

THE DAILY NEWS.

Largest Circulation.—THIS DAILY NEWS BEING THE NEWSPAPER OFFICIALLY RECOGNIZED AS HAVING THE LARGEST CIRCULATION IN THE CITY OF CHARLESTON, PUBLISHED THE LIST OF LETTERS REMAINING IN THE POSTOFFICE AT THE END OF EACH WEEK, ACCORDING TO THE PROVISIONS OF THE NEW POSTOFFICE LAW.

CHEAP ADVERTISING.

THE CHARLESTON NEWS, the circulation of which is about twice as large as that of any other paper published in South Carolina, is the best advertising medium for all business men. For persons who want situations or servants; who want houses or apartments, or have them to rent; who want or offer board and lodging; who have lost or found articles of value, THE NEWS has no equal; and in order that all classes may have their wants supplied, we have adopted the following scale of CHEAP ADVERTISEMENTS, payment for which must invariably be made when the order is given:

Advertisements of situations wanted by or offered to clerks, governesses, tutors, workmen, mechanics, house-servants, porters, shopboys, cooks and washers; board and lodging wanted or offered; apartments wanted or to let; articles lost or found; houses, shops, offices, land, warehouses wanted or to let, and miscellaneous wants of all kinds.

For each insertion of advertisements of the classes specified: Not exceeding THREE LINES or 20 words... 1 cent. FOUR LINES or 30 words... 1 1/2 cents. FIVE LINES or 40 words... 2 cents. All advertisements to be inserted at these rates must be prepaid and delivered at THE NEWS office by 9 P. M.

LOCAL MATTERS.

Meetings This Day.

Union Kilwinning Lodge, at half past 7 P. M.

Auction Sales This Day.

Samuel C. Black will sell at 11 o'clock, at the old Postoffice, a small wooden tenement building. Laury & Alexander will sell at 10 o'clock, in their store, 250 sacks salt, butter, hams, &c. Henry Cobia & Co. will sell at half-past 9 o'clock, at their store, shouiders and joles. John G. Milnor & Co. will sell at 10 o'clock, at their store, hats, shoes, &c.

THE LATE MURDER.—Nothing definite has been ascertained in regard to the murder of the negro, found floating off the Battery Sunday afternoon.

SHIPMENTS OF COTTON.—On Saturday last 3339 bales of cotton were shipped from Savannah. On the same day 4023 bales were shipped from Charleston. Savannah sea: 2334 bales to New York, 722 to Philadelphia, and 33 to Charleston. Charleston sent 3077 bales to New York, 566 to Philadelphia, and 37 to Baltimore.

PERSONAL.—Wm. Little, Esq., editor and proprietor of the Bennettsville Journal, is still in the city, looking after the interests of his paper. Rev. D. W. Cuttino, the business manager of the Charleston Press, is in the city. Mr. Charles H. Hall, publisher of the Orangeburg News, is in the city, staying at the Pavilion Hotel.

NEGRO GAMBLERS.—Early Sunday morning Officers Lotlett, Trull and Harwood made a raid upon a gambling saloon on Queen street, and captured David K. G. Alexander, Brogan, Peter Jones, Hank Butler, Joseph Roberts and Samuel Patterson, who were amusing themselves with "ya ticar." They were arraigned before the Mayor yesterday and fined five dollars each.

THE MUNICIPAL COURT.—The claim for $7000 against the city for services rendered during the municipal election, has revived that subject, and there is much talk among the radicals about having all the proceedings connected with that now historic affair published in pamphlet form. We understand that a resolution will be offered in Council to-night providing that the proceedings be published at the expense of the city.

THE APPRAISEMENT BILL OFFERED BY Alderman Vogt, and recently made an ordinance by Council, has excited considerable discussion, and we learn, convinced those Aldermen who voted for its ratification that it was not fair, and some question the validity of one or more of its sections. However, at the meeting of Council to-night the matter will be thoroughly discussed, and the bad work, if any, will be varnished over to look as good as new.

