NACOOCHEE AND ITS SURROUND-

NACOOCHEE VALLEY, GA., August, 1869. TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS. The discovery of gold here in 1828 was an epoch in the history of this quiet mountain

Those who owned a few forty acre lots dreamed of golden fortunes, many of which were never realized. The excitement was greatly increased by the discovery of a lump of gold in a neighboring State weighing twenty-eight pounds. It is not an uncommon ocarrence here to find pieces weighing from one o three pounds.

to three pounds.

People flocked to this new El Dorado from all sections of the country. Even the great Calboun did not escape the prevailing epidemic. Your correspondent, then a small boy, knew every by-path through the mountains; to him was assigned the honor of piloting the Carolina statesman to Yonah, the mines, and other places of interest. It was the year the "abominable" Tariff act was passed, and about the time Mr. Calhoun resigned his position as Vice-President under the hero of New Or-

as Vice-President under the hero of New Orleans.

Mr. Calhoun was at Naccochee when the news was received that South Carolina had "nullified." I shall never forget how much he was excited He would walk the floor for hours in the deepest meditation, frequently passing his long fingers nervously through his hair, which stood almost erect on his head. The great mind of Calhoun penetrated the future—he saw that the political events which were then transpiring, North and South, would result either in a dissolution of the Federal Union, or a desolating civil war. Mr. Calhoun seemed to dread the one as much as the other. While he regarded many acts of Congress as odious, unjust and oppressive to the South, yet he was not at that time in favor of a dissolution of the Union—he stood firmly upon the constitution handed down to us by our forefathers.

The political fever, however, had not taken so entire possession of the great Carolina statesman as that he should escape the gold mania; he had studied political economy enough to know that gold was the only true representative of all values, and the great leveller of distinctions.

It was the custom of the miners and speculators who had "deposits" or "veins" for sale to prepare then for "testing." My father warned Mr. Calhoun against the sleight of hand prac-Mr. Calhoun against the sleight of hand practiced by many of these Wall street adventurers; but the man who was wondrously wise in politics and books heeded not the advice, and was a child in the clutches of the rude miners. To be certain that there was no deception, Mr. Calhoun would select a piece of ground untouched by the spade, stand by and see the small trees removed, then the earth, until the gravel and slate were teached, which was washed before our eyes. If, unluckily, they did not succeed in finding gold, not a few were unscrupulous enough to have it concealed about their persons, which was by the sleight of hand transferred into the pan. This was what was called "salting," and there were not a few victims to this mode of "cornering." Mr. Calhoun paid ten thousand dollars for a mine not worth as many hundred; he, however, purchased a vein of ore which proved to be of immense value. The gold was imbedded in a strata of rocks, and there could be no deception practiced in such mines. Since that day, there have been great improvements in working the riping. The old boyes and log trouples. there have been great improvements in working the mines. The old boxes and log troughs have given place to the hydraulic process, and all the latest improvements in machinery have been introduced.

The Nacocchee Hydraulic Mining Company was established just before the late war, mainly by enterprising New Englanders.

The water is carried in a canal twelve miles in length, which cost some forty thousand dolance. there have been great improvements in work-

It is surprising to see with what force the It is surprising to see with what force the water passes through the pipes, washing down the hills almost as easily as if they were so many banks of snow. Few persons fully comprehend the power and force of water. Such streams as pass through the Nacoochee Canal, if allowed to flow down the side of the loftiest mountain unobstructed by rocks, would in a short time level it with the valley. A friend of mine, who had charge of one of the aqueducts, carra pear being buried alive. trated by water from the cana, which had been gradually undermining the mountain for days. My friend heard an unusual roaring, and saw the forest tress near him begin to shake and the earth to quiver; then followed a loud crash. The trees and ground were swallowed in an immense chasm; he had just left the spot that disappeared forever.

When and how the rich deposits and gold bearing rocks were formed is a mooted question between learned geologists who nave given much attention to this interesting branch of science. Dr. M. F. Stephenson, one of the most experienced miners in the South, and a gentleman of more than ordinary intelligence, in a recent communication upon the subject of "segregated gold veins," writes:

"When the Yonah Mountain and Blue Ridge for nine hundred miles were elevated the true veins were found, which made the placers or deposits at Richardson's mins and on the mountain near Dean's Cabin. All of which veins are and will be found to traverse or cross the stratified rocks were hardened, and by their upheaval were fissured, and those fissures were filled with silica, gold, from, &c., which, upon coating, formed the fissure veins, some of which have been formed, and those at Nacoochee will be formed whenever the company abandons the absurd theory of Professor Blake and adopt the only rational one of recent volcanic action; for it is an axiom that massive gold is never found in a 'segregated vein' nor smooth nuggets. Why? Because the gold by segregation in silica becomes ragged and rough, when that from volanic vein with oxide of iron cools off in a matrix, which leaves it smooth as it water worn. These are facts which are predicted on the immutable laws of chemistry, and God, and cannot be successful v contradicted. The vein which formed by decomposition the Richardson mine—the McGhee mine where the company are now finding large nuggets—was formed when Yonah Mountain was upheaved, and is a cross vein, or what is technically called a true or fissure vein, and runs from Richardson's house to the this is proved by the ravines, which all yield similar nuggets when they cross this line of vein, and also by the volcanic rock which in trades—all proves a fissure to exist, and when found, like the Loud mine, will prove to be worth millions, for fissure veins always improve in size and quality."

There is more gold in 'Nacochee and its Surroundings' than there is in the vaults of all the banks in the United States. How much its rill cost to serves it from its present anus.

it will cost to remove it from its present snug deposits remains to be seen. The expense of mining, since the introduction of improved machinery, is greatly reduced; with the use of canals and pipes one man can do the work of a dozen under the old process. The result is that mines are now worked at a profit, which were abandoned years ago. I see no reason why fortunes should not be realized by those who are engaged in mining under the Califor-

why fortunes should not be realized by those who are engaged in mining under the Californian system. The best valley lands here command fifty dollars per acre; the proprietors sell with great reluctance, as they do not know if, in parting with a ten acre lot, they sell a gold nine worth a hundred thousand dollars.

I have a nugget of gold weighing five-eighths of a pound, which was picked up recently by my brother, Colonel E. P. Williams, in a field near his residence. This gold has been near his residence. This gold has been ploughed over for many years, and was ploughed over for many years, and was brought to light by a hard, washing rain. You can scarcely sink a pit in these hills and valleys without finding particles of gold. When a little boy, I got the gold fever up to one hundred degrees Fahrenheit, and prevailed on my father to embark in mining. To my great delight he promised to begin operations the next morning. That night visions of gold dazzled before my wakeful eyes. I was impatient that morning should come. At the break of day, I was with my father in the barn yard; he ordered me to put the plough harness on "Old Dick," a favorite horse he brought from North Carolina. from North Carolina.

In a short time Dick was harnessed, and I was directed to hitch him to the plougu! I thought this a new mode of "digging gold," but as my father's orders were never ques-tioned, I silently obeyed.

My father selected a broad corn field on which to initiate me into the mysteries of min-ing. Carrying me to the field, he said: "Now, George, you see the corn; plough four furrows carefully between each row. This field is a carefully between each row. This field is a sure gold mine—one that has never failed me. We will make corn to sell to those men who spend all their time hunting for gold." I followed "Old Dick" and my father's orders to the letter. When the hard day's work was over, I took for supper rye mush and milk. That night I was too tired and practical to dream; by morning the golden fever was so effectually cured, I have never had a return of it. cured, I have never had a return of it.

The Convict Business-The Ladies of Cheraw-Crop Prespects.

CHERAW, S. C., September 4, 1869.-This ald town with its wide and regular streets, is quite attractive in summer. Cheraw can boast of good society and energetic merchants, who are preparing for the cotton trade of the fall and winter. A quantity of cotton from North Carolina finds it way to this market, and the farmers of Marlboro' and adjoining counties say that it is better to ship to Charleston via Cheraw, as the mere fact of its passing through the latter place makes it command a higher price than if shipped direct from the pearest

The citizens of Cheraw expect at no distant day to find their town a great railroad centre and place of considerable importance. There is considerable feeling exhibited upon the sub-ject of the Cheraw and Salisbury Railroad, and ject of the Cheraw and Salisbury Railroad, and much indignation is expressed against the official, who is said to have sold himself to the Baltimore ring. This feeling is not confined to Cheraw, but extends along the entire line of the Cheraw and Darlington Railroad, and with good reason. The Cheraw and Darlington Railroad has its stock divided up into 7893 shares, of which over 4000, owned by corporations and individuals have contributed towards. tions and individuals, have contributed towards the building of the Cheraw and Salisbury Rail-road. This stock has been sold to Mr. Bridges, president of the Weldon and Wilmington Railroad at twenty cents on the dollar, and said to be agent of the Baltimore ring. In other words, for the paltry sum of $40,000 over half of the Cheraw and Darlington Railroad stock has passed into hands outside of the State. Mr. Bridges claims that he has not bought this Cheraw and claims that he has not bought this Cheraw and Darlington stock save for himself and friends, and for the following reasons: Along the projected line of the Savannah and Charleston Railroad, and between Cheraw and Walterboro', are to be found, in large quantities, "iron pyrites." from which sulphuric acid is made. Mr. Bridges expects, at no distant day, to see from two to are extra trains daily rin. to see from two to six extra trains daily run-ning from these iron pyrites fields to Charles-ton in order to supply the phosphate works of the city with material for making sulphuric acid. Again, Mr. Bridges disclaims all intention of running any railroad in any interest except that of the stockholders. He says that when he was elected president of the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad the Wilmingtonians wanted him to run the road in the interest of Wilmington; but he declined, and the proof that he did so is that the road, instead of being in the hands of the bondholders, is paying being in the hands of the bondholders, is paying dividends on its stock. Let the City of Charleston, the Northeastern Railroad, the individual owners of stock, keep their eyes open, and the Baltimore ring, Mr. Bridges, and the "sold official," may all be disappointed, and our off try get her inst does.

