Concerning the first and second charges, I have to state that Mr. W. G. H. is the name of my assistants, and a gentleman well known in this community, called at your office for the desired information, and was informed that no one resided on the premises; he also called at the Charleston Hotel, and was requested by the bookkeeper to leave a blank, and he, the said bookkeeper, would fill it with the names of the permanent boarders and employees, which was done, and the record of said boarders and employees was made from said record, as furnished by the proprietor or his agent. I will answer the charge purporting to have come from several merchants by saying, it was quite proper that the names of many persons doing business upon the Bay and elsewhere were taken at their residences without their knowledge, for their assistants were also enrollees of the militia, and were instructed to record the names, as occupations and residences of persons residing in the city. All places of business were visited, and the only question asked was, does any one reside upon the premises, and, whenever a negative answer was given, no further inquiry was made. It must, however, be remembered that I have to rely upon the mere statements of parties called upon, as the law does not empower the census-takers to exact an oath. Trusting the above will prove satisfactory to the public, as well as to you, Mr. Editor, I remain, Yours, very respectfully, R. C. DELABRO, Census-taker Charleston County.

(We do not see that this mode of the matter, or shows in any way that the census is less accurate than we believe it to be. S. M. M. for the census. One word as to D. L. G.'s knowledge of his duties. He says he was obliged to trust to the veracity of the persons who were asked for the information, because he is not authorized to require that information to be given on oath. The 4th section of the census law requires each head or member of a family to make the return on oath, and authorizes the persons taking the census to administer the oath. So much for the census-taker!—Eps

LIGHT READING FOR THE WARM WEATHER.—Our friends in the country who desire to obtain light reading for the warm weather, at strictly popular prices, are referred to the advertisement of Mr. C. C. Richter, the very enterprising and trustworthy King-street dealer in books and periodicals of all kinds. His list will be found to include something to suit every taste, and it seems to us a marvel how he can afford to send his books by mail over the country, post-paid, at the ridiculously low prices named.