THE WHITE FANS.—A New York paper gives a detailed account of the misdoings of B. F. Whitman, of "White Fan" notoriety, and sincerely hopes, "for the benefit of the public in general, and confidence-producers in particular, that the managerial aspirations of B. F. Whitman are at last officially checked, and that he will henceforth remain contentedly in that humble sphere for which we are a good deal of him." That isn't "good for sore eyes."

A STRANGER FROM BOSTON.—It is with satisfaction that we understand that steam communication between Boston and this port is to be immediately established. The steamer George E. Oyon, formerly employed on this route, is being placed in superior order and will probably be on her berth in eight or ten days for the reception of freight. The large trade between the two ports demands such a compulsion as only steam can give. The agency in this city will be in the hands of Messrs. W. South & Co.

THE BROTHER MURDER.—THE NEWS of yesterday gave an account of the finding of the body of a negro in a log of the Battery, with his head bled and throat terribly gashed. The late New York papers relate that "the body of an unknown man was found floating off the Battery, (N. Y.) On the top of the head was a clear cut saw in inches in length; there was a fracture of the base of the skull, the jaw was smashed, and a cut extended across the chin." "Who is the murdered man, where did he come from, when, where and by whom was he murdered?" are the questions now vainly asked both in Charleston and New York two different men.

THE OPERA HOUSE.—A CHANGE FOR THE LADIES TO LAKE A TRIP.—John H. D. Venable, Esq., the architect of the new Opera House, desires us to say that the building will be open for public inspection on Thursday next, between the hours of 11 and 1. All workmen would interfere with the safety or comfort of the visitors will be suspended, and it is hoped that the ladies and the public generally, will take the opportunity of seeing for themselves what has been done, in eighteen working days toward converting the hull of the Adger into the most complete and commodious theatre or opera-house in the Southern States.

THE LUMBER BILL is to be handed up before Council to-night to have a section of it fixed. It is claimed that the section providing that "all defects in any timber, such as loose, hollow, rotten or otherwise defective knots, red rot, rotten butts, out faces, ring, wind or heart shakes, injurious splinters, draws, and all other injurious defects, are to be marked on the margin of the survey bill as defective; and all defective timber to be paid for at one-third the price agreed upon between the buyer and seller for merchantable timber," meddles with the rights of the buyers and sellers, who alone have the right to decide what price shall be put upon defective timber. Council has nothing to do with the price buyers and sellers may agree upon, we should think. By the way, who is the father of that ordinance?

NEWSPAPER PARAGRAPHS.—There are few things more irritating to some dispositions than to commence reading a newspaper paragraph, and, after becoming absorbed in the subject of which it pretends to treat, to find that it is merely intended to direct the attention to some particular article for sale at some well-known store. Yet, if the person reading should happen to need just that article mentioned, all irritation vanishes, and a certain feeling of satisfaction is felt in having secured the required information. This is why we refer to the ladies to the first grand announcement in to-day's News of Messrs. Stoll, Webb & Co., for the fall season. Their stock is now the most complete and best assorted they have had since the war, and their prices will be found uniform and very reasonable.

HOW CHARLESTON APPEARS TO A CORRESPONDENT.—A "correspondent" of a Northern paper, who has been ranting about Georgia and South Carolina, says that his "visit to Charleston was chiefly suggestive of the havoc of war, but he was surprised that the marks of 'war's desolation' had been obliterated to such a large extent. The stranger who looks upon the vacant lots in the heart of the city, all neatly boarded up, is unable to contrast their present and former appearance, and it may be, seldom suspects that not long ago they were covered by stately piles. He found that the merchants of Charleston were doing a fair business. They were hopeful, and anticipated much improvement when the new crops were gathered. The chief puzzle was to know how to invest their money. The times not being favorable for the purchase of general merchandise, and it being impracticable to invest their surplus in negroes as formerly, a queer dilemma was presented. The end will be, almost beyond a doubt, that real estate will receive more attention than ever before, and the city, before many years have gone, can boast of superior architectural attractions."