The ladies of Cheraw are working zealously for their respective churches, and by giving concerts, oratorios and ice cream receptions, accumulate considerable sums to repair their churches and for other purposes. On Wednesday night last I attended an oratorio given by the Roman Catholics, at the Town Hall. The singing was excellent, save that it lacked variety. After the musical performance, the audience adjourned to the ice cream saloon opposite, and the fair devotees soon emptied the pockets of the willing bachelors by their enticing raffie lists.

Quite a batch of convicts was sent from this place to Columbia a few days since. They were chained in pairs, with braces and chains looked around their necks. What a farce is locked around their needs. What is lated this sending these negro convicts to the penitentiary; but it is a well managed scheme for Scott & Co. The judges pass severe senten ces upon those convicted, thus bindfolding the citizens of the State, and Scott and Stol brand take care that the sentences are mere forms, as witness the numerous murderers, incendiaries and thieves that are set free to depredate upon the citizens and vote the Ra-

THE LEXINGTON SLANDER.

CHARLESTON, S. C., WEDNESDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 8, 1869.

Another Radical Lie Nailed to the Counter.

We take from the Columbia Phoenix, of yes terday, a letter, in which it is positively assert ed that there is no truth in the Radical runors that attempts are being made in Lexingon to defraud the freedmen. The correspon TO THE EDITOR OF THE PHENIX.

In your issue of the 4th instant appeared he following from a member of the State con-

the following from a member of the State constabulary:

"I believe a regular systematic attempt will be made to defraud the freedmen in Lexington this year of their share of the crops. Many of the latter neglected to have written contracts, and are being driven off the plantations, and refused any remuneration for their labor."

You ask, "what say our Lexington friends?" We pronounce the whole paragraph maliciously talse, and an unpardonably wicked attempt to slander the good citizens of Lexington. The paragraph in question bears upon its face the evidence of its writer's being wholly unacquainted with the people whose reputation he so unwarrantably attempts to defame.

If some freedmen of this county have no written contracts, it is because they refused to be thus bound, and preferred to work without a contract in writing, so that they could leave when it might suit their convenience, or whences the works with the people too lay to wrik.

when it might suit their convenience, or when-ever they might become too lazy to work. The only "systematic attempt to defraud" known to the citizens of this county, is the present State government, which, not satisfied with the apoils of office, would rob the good people of the State of their fair fame also.

The business firm of R. K. Scott & Co. certainly displays greater energy than any wholesale bouse in this State. His drummers, the tainly displays greater energy than any wholesale house in this State. His drummers, the State constabulary, are sent out in every direction to collect material to be manufactured into election yarns by Northern printing presses, or to be used as fuel to increase the already too violent feelings entertained towards the Southern people. This firm, with its numerous clerks and drummers, cares nothing for its own reputation or that of the people of "our dear State," unless it increases the general stock of the company, or aids in keeping the lucky goose in the clutches of Northern carpet-baggers and Southern scalawags. The citizens of Lexington are, however, too well known to be injured by the vile shafts of B. K.
Scott's chief clerk, Hubbard, or any of the inferior drummers who do his biddings.

We challenge the "great calumniator" himself, the State constabulary, or any other set of defamers, to establish the charge of any "systematic attempt" on the part of the good people of Lexington to do aught save their duty. We know of a systematic effort to root out Radicalism and the present rotten State government; and we honestly believe that the fact of Lexington's being so thoroughly Democratic had not a little to do with this slanderous statement. Imagine these drumming conreables travelling through this county, so ous statement. Imagine these drumming constables travelling through this county, so nearly ruined by Sherman, so blessed (!) in nearly mined by Sherman, so blessed (1) in having 2 Boozer and a Corley, and yet so true to the principles of Democracy as to have for-ever removed, at the late election, the loaves and fishes from the too willing grasp of hun-gry Radicals. Imagine their spleen as they meditated on these sad truths—as they thought of the hundreds of carcases which the people of this connty offered in the good cause during the last campaign—as they remembered the of this county offered in the good cause during the last campaign—as they remembered the Democratic barbecues, picnics, &c., and you will agree with us that there was need of an overflow of gall, some vent to their spleen, and some expression of the malico which they bear this county, and you will find, too, in these things, an explanation of the "systematic attempt to defraud."

