The Battle of Lyonnesse.

In the "Passing of Arthur," the last of the four flew idyls of Tennyson, the following magnifcent passage almost immediately precedes the introduction of the "Morte d'Arthur," which is given exactly as it is familiar to us in his miscellaneous poems. The reader will see that the new and the old verse is of the same golden warp and : 100W wooi : Then rose the king and moved his host by night, And ever pushed Sir Modred, league by league, Back to the sunset bound of Lyonnesse-A land of old upheaven from the abyss By ne, to sink into the abyss again : Where fragments of forgotten peoples dwelt, And the long mountain ended in a coast Of ever-shifting sand, and far away The phantom circle of a moaning sea. There the pursuer could pursue no more, And he that field no further fly the king : And he then, that day when the great light of Heaven

Heaven Burned at his lowest in the rolling year. On the waste sand by the waste sea they closed. Nor ever yet had Arthur fought s light Like this last, dim, weird battle of the West. A death-white mist slept over sand and sea : waereof the chil, to him who breathed it, drew Down with his blood, till all his heart was cold With forniess fear, and even on Arthur fell Confusion, since he saw not whom he fought, For friend shew friend, not knowing whom he And friend slew friend, not knowing whom and some had visions out of golden youth, And some beheld the faces of old ghosts Look in upon the battle; and in the mist Was many a noble deed, many a base, and chance and craft and strength in single fights, And ever and anon with host to host Shocks, and the splintering spear, the hard mail

Shield-breakings, and the clash of brands, the crash Of bettle-axes on shattered heims, and shricks After the Christ, of those who falling down Looked up for Heaven, and only saw the mist; And shouts of heathen and the traitor knights. Oaths, insult, filth, and monistrous blasphennies. Sweat, writhings, anguish, laboring of the lungs in that close mist, and cryings for the light, Moans of the dying and volces of the dead.

Last, as by some one death-bed, after wail Of suffering, silence follows, or thro' death Or deathlike swoon, thus over all that shore, Sare for some whisper of the seething seas, A dead hush fell; but when the dolorous day Grew drearier foward twilight falling, came A bitter wind, clear from 'he north, a The mist aside, and with that wind th the field Rose, and the pale king glanced across the of battle; but no man was moving there: Nor any cry of Christian heard thereon, Nor yes of heathen; only the wan wave Brake in among dead faces, to and fro Swaying the helpless hands, and up and down Tumbling the hellow helmets of the fallen, And shivered brands that once had fought with Rome, And roining far along the gloomy shores The voice of days of old and days to be.

Then spake King Arthur 20 Sir Bedivere, And whiter than the mist that all day long Had held the field of battle was the king : "Heatest thou this great voice that shakes the

And wastes the narrow realm whereon we move And wastes the harrow realint whether is the dead, and beats upon the faces of the dead, My dead, as though they had not died for me? O Bedivere, for on my heart hath fallen Confusion, till I know not what I am, Nor whence I am, nor whether I be king. Behold, I seem but king among the dead."

Then spake the bold Sir Bedivere : "My king, King everywhere I and so the dead have kings, There also will I worship thee as king, Yet still thy life is whole, and still I kve Who love thee; but who hates thee, he that brought brought Brought The heatuen back among us, yonder stands, Modred, unharmed, the traitor of thing house." [From Teanyson's New Volume.

Savannah Market.

SAVANNAH, December 30.-COTTON.-TO all intents and purposes the week under review has been a holiday week, both for buyers and sellers, and the transactions have been limited in extent compared with the weeks previous. Purchasers and holders have been so far agart in their views that only a pressure, like the continued decline in gold, could bring them within an operative dis-tance, consequently the sales have been light. The wet weather too has operated unfavorably in effecting this result. effecting this result. The following resume of the week's transac-tions will indicate the tone of the market for the Manchester Market.

Hanchester Market. MANCHESTER, Decemcer 17.—Corron Goons.— The market for shipping yarns is very strong, and again a large business has been doue at very criteme prices, spinners being very full of orders, with contracts extending some time forward. Spinners not only ask very f1 rates, but they have a difficulty in taking orders exceept for de-livery weeks hence. Home trade yarns are not selling briskly, because spinners require an ad-vance of 4d. per the, on the prices of yesterday, which is not obtainable. Our cloth market has been exceedingly firm since Tuesday, with a good inquiry. The advance in cotton and yarn has re-sulted in an increase of quotations by makers of cloth, which it is found that buyers are very un-willing to pay. Producers, however, are very mine (ansequence clocks business; but it is main-aned, and where sales are made it is in some measure exacted.

WHAT MEDICINES YOU TAKE.

When you are exhausted by overwork of head or hand, and feel the need of something invigorat-ing, don't drink whiskey or any intoxicating thing, whether under the name of Bitters or other-wise. Such articles give just as much strength to your weary body and mind as the whip gives to the jaded horse, and no more. Alcoholic stim-ulants, are injurious to nerve health, and are al-ways followed by depressing reaction.

DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR

BODD'S NERVINE LED INVICONATOR is a Tonic and gentle stimulant, which is not at-tended by reaction. What it gains for you it maintains. When it refreshes body or mind, it refreehes with natural strength that comes to shy. We are not recommending tectotalism in the interest of any faction; but long and extend-ed observation teaches us that he who resorts to the bottle for rest or recuperation, will find, as he keeps at it, that he is kindling a fire in his bones which will consume like the hannes of perdition. Turn from it. Take a tonic that will refresh and not destroy. DODD'S NKIVINE is for sale by all Druggists. Price One dollar. See book of certi-ficates that accompanies each bottle. june25 7mos