TROUBLE BEGINS ON THE FOURTH OF OCTOBER.—An eccentric schoolmaster, who he desired to inform his pupils that the exercises of his school would be resumed, instead of putting in a long advertisement announcing the time, would simply advertise, "Boys, trouble begins on the first of next month," or whatever was the day of opening school, and sign his name to it. The mention of the fourth of October will make many think of troubles, for a large number of the schools of the city resume their exercises on that day—among them the following: The public schools; the Classical, Mathematical, English and French school (conducted by Messrs. Henry M. Bruns and Charles B. Cochran); No. 82 Westworth street; the Carolina Educational Institute, conducted by Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Alexander and Madame A. Girard; the English, French, Classical and Mathematical school, northwest corner Bull and Coming streets, Joseph T. Caldwell, principal; the boarding and day school for young ladies, at corner Westworth and Raleigh streets, John Lannan, principal; the boarding and day school for young ladies, at No. 83 Hasel street, Mrs. Hopson Pinckney principal; Mrs. Blinn's school on Mary street, opposite Elizabeth; Mrs. William D. DeSausure and Mrs. B. Broad-Bavenell's school, No. 38 Meeting street; the Misses Marshall's school, corner Meeting and Red streets.

"TOO ILL TO APPEAR," was the answer returned yesterday morning when inquiry was made whether or not the case of the man who was "clubbed" by a policeman on Thursday last, was called before the Mayor. We learn that the victim of this policeman's weapon will hardly be able to come out of the house for several days. A short time since, if we remember aright, an officer of the New York police "clubbed" a prisoner who came near dying from the effects of it. The captain was arrested and tried for "assault and battery with intent to kill," was found guilty, deprived of his commission and sentenced to several months' imprisonment. That case was taken cognizance of only because the people who had become tired of the brutality of the New York police to their prisoners, compelled the officers to do so. We did not see the policeman strike the old man on Thursday last, and do not know the circumstances except from hearsay, but those who saw it deserve it to have been unwarrantable and brutal. It is time that the rights of a policeman regarding the use of his weapon should be determined. There is a variety of opinion about it now, even among some of the policemen, and an investigation might settle the matter. The Chief of Police asserts that there will be a thorough investigation if the officer be reported. Those who witnessed the affair would be but doing their duty to themselves, to the poor sufferer, and to the citizen generally if they reported the officer.

COUNCILS.—There will be a meeting of Council at six o'clock this afternoon. The United States Court will be opened here on Monday next. The Mayor is determined to have sober men on the police force. He remarked yesterday that if he could get sober men he wouldn't have any force at all, but would do the police duty himself. The total number of persons registered in Savannah is 4713 of which 3269 are whites and 1444 black. On this number 336 are over sixty years of age, and the oldest one of them 109 years.

United States District Attorney, G. Corbin can net $3000 of his $7000 salary in the city. He had but $2000 left "last to no questions." A negro woman named Marj Stiles while in the "sawannah jail" on Friday last, was safely delivered of a "jauntyer as black as the soot of epidemics, and of a son as white as any of the descendants of the Pariahs."

The Chapman sisters will perform in Charleston in November as "the violators of the age," 30 or 35 years. The Aldermen meet to-night to repair some bad jobs they have made in constructing ordinances. The "Lumber bill" does not like Japhet, have to search for a berth, for if it report be true, it has two (or three) others—Alderman T. J. Mackey and O'Leary.

We learn that there is a party in the city who desire to hire a number of ambulances for two hours to-night, to run races and forth in front of the city Hall.

The fine imposed by the Mayor yesterday amounted to $60. There will be a game of base ball played upon the Citadel Grounds this afternoon, at half-past one o'clock, between the "Garrison men" and a picked team. The Savannah treasury derived benefit to the extent of $4877 from the fees from registration— one dollar a head.

MERCHANTS PRINTING.—All kinds of mercantile printing, such as circulars, letter heads, cards, bill heads, statements, &c., for counting-rooms and offices, promptly executed in the neatest style and at the lowest rates for cash, at THE NEWS JOB OFFICE, No. 149 East Bay.