We fear the censure and love the praise of al good and true men; but we would shun the approval of these would-be citizens, and wel-come their reproaches as an evidence of the unswerving integrity of our people. But

PRETTY WOMEN.-A COMPARATIVE LY tew ladies monopolize the beauty as well as the attention of society. This ought not to be so, but it is and will be while men are foolish and single out pretty faces for companions.

This can all be changed by using HAGAN'S MAG-NOLIA BALM, which gives the bloom of youth and a reflued sparkling beauty to the complexion, pleasing, powerful and natural.

No lady need complain of a red, tanned, freckled or rustic complexion who will invest 75 cents in Hagan's Magnolia Balm. Its effects are truly wonder-consequence of the wholesale forfeiture of Southern policies by Northern companies. The unparalleled namies to restore their Southern policies, from the fact that they could not operate in our mids without the appearance of honesty. We keep all our money at home to build up our impoverished country—every dollar of premium being safely invested in the State from which it is de rived. The institution is purely Southern, and hence should appeal with great force to the patriotism and and sympathy of every Southern heart. 'Tis not our purpose to make war on other com by this purely Southern Company—founded on patriotism and solid wealth. Its ratio of assets to liabilities—the true test of a company's strength—is second to none on this continent, being nearly $300 Whenever and wherever we have precented the claims of this Company, it has not only enlisted the sympathies of our people, but has also secured their in South Carolina since the 10th of February. We number among our Directors General Wade Hamp known to every citie in of South Carolina. H. WALTER, Esq., LEWIS D. MOWRY, Esq. SOLOMON'S BITTERS. THIS PRE-ARATION, compounded by one of our oldest and post esteemed druggists, has, during the short time in which it has been offered to the public, attained a reputation which has almost entirely driven out of market the various tonics and stimulants which, for a few months, by exorbitant puffing and heavy advertising, succeeded in building a profitable business for their projectors.

Solomon's Bitters are not of the flashy style, depending upon large advertising, bought puffi and ommendations for a sale to a guilible public. Their composition is well known to and approved by many of our best physicians, and the pro prietors depend upon the intrinsic merits of their nedicine to make it as popular as it is curative. They do not pretend to offer a medicinal prepara tion that will cure all the ills that flesh is heir to, but they do contend that the judicious use of the Bitters will greatly alleviate human suffering, and bring very many to a state of comparative health who have long been strangers to that great blessing One good genuine recommendation of any professed curative is worth dozens or hundre bought certificates, and the Messrs. SOLOMONS solicited testimonies which the have received.

When the leaves begin to change, remittent and in-termittent fevers make their appearance. From the surface of the earth, bathed nightly in heavy dews from marshes and swamps surcharged with mois ture, from the dying foliage of the woods, from fes tering pools and sluggish streams, the sun of September evolves clouds of miasmatic vapor perillous to health and life. The body, deprived by the burning temperature of July and August of much of its vigor and elastic'ty, is not in a proper plight to resist malaria; and hence all diseases that are produced by a depraved condition of the atmospher are particularly prevalent in the full.

There is no reason why the health of thousands of people should be thus sacrificed. A preparatory course of HOSTEITER'S SIOMACH BITTERS is certain protection against the epidemics and endemics which autumn brings in its train. Let all dwellers in unhealthy localities, liable to such visitations, give heed to the warning and advice conveyed in this advertisement, and they may bid defi ance to the foul exhalations which are now rising, night and day, from the soil around them. No farmhouse in the land should be without this invaluable exhilarant and in igorant at any period of the year, but especially in the fall. It is not safe to go forth into the chill, misty atmosphere of a September morning or evening with the stomach unfortified by a tonic, and of all the tonics which medical chemis try has jet given to the world, Hostetter's Bitters are admitted to be the purest, the most who esome and the most beneficial.

Let all who desire to escape the bilious attacks, THE THEAPEST .- THE NEWS JOB OFFICE, No. bowel complaints and mularious fevers, take the Bitters at least twice a day throughout the present season. It is as wholesome as it is infallible. Look to the trade mark, "Hostetter's Stomach Bilters," engraved on the label and embossed on the bottle and their revenue stamp covering the cork, as con-terfeits and imitations abound.