SOFT, the original star shirt man, has just returned from the North with a fresh and very choice selection of gentlemen's underwear and furnishing goods, including several new and improved styles of collars. Scott's establishment in Meeting street, nearly opposite the Market, has become so well known, by dint of plucky and persistent advertising in THE NEWS, that everybody is wondering why he has erected the novel and peculiar sign which now attracts the gaze of every passer-by.

A CRIPPLE LOCKED UP FOR STEALING.—Yesterday afternoon a negro girl came to the detective office and reported that as she was going along King street, with some money in her hand, she met a cripple on two crutches, who asked her to a bundle he carried. She did so and moved off, but soon missed her money. She returned and accused him of having the money, but he denied it. Officers Trull and Lovett were told to work up the case, and in a short time found the cripple in his room counting the money. When brought to the detective office, he confessed that he had taken the money from the girl. He was locked up to await an examination to-day.

TO THE LADIES.—Messrs. Stoll, Webb & Co. have received a case of Fall Dress Goods from an auction house, which they are offering at 25 cents (worth 45 cents) together with a large lot of Dry Goods in every other grade, of the latest styles and choicest colors, at No. 287 King street. Send for specimens to L. T. Blome & Co., Augusta, Ga. Terms, $3 per annum. The paper can be had of all newsdealers in the United States. Sept 28

THE AMERICAN SUBMERGED, DOUBLE-ACTING, NON-FREEZING, FORCE PUMP. The simplest and most powerful in use. It is proved to be the cheapest, most effective, durable and reliable PUMP. Has no leather packing. A child can work it. For sale by JENNINGS, TEBELMANN & CO., No. 28 Pearl-street, New York. Sept 28

THE UNDERIGNED RESPECTFULLY INFORMS the public that as will commence to run his OMBUDSMAN on the corner of Live and Meeting streets from Monday, the 17th inst. The hours of office will be as follows: From 9 A. M. to 2 P. M., every day, except on Sundays and public holidays. For a full list of his duties, see the prospectus. R. GRASMAN, Sept 17

DO YOU WISH TO PUT OFF INDETERMINATE SICK HEADACHE, Sour Eructations and Acidity of the Stomach? USE SOLOMONS' BITTERS. Sept 17

DO YOU WISH TO HAVE A GOOD APPETITE, a relish for Food, and a perfect Digestion? USE SOLOMONS' BITTERS. Sept 17

DO YOU WISH TO PUT OFF INDETERMINATE SICK HEADACHE, Sour Eructations and Acidity of the Stomach? USE SOLOMONS' BITTERS. Sept 17

DO YOU WISH TO PUT OFF INDETERMINATE SICK HEADACHE, Sour Eructations and Acidity of the Stomach? USE SOLOMONS' BITTERS. Sept 17

DO YOU WISH TO PUT OFF INDETERMINATE SICK HEADACHE, Sour Eructations and Acidity of the Stomach? USE SOLOMONS' BITTERS. Sept 17

DO YOU WISH TO PUT OFF INDETERMINATE SICK HEADACHE, Sour Eructations and Acidity of the Stomach? USE SOLOMONS' BITTERS. Sept 17

DO YOU WISH TO PUT OFF INDETERMINATE SICK HEADACHE, Sour Eructations and Acidity of the Stomach? USE SOLOMONS' BITTERS. Sept 17

DO YOU WISH TO PUT OFF INDETERMINATE SICK HEADACHE, Sour Eructations and Acidity of the Stomach? USE SOLOMONS' BITTERS. Sept 17

BUSINESS NOTICES.

"BEATING THE WINDMILL."—Beating the "Whirlwind" is the title of a thrilling Confederate story, written for THE BANNER of the South, by Miss Annie M. Barwell, of Beaufort, S. C. The first chapter will appear in THE BANNER of the South, October 9th. Send for specimens to L. T. Blome & Co., Augusta, Ga. Terms, $3 per annum. The paper can be had of all newsdealers in the United States. Sept 28

IT IS A FACT that merchants and others can get Job Printing, of all descriptions, done in the neatest style and at the lowest prices at A. M. Williams & Brother, Job Printers, No. 9 Broad street, up stairs. Call and examine specimens. Sept 28

TO THE LADIES.—Messrs. Stoll, Webb & Co. have received a case of Fall Dress Goods from an auction house, which they are offering at 25 cents (worth 45 cents) together with a large lot of Dry Goods in every other grade, of the latest styles and choicest colors, at No. 287 King street. Sept 27

LIGHT READING FOR THE WARM WEATHER.—Our friends in the country who desire to obtain light reading for the warm weather, of strictly popular prices, are referred to the advertisement of Mr. C. C. Richter, the very enterprising and trustworthy King-street dealer in books and periodicals of all kinds. His list will be found to include something to suit every taste, and it seems to us a marvel how he can afford to send his books by mail over the country, post-paid, at the ridiculously low prices named.

MISCELLANEOUS. HAVING BEEN ADVISED BY MY NEARLY 100 YEARS OF AGE, I have a continuance of the patronage heretofore extended to me. FOR J. H. KALB, Sept 28

BREAD! BREAD! BREAD! HAVING PURCHASED THE BAKING BUSINESS of my father, I will be prepared to furnish his old customers and the public generally with BREAD daily at the old stand, No. 49 of Pitty street, and at their regular price in any part of the city from this day, under his superintendence. FOR J. H. KALB, Sept 28

THE NEW DRAMATIC COMPANY. PAVILION HOTEL, September 27. TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS. Sir—I notice in THE NEWS to-day, that alluding to the opening of the theatrical season you speak of me as the "leading lady." This is a mistake. I am the "soubrette" of the company. Miss Annie Levering, an accomplished lady and a very fine actress, fills the position of leading lady. Yours respectfully, KATE RAYMOND.

THE ROYAL HOSPITAL and the City Council. TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS. GENTLEMEN.—At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Royal Hospital, held on the 24th instant, the following preamble and resolution were adopted, viz: "Whereas, a communication from the Board of Trustees of the Royal Hospital to the City Council has not been published with the other proceedings of Council, which communication was in reply to a call upon the board from Council to reconvey to the city the cells for lunatics, which have been for many years in the possession of this board under a contract between the city and the board. And, whereas, that communication embodies information which, as citizens, we desire that the public should be possessed of, because it shows how the abandonment of the contract (which abandonment was the act of Council, and against the urgent and repeated remonstrances of the trustees,) has resulted in a heavy and unnecessary expense to the city, incurred for the fitting up of other hospital accommodations; therefore,

"Resolved, That the editors of the Courier and Daily News be requested to give the said communication a place in their journals."

I have the honor to hand you a copy of the communication, and most respectfully to request for it a place in your columns. Your obedient servant, Wm. F. Waago, Secretary and Treasurer, Trustees Royal Hospital.

COPIES OF COMMUNICATION TO COUNCIL. "When the trustees took charge of the city sick the arrangements on both sides, that the arrangement was to be permanent. This is distinctly shown in all the transactions upon which the contract was based, and which are fully recorded in the minutes of the trustees. The first definite proposition came, it will be seen, from the Commissioners of the Poor, and it was upon this proposition that Council finally acted.

"The arrangement having been made for the sick, it was afterwards thought by the Commissioners of the Poor and Council that the lunatics could be better provided for in the same way. But the Royal Hospital has no accommodation for lunatics, and the treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective treatment of such patients was contemplated in the plan on which that hospital was established. It was then proposed to turn over the cells to the Royal Hospital. This was done. On taking possession of the lunatics found that no part of the cell building required repair and alteration to adapt it for the more and well-being of the patients. From a defective arrangement, the cells had originally been built against the north wall of the building. This made them so damp and cold that the lives of the lunatic patients were seriously endangered and not infrequently fell a sacrifice to the defective